NEW EARTH SPASMS IN RAVAGED ZONE SPREADING TERROR AMONG SURVIVORS

At Some Points the Seismic Tremors Are Reported to Be Almost Incessant, 98 Being Counted in Few Hours.

DEATH ROLL GROWING; BELIEVED IT WILL BEAR AT LEAST 30,000 NAMES

Probably Twice That Number Were Injured — All Italy Has Turned to Relief Work—Vigorous Efforts Made to Dispatch Doctors, Nurses and Food to Stricken Towns--Pitiful Scenes When Trains Bearing Injured Reach Rome.

Rome, January 16.—Fear of additional shocks is felt throughout the earthquake devastated district, according to reports brought to Rome by refugees. Basis for this anxiety is found in a dispatch from Sora, which says another strong earthquake occurred there last night, demolishing the walls of partly ruined buildings.

Scant reports only of death and damage in remote places have been received and information from the larger places still is incomplete, but there is no reason to doubt that when the death roll is made up it will contain fully 20,000 names. Probably twice that number were injured.

The places which apparently suffered most were Avezzano with about 10,000 killed; Pescinas, 5,000; Celano, 4,000; Cenchlo, 2,400; Marsi, 1,000; Daterno, 1,000; San Pellino, 650, and Fralturo, 200.

It is reported that Masa D'Albe lost one-eighth of its population while Pesoassseroli was completely burned.

In the devastated area there are scores of hamlets of which probably only a small percentage of the population escaped. The same is believed to be true in the rural districts.

All Italy At Rescue Work.

All Italy has turned its attention to rescue work. Thousands of soldiers and volunteers are digging frantically in the ruins in the hope that they may release a few who are still alive. Hundreds of bodies are being recovered, but first attention is being given where it is believed there is a possibility the occupants of ruined dwellings may not yet have perished.

Vigorous efforts are being made to dispatch doctors, nurses, medicine and food to the ruined cities and villages. Criticisms have been voiced because of delay in sending medicine to some places destroyed, but it is pointed out that the difficulties of transportation made greater speed impossible.

The injured are being cared for in makeshift hospitals established in the ruined towns or in the hospitals of Rome and other cities. Trains filled with survivors are arriving here constantly and refugees have been given the best of care. Large sums are being subscribed for the relief of suffering and Pope Benedict is one of the large contributors.

King Victor Emanuel has returned to Rome after visiting many of the places in the earthquake zone, where he directed the work of the rescuers and personally distributed relief.

Pitiful Scenes Enacted.

Advices from Frosinone, 20 miles from Sora, say the walls of the houses are so badly cracked the occupants fear to remain indoors, and have pitched tents in the open. A general of engineers who inspected the town pronounced conditions extremely dangerous, and ordered that the inmates of a large state prison there be sent to Rome.

The Messenger today voices vigorous complaints because of lack of medicine, food and tents for the survivors in hamlets in the earthquake zone. The paper says that at Magliano di Marsi, where there are 1,800 dead out of 4,225 inhabitants, the first succor arrived forty-eight hours after the disaster. The local doctor, who escaped, was almost distracted because of lack of medicine.

"It would be better if I had died myself," the physician exclaimed to a correspondent. "I cannot bear it to see people expire simply because I have no means of helping them. My mother and my sister died only because I had no medicine with which to treat them." He added that he had been compelled to carry the bodies of his mother and his sister on his shoulders to a cemetery and bury them himself.

King Welcomed by Survivors.

King Victor Emanuel, accompanied by the minister of public works, and other officials, arrived unexpectedly at Sora, and was given an enthusiastic welcome. His majesty visited the ruins in a heavy rain, displaying deep interest in the rescue work and the distribution of relief.

The king begged the survivors to remain calm. He declared he came to them as a fellow citizen and not as a sovereign. He brought with him a large quantity of supplies and distributed also articles entrusted to him by the queen who had begged him to give them in her name to suffering

Courts and Matinee Halted in the Cause Of Belgian Children

Courts and theaters had to take second place yesterday to the cause of the Belgian children, in whose behalf flags were sold in Atlanta by prominent society women.

Recorder's court was halted Saturday afternoon long enough for Recorder George E. Johnson, Clerk W. H. Preston and the court attaches and newspaper reporters to purchase Belgian flags from Mrs. Frank Pearson, a well-known singer, and Miss Katherine Ulmer, debutante.

Judge Johnson was in the midst of trying a defendant on the charge of assault with intent to murder, said defendant being charged with shooting five times at police officers who had attempted to arrest him the night before. His case was forgotten for the time being, anyway, when the two ladies appeared. Judge Johnson ordered court suspended, and proceeded to "flag and collect from each member of the court."

Chief of Police Beavers, W. T. Morris, head of the chief of police's office; Detective Chief Newport Lanford and the other members of the police force then at police headquarters were "flagged."

Hitchcock Turns Auctioneer.

Mrs. Hugh Murray, Miss Ulmer and Mrs. Pearson marched on the stage of the Atlanta theater at the matinee and succeeded in selling a miniature Belgium silk flag for the sum of $13.50, what will probably be the record price.

The incident occurred at the conclusion of the second act of the "Beauty Shop." Raymond Hitchcock, after being informed of the object of the sale, proceeded to act the part of auctioneer and bought the flag himself for $10.

After this he autographed it, and after quite a talk on the suffering Belgian people, auctioned it off to a gentleman in the audience for $3.50, totaling $13.50 for the one flag. J. E. White, of the White Audit company, was the purchaser.

During Mr. Hitchcock's speech and sale Mrs. Murray and Miss Ulmer distributed flags to the entire company of the "Beauty Shop."

Spend Money in Atlanta.

The thousand dollars and more collected in Atlanta Saturday for the Belgian sufferers will be spent in the city by French consul, F. E. May. Every cent will be put into some useful necessity, as the express companies and postoffice have consented to forward the consignments free of charge.

Many other towns over the state are aggressively aiding Dr. May in the sale of the Belgian flags. The first reports coming in show that workers collected $80 in Albany, $60 in American and $30 in Cordele.

All day many young ladies, under the direction of Mrs. Henry DeGive, wife of the Belgian consul in Atlanta, approached willing purchasers on the streets and in the office buildings of the business section. Everybody appreciated the plight of the Belgians abroad, and the fair saleswomen were constantly returning to headquarters for more flags.

COAST LINE TRAIN WRECKED BY COW; ONE FATALLY HURT

Tampa, Fla., January 16.—The Atlantic Coast Line Limited, a fast train between Tampa and Jacksonville, was wrecked this afternoon at Deland junction. Fireman William Simpson, of Sanford was fatally injured and A. B. McClellan, of Tampa, had a rib broken and suffered other injuries.

The train was running 40 miles an hour when it struck a cow. The cow was thrown against a switchstand, the impact opening the switch, which caused a portion of the train to dash into the siding. Four Pullmans turned over, but no passengers were injured, there being few on board.

SAMOANS THANKED FOR OFFER TO FIGHT FOR UNITED STATES

Washington, January 16. — Commander John M. Poyer, U. S. N., commanding today by President Wilson governor of Samoa, will bear to the people of the islands the president's personal thanks for their offer of aid to the United States in the event of war with Mexico. In his letter to the governor the president wrote:

"The secretary of the navy has placed before me your letter of September 23, 1914, in which you report that upon receipt of news in American Samoa that there was possibility of hostilities against Mexico just prior to the taking of Vera Cruz, the governor was informed by the high chiefs of American Samoa that the services of the natives of American Samoa were at his disposal for such duty at home or abroad as was desired by the United States government.

"This intelligence is highly pleasing to me and I desire you to so inform the high chiefs and peoples of the various districts of American Samoa."

WRITES TO RELATIVES AND TO HIS FRIENDS

In One Addressed to "Kismet," He Declares That His "Take" Is Ready for "Great Proof Reader."

Nathan A. Gordon, a well-known young man, member of a prominent Atlanta family, was found dead in a room on the third floor of the Williams hotel, 65 West Mitchell street, last night about 8:50 o'clock by Dearge Molford, night clerk, and Policeman Benson.

He was lying across the bed, which had been untouched during Friday night, when he is known to have been in the room. Beside his body was a vial of carbolic acid, and acid burns were on his lips. Gordon wore kid gloves on his hands, which he had evidently put on to prevent burns on his hands.

On a table in the room were several letters, a copy of his will, a note to "Kismet," and a letter directing the disposal of his body. A sealed letter was addressed to a young lady friend at Jersey, Ga., and an open letter signed "Margaret," and coming from Jersey, Ga., addressed to him, lay on the table.

Follows Father's Example.

In an adjoining hotel, the Terminal hotel, five years ago, Nathan Gordon's father, Louis Gordon, of the defunct firm of Tuggle-Gordon, on Peters street, killed himself. Dave Gordon, a brother, was notified, and upon his arrival at the Williams hotel, he was prostrated.

Nathan Gordon was apparently 20 years old. He owned some property in his own name, but had been out of a position for some time.

He was a mute, being rendered deaf and dumb nine years ago by an attack of meningitis. His occupation was that of an itinerant printer, and he recently worked in Villa Rica, Ga. The last time he has been seen was at the home of his uncle, J. N. Hirsch, the well-known wholesale tobacco dealer, 328 Capitol avenue.

The clerk of the Williams hotel said that he engaged a room at the hotel about 10 o'clock Thursday morning. He paid his bill in advance, and was seen to leave the hotel about 10 o'clock Friday morning. No one is known to have seen him return to the hotel Friday night.

When he failed to answer to the maid's call to let her in to clean up his room, Saturday night, the maid called the clerk, who peeped over the transom of the locked door and saw the death pallor on Gordon's face, and his body stretched across the bed. A policeman was called, and the room entered.

Letter to "Kismet.

Gordon's letter to "Kismet," read as follows:

"January 15, 1915.

"To my loyal friends who have stood by me through these nine long, weary years. I give a love that passeth all understanding. To those who could not undersand me, I wish them the utmost measure of happiness that they may deserve.

"I made mistakes, yet I never intentionally wronged any one, and I endeavored to give others the benefit of the dobut.

"Now my 'take' is ready for the 'Great Proofreader' and I trust for justice in the life hereafter.

"NATHAN A. GORDON."

A copy of a will, marked "original in hands of my attorney, James L. Mayson," directed that all his belongings be turned over to his brother, John B. Gordon, who lives at 52 East Cain street, and appointed J. N. Hirsch as executor.

Deeds to property and a due note of $280, dated June, 1912, payable to him three years after date at 7 per cent interest, were also found.

Selects His Undertaker.

Another note directing notification read:

"January 15, 1915.

"Notify either J. B. Gordon, 52 East Cain street, apartment 9, or J. N. Hirsch, wholesale dealer, Marietta street, or 328 Capitol avenue. My undertakers are Greenberg & Smith. Notify my attorney, James L. Mayson, Atlanta National Bank building.

"NATHAN A. GORDON."

The time that Gordon ended his life is believed to be Friday night. He had gone to bed. His watch was still running when found, and a copy of Friday morning's Constitution was found in his room.

All of the letters were dated Friday.

Another letter was addressed to his brother, and read:

"Dear Brother John—I leave it to you to make it all right. Mr. Mayson has my papers, and will inform you as to disposition.

"Take care of mother and sister, and do the right thing always. Please ask the following to act as pallbearers: J. L. Mayson, A. L. Curtis, Charles I. Brannen, Philip Elson, Leon Eplan and Dr. B. Wildauer.

"Well, goodby, and try to make a success of yourself. Tell Aunt Tillie I wish to thank her for the many acts of kindness shown me. Love to mother, Dave, sister and the rest of the family.

Your brother,

"NATE."

FIGHT IS CERTAIN WHEN COUNCIL ACTS ON FINANCE SHEET

Committee Quits in Disgust Late Saturday Afternoon, After Failing to Come to an Agreement.

ANTICAPTING REVENUE OPPOSED BY WOODWARD

Dissatisfaction Caused Over Failure to Provide for the Completion of Butler St. Sewer Work.

Blocked in front by Mayor James G. Woodward, flanked on either side by its own disgruntled members, and with a belligerent council mustered for a rear attack, council's finance committee Saturday quit in disgust at 6 o'clock, after vainly endeavoring to make up an apportionment sheet for 1915 with current revenue of $4,705,727.35 and satisfying more than $5,000,000 demands made by city departmental heads and the general public.

In the opinion of Mayor Woodward, "some members of the committee were too loaded down with political promises."

Late Friday night the committee completed a sheet which, to all appearances, satisfied a majority of the members, but after a refreshing sleep members hurried to the city hall bright and early Saturday morning and immediately began a scramble for more money, with the result that the sheet was torn wide open, and the committee found itself in precisely the same fix as Jack and Jill, who went up a hill with a pail of water, or Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines, who led his men up a hill and then led them down again.

Anticipate $125,000 Revenue.

The committee invited trouble when it took from the sheet $38,000 which was apportioned equally among the various wards for street improvements. Almost the entire day was spent in an effort to include more than $170,000 anticipated or unarned money in the sheet. Finally, the committee, after Mayor Woodward had threatened to veto the sheet if it carried more than $125,000, decided to take a chance, but just a wee bit of a chance, with the mayor and anticipated $135,000 in order to put $75,000 in the sheet for the Lakewood fair project, and make up the $14,000 overbalance caused by apportioning more money than the city had to spend.

In its present shape the sheet is incomplete. Chairman A. W. Farlinger admitted at the hour of adjournment on Saturday that the sheet did not meet with his approval, and at least three members of the committee declared that they will sign a minority committee report.

"I am not going to sign the sheet in its present condition," said Chairman Farlinger. "I am opposed to the sheet because it does not provide money for extending the Butler street sewer."

Too Many Political Promises.

Alderman Jesse W. Armistead, one member to whom Mayor Woodward said he referred to his remarks as being too loaded with political promises, says that he will lead a fight on the sheet because the committee did not supply the seventh ward with $50,000 for a new school.

The members who are expected to sign the sheet are Aldermen Seawright,

POISON GIVEN HER, SAYS YOUNG GIRL

Mrs. Ethel Oates Pylant Charges Mrs. Annie Stoe Persuaded Her to Sign New Affidavit.

Mrs. Annie Stoe, of 103 Spring street, the young woman who was recently pardoned by President Wilson after serving only a few months of a five-year sentence on being convicted of white slavery in Judge Newman's federal court, is again in the toils of the law.

Mrs. Stoe was arrested at the Grady hospital Saturday afternoon by Detectives Gorman and Kirk, and later gave bond for $1,000.

Detective Chief Newport Lanford states that Mrs. Stoe was arrested because Mrs. J. N. Oates, of 871 Marietta street, charged that her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Oates Pylant, 16 years old, who recently testified against Mrs. Stoe, had been given poison and forced by her to sign an affidavit declaring that she had sworn falsely against Mrs. Stoe.

Her Condition Serious.

Ethel Pylant is now at the Grady hospital, suffering from some mysterious affliction, the nature of which is puzzling the Grady physicians. She was carried to the Grady from Mrs. Stoe's residence, Thursday afternoon, violently ill.

Mrs. Oates rushed to her daughter's bedside, where she was told by her that Mrs. Stoe had decoyed her back to her Spring street residence, telling her that a certain well-known young Atlanta man, with whom she is said to be infatuated, would meet her.

The mother was told that Mrs. Stoe had showered gifts upon her, tempting her to sign an affidavit that she had sworn falsely against her (Mrs. Stoe) in recorder's court recently, when, on her testimony, Mrs. Stoe was bound over under heavy bond on the charge of running a disorderly house.

The daughter, lying on a sick bed in the Grady, repeated to her mother, it is said, that the next morning, Wednesday, Mrs. Stoe had taken her downtown and bought her a drink at a certain place.

Gave Her a Drink.

"While I was drinking," said the young girl, "Mrs. Stoe sat on one side of me, and one of her sweethearts came up and sat on the other side."

The three then are alleged to have gone to the office of Mrs. Stoe's attorney, where the girl was persuaded to

$27,100 RAISED FOR GRAND OPERA

Within a week, and following almost the mere suggestion of it, the guarantee fund has reached $27,100, or nearly half the required total of $60,000.

Voluntary responses were numerous and in other cases it was only necessary to bring the matter casually to the notice of those well-known Atlantans who have always shared liberally in the guarantee which makes the annual week of grand opera in Atlanta possible.

The directors of the Atlanta Music Festival association are more than gratified over the rapid growth of the guarantee fund; they are enthusiastic. It gives them assurance that the total fund will be completed within the next few days, and there will then remain only the matter of arranging the details.

GERMAN ADVANCE HAS BEEN CHECKED BY FRENCH FORCES AIDED BY FLOODS

Big Guns Have Taken the Place of Rifles and Bayonets in the Fighting in the Vicinity of Soissons.

AUSTRO-GERMAN FORCES MAKING NO HEADWAY AGAINST THE RUSSIANS

Germans Continue to Attack Without Success the Russians Who Block the Way to Warsaw--Russians Preparing for an Advance Into Transylvania--Another Defeat Inflicted on the Turks in the Caucasus.

London, January 16.—Official reports disclose no new developments as a result of the German success in regaining lost ground north of Soissons and the Russian advance between the East Prussian frontier and the Vistula river.

The French, who are strongly entrenched along the Aisne river on either side of Soissons, with the assistance of the floods, apparently have checked any further German advance, and the big guns have taken the place of rifles and bayonets in the fighting in that region. In fact, artillery continues to play the leading role, although here and there along the line attacks and counter attacks have been made.

The Germans in one of these recaptured some trenches near Carency, but their attacks elsewhere, particularly near Flirey, south of Thiaucourt, where they have been most violent, have not been so successful.

The Germans have displayed much activity in their efforts to recover ground they lost during the allies' offensive undertaken late in December. Their efforts are interpreted in some quarters as an attempt to resume a general offensive. With the ground soft, military men in London do not believe the Germans will make any such effort, but as success may depend to a large extent on a surprise, they may attempt the unexpected.

NO HEADWAY IN EAST BY GERMAN FORCES.

In Poland, north and south, fighting consists largely of artillery engagements, but here, too, the Germans continue to attack the Russian armies which block the road to Warsaw, apparently without making headway.

Unless Field Marshal von Hindenburg has another army to meet the Russians, who have advanced almost to the German frontier on the right bank of the Lower Vistula, this hammering soon must cease, for, with the freezing of the river, it would be possible for the Russians to cross and attack the Germans on the flank and rear.

The Austrians, like their allies, have brought forward heavy artillery and are trying to stop the Russian army, which, if it gets across the Dunajec river again will threaten Cracow. The Russians have mounted guns on the crests of the Carpathians to ward off the Austro-German forces reported to have been organized to protect Hungary from invasion, while in Bukowina they are concentrating for an advance into Transylvania. Thus any Austro-German army which advances in Hungary will be open to attack from both north and east.

MORE DISASTERS FOR THE TURKS.

The Turks are reported to have met further disaster at the hands of the Russians.

FIDDLERS' CONVENTION TO BE THE BEST EVER

Down at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon Long John Beesley, of old Gwinnett, hitched his mule to a lamp post, chocked his buggy wheel with a brickbat from the sidewalk and went in to interview Custodian Homer Weaver as to dates, ways and means for holding the spring convention of the Georgia Old Time Fiddlers' association. He found Mr. Weaver as enthusiastic as himself.

"We'll be meanderin' in along about Febewerry the first," announced Mr. Beesley, when he had located a cuspidor and seen free for the vocal expression. "I've been writin' letters here and yon, and as near as I can figger there'll be so many good fiddlers trying for the Georgia championship this year that the judges will have to take to the woods. Fiddlin' John Carson and Shorty Harper and Red Neck Jim Lawson say they're comin' of co'se, and there's a lot of new fellers who think they can scrape a fiddle string right smart.

"We had a real good time last year, and we're countin' on a bigger one in Febewerry. I reckon it'll take about four nights for all of us to play, and do justice to each and all. If anybody comes inquirin' around, you tell 'em we're goin' to have the biggest fiddlin' match in Atlanta this year that was ever pulled off since fiddles was invented."

Coming From Far and Near.

The news that the Old Time Georgia Fiddlers are to return will be welcome to thousands of Atlantans who have heard in years past the strains of "Devil in the Wheat Patch" and "The Cackling Hen" from the flying bows of Ben Day and Jim Garner, and have watched Sam Tanner, the double-voiced vocalist, rend the air with such homely tunes as "Old Zip Coon."

The Daughters of the Confederacy have again been chosen for a beneficiary, and a liberal share of the proceeds will go to their chapter. Many of the fiddlers are veterans, who wear the Iron Cross of Honor, and they are always glad to divide their receipts with the Daughters.

Daughters Celebrate Birthday of R. E. Lee On Tuesday Afternoon

The Atlanta chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and Camp 159 of United Confederate Veterans will celebrate the birthday of General Robert E. Lee jointly Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the legislative hall at the state capitol.

Mrs. William S. Yeates, chairman of the U. D. C. program committee, announces that the usual appropriate entertainment will be given with the addition of several special features, one of which will be the singing of Wilford Stonewall Watters, a grand opera artist of Europe.

James W. Austin will deliver the Lee address. The Boy Scout and Georgia Military academy bands will render the music. The president of the daughters will deliver the crosses of honor.

The general public is invited to attend, especially the Children of the Confederacy, the Memorial association, the various patriotic organizations in the city and the school children.

HIGHT HOME STIRRED BY ROW OF SERVANTS

"It seems to be in the air," said Recorder George E. Johnson Saturday, when Emmet Hight's cook and chauffeur were arraigned before him on the charge of causing disorders in the millionaire's home on Peachtree circle.

From the evidence it appeared that the housemaid's ears had been slapped by the chauffeur when she told him that he had been "scandalizing her." The cook substantiated this evidence of the housemaid, and Judge Johnson meted out justice by fining the chauffeur $2.75.

Dr. J. A. Wyeth, Famous Surgeon, Tells of Life With Sabre and Scalpel

In "With Saber and Scalpel," just published by the Harpers', Dr. John A. Wyeth, the New York surgeon of international fame, has written an autobiography which the discerning reading public will welcome as the vital human record of a career remarkable in lay and medical history.

The average American knows Dr. Wyeth only as a surgeon of pre-eminence, who has risen to the very top of his profession and whose one act in founding the New York Polyclinic would have written his name high in medical annals.

In this volume Dr. Wyeth discloses himself in other and engaging capacities. He proves himself a shrewd observer of economic, agricultural and sociological conditions in the south before the war. He is qualified to speak, since he was born in northern Alabama in 1845, at a time when the patriarchal regime was at its heighth. He had ample opportunities for judging its virtues and defects, and he is candid with regard to both of them.

As a Soldier.

Though a stripling of 17 when war broke over the land, Dr. Wyeth enlisted and served for a time with Morgan's cavalry, and then with other important confederate commands. Of those days, he retains vivid recollections, and his fund of anecdote is fresh and charming.

Dr. Wyeth participated in the battle of Chickamauga, and it is his belief that this was the turning point in the civil war. He is convinced that had other tactics been pursued, the stars and bars would ultimately have been crowned with victory.

As a Critic.

A refreshing feature of Dr. Wyeth's autobiography is his absolute fearlessness. Whether he is criticising conditions before the war, or tearing down delusions regarding the "martyrdom" of John Brown, or dealing with his own profession, his words are as sharp as the point of his scalpel or saber. The temperament and viewpoint, however, of the man are too inherently wholesome and broad to lead him into needless acrimony or injustice.

One feels, as he scans the pages of the volume, that he is conversing with a man of tolerant spirit, made philosophic by years and experience, kindly by nature, and, emphatically, with a gift for simple expression and metaphor that give his narrative a wonderful smoothness and fascination.

About John Brown.

Folk who still regard John Brown, the abolitionist, in the light of a martyr, are destined to a rude shock in Dr. Wyeth's pages. He devotes a lengthy chapter to establish that Brown was without moral principle or conviction, guilty of many of the capital crimes, and that his famous plot to free the slaves was the desperate and last effort of a monomaniac repudiated by his own political creed to attract attention to himself.

These indictments the doctor does not rest on mere hearsay. He brings up much evidence in support. Some of his liberal quotations are from Eli Thayer, president of the New England Emigrant Aid society, so effectual in fomenting strife in Kansas and at first an advocate and supporter of Brown. Others he calls to the witness stand are Oswald Garrison Villard, who will hardly be charged with undue bias against Brown; Amos A. Lawrence, treasurer of the Emigrant Aid society, and a host of historians of Kansas history, and the history of Missouri.

Under the careful and systematic analysis of Dr. Wyeth, John Brown loses the robe of martyr, and appears in the light of a common swindler, whom few men would trust; a murderer, a brawler, an unskillful liar and a man negligent of wife and family. The picture is an unlovely one, but the doctor etches it in with remorseless fidelity. When he comes to dissect the famous "battle of Ossawatomie" he is especially vigorous. He reviews the trial of Brown, declares that originally the latter never expected any treatment other than that accorded a felon, and assumed the role of martyr only when its possibilities were borne in upon him.

Before the War.

Dr. Wyeth's pictures of the south before the war are accurate and charming. He declares that the patriarchal system then existing was possible only through slavery, and that while that system had many beautiful features, it carried within itself the germ of its own destruction.

He confirms the statement, several times made by The Constitution, that on part of the south the war was chiefly fought by men who had no interest whatever in the perpetuation of slavery and who would have been glad to see the slaves liberated.

Dr. Wyeth's adventures after the war, and his struggles for a livelihood and for means to complete his medical education, comprise a cross-section of the lives of hundreds of other southerners who conquered adverse circumstances and rose to success.

His Profession.

When it is remembered that he has been president of the New York Pathological society, vice president and president of the American Medical association and president of the New York State Medical association, his standing in his profession will at once be apparent to the layman.

With characteristic modesty, Dr. Wyeth neglects to state that his recognition by his own profession is due, not only to his scientific brilliancy, but to a personality of rare force and lovability.

That he keeps pace with changing ideals despite his 70 years is illustrated by his recent tilt with a few ultra sticklers for ethics in New York city. Dr. Wyeth wanted to admit a reporter to a clinic, upon the explicit understanding that he would himself edit the reporter's account of the proceedings.

When the story appeared, a little crew of physicians, with their heads in the middle ages, wanted to bring this dean of the American medical profession before the medical society for infringement of ethics. The manner in which the press rallied to Dr. Wyeth at that time was a tribute to him and to the demand for a liberalizing of ethics, as seen by both physician and layman.

His Achievements.

Surgeons and physicians will be especially interested in that portion of Dr. Wyeth's autobiography which deals with his achievements inside his profession.

He describes simply, but intelligibly, the various additions he has made to surgical and medical science.

His stories of the operating room reveal a nature essentially sympathetic, with a refined sense of humor and splendid breadth and tolerance. One is always struck by the fact that while the man with his scalpel in hand had his profession foremost in mind, he did not forget the personal equation. The impression patients made upon him, how he met crises and his associations with his fellow practitioners comprise some of the most pleasant passages of the book.

The many-sided nature of the man is shown by the poetry he has written, all of high grade, and some of it published in such standard magazines as the "Century." One does not ordinarily look for romance in a surgeon, but these verses express an appreciation of romance of the highest order, without melodrama, dignified, wholesome, sound, sweet.

His Asides.

An inimitable feature of the autobiography is the many "asides" in which the author indulges, and in which he invites the reader to join him.

Dr. Wyeth has mingled with personages in high rank, presidents and captains of industry. Here and there he drops a sly hint of his estimate of them, at once refreshing and shot with humor.

The breadth of Dr. Wyeth's reading, as exemplified by his frequent and apt quotations, is marvelous. He ranges the classics, and here and there one finds a pat illustration from a current source.

A Big Personality.

The final impression of Dr. Wyeth, reading the lines and between them, is that of a big personality, a personality typically American in its aggressiveness and originality, but also cosmopolitan in its knowledge and sympathies and close personal touch.

The man reading the book will find it as diverting and informing and restful as an evening's chat in the study of a great man who has touched our national life at many epochs and who has seen it from many angles. One comes away with a greater store of knowledge and a more genial and all-embracing understanding of life, as we see it in this country of myriad interests and traditions.

BIG CONTRACT IS LET BY SOUTHERN RAILWAY

$1,500,000 to Be Expended in Virginia on 30-Mile Stretch.

Washington, January 16.—The Southern railway will proceed at once to revise and double track the 30 miles of its Washington-Atlanta line lying between Orange and Charlottesville, Va., the work to involve an expenditure of $1,500,000, and to result in a greatly improved line both as to grades and curvature. Bids for the grading are being received from contractors today in the office of W. H. Wells, chief engineer of construction, under whose direction the work will be done.

The completion of this work, together with other work now under way, will give the Southern a continuous stretch of 121 miles of double track out of Washington and a total of 228.7 miles of double track between Washington and Charlotte, leaving only 41.3 miles of single track, divided into four stretches, the longest of which is 20 miles.

The revision between Orange and Charlottesville will eliminate 1,302 degrees of curvature, or nearly four complete circles, and will give a maximum grade northbound of 0.9 per cent and southbound of 1 per cent as against 1.41 per cent in both directions at present.

The work to be done is very heavy, and will furnish labor for a large number of men and cause heavy expenditures in the territory immediately affected. In undertaking it at this time, when receipts from both freight and passenger traffic are much below normal, the Southern Railway company is giving striking evidence of President Harrison's faith in the business future of the south and his determination to furnish adequate facilities, the necessary capital fortunately having been provided before the outbreak of the present European war.

MILLTOWN MAYOR FREED OF CHARGE OF PEONAGE

Government Drops Case After Two Days of Investigation by the Marshal.

Waycross, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Charges of peonage against William M. Pafford, mayor of Milltown, have fallen flat, following an investigation by a United States marshal sent to Milltown upon information furnished the government by John Everett. The government was told that Mayor Pafford had in connection with a lumber concern at Milltown, perfected a combination, whereby negroes appearing before him at police court would be given such heavy fines they could not pay them, and then the lumber company, through a representative, would arrange the fines and have the negroes work them out.

Two days were spent by the marshal in charge of the investigation and nothing whatever found to sustain the "information" forwarded to Valdosta. Everett, since the investigation, has been taken to Nashville and lodged in jail, having been fined in court recently and failing to raise the fine imposed. A gang sentence now stares him in the face.

QUARANTINE EFFECTED IN NORTHWEST GEORGIA

Lyerly, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Practically every incorporated town in northwest Georgia is now under strict quarantine against Chattanooga. This action has been taken as an extra precaution against any possible spread of the smallpox now prevalent in the Tennessee city.

One case of smallpox is reported two miles from Menlo, this county, a son of J. C. Curry, farmer, having contracted the disease while on a visit in Chattanooga. Lyerly has quarantined against that section, also.

SPECIAL COLOR SECTION

SPECIAL COLOR SECTION

FIVE CENTS — ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY MORNING, JANUARY 17, 1915 — FIVE CENTS

AT THE PICTURE GALLERY

Sand color velvet is the material chosen for the first model, trimmed with seal. The buttons are of velvet and the cords suspended from the waist are weighted with fur balls.

FITCH, one of the most fashionable furs of the season, harmonizes very beautifully with the gown of dark blue panne velvet. The long-waisted bodice is finished with a soft sash and bow of velvet, while the full overskirt is made to seem fuller by the semi-narrow underskirt.

The afternoon wrap of ripple velour is also adorned with fitch.

A blue ostrich feather encircles this small hat of black velvet. The tiny upturned brim relieves the ragged and trying effect that usually results when the feather is placed immediately against the hair.

DARK blue wool velvet could be used successfully in the far figure. The hat is a large sailor shape, trimmed with vulture aigrettes.

Erzerum to help the broken Tenth Turkish corps, which was making a stand at Kara Urgan, according to Petrograd advices, has met with a defeat which some correspondents describe as irretrievable. Should this reverse prove as serious as reported the Turkish position would be extremely serious, for the Russian fleet can prevent reinforcements being sent from Europe, having already sunk eight sailing vessels carrying troops.

Enver Pasha, the Turkish war minister and leader of the "young Turks," has returned to Constantinople to put down a conspiracy discovered there against that organization and particularly against Enver Pasha himself.

TRENCH TAKEN BY THE FRENCH.

"There is nothing of importance to communicate except that our troops have taken possession of a new trench in the vicinity of Perthes and of a wood from 200 to 300 metres in front of our lines to the north of Beausejour."

The official statement given out in Paris this afternoon makes no specific reference to recent heavy fighting north of Soissons. Most of yesterday's activity seems to have been by the artillery, and in that the French claim success. There were infantry engagements near Notre Dame de Lorette, near Flirey, and at a point in the Vosges.

The text of the statement follows:

"In Belgium yesterday there was artillery fighting in the region of Neuport and in the vicinity of Ypres.

"From the Lys to the Somme: At Notre Dame de Lorette, near Carency, the enemy reoccupied a portion of the trenches he lost to us January 14. At Blangy, near Arras, we have continued to make progress. The enemy delivered an energetic attack, preceded by a violent artillery fire, on our positions to the west of La Boisselle. This attack was repulsed.

"Along the entire front from the Somme to the Meuse no infantry engagements were reported yesterday. In the section of Soissons and of Ilheims our artillery obtained noticeable advantage at several different points, such as the shattering of a regiment that was about to reassemble causing an explosion in a German battery and the destruction of field works.

"In the Argonne there was yesterday a rather determined artillery attack on our positions at Fontaine Madame.

"From the Argonne to the Vosges: We checked completely a spirited attack of the enemy directed against our trenches at Flirey, and the Germans evacuated the crest of the hill to the north of Clemery, south of Pont-a-Mousson. This they were compelled to do by the fire of our artillery.

"In the sector of the Vosges there were artillery exchanges on all the front. There was also some heavy rifle firing, particularly at Tete de Faux.

"In upper Alsace there was no change."

FIGHTING CEASES, BERLIN REPORTS.

Berlin, January 16.—By Wireless to London.)—After several days of violent encounters, fighting near Soissons has virtually ceased. Nowhere else in the west is there marked activity. Small successes have been won by the Germans in the Argonne and north of Verdun. That is set forth in the official German communication issued here today.

The statement follows:

"The enemy's attacks on our positions northeast of Arras were repulsed. In a counter attack our troops captured two trenches and made prisoners of the occupants.

"The hamlet of La Boisselle, northeast of Albert, which has been mentioned frequently of late, was completely destroyed yesterday and cleared of all Frenchmen.

"Northeast of Soissons quiet reigned. The number of cannon captured there from the French from the 13th to the 15th of January was increased to thirty-five.

"In the Argonne and in the forest of Consenvoye, north of Verdun, trivial and for us successful engagements took place. An attack of the allies southeast of St. Mihiel broke down at the start under our fire.

"No event of importance has occurred in the Vosges.

"On the eastern theater of war the situation is the same. Rainy, gloomy weather has prevented all fighting."

GERMANS QUIT COAST TOWN.

Amsterdam, Holland, January 16.—(Via London.)—The Ostend correspondent of The Tijd says the Germans have evacuated all the coast towns and villages as far north as Nariakerke, which is north of Nieuport, Westende and Middelkerke, and three miles southwest of Ostend.

These towns, however, have not yet been occupied by the allies.

GERMAN FIGURES DENIED BY FRENCH.

London, January 16.—The official announcement by the French war office yesterday relating the capture of 5,200 French troops at Soissons and saying further that from 4,000 to 5,000 French dead were found after the battle, concludes with the unusual assertion "this is the truth."

A wireless dispatch from Paris compiled in London, categorically denies these German figures. It says the French troops engaged in the Soissons battle were less than three brigades and that consequently the Berlin figures cannot be correct.

FESTIVITIES BARRED ON KAISER'S BIRTHDAY

Berlin, January 16.—(Via The Hague and London.)—The Reichsanzeiger has published a decree signed my Emperor Williams, according to which his majesty, in view of the seriousness of the present situation, asks that all the festivities formerly held on the occasion of his birthday be omitted this year. An exception is made, however, of the celebrations usually held in churches and schools.

The emperor asks even that the many letters and telegrams generally sent to him on his birthday by societies and individuals, although always highly appreciated, be dispensed with this year. His majesty says he fears that those communications might interrupt the telegraphic and postal service and interfere with his work.

"For this reason," the decree goes on, "I am obliged to beg that special expressions of good wishes be omitted. Nor are these needed for in these days of tribulation my people come to me, fatherland I am often aware with the most satisfactory proof of its strong bond of love and confidence which unites me with the German people. I thank in advance every person whose loyal supplication will on my birthday be made to the throne of his highness as well as every one who will think of me in a friendly spirit. I am one with the whole German people and their cause, fatherland I am often aware with the one prayer which sways our hearts is for the fatherland; that God will graciously grant us further victories over our enemies and, after a peace with honor, a happy future for our country."

The emperor William's birthday is January 27. It is understood here that the customary court balls will be abandoned and the money usually devoted to those entertainments will this year be applied to charitable purposes.

SATISFACTION TO ITALY ORDERED BY TURKEY

Rome, January 16.—Turkey, according to the Giornale d'Italia, has renewed its order sent through Rome to the Vali of Adalia, Turkey, instructing him to give complete satisfaction for all the demands presented by the Italian government in connection with the incident at Hodeida, where Turkish officials forcibly removed the British consul from the Italian consulate, where he had taken refuge.

The Idea Nazionale publishes a dispatch from Alexandria saying that particulars of the Hodeida incident. It says Turkish gendarmes attacked the British consulate at midnight of December 31. The British vice consul, G. A. Richardson, escaped to the Italian consulate. The commander of the gendarmes then called upon Signor Cocchi, the Italian consul, to surrender him.

When the demand was refused 400 soldiers with cannon surrounded the Italian consulate, broke down the doors with axes and fired on the building, wounding a servant. The Idea Nazionale says that when gendarmes finally entered the consulate they fired at Consul Cocchi, but did not wound him. Consul Richardson was then surrendered.

The governor notified the Italian consul he would be no longer recognized, and would be treated as a prisoner, on charges of having housed the British vice consul and of firing on the Turkish soldiers. The latter charge is characterized by The Idea Nazionale as false.

Signor Cocchi was not permitted to leave the consulate for several days, according to this version, and on the day he was to have been placed on trial he was rescued by arrival of the Italian coast guard ship Giuliana.

HEAVY CANNONADE ON SWISS FRONTIER.

Paris, January 16.—A heavy cannonade was heard on the Swiss frontier near Basel today, and a red glare in the sky this evening indicated that villages and farm houses were burning.

No foreigners will be allowed to remain in Alsace after tomorrow, it is stated.

RUMANIAN STUDENTS SUMMONED TO COLORS.

Paris, January 16.—A dispatch to The Temps from Geneva says Rumanian students in Swiss universities received orders by telegraph today to return home on account of mobilization of the Rumanian army.

RUSSIANS REPEL GERMAN ATTACKS.

"On the night of the 14th and yesterday comparative calm reigned on all fronts, rifle and artillery fire being heard only on the left bank of the Vistula and more especially on the Sochaczew-Bolimow front.

"On the rest of the front the Germans continued without success their efforts to assume the offensive. It has been established that in some places German troops were forced to fall back to get near our positions without hindrance.

"In a district north of Rawa was exposed to the fire of heavy artillery, the Austrians bombarded also with guns of very large calibre, our Dunajec front, and the station and town of Tarnow suffered greatly from fire, but without any effective result for the enemy."

HEAVY FRENCH LOSSES CLAIMED BY GERMANS.

Berlin, January 16.—(By Wireless.) Recent victories in the region of Soissons are regarded by German military experts as the greatest German success since the battle of the Marne, the outcome there confirms their conviction, they declare, that General Joffre's offensive has failed.

Major Morahrt, writing in The Tageblatt, estimates the losses in the three days fighting in the Soissons district must have reached 30,000. His conclusion is that this victory must expedite German operations in the Argonne and around the French fortress of Verdun.

The British losses in France and Flanders during January 14 and January 15 are estimated by The Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant to number 190 officers and 6,200 men, according to a Rotterdam dispatch to the German overseas Agency.

NO CHANGE. SAYS VIENNA.

Vienna, January 16.—(By Way of London.)—The official communication was given out today by the Austrian war department as follows:

"In Russian Poland, Galicia and the Carpathians is unchanged. On the Dunajec river our artillery is engaged the enemy's field and heavy artillery and has gained more fine successes."

GERMAN HYDROPLANE WRECKED IN NORTH SEA

Copenhagen, January 16.—(Via London.)—A damaged German hydroplane has been found on the coast of Manoe, a small Danish island in the North sea. There were no signs of the crew, who are believed to have perished. The machine was loaded with bombs.

BRITISH NAVAL MEN TIRED OF HOLLAND

London, January 17.—(1:10 a. m.)—British naval officers interned in Holland formally notified the military authorities some time ago of their desire to be relieved from their service, according to a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam. From that time forword they were strictly confined to camp, but early this week seven escaped. Two obtained an automobile and it is understood have reached England. The others were recaptured at Harderwijk.

All British officers later were transferred to the fortress of Bodegraven.

VIENNA IS HOSTILE TO ITALY'S EMBASSY

Paris, January 16.—A Havas dispatch from Rome says The Messaggero declares hostile manifestations took place Thursday in front of the Italian embassy in Vienna and the residence of the consular agent at Villach, Austria.

OSTEND IS BOMBARDED BY BIRDMEN OF ALLIES

London, January 17.—Nine British, French and Belgian aviators dropped bombs on the railroad station and barracks at Ostend causing considerable damage, according to a Lloyd's dispatch from the Franco-Belgian border.

KITCHENER STATEMENT DENIED BY GERMANY

Berlin, January 16.—(By Way of Amsterdam and London.)—A statement made by Lord Kitchener, Great Britain's secretary of state for war, in a review of the progress of military operations, in the house of lords January 6, is challenged in a statement issued from German general headquarters.

Lord Kitchener said that the Indian troops were surprised at Givenchy in December and lost a trench, which afterwards remained. The German headquarters contend that this trench never was retaken and still is in the possession of the Germans.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvine, apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—(adv.)

"SILENT TREATMENT" FOR GERMAN INVADERS

Even Belgian Children Turn Their Heads When They See Kaiser's Soldiers.

Brussels, January 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"Silent treatment" of the German landsturm in Brussels by the Belgian people is one of the most striking features of the situation. It is spreading even to the children who turn their heads away or cross the street whenever they see a German soldier approaching. If a soldier enters a shop the Belgians either quit the building or move away as far as possible. And if the landsturm enters a street car the Belgians leave or turn their eyes away. There are no words of greeting, no smiles, not the slightest look of recognition that the soldier is a human being.

Whether that is having any effect on the soldiers is not certain, but an American who today stopped a German soldier who was off duty and talked with him, was surprised at what he heard.

TURKISH GUNS SINK FRENCH SUBMARINE

The Saphir Sent to the Bottom While Trying to Enter the Dardanelles.

Berlin, January 16.—(By wireless.)—The Turkish official statement issued from Constantinople today announces that the French submarine Saphir, while trying to enter the Dardanelles, was sunk by Turkish artillery. Part of the submarine's crew was rescued.

The Saphir displaced 286 tons and carried about 21 men. She was 154 feet long, 12.7 feet beam, was fitted with submerging tubes and was capable of traveling 12 knots on the surface and 8 knots submerged. She was built at Toulon in 1908.

HIS SPEECH RESTORED BY HIS MOTHER'S FALL

Cardiff, Wales.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—In the belief that the shock of the previous accident would restore speech to her wounded son, a Cardiff woman threw herself down a flight of stairs recorded for her bruises by the cry of, "Oh, mother!" Now, for the first time, Corporal Tucker is able to explain how he came to be struck dumb and how the shock of his mother's fall gave him command of his tongue.

"At Ypres," says Tucker, "I was buried alive by three Jack Johnsons. At first I did not know what happened. It was all so quiet and dark. Then I felt a great weight on my body, and I could not move a finger. Then the boys dug me out, but my nerves were so shaken I could not speak a word. They sent me to England, was able to walk, but very nervous and unable to use my tongue. Then my wife met me I could not say a word.

"As I had not seen my mother for a long time, I went to pay her a visit. She met me at the door in speechless dumbness. The other night, after coming home from the moving pictures, I was settling in the kitchen very downhearted, when I heard something falling downstairs. I rushed there, and found my mother, who was groaning. I called out, 'Oh, mother!' and fainted.

"When I recovered, I found my mother, cool and smiling, holding my head, while I was crying. In my weak and nervous condition, the shock was too much. I then learned she had deliberately fallen, and bruised herself badly in doing so.

"My nerves are still in bad shape, but when they are well I hope to return to duty again at the front."

No Loveless Marriage Necessary for Girls Practically Trained

New York, January 16.—Practical training gives girls independence and precludes necessity for loveless marriage, said William Howard Taft today in an address at the annual meeting of the Hebrew Technical school for girls.

"According to your report, 2,700 girls have been graduated from this school, and I am glad to see that only 260 got married," said the former president. "Now, I am not opposed to matrimony but I believe there are thousands of women who have made the world sweeter, purer and better and who did not marry. The trouble is that many women have to marry, not for love, but because it is a custom. The only way to avoid that custom is for a girl to become independent. Then when a man who is a scrub asks her to marry she can say: 'I can do better, I am independent.'"

The speaker expressed disapproval of the literacy test in the immigration bill, asserting that the illiterate immigrant did not expect to make his living by his wits, and that men who came here with that purpose were no desirable addition to the population. The unlettered alien, he stated, usually tried to give his children an education and the children made loyal citizens of this country.

GEORGIA POULTRY SHOW PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

The show of the Georgia Poultry association closed Saturday night after a most successful exhibit of a week's duration. Exceptionally good crowds kept the gate receipts gratifying, while experts from all over Georgia and neighboring states exchanged opinions with the visitors and registered many good sales of their several classes of chickens.

Several unusual premiums were furnished by local firms. This together with the inspiration gained from the character of the exhibits, it is believed, has placed poultry raising in the south on a higher plane than ever before. The fanciers are already looking forward to the next exhibition.

When Officers Haslett and Gantt made an investigation they discovered that Everett had received severe cuts about the forehead and back of the head. He stated that he had been assailed by unknown thugs and robbed.

BRYAN'S WARNING MOVES CARRANZA

To Modify Decree in Regard to Exportation of Oil From Tampico--Washington Hears Embargo Is Lifted.

Washington, January 16.—The British embassy tonight received word through the British legation in Mexico City that General Carranza had lifted the Tampico embargo on exportation of oil, which had threatened the fuel supply of the British fleet. No details of the extent of Carranza's modification of his previous decree was received, but apparently serious complications was believed to have been averted. Negotiations still are being conducted to enable American and British-owned companies, from whom prohibitive taxes had been levied to reopen their plants.

The British ambassador, Eliseo Arredondo, Washington representative of Carranza, and Charles A. Douglas, legal representative of Carranza, conferred today with Secretary Bryan over the Tampico situation.

The warning to General Carranza was sent last night, following a conference between Secretary of State Bryan, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, and Arredondo and American oil concerns. It was explained that foreign-owned oil companies "have confiscated control of their wells" by Carranza, and that urgent representations had been made to avert such action.

Some American oil companies, it is said, have already been compelled to shut down their plants because of a decree by the Carranza government which makes it impossible for them to operate without the consent of the Mexican authorities, and forces them to pay a heavy tax. In addition, it is said, a virtual embargo has been placed on the exportation of oil by the English company by Carranza officials.

Secretary Bryan's warning to the constitutionalists that foreign interference with the oil producing plants here might cause a flutter in the local Mexican agencies.

At Carranza headquarters it was contended that the recent mutinies in the Tampico district had involved themselves in trouble because, about two months ago, they had withheld taxes on production they had been paying to the Carranza government in the belief that Villa would soon be in possession of the fields.

Heretofore the state department has uniformly protected Americans in Mexico from the acts of Mexican mobs.

Enrique C. Lloronte, head of the Villa agency here, was authorized today to call attention to the use of dogs in ambulance work. The dog has been figured little in these dispatches. The sentry dog was urgently recommended a year or two ago by some of the higher French army officers, but they received no encouragement from the war office. Now the need is acutely felt, and a corps is being trained as rapidly as possible. A dog of this kind will invariably give warning of the approach of an enemy long before the soldier sentry is aware of it. In one section of the southern front, where dogs have been used for the past month, no night attack of the Germans has been successful.

Not every dog will make a good enough sentry. They need careful selection and equally careful training. Many animals that are excellent watch dogs, or in guarding their master's property, prove worthless when removed suddenly to a new environment and stationed under a stranger.

The English shepherd dogs are working with about thirty battalions of their army. The Russians also use them rather extensively on sentry duty.

It is said that the Germans, whenever they enter new towns, make it a rule to collect and train all likely dogs, and to kill all others. Many of their signalmen go out accompanied by dog scouts, who give warning of the approach of the enemy.

DOG CORPS TRAINED FOR USE BY FRENCH

Dogs Will Be Used as Sentries to Warn of Approach of Germans.

Boulogne, France.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—While there has been devoted a good deal of attention to the use of dogs in ambulance work, the dog has been figured little in these dispatches. The sentry dog was urgently recommended a year or two ago by some of the higher French army officers, but they received no encouragement from the war office. Now the need is acutely felt, and a corps is being trained as rapidly as possible. GERMANS USE ANIMALS IN SMUGGLING SCHEMES

Novel Methods Adopted by Refugees to Get Money Out of Russia.

Petrograd.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Novel expedients resorted to by Germans for smuggling out of Russia money in excess of the five hundred rubles to which they are limited by Russian regulations, are recorded by customs officers and police at Bieloostrow, the small railway station on the Russo-Finnish frontier. In addition to the hiding places in wearing apparel, feathered and stuffed animal specimens, feathered pets have become favorite instruments for the concealing of considerable coin from the custom house officer.

One German protested vigorously when an officer insisted upon removing the tiny blanket worn by a poodle, on the ground that it had a dangerous attack of influenza. In a concealed pocket in the dog's coat were found three hundred rubles in gold. An innocent looking bird cage containing a canary challenged the suspicions of another officer. His discovery of a small aperture in a piece of dry bread in which had been hidden notes amounting to three thousand rubles. It occurred to a gendarme that the enormous buttons on the coat of a woman dressed in the height of fashion were even larger than the current style demanded. Upon investigation, he found in each of the twenty-some buttons, which were hollow, a neatly folded thousand-ruble note.

Catcher—Harry E. Chapman.

By Dick Jemison.

Manager Bill Smith, of the Crackers, yesterday announced the above partial list of twenty-six players who are subject to his call for tryouts with the Crackers this spring.

This is the first inkling that Manager Smith has given of who will be with the Crackers in their hunt for the pennant during the coming campaign.

But this list is far from being a complete one, as the men that the St. Louis Browns are going to turn over to the Crackers are not included in this list.

In the list are players who were carried over by the Crackers from last year, purchased or drafted this fall, and being carried on the ineligible list for various reasons or other.

When Bill finally rounds out the list he expects to have a No. 1 team that will be able to take care of itself in all the championship battles.

Who Players Are.

Eight players appear as having already signed their contracts and every one of these players are new men to Cracker fans.

In the pitchers is James Allen, the only left-hander on the squad. He was secured from the Salt Lake City team. C. W. Bradfield and Frank Robertson are semi-pros. The latter will be remembered as the youngster from Norcross, who twirled such a splendid game in the Welchonce benefit last fall. Bradfield is from Cleveland.

Neiderkorn, the only catcher yet signed, is recommended as a star of the first water. The Constitution carried a story concerning him and his photo some time ago.

Hopke, one of the two new third basemen, was turned over to the Crackers by the St. Louis Browns. He played with Reading, in the Virginia league, last season. Potts, who played with Salt Lake and Bay City last season, is recommended highly by baseball men all over the country, and they predict that he will make good with the Crackers.

Don Flynn was a heavy hitter in the Oklahoma league last season. His achievements have been written of before in these columns. Milz, the other new outfielder, is the star of the Cleveland amateur team that made such a wonderful record during the past season when they won the championship of the United States. It is the same team that played the benefit game at Greenville, Pa., for Harry Welchonce.

The Unsigned Men.

Among the list of unsigned players appears Elmer J. Lawrence, who revelled to the Crackers from Columbus; Frank Browning, Elliott Dent, Carl Thompson, Rivington Bisland, Waldron, Hack Eibel, George Kircher, Ambi McConnell and Harry Welchonce, all of last year's team.

Harry will remain on the reserve list, as he will not be able to play baseball during the coming season.

Manager Smith stated that Amby McConnell would not be brought back here as he has a trade on for the little second baseman with a team nearer Amby's home. This will also suit Amby better, and as the little second-sacker is getting old and easily hurt and is a high-priced man, it is probably better all the way around, considering the reduced salary limit.

Ed Manning, of the new twirlers, will be remembered by Cracker fans as the youngster who twirled, played short, second, first, third, outfield for the Montgomery Billikens, and is the old Auburn baseball and football star. Manning was turned over to the Crackers by the St. Louis Browns. He played with Rochester, in the International league, last season, being recalled by the Browns.

Williams and Pearson were drafted by the Crackers from the Sally league. The first named played with Albany and the last named with Jacksonville. Cook was in the Tri-State league last season and has been turned over to the Crackers by the Browns.

Heitt was drafted by the Crackers from the Texas league. Frank Brown recommended the twirler to Manager Smith as one of the best twirlers that ever performed in the Texas league.

Tullos, the new infielder, was also turned over to the Crackers by the Browns. He played in the Tri-State league last season as well.

Browns to Help More.

Manager Smith stated that the Browns were going to help more than they have. He stated Saturday he had wired the Browns' management for permission to give out the list of names of the players that will be turned over to the Crackers a little later on.

Up until a late hour last night, Bill had not received any reply, so he cannot give out any information. But Cracker fans can take a good guess and hit pretty close.

Every one knows of some of the players that Bill Smith is hot after with the Browns, or players whom he would like to get, and will take if they are offered to him.

Edson Hemingway, who played with Nashville; Walker, an outfielder; Yale Sloan, an outfielder who was with the Nashville, are three men that Bill will grab if they are the men that the Browns are going to turn over.

The Browns have already turned some players over to the Crackers, and these three men may be in the list, but Manager Smith is forced to keep their names secret as per agreement.

Then we are certain to get a couple of pitchers, and maybe both of our catchers will come from there. At least one of them will come from the Browns, and he will be the first-string catcher next season.

Silent on Wallie Smith.

Manager Smith is silent as to Wallie Smith, but when questioning the local boss, one can see that Bill would like nothing more than to announce that the famous Wallopin' Swede would hold down the hot corner for the Crackers in 1915.

The deal is still pending, that is a cinch, and Manager Smith is no doubt going to use every effort to convince Griffith that he wants Wallie and no one else.

But Bill's principal worry is the awful hole that has been made at Ponce de Leon Park laying the new underground sewer. And Bill's fears are not groundless. In fact, all the fans have to do is to pay a visit to Ponce and they will agree that the arena very doubtful whether it can be gotten ready for the regular season, much less the exhibition game time.

Manager Smith hopes to be able to announce the names of the men that he will get from St. Louis by the early part of this week.

MAJOR LEAGUES FILE AFFIDAVITS

Answer Federals' Suit by Claiming Latter's Hands No Cleaner Than Their's on Contract Cases.

Chicago, January 16.—Organized baseball today denied through affidavits of the leading representatives that it violated the anti-trust laws, as charged by the Federal league, declared its purposes and workings were for the benefit of the ball players, and charged its accuser with doing some of the very things complained of in the Federal league suit.

Emphasis is laid in the twenty-four affidavits filed in federal court here, on the allegation that through the Federal league considered its rivals as forming a trust and "oppressing" players, some of its most prominent members appeared willing to ally themselves with organized baseball.

August Herrmann, Joseph J. Lannin, M. E. Cantillon and Charles Somers presented sworn statements relating to various peace plans based on an alliance which some of the Federal magnates, it was said, were more than willing to accept.

The burden of a general denial of the Federal charges is left to August Herrmann, as chairman of the national commission. His affidavit is supported by those of B. B. Johnson, president of the American league, and John Heydler, secretary of the National, describes organization of the game and defends as legal and necessary the ten-day and reserve clauses in players' contracts. He defends the national commission from charges of holding control over the various organizations.

Charles A. Comiskey, giving his history as a ball player, declares he never broke a contract, and never objected to the ten-day clause in any contract he had signed. He complains of the effect Federal bidding had on the minds of players.

Halds on their clubs for players are told of by Herrmann, Clark Griffith, Somers, Robert Hedges, W. W. Naher, Barney Dreyfus and Fred Clarke.

Portions of the Federal league by-laws are quoted in the affidavit of Steve Cusack, formerly on its staff of umpires, to show that the ten-day clause and the reserve rule also is part of the new league's contracts.

That the minor leagues paid to ball players in 1914, $2,085,350 in salaries is one fact of interest in a long affidavit made out by J. H. Farrell, secretary of the national association.

Complete Card for Thursday At the Bijou Is Announced

JIMMY PAPPAS,
The Greek bantam who meets Johnny Eggers at the Bijou theater Thursday night.

THURSDAY'S CARD AT THE BIJOU.

Jimmy Pappas v. Johnny Eggers, 10 rounds.

Battling Budd v. Kid York, 8 rounds.

George Dans v. Spider Britt, 6 rounds.

Kid Arthur v. Young Gardner, 4 rounds.

Jimmy Pappas, the Greek bantam, who battles Johnny Eggers at the Bijou theater Thursday night, is confident he will take the easterner to a lacing, providing the latter will come in at 118 pounds ringside.

Pappas also let it be known that he would claim Eggers' $100 forfeit if the latter was one ounce overweight. Jimmy took this stand yesterday and stated that he would live up to it, too.

"I am a small boy, and don't see why I should be forced to give away weight," said "Jeems" yesterday. Kid Herman shaded both of us, so that he has nothing on me as a drawing card here. I really think I can beat Johnny, and believe me I will be trying all the time, as I know a victory over Eggers will place me in a position where I can demand a match with either Kid Herman or Frankie Burns."

Promoter Potts announced yesterday that he had secured Kid York, the handsome newsie, to battle Battling Budd in the semi-windup. There are many fans here who think Budd is the coming sensation of local boxers and they will have a chance to see him in action again Thursday night.

Two other bouts will also be on the program. Potts intends to keep up the high standard of boxing Mike Saul has introduced to local fans and he will have his first chance to make good Thursday night. Bantamweight scraps have made a big hit with fans here, as the little fellows do not clinch and hang on as much as the bigger boys.

The fans want to see good, clever boxing and they certainly got that in the last two shows staged here. Pappas and Eggers have both taken part in the two bouts. Also both fought the same boy, Kid Herman, the southern champion. Now it remains to be seen which is the better boy, Johnny K. O. Eggers or Jimmy Pappas.

Eggers and Pappas have both been working out at the Metropolitan club. Each has several sparring partners, so that neither will have an excuse to offer if defeated.

Tickets for the bout have been placed on sale at the Rex, Tumlin Bros' and Chess' Cigar stores.

JOYCE-SHERMAN SUIT HAS BEEN POSTPONED

By agreement of both sides, the case of Mrs. Arthur St. George Joyce against Mrs. Hazel Sherman, was continued Saturday morning until next Saturday, when it will be heard before Judge W. D. Ellis.

Both Mrs. Joyce and the accused woman were in court when the case was called early Saturday morning. Mrs. Joyce was accompanied by her husband, a publicity expert, who denied that he had had anything to do with his wife's petition, and declared that he had done all in his power to prevent it.

Mrs. Joyce accuses Mrs. Sherman of seeking to alienate the affections of Mr. Joyce, formerly a newspaper man of Philadelphia, in which city the trio resided at the same boarding house for months.

TECH'S BASEBALL DATES ANNOUNCED

Twenty Games — Georgetown New Team on Schedule — Four Games With Georgia in May.

The Tech baseball schedule, as announced yesterday by Professor Randle, director of athletics, is one of the best that a Tech nine has had in several years.

There are two teams, Georgetown and Florida, on the schedule that have never been met upon the diamond before by the Jackets. Georgetown has never been in any branch of sports, while the University of Florida has encountered the local school on the football field.

Although most of the games will be staged here in Atlanta, the team gets some nice trips, which include games at Auburn, at the University of Florida, at Mercer, and, as usual, with the Georgia nine in Athens.

One good feature of the schedule is that no team, with the exception of the Red and Black outfit, will be met more than twice. Last season the Jackets played the University of Alabama six games, which was almost one-third of their total number of contests.

The athletic relations with the University of Tennessee will be resumed after a lapse of some half dozen years. The Sewanee Tigers, who have been on the Tech schedule for a number of years, have been dropped.

As the schedule calls for games with the leading teams throughout the south, the Jackets can put in a very strong claim for southern honors this year, provided that the team has a good season.

March 26-27—Georgetown in Atlanta.
April 3-4—Tennessee in Atlanta.
April 9-10—Alabama in Atlanta.
April 14-15—Mississippi Aggies in Atlanta.
April 16-17—Auburn in Auburn.
April 23-24—Vanderbilt in Atlanta.
April 26-27—Florida in Tallahassee.
April 30-May 1—Mercer in Macon.
May 8-9—Georgia in Atlanta.
May 15-16—Georgia in Athens.

PLAYERS' FRAT ISSUES DEMANDS ON THIS LEAGUE

By Clyde L. Drew.

Little Rock, Ark., January 16.—(Special.)—President W. M. Kavanaugh, of the Southern league, has received from Dave Fultz, president of the Players' fraternity, a copy of the demands which the fraternity has made upon organized baseball. The demands were sent to President Kavanaugh as a member of the national board of arbitration, which has not yet passed upon them.

"These demands are not of special importance to the Southern league because it has been complying with most of them," says President Kavanaugh.

However, there are two which he will vigorously oppose. Most important is the demand that when a player is transferred from a major league club to a minor league club, under an optional agreement, he shall be paid the salary he was to have received from the major league club.

"It would be impossible to fulfill this agreement and keep within the league salary limit," says President Kavanaugh. "This is one point I shall never agree to."

Another demand to which President Kavanaugh will object is that when waivers are asked on a player, the player himself shall be notified first. This, the president believes, would be harmful to the club, of no benefit to the player and altogether is unreasonable.

President Kavanaugh probably will call the Southern league executive committee to meet in Chattanooga Saturday, January 24. He already has fixed February 20 as the date of the league's spring meeting which will be held in Little Rock.

IN MEMORIAM:

Mrs. W. P. Pattillo, Atlanta

Died December 30, 1914.

It is not always that "labor meets its just reward," so it is gratifying to give public recognition to the loving, faithful devotion from the co-laborers of Mrs. W. P. Pattillo, who was so suddenly summoned by death.

In the loss of Mrs. Pattillo the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs will be deprived of a most capable leader and a loving friend.

Her message written in Mrs. Heard's diary, when asked why she was attending the Chicago Biennial, was characteristic of her life intent: "To help promote every movement that tends to elevate women." I am glad I was with her on that trip—glad it was my privilege to have some little part in her glorious work.

Her beautiful, unselfish life endeared her to all, and her untiring zeal, devotion to planning and serving was an inspiration to those who labored with her.

Through her influence the Federation has grown and strengthened and her presence will be sadly missed.

EDITOR.

TRIBUTE FROM MRS. Z. I. FITZPATRICK.

In the death of Mrs. W. P. Pattillo, the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs has sustained an irreparable loss, and each club woman mourns for a friend is gone.

With the thought of her death comes memories of the many kindnesses and attentions that always made her presence and words of counsel so much appreciated.

Memories of her kindly, painstaking services will ever thrill and inspire her to more loyal endeavor until there shall be recorded in Georgia the fulfillment of prophecy of greater achievements as to vividly spoke and worked for.

There will be an added sincerity regretted when no longer numbered among those present" is the name of Mrs. W. P. Pattillo.

MRS. Z. I. FITZPATRICK,
President Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

RESOLUTION OF ATLANTA WOMAN'S CLUB.

New York, Jan. 6, 1915.

An announcement in an Atlanta paper, received a few days ago, gave me the sad intelligence of the death of my friend, Mrs. W. P. Pattillo. It has been my pleasure for many years to be intimately associated with Mrs. Pattillo, she had been the sharer of my joys and of my sorrows, and I would fain claim the privilege of laying a little flower on her grave. Mrs. Pattillo was interested in nearly everything that concerned the uplift of Atlanta, her heart and her purse were ever open to the calls of the helpless and needy. I never knew a woman of finer character—combining rare intelligence—unassuming, big hearted, kind, modest as a violet, and sweet and fragrant as a rose. We can estimate the influence of this noble woman? How well she filled every walk in life—a good wife, a loving mother, a devoted friend. Truly, indeed, she will find a rich reward over there. Mrs. Pattillo had been in failing health for years, in spite of this she was rarely away from the club. There is a face absent that we can never see again. We will miss her gentle presence and her wise counsel; therefore,

Be it resolved, That the club of Mrs. Pattillo, the state, the city, the clubs, the patriotic societies and her church and home has suffered an irreparable loss;

Resolved, That we, as her associates, as club women and as individuals, will ever feel the influence of her beautiful life—her conservatism, her kindness, her goodness, her knowledge, enriched into wisdom by a life of constant close study and broad experience. Verily she shall live forever in minds made better by her presence and life.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the club minutes, and that copies be sent to the daily papers, and to the family of our deceased sister.

MRS. JAMES JACKSON,
MRS. BOLLING JONES,
MRS. J. K. OTTLEY,
MRS. NELLIE PETERS BLACK
MISS ALICE BAXTER,
MRS. H. J. M'GOVERN.

LIFE OF SERVICE FOR WOMEN.

I count myself highly honored to be permitted to bring my little bunch of flowers of love and precious memory to this sacred memorial of my dear, cherished friend, Mrs. Pattillo, whose life we all admired and whose loss we mourn. has left this world poorer indeed. Such administrative ability and such grief overwhelm me, crying for adequate expression which I cannot possibly give, that I shall not attempt it. A passionate longing "I have a message to send her, but 'tis so senseless, so pure, so sweet, that I long for an angel to bear it and lay it down at her feet.

Among all of Georgia's great women, whom we may thank for lifting up the world of more and more, none was more loved than Sally Chase Pattillo. With clean, pressing vision she had allotted herself with all the upward-reaching movements of the day, especially those which led to the highest development of women. Truly, it may be said of her: "In all righteous uplift, her life had a part:

In building up this science and that art;
Inventing here, administering there;
Helping to organize, create, prepare,
O'th fullest figures to expiate
Her unmixed nature of a perfect date."

Her long and valiant service, keen insight and far-seeing judgment helped to solve many of the early problems of women's organizations. Her wide knowledge of women and her capabilities, her keen perception of the importance of organized womanhood, her thoughtful suggestions and her loyalty to a policy which demanded careful preparation made her a very safe and strong wise counselor. She loved club activity and to it she gave liberally of her time, strength, means and sympathy. It was a priceless privilege to have known her and have labored with her and to have loved her. She did not shrink from public work, possibly because hers was always of the kind that made friends—never antagonized—while her resolute persistency of spirit was illustration of the poet's thought:

Others shall right the wrong,
Finish what I begin,
And all I fail to win;
What matter, I or they,
Mine or another's day,
So the right work be said
And life the sweeter made."

It was dear Mrs. Pattillo's genius to shine peacefully—"content to fill a place unknown." Because she was always the faithful, loyal, true friend. This testimony comes from both grades; the multitude who had the blessed privilege of her close, intimate, deep love and the multitude who were proud to call her friend in less degree. Again, this woman of genius, this woman of versatility, this woman of wide honor and usefulness and of unnumbered friends was, besides all of these, the very flower of noble wifehood and motherhood, and, above all of this, she was a gentle, loving Christian.

Husband, children, home and church were first. To her children she was not only all that other children know and prize in thoughtful care, in tender love, in wise service; and not only, further, a wise teacher and firm helper, but, beyond all these mother-powers, she was her children's friend. This is the highest, highest power given to rich natures—natures which seem unlimited in their power of loving power.

To this great Woman's club she was too well known to need any eulogy in dwelling on service. So great was that usefulness that it is hard, indeed, to face its loss and it is not a small loss, for, in such a life of beauty and sweetness, we recognize everlasting life and in this light of comfort the previous words of one of our own gifted, true club women seem a most fitting close:

"Who so standeth close to God,
Who so standeth true,
So that life all unbinding light
Shines forever through:

Who so liveth for the world,
Serving, strong and true,
While the boundless power of God
Pours forever through:

So, whose work hath filled our hearts
With courage, love and cheer,
With words that teach ten thousand lives
To bring earth's heaven near:

She is part of human life,
She is part of the living God,
She is never numbered
With the dead.

MRS. BOLLING JONES.

LIFE A BLESSING TO CITY.

As I think of my dear friend, Mrs. Pattillo, my mind goes back to the early days of club life in Atlanta and I see the deep interest she took in the organization of the Atlanta Woman's club and most of her united effort with it. The Federation was to establish the City Federation of Clubs, which has been a blessing to the whole city. One of the first public acts in which the City Federation was asked by Governor Bullock, the foreman of the grand jury, to take part was the bond issue for the new reformatory for Fulton county. Mrs. Pattillo was one of the committee. This was in 1 think in 1908, and the voters came out in such numbers as being due to do so by the women of the federation, that the reformatory became an assured fact. Thousands are living monument of what woman's influence can accomplish. Mrs. Pattillo was also deeply interested in securing the first of the beneficent "child labor" laws that was passed by the legislature, and by chairmanship of industrial schools at Danielsville and Cass station she was an inspiration and warm advocate of the work those schools accomplished.

Truly may we say of this good woman, "her works do follow her" and memory will keep her sweet presence by our side for many many years.

FRIEND AND CO-WORKER.

That "death loves a shining mark" is true as exemplified in the taking from the arena of life our dear friend and co-worker, Sallie Chase Pattillo.

Having been for nearly twenty-five years closely associated in more varied lines of woman's endeavor than usually falls to the lot of friends, I can truly say that we took sweet counsel together and walked the path of life as friends.

If one of her virtues could be chosen to stand out above and beyond all others it should choose loyalty as expressing the strongest of her many noble traits of character. Loyalty to her country, to her home and family, to her church, to her friends and to her God.

Beginning our work together as co-laborers on the gulf states committee of the Young Woman's Christian association in its pioneer days and having supervision of the work in the southern states for more than ten years, she was sadly missed at executive meeting, where her wise counsel, deep spirituality and patient assistance in solving many difficult problems was always an inspiration. She has left her imprint upon this splendid work.

In the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., in the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., in the State Federation, the City Federation, in our own Atlanta Woman's club and lastly in our Uncle Remus Memorial association work we have met in executive sessions through all these years, and looking back upon all that she has accomplished, the faithful, wise counsel, gentle, quiet manner and spirit of Christian charity which dominated the life of our friend have been strongest factors in the building up and upholding of these various lines of endeavor.

In the true type of the old south, she was truly a gentle woman. Her's was a home beautifully kept. She entertained in it, as its most exquisitely refined way, loved social life and together her friends about her, was a devoted wife and mother, a tower of strength to her pastor and church, and when the deep recesses of her soul were revealed, enthroned above worldly good of all was the Christ, the humble disciple and follower she was. In all the years of close friendship never was a cruel or harsh criticism heard to pass her lips. Loyalty to her friends never failed; once a friend, always a friend. The petty jealousies of life never reached the plane above them. If discord arose she was the peacemaker, and as Paul the Father called her in the "wee sma' hours" of the night she heard the call and not afraid answered, "Father, here am I."

After her very serious illness the past summer when she was able to see her friends she told in her heart, she frequently alluded to the desperate efforts made for her relief and to the fact that she realized that the summons might come at any moment, but gave no indication that when the call did come she was ready and prepared—her earthly home had been put in order and she was prepared for the home above, where sickness and sorrow never enter.

We shall meet, but we shall miss her. There will be a vacant place in our hearts when the memory of her graciousness, her faithfulness, her the call of duty and her cheerfulness in answering that call will ever be an inspiration to live up to the best in us—that it may be said of us as of her:

"She hath done what she could," and that the Father may say to us, "It hath been said to her, 'Thou hath been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things, enter into the joys of thy Lord.'"

MRS. HAMILTON WILSON,
President Uncle Remus Association.

TRIBUTE BY MRS. HAMILTON DOUGLAS.

Mrs. Hamilton Douglas paid loving tribute to the memory of her friend, to her serenity of character, which, like the sunshine, was unobtrusive—as to the storms and tempests of the surface, which affect shallow souls; to her influence, which will still be felt by those she walks with us no more; for like the light, by day, invisible to mortal eyes, she still makes us responsive to what she would have counseled; to her love, that the lives of those she loved her, for she belongs to "the choir invisible:

Of those immortal dead who live again,
In minds made better by their presence; live
In pulses stirred to generosity.' May we, like her,
Die not, leave no other souls
The cup of strength in some great agony,
Enkindle fire generous ardor, feed pure love:
Beget the smiles that have no cruelty,

A FRIEND OF 25 YEARS.

"Our dear, dear Mrs. Pattillo! To me she was the most wonderful woman, so nobly just, so marvellously well organized, sane at all times and under all conditions, so safe and so safe unswerving in principle, with high standards and beautiful ideals, she was a great light, a never-failing torch-bearer. I shall miss her dear companionship, her brave commradeship.

MRS. EUGENE B. HEARD.

Eleventh District Report

The Eleventh district has had 5 new clubs added to its number since last report—Cedartown's club, of Douglas, with Mrs J. C. Brewer president, has a membership of 36. In January, 1914, the City Improvement club was reorganized into a Woman's club, with the following standing committees: education, rural, library, legislative, civic, art, music, domestic, park, membership and social. The work of beautifying the park, and the great work for health conditions, owing to the unsanitary circumstances since the better organization, has been done. Besides the work the club has contributed liberally to the support and calls of the general federation.

The Woman's club, of Jesup, Mrs. J. Breen, president, has 47 members. The work of this club has varied, all tending to the uplift of the community. It maintains a club house, at a cost of $17.50 per month. One room is used as a rest room for the comfort and convenience of the country people, the other as a club room, and social center for the town. Georgia Federation day was observed with an elaborate program. The Jesup club was hostess to several other organizations during the past year, the Federated Teachers' Institute of Wayne, and Pierce counties, and the Eleventh District convention being among them. The club house is also owned and maintained by this club, and is observed and used as a Carnegie work done. A prize of $5 was given for the Girls' Canning club. The sum of $367.50 has been raised for all work during the year.

Jesup Library Club.

The Progressive Library Club of Jesup, Mrs. F. E. Breen, president, with an active membership of thirty-five, has also done good work for the town. It holds two meetings a month—one a business meeting, at the library; the other a social meeting, with a program, at the home of some member. As the name implies, the library is the special work of this club, and it has established what only one other club in the district has done, a "childrens' story hour." Three years ago this club planted on the school campus a fine Japan tree for each grade, and has kept them fertilized each year in celebration of Arbor day. The sum of $86.14 was raised for carrying on the work of this club.

The Nashville Civic league, Mrs. Jim Smith, president, has twenty-five members. Much work is accomplished along civic lines. A rest room is maintained, and substantial aid given the library.

The Ocilla Woman's club, with Mrs. Reason Henderson as president, was organized and federated April 17, 1914. All standing committees were appointed, and work commenced. A park was planned, and a children's playground was started. Groceries were furnished for two months for the domestic science class in the public school. This was good work for the first few weeks of club life.

The Civic League of Saint Mary's, president, Mrs. Mary A. Parks, Federation report a total enrollment of 72 members. At their November meeting 37 members were present. At their January meeting they were favored with an address by the noted specialist, Dr. Visanski, his subject being: "This Child a Chance." This club is also making plans for beautifying their school grounds and other improvements.

1st St. School Parent-Teacher Ass'n.

This association has just asked for the privilege of furnishing membership cards for new members just enrolled, great enthusiasm is being manifested and good results being obtained.

Sixth District Macon Schools.

Over 100 new members have been added to Macon Parent-Teacher association since the president's visit to the city. Twenty-seven membership cards have been sent to Nisbet Gresham school, 25 to Alexander, No. 1, 21 to Winship school.

Tenth District Augusta Schools.

Mrs. W. W. Thompson, president of the John Milledge School Parent-Teacher association, reports her organization in a most flourishing condition. At the December meeting, out of 95 members enrolled 93 were present, a marvelous record for attendance and enthusiasm. On December 4 the club gave a reception to about 300 guests, the refreshments being prepared and served by the girls of the domestic science class. The following officers for 1915 have been elected: President, Mrs. W. W. Thompson; secretary, Mrs. O. M. Burch; treasurer, Mrs. E. C. Vaughan, Mrs. J. C. Hoke, of Oakhurst, Ga., will succeed Miss Wilkes as state chairman of kindergarten work.

North Avenue Presbyterian School.

The North Avenue Presbyterian school organized a Parent-Teacher association Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. A. Ten Eyck Brown as temporary president; Mrs. Marion Jackson, secretary. Miss Sarah Converse, principal of this school, sent out invitations to all the mothers of the school for the meeting. Eighty mothers were present, Miss Converse talked informally to the mothers on her idea of what a school should be. This was followed by a general discussion with the mothers. A parent-teacher association for a permanent organization, that the mothers might assist the teachers in working out these plans for the school.

Ira Street Children.

The Helping Hand and Happy Heart society had a most enjoyable afternoon and evening Wednesday, December 23, at the home of Mrs. H. I. Green, on Richardson street. Each girl had been asked to dress a doll and to put the same on exhibition. A prize was offered for the best dressed doll. Mrs. Jackson was the judge and she awarded the prize to Willie Belle Plumber. In the evening the girls entertained informally. Refreshments were served and everyone enjoyed the occasion. Our next meeting will be in January.

MRS. ISAAC JACKSON, President.

Death of Mrs. William Nixon Mourned by Atlanta Chapter

The following resolutions were adopted by the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., on the death of Mrs. William M. Nixon:

Mrs. William M. Nixon, nee Lou Vaughn, daughter of General John C. Vaughn, commander first confederate tennessee brigade, volunteered, was a loyal Daughter of the Confederacy and member of the Atlanta chapter. She did active work for the chapter at one time as chairman of finance, and in every office filled in love for Daughters of the Confederacy.

Mrs. Nixon's wonderful spirit found out to lines of endeavor that call forth Christian love and sympathy, and as she moved along her path in life, made loving friends among her co-workers in service for others. By request, a few of these friends have given expression to their sentiment as follows:

Mrs. Mollie Logan loved her, writes: "Mrs. Nixon came from one of the south's distinguished families and had by inheritance as well as education all the culture and refinement of a gentlewoman. She was proud of the fact that her father was a confederate officer, a distinguished member of congress and gloried in their work and success.

was with Mrs. Nixon frequently during her illness and at a time when hopeful of her recovery she said: 'I intend to minister to the sick in D. C. when I am able.' But now that my church work is lighter.

"She was always busy in the Master's service. The softest sigh from the humblest home found echo in her heart, and she was ever ready to feed the hungry and clothe the pillowy of the poor. She looked for goodness, looked for gladness and, by reflex influence, seemed to find whatever she went."

Mrs. Nellie Peters Black thus expresses her love for Mrs. Nixon: "Our friendship and work for the children of the Free Kindergarten association began in 1906 and constantly day in and day out, year after year, she sacrificed time, strength, talent and money for the good of the work. She was always unselfish, always ready to make any sacrifice 'in His name.' The quiet spirit in which she met the child suffering and the triumph of the spirit over the body and taught all who saw her patient acceptance of the inevitable that 'to live is Christ, to die is gain.'"

Mrs. Hall writes in memory of this lamented member: "Whatsoever her hands found to do, she did with all her might, and caused the widow's heart to sing for joy."

A loving thought from Mrs. Blackburn finds expression in these lines: "Though her gentle spirit has returned to God who gave it, her life influence lives in the universal love which was reflected in the varied scope of her work, from the cotton mill folks who loved her to the patriotic order of the Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, where her Christian grace and modest personality endeared her to all. In loving memory."

"Whereas, the above sentiments meet with the hearty response of the Atlanta chapter, U. D. C., be it

"Resolved, That a moment the death of our honored member, feel that her beautiful life was an example for us all to follow, and that we entered into the fuller life prepared for them their love the Lord.

"Second. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the chapter, and a copy to the family with sympathy of the Atlanta chapter.

Atlanta Chapter Pays Tribute To Mrs. W. P. Pattillo's Memory

A loss that cannot be estimated has been sustained by the Atlanta chapter in the passing of one of its most valued and beloved members, and our hearts are bowed with grief that we shall see her face no more, nor ever again listen to her wise counsel.

Like a meteor the brilliance of the evening star—whose pure strong light causes the myriad surrounding flame of lesser lights to be insignificant rays—so did the brilliant mind stored with the widest knowledge, actuated by the heart enobled by her unchangeable—loyalty—her fidelity and sweetness—shine out in every walk of life as a faithful friend and coworker, Sallie Chase Pattillo.

Of the old south, to the "manner born" she was typically a gentle woman, a beautiful home-maker—cultured, refined, hospitable and highly gifted intellectual powers dominated always by the spirit of the Lowly Nazarene.

She passed in and out among her friends as the true organizations to which she belonged, loved, trusted and took with them the best she could. Her loyalty to the south and its traditions made her always an interested and enthusiastic member of the Daughters, and her wise judgment was ever sought by her associates in office.

Her going brought grief to hundreds of friends who were tenderly attached to her for all her womanly graces, and who, while they mourn that they shall not again see her face and enjoy her sweet companionship, are yet thankful that she has gone where sorrow is unknowing, and that when the summons came she met the call as a Christian, full of hope in the Life Eternal.

Therefore, be it resolved, That in the death of Mrs. Pattillo the Atlanta chapter U. D. C. feel keenly and deplore the great loss of her splendid example as a true woman and friend, that the more will her gentle voice be heard among us in the calm, strong motion and quiet admonition guide us; no more can we feel that sustaining power of her wise counsel.

Be it further resolved, That as she fervently sought to live each day as if it were her last on earth, doing only kindly deeds, and saying only words of truth and kindness, we strive to emulate her noble example in living up to the high calling which is in Christ Jesus our Lord, and

Be it further resolved, That we extend to the Atlanta organizations to which she belonged, loved, trusted and gave her best work, our deepest sympathy in the irreparable loss which they have sustained, and point them to the great and only Comforter. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and a copy sent to the immediate family.

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. A. MOD. WILSON,
MRS. C. HELEN PLANE,
MRS. W. B. PRICE-SMITH.

Mrs. S. G. Townsend, president, has continued its splendid work along all lines. Meetings are held each month, one a "mothers' meeting," at the schoolhouse. Through the efforts of the educational committee the walls are adorning cups, physical culture and singing have been observed, and a library of fifty books have been added to the school library. Arbor day was appropriately observed. Each Friday is made of interest by offering a prize of $15 for the cleanest back yard, and a potted plant for the prettiest front. A large, well-lighted room in the town's town section has been secured for a clubroom, and an effort has been made to make the rooms attractive. Prizes have been offered to the school department of household economics. A new sanitary hall and better fire protection are other civic necessities made possible by the efforts of this club. One hundred and fourteen dollars has been raised.

The Saint George Woman's club, Mrs. M. A. Benjamin, president, although but a few months old is doing splendid work. By another convention this club will report a year of steady growth and progress through its different departments.

Woman's Club of Quitman.

The Woman's Club of Quitman, Mrs. Lee Patterson, president, has seven active and five departments as follows: Civic, literature and drama, art and musical, home economics and the parent-teacher. Each department has some splendid work in its special field. A cooking school was held by the home economics. Much civic work is accomplished by that department, and the musical, literature and parent-teacher are all living up to what is expected in each particular line. The new year will be observed with a splendid program for each department.

The work demanding the attention of the whole club is the building of a library in the near future to take the place of the one that has become inadequate for the present demands of the public.

The Wymodausis Club of Valdosta, Mrs. W. H. Griffin, president, is the pioneer woman's club of the district. This club has much good work to its credit. The Girls' Canning club, established a sanitary drinking fountain in the park, and milk inspection for the town, and an anti-spitting ordinance, and has recently opened a public library. At the last meeting of the year, the Wymodausis was changed to a department club, having five departments—music, art, literature, civics and home economics. The limit to membership has been removed, and it is hoped that more women will be interested in club work during the coming year.

The Parent-Teacher association of the South Georgia State Normal has federated this month, and presents an attractive year book with splendid programs for the coming year.

MRS. JEFF DAVIS, President.

By request of Miss Helen Louise Johnson, chairman of the Home Economics Department of the General Federation of Women's clubs, The Pictorial Review offers $500 in prizes for the best definition of "Home."

The Pictorial Review will pay $500 as follows:

Second prize 100.00
Third prize 50.00
Four extra prizes, $25 . . . . 100.00

Total $500.00

Will Publish Official Program State Conference Next Sunday

The state conference of the Georgia Daughters of the American Revolution will be held in Atlanta from February 9 to 12th inclusive, the Joseph Habersham being the hostess chapter.

A splendid series of entertainments have been added to the business sessions as provided by the Joseph Habersham chapter. The full official program will be published in the D. A. R. column next Sunday.

This promises to be our largest conference in attendance, and very interesting and important as well as delightful socially.

TRIBUTE IS PAID MRS. W. D. CABELL FOR D. A. R. WORK

A Baltimore paper makes the following statement concerning the Daughters of the American Revolution:

"In addition to the long list of presidents general and vice presidents general that have been elected for life by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the title of 'honorary president presiding,' has been conferred upon Mrs. William D. Cabell at the sixth Continental congress in 1898. It is hers alone, and cannot be bestowed upon another. At the time that Mrs. Benjamin Harrison became the first president general of the society she was in failing health. As mistress of the White house her duties prevented her regular attendance upon the meetings of the national board of management, and she could only accept the office with the assurance that she should have an efficient assistant. She was always most ably represented by Mrs. Cabell. Mrs. Harrison delivered the address of welcome and presided over the morning session of the first Continental congress, but Mrs. Cabell furnished the brain for the remaining deliberations of that congress. As president general she occupied the chair and delivered the address of welcome to the second congress, but death having meanwhile occurred the previous October. All the early meetings of the national board of management were held in Mrs. Cabell's home until a suitable area was secured in the World's Columbia exposition, in the Woman's congress, Art institute. In 1893, May 15, 1893, Mrs. Cabell presided at several of the sessions of the Daughters of the American congress. Addresses and at the opening session delivered an eloquent address. It would seem fitting that she should take her place among the presidents general of the national society, but it has not been her honor to be elected to that office, so her present title was conferred upon motion of Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, one of the founders of the society."

PUTNAM

I.

In the heart of dear old Georgia,
With her pulsetide bounding high,
Lies the Spartan County—Putnam—
'Neath an opalescent sky.
Etched against the sky her hill-crests,
And her mystic, rolling plains
Shelter the colonial mansions,
Where the Southern spirit reigns.

II.

In the midst of Putnam's radiance,
Like a splendid shaft of light,
Rises Eatonton historic—
With a future, too, that's bright.
Stately exponent of Putnam,
All her ideals cherish warm.
Her traditions hold in reverence
And her honor guard from harm.

III.

Putnam, treasure spot of Georgia,
With your splendid gems of genius
Shines the splendor of your genius
With a brilliance nation-wide.
Down the vista of the future
In the realm of Nations;
Ever will glow the torch of Harris
With its homely, magic flame,

IV.

Give us worthy sons and daughters,
Worthy forbears to succeed.
This your destiny, dear Putnam—
Giant spirits ever to breed.
Shine on, Putnam, Gem of Georgia,
Beat on, Heart, with pulses high,
Shame the destiny of Nations;
Lift old earth toward the sky.

Plays by Houghton And Shaw.

The most hilarious meeting to which the Drama league has yet treated its members will be that of next Tuesday afternoon, when different members will give a reading rehearsal of two little one-act plays. The first, "Philpps," by the late Stanley Houghton, is a delectable one-act comedy, in which an English butler most unexpectedly reveals himself as a human being, and the second, "Press Cuttings," by the inimitable George Bernard Shaw, is a skit which hits indiscriminately at English politics, suffrage, militarism and a host of kindred topics. The two little plays will be delightfully interpreted by Mr. Robert Moore, Mr. Franklin Mikell, Mr. Thornton Marye, Mr. Milton McGovern, Mrs. Jarnagin, Mrs. Ransom Wright, Mrs. Spiker and Miss Helen Stwart.

Mr. Robert Loveman, the poet, who is coming to Atlanta for the dedication of the new Oglethorpe university, will be present, and will be introduced to the members.

New Era Study Club.

The last meeting of the New Era Study club was held at the home of Mrs. Phillip Keeney, 384 Woodward avenue. The topic for study was a continuation of the tour through Europe, the countries being Belgium and Holland. Mrs. J. B. Allen read a bright paper on "Busy Belgium," which was discussed by the ladies present. Mrs. S. B. Hosmer then gave a delightful paper on "Holland, the Country Below the Sea," which was also discussed. The next topic was the first chapter of the annual club story, which was given by Dr. Florence T. Truax. This proved to be a mystery story "The Quest of the Topaz Ring," which was listened to with breathless interest. The first chapter gave the story of a family jewel, the possession of which brought joy to the wearer, and the loss of which always followed any act of deceit on the part of the recipient. After a tragic loss and a romantic finding of the ring, the chapter ended, the second installment to be given by another member at the next meeting. After the program delicious refreshments were served in the dining room by the hostess and her sister, Mrs. Young.

THE UNCONQUERED SEX

IN THE PATH OF NAPOLEON

100 Years After His Downfall

By JAMES MORGAN

The failure of the conqueror of Europe to capture a woman's heart, the failure of the most brilliant man in the world to turn a woman's head, is Mr. Morgan's topic today.

The story of how the great strategist was baffled by the female of the species, his relations with women and his attitude toward the sex, is part of the comedy of history, but it is not without its pathos.

As the prelude to the emperor's divorce, the story today is no less instructive than amusing.

Some one has made the discovery that Shakespeare, although he had 15,000 words in his vocabulary, had to repeat the term love 1,500 times in the course of his matchless story of the human race. Yet that magic little word has no place in the biography of Napoleon. In the most crowded life that ever was lived, one chapter was left blank.

Not that the great captain was a misogynist. It is really amazing to contemplate the time and attention bestowed upon womankind by this busiest man the world ever saw. It is hardly necessary to hark back to the wild and absorbing ardor of his love-making days, when he simply had to love some one, if not the girlish Desiree Clary, then maybe Mme. Permon, who protested she was old enough to be his mother, or possibly the ancient actress Montansier, who, tne lying Barras says, was old enough to be his grandmother, and finally that "elderly coquette," the widow Beauharnais.

Nor does memory need to be refreshed with repetitions now of those flaming messages to Josephine from that first Italian campaign, when the little corporal's pulse beat higher for love than for glory. The flames subsided, it is true, but not because the fire burnt out; it was only smothered. When the bitter cynic, Marmont, tells us that "never did a purer, truer or more exclusive love fill a man's heart of the heart of so extraordinary a man," we cannot ask for a more credible witness.

TENDER FANCIES.

No woman seems to have touched that heart without leaving upon it an ineffaceable impression. Mlle. Colombier, the little girl who picked cherries with the sublieutenant at Valence, needed only to address the emperor to have him open wide his cornucopia above her no longer youthful or comely head and shower upon her a post of honor as lady-in-waiting at the court of Mme. Mere and upon her husband a barony, with comfortable emoluments. Another maid of Valence, whose smile had cast a faint ray upon his melancholy path by the Rhone, found herself elevated to the station of lady-in-waiting to the empress, and her husband, M. de Montalivet, a member of the ministry and a count of the empire.

Bearing everything from and doing everything for his most faithless and useless marshal because he was the husband of Desiree Clary, Napoleon said, "Bernadotte may thank his marriage for his baton, his principality of Pontecorvo and the crown of Sweden."

Although his own sisters looked upon the eagle, which freakish nature had smuggled into their barnyard brood, as only a bird to be plucked, Pauline alone among them having the slightest emotion for him, he lavished fondness upon his stepdaughter, his step-in-law and upon the Beauharnais nieces and cousins. "Hortense," he said, in his admiration of Josephine's daughter, "forces me to believe in virtue."

When Princess Catherine of Wurtemberg came to Paris to marry Jerome and Laeti terrified at the emperor's feet, he picked her up, gathered the awkward young German girl in his arms, kissed her on both cheeks, nor did his gallantry end there. Nothing was more than any of the women on the court to place her at ease. In the Princess Augusta of Bavaria, wife of Prince Eugene, he inspired the fealty of a daughter. His letter of instructions to the young husband discloses a sensible domestic code: "You need more gaiety in your house; it is necessary for your wife's happiness and for your health. Shed the life that you lead, but I have an old wife who can amuse herself without me, and besides I have more to do."

The emperor's indulgence toward Stephanie, Aunt Fanny Beauharnais' granddaughter, whom he adopted as his own daughter and married to the Prince of Baden, made that young lady the spoiled child of the empire. When Josephine bought a little cousin from Martinique, he promptly married her to the Prince d'Arenberg. But the marriage was an unhappy one, and the bride ran away from her groom. The emperor threatened to send her back in the custody of gendarmes, but he softly relented and gave her a liberal allowance that enabled her to dispense with an unpleasant husband.

NO SEX EQUALITY.

"Kind, gentle, persuasive women" were his choice, and such as they could go far. Even in the camp he found fault with the English for "dismissing the ladies from the table, remaining for hours to drink and separate themselves. Society is nothing," he contended, "unless ladies are present. They are the life of conversation."

But he would brook no self-assertion from them on any point. Because one of the ladies of his court seemed too aggressively moral, he said, "Mme. de Genlis tries to define virtue as if she were the discoverer of it."

He believed in training wives in the way they should walk. To the Duchess of Dalmatia, wife of Marshal Soult, he said: "Madame, remain quietly with your husband. If I were, you would behave very differently."

He would have no sex equality. Women, he insisted, should not be regarded as "men's equals, for after all, they are only the machinery for turning out children." He would have thanked a twentieth century emperor for his alliterative epigram on the limitation of women to "children, church and cooking."

In his scheme of education for girls there were to be no blue stockings. "Make them believers, not reasoners," he instructed the educators. "The weakness of the brain of women, the mobility of its ideas, their destination in the social order, the necessity of inspiring them with perpetual resignation—all this renders the yoke of religion indispensable to them."

THE DREADED FEMININE.

An amusing dread and jealousy of the influence and independence of the sex are betrayed in a hundred of Napoleon's sayings. He really placed women on a level with the English, the Austrians and the Russians as a peril to his mastery, seeming to look upon women as a competing sovereignty seated upon a rival throne and disputing with him for the dictatorship of the earth. "A minister of state," he declared, "should never allow a woman to approach his cabinet." He would establish a quarantine against this insidious enemy and make the empire exclusively masculine.

Such a segregation of the sexes as he proposed is nowhere more absurdly impossible than in France, where the great ladies of the salons, sharing in the discussions, the intrigues and the ambitions of philosophers and statesmen, only reflect the fashions of the women of the peasantry, who have an equal part with the men in the counsels of the cottage.

Even war is not suffered to interrupt the comradeship of the sexes in France. The vivandiere, or cantine woman, dressed in the finery and mounted on the horse stolen for her by the soldiers, with her keg of brandy in front and her bologna sausage and cheese all around her, was at first the daughter and next the sister before she mellowed into the mother of the regiment, unless indeed she married in the meantime and became a duchess, like Mme. Sans Gene, or a baroness or a countess, like many others of her calling. Her tent was the club and her purse the bank for officers and soldiers alike, while she braved wounds and death in battle by carrying refreshments to the thirsty and famishing firing line.

In all the campaigns of Napoleon, his army was followed by its "love escort." Such a band of wives and children, actresses, dancers and thousands of adventurous women as never attended any other than a French military organization, brought up the rear of the grand army in all manner of wagons and carts, on donkey back and afoot. With the fortitude of grenadiers, they endured the heat of Spain and the snows of Russia, and, pausing at the foot of a tree to receive a call from the stork, the hardy mothers, with their babes in their arms, quickly overtook the advancing columns.

In his earlier campaigns Napoleon tried hard to shake off this "love escort." But, although he threatened to smudge the faces of the women, they defied him, and there is no record of such a cruel punishment of their vanity. He took all possible precautions against any woman accompanying his army to Egypt, but many slipped aboard his ships as stowaways or in soldiers' uniforms. The eternal feminine was with him still in his retreat from Moscow, where women who had grown families in his camps and kept step with his legions for 16 years, followed his footprints in the snow.

UNMILITANT SUFFRAGETTES.

Notwithstanding he had failed in his efforts to keep them out of his camp, he declared that "Women shall have no influence at my court." Affecting a brave air, he exclaimed, "What do I care for the tittle-tattle of the drawing rooms? All I care for is the opinion of decent peasants." Yet he made a detective a Duke to reward Fouche's diligence and skill in providing ears for the walls of the salons of Paris.

The tittle-tattle—and it was merely that—of Mme. de Stael annoyed him more than the roar of an enemy's battery, and he growled. The appearance of this woman, like that of a kind of evil omen, has always been the signal of some trouble." Thereupon de Stael was packed off, and her retreat in the chateau that now stands in a green and moldy old age in the village of Coppet by Lake Geneva became the capital of the republic of refractory women in the empire. When Mme Recamier returned from a stealthy visit to that capital she found herself condemned to exile, although there may have been other reasons for dispensing with the presence at court of that famous beauty.

If the feminists of the day wielded no hatchets and only pens or smiles, Napoleon none the less reviewed them with alarm. He really had too much of the feminine in his own emotions to be indifferent to women. For daring to jest at him Mme. de Balbi was sent out of the country. The widow of the scientist Lavoisier, seeking consolation in the loss of her husband by the guillotine, married the American Count Rumford, and next sought consolation for the Count's mistreatment of her in the society of M. and Mme. de Remusat, Talleyrand and Fouche. Thereupon a conspiracy was ferreted and the shadow of the imperial frown fell upon the little group.

It was a pity the eagle could not soar above the idle gossip in the salons of the old nobility. He never lost his sensitiveness to their sneers. When one of them, Mme. de Chevreuse, declined to attend upon the captive queen of Spain, protesting that she had not been brought up to play the part of a jailer, the haughty grand dame was ordered to place 100 miles between herself and Paris. Mme. de Narbonne, although the emperor honored her son with important missions, could not be brought to demean herself with more than two or three very perfunctory appearances at court each year. The son, however, proved himself a clever diplomat in his apologies, when the emperor said in a grieved tone, "I fear your mother does not like me."

"Sir," the young count replied, "my mother has not yet advanced beyond the stage of admiration."

Napoleon recognized the queenship of women, but he wished them to be like his fellow sovereigns of the male species, satellites revolving around his own planetary body. He always stood ready to be their protector if only they would be his allies.

His fatherly care over the "weaker sex" knew almost no bounds. He required every subprefect in France to make a list of the daughters of the most notable families within his jurisdiction and an estimate of the probable inheritance of each girl. At the time he contemplated a sort of card index system, under which he would betroth to his poor but deserving civil and military officers all the heiresses in the country having yearly incomes of $10,000 or more. Ever eager to lend a helping hand to Cupid, he married one of Josephine's maids to Constant, his valet, and giving the Duke of Gaeta, his minister of finance, two years in which to marry, he thoughtfully added, "If you wish, I will arrange it for you."

DICTATOR OF FASHIONS.

In his ambition to dazzle the world with their brilliance and beauty, he surrounded his throne with women, but there were to be merely a studiously arranged tableau, and he succeeded in making his court the most splendid and the most stupid in Europe.

The fashions and customs of women not only interested him personally but politically as well, for he saw their possible usefulness to him in his trade war with England. His court was commanded to give up the use of imported tea and sugar and all manner of British fabrics. "It is a contest of life and death between France and England," he said, "every French teapot and sugar basin and work basket must be employed as weapons in the war." Calling fashion to his side as an ally, he promoted the return to the silks of Lyons in the styles of the empire for men as well as women and put a ban on the simpler and soberer republican garb that had come into favor at the revolution. He led Parisian dressmakers away from their preference for goods made of cotton which had to come by the blockaded sea, to linens and lawn woven of flax, and the merino sheep of Spain, no longer yielding their fleece to the woolen manufacturers of England, gave the mills of the continent a monopoly of the finest wool in the world.

Not by the emperor's direction but in his bonor, the fashion makers brought out Oriental ideas that recalled his campaign in Egypt, but one momentous departure was made without any apparent relation to him. That was the introduction of corsets in the winter of 1809.

Napoleon's weakness for the sex really was unmistakably betrayed in his inordinate interest in the dress and toilet of women, which he criticised as if he were inspecting his soldiers' uniforms. "Go and put on some rouge, madam, you look like a corpse!" "How red your elbows are!" "Good God! They told me you were pretty!" "That is a fine mantle of yours; I must have seen it twenty times!" "Heavens! what are your hair red?"—these are among the assorted ejaculations in which the women of the court circle trembled as his imperial majesty made his rounds.

NAPOLEON AND THE WALTZ.

Napoleon never planned more closely the operations of his army in the field than he planned the amusements of his court. He gave great theatrical performances, but balls were afraid to applaud. "I pity you," Talleyrand said to a courtier, "you who have to amuse the unamusable."

Young girls yawned and fell asleep in the heavy atmosphere of the Tuileries. It palled upon even the emperor himself, and in his weariness with the function, he kept devising and fidgeted about on the throne at the splendid ceremonials. His anxious chamberlains, like street car conductors, politely endeavored to make the genuflecting procession "step lively," and the women were commanded to carry their trains over their arms in order to move forward in closer ranks.

The graver spirits reveled for a time in the festivities they held about the empress after the emperor had gone to bed, for he never overcame his provincial habit of retiring early. But all the walls in the empire having ears he disliked some of the things that were said in his absence. The little playtime, therefore, was summarily suppressed and all the Parisians at court were ordered to bed at barrack hours.

Paris had grown dizzy in the waltz, which Napoleon's soldiers had discovered or rediscovered on the Jena campaign, when the conquering army saw the Germans forgetting their national woes in the dreamy whirl. Although Napoleon's old dancing teacher in Vallence had put in an appearance and an application, saying, "Sire, it is I who once guided your steps," the pupil never was a credit to his instructor. When the emperor tried his awkward feet in a gavotte at Warsaw he asked the Countess Potocka how he danced. "The countess" reply is a model: "Sire, for a great man, you dance perfectly!" The great man, however, was not a great fool, and he knew better.

Good people in France were sorely outraged by the strange dance from Germany. But although it invaded even the frigid precincts of the Tuileries, the emperor did not shock the prudes by taking it up, for whenever he tried to waltz that marvelous head of his grew dizzy and lost its balance.

A COURT PICTURE.

To give his people a change of scene, Napoleon at stated times transferred his court to country palaces, preferably Fontainebleau, which Josephine detested. On those occasions the vast pile was crowded with a population equal to that of a town, requiring as many as 1,100 beds to be made in the chateau and as many as 2,000 covers laid at dinner. The apartments were assigned to the guests as in a big hotel, while the duties of entertaining were divided among the members of the imperial family. If the emperor gave a reception this evening, another evening was marked by a card party under the hospitality of the empress, while on other evenings there were plays or musicales, followed by balls under the patronage of the princesses. The princes, the ministers, the grand marshal and the ladies of honor, each with a dining table in his or her apartment—once there were 52 tables to be served—gave all the dinners, and thus left the emperor free to take refuge from the jaded mob of courtiers in a private dinner with the empress and whomsoever else he chose.

The social evolutions of each day were scheduled as in a military training camp. Breakfast over at 11 o'clock, the ladies turned to tapestry work; at 2 the men went hunting, returning at 4 or 5, whereupon the emperor was likely to tap his watch and say, "I give the ladies ten minutes to dress for dinner." Sometimes a great levee was scheduled for Sunday morning, which obliged all those from Paris to travel most of the night, merely to stand in silence against the wall of a horrible Fontainebleau while the emperor passed as in a review of the guard, perhaps without a word or a look, after which the long return journey to the city began.

Spite of his tireless efforts to give his court a good time, the emperor grieved: "Is it not strange! I brought all these people out to Fontainebleau; I want them to be amused and I arranged every sort of pleasure. Yet here they are, with long faces, all looking bored and tired."

Talleyrand explained, with the candor which the emperor permitted him in the privacy of the cabinet, "Sire, that is because pleasure cannot be summoned at the tap of a drum. Your majesty always seems so say to us, 'Come, ladies and gentlemen, forward, march!'"

One night at Fontainebleau, as the imperial party was coming from a production of the "Marriage of Figaro," the wife of Marshal Lannes, the Duchess of Montebello, sighed: "To think that once I let myself be almost trampled and smothered to see that play, and now I find nothing amusing in it!" Napoleon replied, "That is because then you were in the pit, and now you are in a box!"

ROYAL MORALS.

Dreary as the court of the empire must have been, it had the then rare merit of decent cleanliness, at least. It is true that Napoleon, when he assumed the crown assumed at the same time the ancient prerogative of monarchs to be a moral law unto himself. It is true he proclaimed, "I stand apart from other men: I accept no one's conditions." Nevertheless, he continued to pay virtue the tribute of not openly adopting the now incredibly low standards which generally prevailed among royalty in a time when the palaces of Europe were houses of shame, and when there was not yet a democratic public opinion to restrain princes and princesses and compel them to seem as decent as common people.

It was the obscene age when that obese debauche, George IV. of England, then Prince of Wales, typified monarchial morals of England as "the first gentleman of Europe." The Hohenzollerns were as abandoned a lot as any about a throne when Louise married into the family and united her homely virtues with those of Frederick William to lift the court of Berlin out of the mire. The Bourbon king of Spain, favorite, Godoy, for having helped him for twenty years to bear the burden of his crown, while the Czar Alexander was altogether worthy of his grandmother who brought him up, the naughty Catherine.

If Napoleon did not surpass the morals of his fellow sovereigns he was not guilty of their brazen affronts to the moral sensibilities of his subjects, but furtively tread the primrose path at double-quick. He broke no lance, like Henry II., for a Diane de Poitiers; in the empire, France saw no Louise de Vallere, no Montespan, no Maintenon successively playing the political boss with a Louise XIV., saw no Pompadour arranging

MAMMOTH COTTON COMPANY PLANNED

Southern Cotton Association Takes Action Following Failure to Secure Relief From Congress.

The Southern Cotton association through the machinery of its various state divisions and central headquarters in the Peters building, at Atlanta, has actively undertaken to organize the Co-operative Cotton company.

Harvie Jordan, president of the Southern Cotton association, who has just returned to the city after an extended trip over the entire cotton belt in the interest of the new company, gave out the following interview to The Constitution Saturday:

"The organization of the Co-operative Cotton company has been undertaken by our association because of the failure to secure any financial relief for the cotton growers, either through the federal government or the Wade-Cotton Loan pool.

"The two states selected for pushing the work of organizing the company are South Carolina and Texas. Both of these states have recently enacted good state warehouse laws.

"The minimum capital of the company will be $1,000,000, and will be secured through the subscription of cotton at 10 cents per pound, basis middling.

"The subscribed cotton to the stock of the company will be made from a part of the present large surplus of the crop of 1914, and held until it is sold for 10 cents per pound, net.

"If a considerable part of the surplus can be retired in this way, the effect will be to immediately advance prices on the remainder of the crop needed in the channels of consumption.

Loans on Warehouse Receipts.

"The first business of the company will be to secure loans on negotiable warehouse receipts for cotton held by its stockholders. Later the company will undertake to improve and standardize a general warehouse system in the cotton belt; finance cotton in storage; improve the present wasteful and expensive system of handling and marketing the crop, and become an active selling agency in the marketing of cotton and cotton seed for its stockholders direct to the consuming mills in this country and Europe.

"Cotton growers have wanted just such an agency for many years for bringing to them the economic advantages in the handling, financing and marketing of the cotton crop.

"A state permit for soliciting cotton subscriptions for the company was granted by the state authorities at Austin, in Texas, last Tuesday.

"I was in Columbia, S. C., last Monday, and secured an agreement with bankers there for loans aggregating several hundred thousand dollars for the benefit of South Carolina farmers.

"The plan provides for making loans on four bales of cotton for one bale subscribed to the capital stock of the company.

"If a farmer has, for instance, 20 bales of cotton, and he subscribes four bales to the stock of the company, he can immediately secure a cash loan on the remaining 16 bales, at 6 cents per pound, basis middling, at a rate of interest not to exceed 8 per cent per annum. This agreement was made with the Union National Bank of Columbia, and the first $500,000 for loans is immediately available.

"This is the first instance where ample cash capital has been secured to aid farmers with loans of real money on their cotton, under favorable terms, since the declaration of the European war.

To Enter Other States.

"I am now satisfied that similar arrangements can be made in every state in the south, which will mean several million dollars of cash money available at once for farmers, which they can use to pay debts, finance their business affairs and yet be able to continue to hold their cotton until better prices are assured.

"If the Co-operative Cotton company is liberally supported by the cotton growers of not only will present financail difficulties be soon overcome, but the problem of profitable and economic marketing of the crops of the future be solved.

"Bankers now appear to have more confidence in advancing loans on cotton properly stored and insured, which indicates a material improvement in the stability of cotton values and in our financial condition.

"The plan of the Co-operative Cotton company is indorsed as being absolutely sound and practical by many of the leading bankers and business men all over the south and west.

"The press in the different states where the work of organization is being pushed at present are giving liberal publicity to the plan.

Plan to Start in Georgia.

"We expect to begin operations in Georgia and Alabama in the near future. It is confidently believed that the first 20,000 bales necessary to organize the company will be fully subscribed in South Carolina within the next thirty days.

"It is also believed that a considerable part of the cotton bought under the 'Buy-a-Bale' movement will be subscribed to the company, as it would guarantee a full return in value on the investment to the owners.

"I expect to leave for Texas next week, where there is at present a large amount of the crop being held, and which we will undertake to finance under the same terms just secured in South Carolina.

"The Southern Cotton association has ample funds with which to pay the actual and necessary expenses for organizing the company, and the prospects for success are very bright.

"I have a letter this morning from Senator McLaurin, of Columbia, S. C., state warehouse commissioner, who states that applications are coming in fast and that South Carolina farmers will certainly subscribe 20,000 bales and soon get the company fully organized in that state."

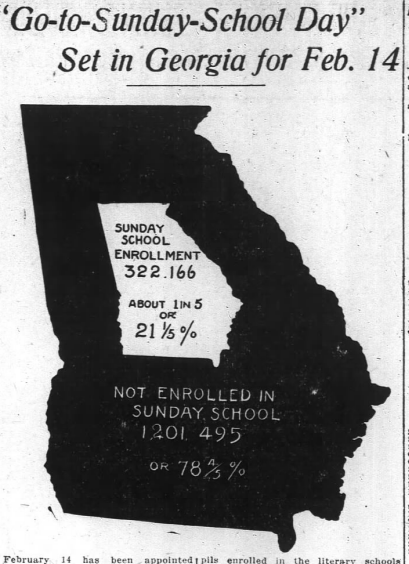
"Go-to-Sunday-School Day" Set in Georgia for Feb. 14



February 14 has been appointed "Georgia-go-to-Sunday-school Day" by the Georgia Sunday School association. This call is sent out by the association at the instance of a large number of Sunday schools which advocate making a special effort for a record attendance on the same day all over the state. February 14 has been designated because this is the nearest Sunday to Georgia day, February 12.

Sunday school superintendents, teachers and students are asked to make a special effort to increase the attendance and enrollment to as large a number as possible on this day. Everything is being done by those behind this movement to make the sessions unusually attractive. A responsive order of service has been prepared which requires about ten minutes for recital. This, together with other interesting leaflets relating to the movement, and which contain valuable ideas and suggestions, can be obtained free in such quantities as desired from the headquarters of the association in Atlanta.

Field Is Very Broad.

So far as known, this is the first time in the history of the state that any day has been used by the Sunday schools of all denominations as a special go-to-Sunday-school day. Those acquainted with the facts state that there is a surprisingly broad field in the state for the energetic enlistment of children and adults in Sunday school work, since in a white population of 1,523,661 there are only 322,166, or 21 1-3 per cent who are enrolled.

This apathetic attitude toward a vital branch of the church—the instructing of its future members—is easily explained, and, furthermore, can be remedied. Nothing can be accomplished—even in a Sunday school—without adaptability and system. Many Sunday school officers have no other qualification than willingness. This alone does not hold the child. Some perfunctorily go through the routine of the hour preceding the sermon, as people follow a long confirmed habit. This repels rather than attracts the young. For all children have too much sense to attend simply because "it is the thing to do;" they are not warped by the convention of society.

This condition has brought about strange situations in some places of the state. In one county there are thirty more literary schools than Sunday schools, three thousand more pupils enrolled in the literary schools than in the Sunday schools, and forty churches that have no Sunday school. One town in the state of fair size has only forty-six members enrolled in the two Sunday schools. One superintendent told the general secretary of the Georgia Sunday school association: "I have been superintendent of this Sunday school for more than thirty years, and have never heard of the home department before." Still another county has thirty churches. Thirteen of the churches have Sunday schools, and seven of these "try to run twelve months in the year." One church has three hundred communicants, but no school organization. On the other hand, however, there is one county with only two preachers, yet the Sunday school attendance is about four hundred and eighty.

A Live Institution.

The Sunday school is still a very live institution, although dead in some parts. In North American alone there are 155,685 Sunday schools enjoying an enrollment of 18,000,000. Wherever these schools are conducted by enlightened persons in ways that appeal to sensible youngsters, the Sunday school army of the world is being increased at the rate of 1,000,000 per year, or with a net gain of 19,220 for every Sunday in the year.

This is the work which the Georgia Sunday School association is aiding to accomplishment. It is an organization representing the Sunday schools of the various denominations of Georgia. It stands for co-operation, not union, and encourages and stimulates the work among the schools throughout the state by bringing the strong into helpful contact with the weak. Its conventions and institutes discuss methods of work, not church doctrine. It aims to help every Sunday school in the state.

The association is managed by an executive committee of forty-five leading men, composed of thirteen Baptists, thirteen Methodists, thirteen Presbyterians, two Christian, two Episcopalians, one Lutheran and one Congregationalist.

The officers of the association are Dr. Joseph Broughton, of Atlanta, president; A. H. Merry, of Augusta; W. B. Stubbs, of Savannah; W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, vice presidents; J. J. Cobb, of Macon, chairman of the executive committee; J. V. Wellborn, of Atlanta, treasurer, and D. W. Sims, of Atlanta, general secretary.

Two and a half years ago, when the first workers were put into the field, there were only two organized counties. There are now ninety-five counties organized with the most modern Sunday school methods. As the result of such systematized direction one county increased its enrollment in one year's time from less than 100 to more than 200. A class in a county near Atlanta increased from three pupils to seventy-four in four months time.

BY A SINGLE EXPLOIT HE WON MANY HONORS

Corporal, With Two Men, Kills and Captures Eighteen Russian Soldiers.

Berlin.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—For a single exploit a young non-commissioned officer from Krossen has been promoted to lieutenant and has received the Iron Cross, first and second-class, and also the first and second-class Austrian medals for bravery. His coolness and daring not only rescued a captured Austrian general, but prevented important plans from falling into the hands of the Russians.

The young corporal, whose name is Fricke, had been with a company in the west, but accidentally boarded the wrong train when returning from a short furlough home and was taken to the east, where he joined a company of infantry. During the battles in the government of Suwalki he was ordered to go with two men to learn whether a certain point near the Russian lines was free of the enemy. The three men succeeded in reaching a point 800 yards from the Russians' most advanced trenches.

As they lay in a ditch they saw a group of eighteen Russians approaching, and with them an officer of Austrian officer. The little squad opened fire and brought down nine Russians. The remaining nine then grouped themselves around their captive so close that further firing would have endangered his life. Corporal Fricke ordered an advance. "But that is murder," protested one of the men. Nevertheless they advanced.

The nine Russians promptly threw up their hands, calling out: "Don't shoot; we are fathers of families." The Russians in the trenches, who had heretofore refrained from firing, doubtless judging that their comrades could account for three men, now opened a heavy fire. Under this fire Fricke brought his captives and the Austrian, who proved to be General Kreay, a corps commander, back to the German lines. Most of the distance was made by crawling along the ground. When the German-Austrian trenches had been reached, it was found that the captured Russians had taken most important papers from General Kreay, which, in the hands of the Russians, might have frustrated the allies' plans.

Fricke was brought before General von Hindenburg, who praised him and promoted him to sergeant-major. The Iron Cross and Austrian medals were also conferred upon him. A short time later he was transferred to the west, and there he received an order to appear before the emperor. The ruler shook hands with him and said, speaking in the intimate second person singular: "My son, talk to me as if I were your father." Fricke made his report. "You did that well, my boy," said the emperor. When the young man returned to his command he was informed that the emperor had promoted him to lieutenant.

You've got to work in harmony with God even to plant a potato. Go out and plow and plant now, and see what happens.

New Opera Praised.

Many enthusiastic expressions of approval have come to the directors of the association over the program proposed for this year's grand opera week.

Speaking of "Les Huguenots," one of the new operas on the program for this year, President W. L. Peel, of the Atlanta Music Festival association, said:

"This is Meyerbeer's masterpiece. "The music is not only interesting, but highly dramatic. The Rise en scene, the brilliant orchestration, the ballet, everything is combined to fascinate the hearer. We find such an abundance of musical ideas that we think Berlioz but spoke the truth when he said that it would do for twenty operas.

"The great ballroom scene in act two appeals to all, and this wonderfully imposing work with its splendid scenes, beautiful arias and concerted numbers, which has lately been revived in New York with splendid success, will not only be enjoyable, but educational.

"Of course our first consideration must be to please the general public—to attract just as many people as possible. But there are also others to be pleased; those cultured music lovers who have had the pleasure of hearing opera in the great opera houses of the world, and another much larger class of cultivated music lovers who have had little or no opportunity to hear the famous compositions of the great composers.

"We hope that the selections that have been made will please all classes—that is, as far as possible. It is impossible to please all. We try to present something old and something new. The novelties this season will probably be 'L'Amore Dei Tre Re,' which has been most cordially received in New York, where it was produced last season, and the new 'Madam Sans Gene' with a great cast and Amato as Napoleon Bonaparte."

Schooner Towed to Port.

Norfolk, Va., January 16.—The revenue cutter Ilasca this afternoon towed into Hampton Roads the three-masted schooner John W. Dana, which was abandoned by her crew off Diamond shoals several days ago. The crew were picked up by the steamer Malinche and landed in New York. The schooner is waterlogged and her jibboom is carried away. She is loaded with lumber.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE TO OPEN APRIL 13

And Close Sept. 25, According to Schedule Prepared by Kavanaugh—Mobile to Open in Atlanta.

Little Rock, Ark., January 16.—President Kavanaugh, of the Southern Baseball association, announced tonight that he would propose at the meeting of the schedule committee in Chattanooga, Tenn., next Saturday, that the 1915 season be opened April 13 and closed September 25.

A tentative schedule, prepared by President Kavanaugh, provided for Memphis to play the opening game at Little Rock, Mobile at Atlanta, Nashville at Chattanooga and New Orleans at Birmingham. In the series to begin April 17, Chattanooga would play at Memphis, Atlanta at New Orleans, Little Rock at Nashville and Birmingham at Mobile.

PLATT ADAMS CASE GOES OVER A WEEK

New York, January 6.—The registration committee of the Metropolitan association of the Amateur Athletic Union announced tonight that no decision would be rendered until next week in the case of Platt Adams, of the New York Athletic club. Adams, holder of the Olympic standing high jump championship, is accused of having sold one or more of the many prizes he has won. He claims the charges are the outcome of a conspiracy concocted by former business associates.

During the hearings which began Wednesday and continued today, no direct evidence of guilt was produced. Adams acknowledged selling a pair of shoes to one of his accusers, saying he receive a check for $4 in payment. The man who drew the check insisted, however, that he had given it and $2 in cash for a ring, which he declared Adams represented to be a first place prize he had won. Adams produced all the prizes he ever had won, and at no time, he said, had he received a ring. He also denied having sold a ring representing it to be a prize.

Although it was expected the eligibility of Ted Meredith, of the Meadowbrook club, of Philadelphia, and other athletes, including two of the losers' points and that of Jackson was the best for the Win One A. C.

GOOD GAMES PLAYED IN FULTON B. B. LEAGUE

Wesley and S. V. D. Win Over Decatur and W. O. A. C. Saturday.

League Standing.

CLUBS.	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
S. V. D.	2	0	1.000
Wesley	2	0	1.000
Decatur Boy Scouts	1	2	.000
Win One A. C.	0	2	.000

The result of the two games played Saturday night in the local Fulton basketball league leaves the teams unchanged in the standing of the clubs, Wesley and S. V. D. being tied for the leadership, while Decatur and the Win One A. C. have yet to win a straight.

The games to be played next Saturday night will bring the two leaders together, while the other two teams will fight it out for the cellar championship of the league. Wesley and S. V. D. meet then, and it is sure to be a corking good scrap.

WESLEY DEFEATS DECATUR BOY SCOUTS, 24 TO 16.

The best game staged Saturday night was between the Wesley team and the Decatur Boy Scouts, the former winning by the count of 24 to 16. The game was cleanly played, and all the points made by both teams came from the field. The game was in doubt until the final few minutes of play, when Wesley took a spurt and won the contest.

For the winners, the playing of Bill Fincher at center was the best. Fincher shot 10 points to his teammates, and otherwise handled himself well on the court. Thompson also played well. For Decatur the playing of Burgess and Mack was good.

The line-up:

WESLEY.	Position.	DECATUR.
Thompson (6)	R. F.	Burgess (12)
Fincher (10)	C.	Christie
Dorough (4).
Fincher (10)	C.	Green
Martin (2)	R. G.	Mack (4)
Shornburg	L. G.	Kelly

Summary: Time of halves, 15 minutes. Referee, Swilling. Scorer, Candler.

By the score of 35 to 15, S. V. D. defeated the Win One Athletic club in their game Saturday night, winning in easy style. S. V. D. took the lead right at the start of the game, and were never headed. Both teams played clean ball, and although S. V. D. outplayed the losers, they fought hard throughout.

The playing of Edmondson at forward, and that of Callahan at center for the winners were the features of the contest. Both of these lads did the best work for S. V. D., Edmondson scoring 7 points while Callahan rang the basket for 12. The work of Byerly, the star male for the losers' 11 points, and that of Jackson was the best for the Win One A. C.

The line-up:

S. V. D.	Position.	WIN ONE A. C.
Edmondson (7)	R. F.	Byerly (11)

By BILLY EVANS.
(American League Umpire.)

Does it pay to be known as the "Iron Man" in the world of baseball? Is it a fact that every pitcher and catcher has just so many innings in his system? Is it possible for a pitcher or catcher to greatly shorten his career by overworking himself? It is my very humble opinion that the length of the career of a pitcher or catcher is largely shaped by the way he works, barring accidents, of course.

Cy Young has set a mark for modern pitchers to shoot at. I seriously doubt if the wonderful record of that great pitcher is ever approached. He took part in over 800 major league games, and for twenty-two years as a pitcher received the remarkable age of 630. He is the only major league pitcher who has won 500 games, and is probably the only pitcher who will ever turn that trick.

During Young's long career on the diamond it was the unusual thing for him to miss many games in the entire games. His best performance was in 1892 when, as a member of the Cleveland club, he won thirty-six games and lost ten. In 1895 he closely rivaled this mark with thirty-five victories and ten defeats. These two big seasons were enjoyed in the National league. In 1903, as a member of the Boston team of the American league, he came through with his best year in the younger organization, winning twenty-eight and losing nine.

While establishing his great record for length of service, Young gave a number of brilliant exhibitions of pitching. On May 4, 1904, he shut out the Philadelphia Athletics without a hit or run, not a player reaching first base. On June 30, 1908, he pitched another no-hit game against the New York Americans, only one player reaching the initial sack. On June 24, 1902, he pitched a sixteen-inning game against St. Louis. On July 4, 1905, he lost to the Athletics 4 to 2, in twenty innings, Waddell being the opposing pitcher. In 1904 he beat Ed Killian, of Detroit, 1 to 0, in fifteen innings. Most pitchers are satisfied with life if during their major league career they get through with one no-hit game. Cy Young during his twenty-two years' service put over three hitless affairs.

Cy Young, Pitching Freak.

Probably in many ways Young was a pitching freak. He himself has told me that he never had a sore arm during his entire career. The average pitcher makes a lot of trouble for a trainer. His pitching arm demands much attention.

While a believer in massage, Young never made any work for a trainer, because he never cared to have his arm massaged. Indeed, no matter how the battle he might have just passed through, he was on the bench the next day, theory that since there was nothing the matter with his arm, it didn't require any attention.

His pitching delivery placed no strain on the arm, which of course greatly helped him to continue to star for so many years. There are a lot of pitchers who place more strain on the arm winding and unwinding before pitching than in actually delivering the ball. There was no waste motion in Young's efforts.

I once asked Cy how he managed to keep on going year after year without showing any signs of losing his effectiveness. His answer:

"The fast ball places the least strain on the pitching arm. I depended on the fast ball for success during the greater part of my major league career. For years I was rated as a big star, when as a matter of fact, the curve ball was the extent of my stock in trade. When I began to see my speed going, I learned a pretty fair curve ball and used it to considerable advantage late in my career.

"After I learned the curve, the batters never credited me with having one, and kept constantly looking for the fast ball. I crossed many a good hitter with a dinky curve when he was looking for me to cut loose with my speed. I never fooled much with the new-fangled deliveries. When the spit ball was all the rage, I experimented with it and developed a pretty fair delivery, but I refused to use it, because I could tell that it was hard on the arm, simply throwing it every now and then during a game.

Walsh Depended on Spit Ball.

Ed Walsh, famous pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, perhaps best entitled to be called the premier "Iron Man" of baseball. Walsh really first blossomed forth as a star in 1906. He gained fame through the use of a new style of delivery, the spit ball. Last season Walsh, after nine years of service, was regarded as all in as a pitcher, although ten years younger than Cy Young when he retired.

Walsh was what might be termed a spit ball pitcher pure and simple. He relied almost entirely on the spit ball for success. Certainly he used a curve and threw perhaps four spit balls to every fast one. When at the height of his career, it was freely predicted that the excessive use of the spitter would have an early bad effect, but Walsh always insisted he suffered no strain from throwing the moist delivery although he used it.

In 1906 Walsh jumped into prominence as the "iron Man" of the White Sox pitching staff. He won seventeen games and lost thirteen, with a very low earned run average behind him. In ten of his victories he scored shutouts, and in ten of his games he allowed five or less hits. When the Sox won the nineteen straight games, Walsh put them in the running and practically made it possible for them to win the pennant. Walsh started twenty games between August 2 and 23. He won four of these games by scoreless shutouts, in two other victories he allowed only one run, while in the other win he was found for four runs, but his teammates scored six.

In 1907 Walsh was once again the busiest pitcher in the league. He won twenty-four games and lost eighteen, acting as rescue pitcher in ten contests.

Had a Big Year in 1908.

It was in the season of 1908 that Walsh caused the entire baseball world to marvel by his ability for pitching day after day. It was only through his superhuman efforts that the Chicago club was able to keep in the pennant hunt. Walsh started forty-six contests, almost half the number played by his team. He started forty-nine contests and in fifteen others went to the aid of some faltering pitcher. That year he won forty games with forty victories and fifteen defeats.

Walsh scored seven dozen shutouts himself, while in six of his fifteen defeats his teammates were unable to cross the plate. He pitched nine days of the season, two of which were off days, he pitched seven times, twice in one day. His great work made it necessary for Detroit to beat Chicago in the last game of the season in order to beat the White Sox. The Tigers turned the trick.

The following season, 1909, Walsh took part in only 31 games. For a number of weeks he complained of trouble with his arm, but insisted it was a mild, cold, rheumatic affair. The fact that he worked in 45 games in 1910, 35 games in 1911 and 27 games in 1912 made it seem that Walsh was right.

Walsh started the season of 1913 in a most sensational manner. In the ninth inning of the first game of the season, with two men on bases, Walsh sent him into the box with the bases filled and no one out. He did the seemingly impossible by retiring the next three batters on strikes. That was the last great bit of pitching I have ever seen Walsh perform.

Walsh's back at the plate in-that game and Walsh never looked better. A few weeks later I saw him pitch and he seemed to have lost his stuff entirely. His arm has troubled him ever since and he has never regained its proper use, despite all kinds of treatments to which it has been subjected. Walsh started to see the passing of so great a pitcher, I fear Walsh is through.

Always optimistic, big Ed is himself beginning to lose faith in his ability to come back. Near the close of last season in discussing his chance to come back, Walsh said: "I am ready to retire, Bill, I guess as a pitcher I better start to become an outfielder."

Future Career Is Uncertain.

Walsh is probably through, when with ordinary work he ought to have five or six more years of service in front of him. During the last five or six years Walsh was the exception when it came to the care of his arm. Walsh wasn't either pitching or warming up, getting ready to relieve some faltering pitcher. Most twirlers will tell you that they regard warm-up pitching as harder on them than actually pitching a game.

Often it is necessary to work unusually fast to get their arm limbered up properly, and to be tried to stop because the pitcher has worked out of the hole. Often a pitcher warms up, and then cools off two or three times during the afternoon. It was not an unusual stunt for Walsh to do any means. It might be truthfully said that Walsh did about fifteen years' ordinary pitching in eight. Eddie Plank, Chief Bender, Christy Mathewson and a good many others have put in twice as many years at the big league about five years ahead of his time. In 1906 Street caught for Williamsport in the Tri-State league and worked ninety-seven games back of the bat. The following year he was in the Pacific Coast league, taking part in 154 games. He joined Washington in 1908 and gained much fame as the battery partner of Walter Johnson.

He worked in 128 games that year and 137 games the following year. Playing in a hot climate the average catcher is content to work about every other day. Street during his first two years worked practically four seasons in two. In 1910 he let up a trifle, working in 86 games, while in 1911 he took part in only 72 contests.

Street never rested his arm. He was always throwing the ball around. In 1912, after four years as a big leaguer, he dropped back to the minors. In all respects, with the exception of his arm, he was as good as ever. That right arm, once the fear of every base runner, had gone lame; they were running wild. It marked his exit from the big show.

Dillon Bests Flynn.

New York, January 16.—Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, beat Porky Flynn, of Boston, in a ten-round bout in Brooklyn tonight. The Boston heavyweight was knocked through the ropes in the fourth round, the bell saving him being counted out.

Dillon weighed 175 1-2 and Flynn 193 pounds.

SOPHS AND JUNIORS WINNERS SATURDAY

Semi-Finals in Class Football at Tech Showed Some Good Play.

By Hal Reynolds.

There two two good games of football played yesterday afternoon in the Tech class league by the subs and the sophs and by the juniors and the seniors. The sophs trounced their opponents by the score of 19 to 0, while the Juniors downed the seniors, 14 to 0. In the soph-sub game the subs outplayed the soph team all during the game until the final few minutes of play, when a fumbled punt opened the way for the latter to send a drop-kick between the bars from the 18-yard line.

With but two minutes to play, the sophs kicked off to the subs, who quickly carried three forward passes which resulted in the ball being punted to the center of the field, and from the most spectacular run of the day took place when Harkins caught the ball and ran through the whole sub team for the lone touchdown.

The sophs couldn't pierce the sub line, but by the use of the forward pass skirt the ends their runners were neatly always thrown for a loss. In fact, they made but two or three first downs, while the subs made several.

On the three separate occasions the sub team came within an ace of shoving over a score on their opponents. In the first, second and third periods, the lower classmen rushed the ball to the sophs' 10-yard line only to have a penalty of 15 yards imposed upon them for offside. On the other hand, the sophs never came in striking distance of their opponent's goal until the final quarter, when they scored.

The feature of the subs' playing was the manner in which Champion literally ended everything directed at him and at the other men. He was the star tackle he usually broke through and nailed the runner for no gain, while on runs around the ends he would break up the play up and nab the man from behind.

Mangham put up a good article of ball in the backfield for the subs, hammering his way several times through the line after he had seemingly been stopped. Coach Alexander and Mayes stopped the sophs many times by their good playing.

For the sophs, the work of Harkins, Myers and Bird was the best. All of these men will meet next Saturday afternoon to decide the championship, and the team that wins will wear the sweaters with class numerals, given by the athletic association.

The line-up:

SOPHS.	Position.	SUBS.
Woodall, L. B.	L. E.	Ponder
Couch	L. T.	Bell
Hamilton	L. G.	Fife
Bird	C.	Fitzgerald
Turner	R. G.	Nesbit
Spangler	R. T.	Champion
Myers	R. E.	Mayes
Harkins	Q. B.	McNell
Vandiver	L. H. B.	Mangham
Maupin	L. H. B.	Griffin
Myers	R. H. B.	Alexander

Summary: Referee, Struppa. Umpire, Carlisle. Head linesman, Hall. Touchdown, Harkins. Goals from touchdown, Harkins. Goals from field, Myers 1. Time of quarters, 10 minutes.

Although the seniors had very little chance of defeating the juniors' goals, they managed to make it interesting for them throughout the entire struggle.

The juniors pushed one of their touchdowns over in the second period, while the last one came in the final quarter just a few minutes before the end of the game. Both touchdowns came as the result of hard plunging through the line and some excellent work on the part of Spain around the ends.

The seniors never once came within scoring distance of the juniors' goals, while the juniors were in striking distance practically all of the game. At one time the juniors had the ball on the juniors' 35-yard line, but were unable to gain, and after two or three attempted forward passes were massed up.

The longest run of the game came in the second period, when Glover got away on a run around the left end by his way through the line. Montague caught him from behind, however, and thereby prevented a score.

For the juniors, the work of Glover stood out head and shoulders over the players. He put up a strong game on the defensive, and in the offensive he gained every time he was called upon to carry the ball. Spain and Gardner did nice work at advancing the ball, while Whitmer starred in the line.

The line-up:

SENIORS.	Position.	JUNIORS.
Broadnax	L. E.	Merrill
Hern	L. T.	Johnston
Goldman	L. G.	Merrill
Witherington	C.	Whitner

KINSELLA SIGNS WITH THE GIANTS

April 3, 4, 5, Little Rock; April 6, 7, Memphis; April 8, Nashville; April 9, 10, Chattanooga; April 12, Norfolk; April 13, Yale, at polo grounds.

John McGraw, Christopher Mathewson, Hans Lobert and their wives will sail tomorrow for Cuba, and will likely go direct from Havana to the New York club's training camp in Marlin late in February.

WAR HAS PROVED VALUE OF THE MOTORCYCLE

Commercial World Invaded by Speedy Two-Wheeler, Says Indian Manager.

While the European war has brought out many remarkable features showing the results of human ingenuity as applied to 42-centimeter guns, aeroplanes, submarines and other forms of fighting apparatus, it has been a vindication of the wonderful efficiency and endurance of motorcycles above all else. Night and day, rain or shine, through all conditions and over fields and highways alike, the dispatch riders have urged their mounts with the utmost bravery and skill; and the machines have responded in marvelous fashion.

"The day of the motorcycle as a strictly pleasure vehicle is past," said Manager Kendall, of the local Indian branch, in discussing this new phase of the motorcycle game in which the Indian is playing a prominent part. "Not only in the war zone is this seen, but before our own eyes we see a great change coming on. The commercial field has been invaded by the speedy, flexible two-wheeler to such an extent that by far the greater portion of our sales are now made to business men and business houses for work in many lines.

"As a case in point, let me cite the department store of M. Rich & Bros Co. This firm purchased an Indian motorcycle from us last summer as an experiment in their special delivery department. The head of this department was by no means sure that it was practicable for his work; but the figures presented him were so interesting that he felt compelled to give it a test. That the result of the test showed greater economy and efficiency for the motorcycle over other forms of delivery was amply proven this week when the firm added a second Indian to its equipment.

"All over the city, in various lines of business, we have Indians proving the same ability to promote commercial efficiency. Drug stores, department stores, dairies, suit pressing establishments, installment houses, contractors, trouble shooters and collectors are daily illustrating this fact; and from the list of prospects now before us, the number will be doubled or trebled during the present year.

"We have been greatly handicapped since our 1915 models were announced because we found it impossible to deliver all machines in time for the fact that our plant, the largest motorcycle manufacturing in the world, was working overtime. However, I am glad to say that the arrival of our last carload on Friday places us in a position to deliver the popular three-speed and little twin models to the Atlanta trade; and in consequence, business at the Atlanta branch is exceedingly brisk."

Emory Elections.

Emory College, January 16.—(Special.)—The Emory freshman class has elected A. C. Darling, of Andalusia, Ala., manager of the baseball team, and Bill Carlisle, of Gainesville, captain. C. G. Parsons, of Atlanta, was elected manager of the track team.

HERRICK TALKS OF WAR AND THE UNITED STATES

New York, January 16.—Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France, guest of honor tonight at the annual dinner of the Ohio Society of New York, talked of new national responsibilities which he said had come to the people of the United States as the result of the European war.

"Because of these, he said, Americans should unite as a people to understand their obligations.

"We have witnessed some astonishing developments across the water since July last," said Mr. Herrick. "Before the way many observers believed that some of the monarchies of Europe had become so decadent that it would be impossible for them to survive such a crisis as has befallen them. But when the crucial moment arrived, the conflicting elements in every nation joined with inspired patriotism in the common cause.

"Has there been, we may well inquire, a like effect on the people of this country? We have duties abroad as we are meeting them as one man, as the men abroad are meeting theirs? We have duties to ourselves at home—are we meeting these in the spirit of a united people? The test is, can we lay aside our differences on the smaller matters and meet our duties in the larger ones as one united people?"

Guaranteed Rupture Holder On 60 Days Trial

Won't Cost You a Cent If the Two Months Test Doesn't Prove All Our Claims

Away With Worthless Trusses Like These

You can make a thorough prove-it-to-you test of the guaranteed rupture holder without having to risk a single cent.

We'll send it to you for sixty days' trial—practically lend it you that long—just to let you see for yourself how it takes all the misery out of being ruptured.

If it doesn't keep you from rupture from coming out or bothering you in any way—in spite of any work you do or any other strains—then it won't cost you a penny.

The Only Thing Good Enough To Stand Such a Test.

You know as well as we that a mere trycon—like at a drug store—can't possibly prove whether a truss or anything else for rupture is going to do any good.

Neither is just a few days' trial a safe test. A truss or so-called appliance may seem alright the first week or so and then turn out to be good whatever.

And there is only one thing of any kind for rupture that you can get on such a long trial—

Only one thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test—

Made On New Principle.

The Cluthe Truss is so radically different from everything else for rupture that it has received eighteen separate patents. Made on an entirely new principle—far more than a mere truss.

It has so thoroughly proved its merits in nearly 300,000 cases that surgeons in the U. S. Army and Navy and physicians in all parts of the world now recommend it instead of advising operation.

Will Save You From Operation.

A rupture can't possibly be relieved—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless protected against all strains and constantly kept from coming out. Just as a broken bone can't "knit" unless constantly held together.

And that is the curse of wearing elastic or spring trusses—not one in twenty ever holds successfully—they sooner or later make operation absolutely necessary instead of preventing it.

But remember, the Cluthe Truss is guaranteed to hold—and it won't cost you a cent if it doesn't. And, in addition, it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

It does that entirely automatically—without any attention whatever from you. And has thus brought complete recovery in thousands of cases that seemed almost hopeless, and has saved many thousands of others from having to risk their life under the surgeon's knife.

No Belt, No Leg-Straps, No Springs.

The Cluthe Truss does away entirely with the curse of wearing belts, leg-straps and springs. Anybody who has tried it says it is as comfortable as their clothing. And it is super-sensitive—right on the bath. Also perspiration-proof. Easily kept clean.

Get World's Greatest Rupture Book.

Don't send any money—don't take any risk. Just write for free book and find out all about it. This sensational book—cloth-bound—96 pages, 97 separate articles, and 33 photographic illustrations—full of facts for the ruptured never before put in print.

It shows why elastic and spring trusses are a crime—why they are the ruptured man's worst enemy—why the law should stop their use.

It exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," "plasters," etc.

It shows why operation for rupture ends in certain weakness or death oftener than not in complete recovery.

And it tells all about the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss. Gives names and addresses of over 5,000 people in all parts of the country who have tested it and voluntarily indorse it. And tells how you can get it on strict sixty days' trial, now little it costs if you keep it.

Simply use the coupon below or say in a letter or postal, "Send me your book"—that will take only a minute, but may be the means of freeing you from all rupture troubles for the rest of your life.

SPLENDID GAMES IN PREP LEAGUE

Marist Now the Only Team With a Perfect Record. Boys' High, Donald Fraser and G. M. A. Win.

Tech High's hopeful received a rude setback recently when the team journeyed out to Decatur only to have the Donald Fraser bunch slip over a two-point victory over them. The final count was 30 to 28 in favor of Donald Fraser.

The game was one of the best that have ever been pulled off in the local prep league, there being plenty of excitement throughout the entire contest. On account of the fastness of the game a little roughness was indulged in, but none to any great extent by either team. The final result was in doubt until the referee's whistle put an end to hostilities.

Donald Fraser got the jump on their opponents at the outset of the game, and this was what finally spelled victory for them. As a result of their eagerness Donald Fraser had shot five baskets before Tech High found out that a basketball game was in progress.

Then Tech High came to life with a vengeance, and from then to the close of the half Tech High had everything their own way. Some idea of the manner in which they fought can be gained from the fact that they rolled up 18 points during the remainder of the half to none for Decatur.

In the second half, however, Donald Fraser again struck up the style of game that they started the contest off with. Their play this time was no flash in the pan but proved the real stuff, as they made 20 points in the half to Tech high's 6.

For the Donald Fraser team the playing of Stanley was very good. Although his teammates fed the ball to him, he rarely ever failed to make his two points good, even when he had some hard shots. Thompson also put up a corking good game at the guard position.

For Tech High Clntz did the whole playing. Out of the 28 points registered by Tech High, Clntz was credited with 24. Eedell and Harlan also put up a very creditable game.

The line-up:

D. Fraser (30).	Pos.	Tech High (28).
Stanley (20)	R. F.	Clntz (24)
		J. Bedell (2).
Tolley (4)	L. F.	P. Day (2)
Thompson (4)	C.	Pinchet
Thompson (2)	R. G.	Harlan
Reeves	L. G.	Colcord

Summary—Time of halves, 12 minutes. Foul goals, Stanley 6, Clntz 6. Referee, Candler.

Boys' High Romps on D. Fraser.

Boys' High met the Donald Fraser basketball last Friday afternoon on the Wesley Memorial court, and straightway proceeded to hand the Decatur team one of the worst beatings ever administered to a team in the local prep league. The final score was Boy's high 74 to Donald Fraser's 7.

From the very outset of the game it was evident that Donald Fraser had very little chance to win the game, as the High school players had their team work and passing down almost to perfection. On the toss-up, Boy's High center would tip the ball to a fellow-player, who would immediately make a pass to a man standing right under the basket.

The passing of the High school guards was great. They stuck to their men like leaches throughout the contest, never giving either forward any thing like a free shot for a goal. Donald Fraser registered but one field goal, this one being from Nack, who made a beautiful shot from a hard angle.

Boys' High made a total of 32 goals from the field and 10 points via the foul route. Donald Fraser registered one field goal and garnered 5 points from the fouls committed by Boys' High men.

This game showed that the Boys' High five is far from being out of the running for the championship, and it might be led to believe from their recent defeat at the hands of the Marist team. With Lane back in the game A, the High school organization is going to be the hardest crowd to defeat, or to beat, bar none.

The Decatur team was so completely overwhelmed by the swift attack of their opponents that they had little chance to play the game for their own team-work. Whenever a Donald Fraser man had possession of the ball a Boys' High player would be upon him before he would have time to pass it to a comrade.

For the Boys' High team, the goal-shooting of Bedell and Adams and the guarding of Lowry featured. For the losers Stanley starred.

Boys' High (74).	Pos.	D. Fraser (7).
White (8)	R. F.	Nack (2)
H. Adams (32)	L. F.	Tolley, Jr.
Scott (18)	C.	Thompson
Lowry (2)	R. G.	Thompson
B. Adams	L. G.	Reeves

Summary—Referee, Spencer (Tech). Time of halves, 15 and 20 minutes. Foul goals, Stanley 5, Scott 10.

G. M. A. 16, Peacock 11.

Although outplayed by the Peacock team in the first half, the G. M. A. five came back strong in the last half and succeeded in nosing out a victory in the close score of 16 to 11. The game, which was played on the College Park cadets' court, was replete with plenty of thrills to the large crowd of spectators.

In the first half of the game both teams were away off in their goals shooting, as neither made more than one basket with sufficient regularity to enable them to roll up a score. The team-work of both squads was also considerably below their regular standard in this half. The score at the end of the half was 7 to 5, with Peacock holding down the big end.

In the second half the G. M. A. boys apparently took on new life, as they went after their opponents in a manner that could spell but one thing. The G. M. A. team had started scoring and feeding, and ran the score up without very much difficulty.

For the winners, the playing of Cogswell, Barr and Battle was beyond a doubt the best. Barr was the star noise in the scoring line for the day, as he rang up ten of the total of the number of points. He made a couple of very difficult shots for baskets from hard angles, and also did his part to register as many points as did Barr, he was mainly responsible for the shots made by his team-mate, as he fed to him continuously.

The playing of Jones at guard for the Peacock team was the best work of any guard on the floor. When it is taken into consideration that Porter is one of the very best forwards in the league, Jones' feat of preventing his scoring a single goal is all the more remarkable. Knox also put up a nice article of ball.

The line-up:

G. M. A. (16)	Pos.	Peacock (11).
Porter (1)	R. F.	F. Knox (4)
Battle (4)	F.	Nicholson (2)
Barr (10)	C.	Mangel (2)
Cogswell	R. G.	Pew
Smith	L. G.	Jones

Summary—Time of halves, 15 minutes. Foul goals, Nicholson 1, Porter 1, Battle 1. Referee, Jones.

Marist Wins Again.

Marist came out on the long end of another game last Saturday afternoon when the G. M. A. team was met and demolished on the College Park court by the score of 52 to 15.

The Marist team showed improvement over the form that they exhibited in their initial prep league contest when they downed the Boy's high five.

The Marist team showed extremely good team-work, the G. M. A. boys at times going quite a little bit before they would get their hands on the ball. The College Park forwards were off in their shooting, as they missed nearly all of the few easy chances that the Marist guards allowed them.

For the Marist team the playing of Dodge, at forward, was the best. Even though he was very closely guarded by the G. M. A. men, he succeeded in securing a great majority of his team's total points. He also passed to the other members of his team in good fashion. Dodge and Hubert kept up a nice game, both assisting Dodge greatly with their passing.

For the G. M. A., the work of Porter and Battle featured.

Marist (52)	Pos.	G. M. A. (15).
Dodge (32)	R. F.	Porter (1)
Harrison (4)	L. F.	Cummings (2)
Wrigley
Cocke (15)	C.	Barr (6). Babcock
Hubert (4)	L. G.	Brown
Jernigan	R. G.	Battle (2)

Summary—Referee, Weaver (A. A. C.). Time of halves, 19 minutes. Goals from fouls, Porter 1, Dodge 4.

THREE 7TH GRADERS AT ADAIR SCHOOL WIN GOLD BUTTONS

Hurrah for dear old school days again! We assembled at the school house on the fourth day of the new year, and the first thing we did was making this a better and a more prosperous school than the past one. Although we did many great things last year.

We were very proud to have three boys from the seventh grade A win gold buttons for the athletic contest. They were Claude Eskew, Jack Pickett and Paul Miller. They received the buttons with a gold ball in the center of the entire school.

The rest of the seventh grade B have organized their team of captain ball. The captains are Marie Summers and Minnie Harper.

Both seventh grades have taken up the girls of the A. C. We are very much interested in it.

The school was favored this week by a visit from Miss Milledge. She gave gratifying reports of the work in the primary grades. The second and third grades received excellent and a stars from her.

The first grade is much interested in the Indian village they have just finished. They are studying the life of Hiawatha, and are making things to illustrate the story.

Last Thursday afternoon there was an enthusiastic meeting of the Parent-Teacher club.

The primary grades furnished entertainment for the visitors in the shape of exercises and classroom work. The free hand cut work of the first grade and the drawings of the second grade were especially interesting.

The club is prepared to do great things for the school this year.

Second Grade A Enjoys Reading "Later Cave Men."

Since we have been dramatising, reading means much more to us than ever before. The pupils of sixth grade B dramatized "Rip Van Winkle," in eight scenes, and all who saw it enjoyed it very much.

Fifth grade B is very glad to welcome Hazel Westmoreland and B. M. Wootman from Adair school. We are glad to have with us R. L. Mask and Loy Mask from the Boys' night school. We hope all of them will like our school.

Second grade B honor pupils in spelling. Those who did not miss last week in either oral or written spelling are: Thelma Marlut, Tilitha Enzor, Jack Thrash and Esther Levy.

SLATON 7TH GRADE BUSY DRAMATIZING "THE LONG ROLL"

Slaton school is interested in the announcement of Dr. Toepel concerning the Field day program. This year we hope to win some of the prizes offered annually.

The seventh B is busily engaged in dramatizing "The Long Roll," a story of the life of the noble confederates in the civil war, intermixed with the happy romances that were so usual at that time.

The medals awarded at the Christmas entertainment were won by Miss Mary Lauriston and Hubert Wood, of the seventh B. Miss Annie Spielberger, of the seventh A, won the debator's medal.

In the Soccer league Slaton is standing in fourth place, with very good prospects for a steady rise. As the soccer season is nearing its close we naturally let our thoughts drift to baseball, the national pastime, and we anxiously await the opening of the coming season, which we hope will prove a bright season for Slaton.

The seventh A is comparing our city of Atlanta with the city of Minneapolis, and find that we compare all right until we get to schools and parks, then—well, then we are lost, but when the present school generation gets to be city officials, if the improvements are not made before, we promise to build better schools and make more parks and make Atlanta "City Beautiful." Until then we can only study and wish for the best.

The pupils of the seventh A are very much indebted to Mr. Ritter, Grant park florist. We found Mr. Ritter's talk very beneficial and exceedingly interesting.

Pupils Busy Planning for Outdoor Entertainment.

We are planning an outdoor entertainment for the last of May in which we shall represent our course of study. We expect the preparation for and the giving of the play to give us great pleasure and profit.

Miss May Hudson, of seventh grade A, and Miss Huson, of fourth A, have been absent on account of illness.

Dr. Toepel came Tuesday and showed us the flag relay race. It is very pretty, and oh, so much fun.

Mr. Green was with us Wednesday. His interesting and instructive talk on English history was greatly enjoyed by seventh grade A. He is so familiar with our school work we love to have him come.

The sixth grade won the attendance banner for the week.

Jean Douglas the Prettiest, Decide Seminary Seniors

By Elizabeth Macdonald.

The second term has started off in fine form. In addition to the usual "Girls, in the first term we just got our 'tackle' in order, but now it's all sorted and ready to work with; so let's 'motor' in the almost familiar term that really counts."

So every one is starting off in earnest to make the last term count a great deal.

Work on the annual is progressing. An election was held to decide the comparative excellencies of the senior class. I'm afraid I am giving away a secret, as all this is to be published in the annual, but here is the list: Jean Douglas, the prettiest; Mildred Duncan, the most representative and popular; Dora Hyman, most intellectual; Frankie McKee, the jolliest.

We have had no match game of basketball this year, but the team is working hard under the direction of Mr. Mather, and we hope to hear of some matches soon.

Most delectable odors come from the domestic science room. If one's olfactory organs can be trusted, the seniors are getting to be "some cooks." Sometimes one is favored with a "bite," but that is almost too tantalizing.

The Junior Debating club is progressing, and there is to be another lively controversy soon. One wishes they were not quite so secretive about it. We all enjoy the annual debate, and could stand a few more.

The girls of the seventh grade A are very busy preparing for a concert, which Miss Jacobs intends giving soon. Program and date will be announced later.

If all the New Year's resolutions I have heard could be kept Washington seminary would lead the city in scholarship.

Let us wish success to the effort. I expect broken resolutions are being swept off the floor after each school session, and yet the pieces don't really go to waste.

Many New Pupils Entered School Since Christmas.

We have several new pupils since the Christmas holidays—Joseph Hart and Minnie Harper and Grege Collins in the fourth grade, and Eva Collins and Eloise Moore in the third grade. We are very glad to have them.

The seventh grade has taken up dramatization. They are dramatizing the King Arthur stories. Later we will take up different stories. We like it very much.

Miss Harrison, the music teacher for the schools, visited us last Wednesday and the fifth, sixth and seventh grades, which she heard sing, got excellent.

Mr. Landrum also visited us last Tuesday. He liked the work we are doing very much.

The fifth grade is making geography notebooks. Mr. Landrum saw some of them and liked them very much.

The fifth grade received the banner for attendance this week. Their average was 100.

The seventh grade has started to use dumbbells. We like them very much.

GIRLS' NIGHT.

Pupils Extend Welcome to Two Old Scholars.

Every girl is ready to settle down to real hard work now since the holidays; even the Greek girls, for they just finished their Christmas last week.

We are glad to welcome back Gertrude Kaplan, one of our old girls, who has been out a long time.

Girls of division two, who are mostly foreign girls, are very interested in the construction of English sentences. Mary Brooks, another one of our old girls, has re-entered and is now in this division. Mary Lou Barnes is back again also.

Five girls in division three received stars for spelling and five for attendance. Two new scholars have entered into this class. Girls of this division have just finished some very interesting compositions on "Nacoochee Valley."

There is no special news for division four, except that they are still working hard and seem very interested in their work.

Director Gives Excellent Report on Children's Work.

We regret the loss of quite a number of our schoolmates who have moved to the country—some of our best pupils being among those to bid us good-by.

We were glad to welcome many new pupils. So many have entered that, in spite of the withdrawals, we have fifteen more names on the roll than we had before the holidays.

Miss Elrod and Miss Gray are back in their classrooms. We are glad to see them well again.

Our supernumerary, Mrs. Saxon, has been away all this week supplying for absent teachers in different schools. We miss her.

Mr. Slaton visited the school last Monday and Tuesday. He reported the work good and the spirit of the classes fine.

The third grades are interested in learning a little folk dance, "I See You."

Among our yard activities, wading and swimming perhaps might have been tried with success, but if we had attempted any fancy steps in folk dancing during the early parts of the week, these would have been a mighty splashing. It is well that we have an auditorium in which to take our exercises, when the yards are in such a bad condition.

Mr. Landrum was here when it had just begun to rain, and he said, "Something must be done!" What would he have thought had he seen the grounds a few times later? Even now, when the floods have subsided, the teachers have to leap from one dry place to another in order to reach some boy in trouble. It looks like Elisa crossing the ice.

SIXTH GRADE BOYS AT PEEPLES SCHOOL START BASEBALL

We had a very sad death at our school last week. Mr. Goldfish, who has been swimming in the fifth grade for several years, has left us.

The third grade B had a spelling match last week, in which Mary Alice McGinty was the last left standing.

The sixth grade also had a spelling match, in which Leila Burton, Virginia Wheeler, Edwin Everett and Walter Cooper were standing in the last.

The boys of this grade have organized a baseball team. The players are Stewart Snodgrass, left field; Allen Cochran, center field; Wilson Eastman, right field; Charles Frazier, first base; William Hargrave, second base; Charles Kaufman, third base; Claude Edwards, shortstop; Edwin Everett, catcher, and Joe Watcher, pitcher. We all wish them good luck and hope they will win all the games they play.

School Directors Are Pleased at Work of Children.

We have had visits from Miss Milledge, Mrs. Osgood and Mr. Slaton since the holidays and they made us very happy by the good reports they gave us. Mrs. Osgood was so pleased with the borders the fourth grade were making that we are going to use some of them for stencil borders for our blackboards.

The third grade were again the victors in the race for the spelling star, but the other grades do not mean to let them keep it.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association was held Friday afternoon. Alderman Armistead and Councilman Freeman were to have been present and we are sorry that a committee meeting kept them away. We are glad to have our mothers so interested in our work. They are working hard to help us get a new building.

HAZEL COBLE.

He Never Saw Napoleon.

(From Newfoundland Quarterly.)

King Edward VII. as a boy worshipped Wellington, who lived for 11 years after the birth of the future king. One morning the young Prince of Wales displayed with pride a drawing which he had made representing Napoleon on horseback leveling a pistol at the head of the duke, who was advancing with sword drawn to cut down the enemy. Just at this moment the Duke of Wellington entered the prince's room.

"You are just the man I want to see," cried the boy, holding up his picture in delight.

"How is that?" asked the veteran duke.

"Why, because you can best criticise my drawing," said the prince. "Now, can you tell me who is on the left?" he went on, showing the picture to the duke.

"Well," said the latter, "from the waistcoast and the hat I can see it is meant for Napoleon."

"Right," said the prince; "and who is the other?"

"By the cut of the features I should say it was myself."

"Right again," answered the prince. "Now, what I want to know is—is the drawing accurate?"

The old duke put down the drawing and impressingly answered: "My boy, I am going to tell you something that the English people don't know. I never in my life set eyes upon Napoleon! Once, in the midst of a battle, someone cried, 'Look, there is Napoleon!' Before I could get the field glass to my eyes the smoke from a field gun had enveloped him."

WOODBERRY FIVE PRACTICING HARD

By Georgia Dickinson.

Woodberry hall was on the the reopening of school nothing but a scene of merriment. For many minutes there was nothing but a continual chatter among the girls, and almost all over the school could be heard: "Oh! I'm so glad to see you back." "What kind of a Christmas did you have?" "Oh! I just had a grand one!" And many other expressions. Though the holidays were nothing but days of mirth, joy, frolic and fun, parties most every afternoon, dances most every evening; the thought of them has by no means interfered with the girls' studies; for, seemingly they have all come back in the best of spirits, ready to start the work again.

Christmas has gone, a New Year has come and many resolutions with it. The girls have resolved to make this year the finest the school has ever known. Several new girls have entered since the holidays and many more are expected before the end of the month.

The First Baptist ball team has been challenged by Lucy Cobb, and Lithonia High.

These games are expected to be played before the first of February.

The games will be played under the supervision of Miss Belle Montgomery, Woodberry's basketball director. The following are the players on the first team:

Guards—Miss Elena Sneed, Miss Mary Richards.

Centers—Miss Maud Montgomery, Miss Theodosia Burt.

Forwards—Miss Adele Trammell, Miss Thelma Bradley.

Next week we have an expression teacher, Miss Cobb, will give a play in which the Woodberry girls will appear exclusively. This is looked forward to with much interest.

FORMWALT PUPILS REGRET ABOLISHING OF DOUBLE SESSIONS

The children of the seventh grades A and B certainly did appreciate the invitation to the entertainment at the Boys' High school, and we can also say that they all enjoyed it, especially as William Johnson, one of our old Formwalt boys, was one of the debaters. While he didn't win the medal, he was on the winning side.

We regret having to send away the children of the double sessions. Some of the fifth grade had been with us for five years and we hated to see them leave as much as they hated to go. But one school's loss is another school's gain, you know; and we have lost our double session pupils some other school has gained them. We find, however, a new pupil, Olin Faegan, from Forrest avenue.

The girls of the grammar grades can't say that they are sorry that the double sessions have been abolished, as they get to dance in the hall at recess now.

Our seventh and eighth grade basketball team plays Crew Wednesday and we hope to be able to hold our own.

We are busy finishing up examinations and can hardly realize that in two more weeks one-half of the year will be gone.

Last Wednesday the children spent some time in writing letters to pictures which had been taken a few days ago.

We are still running a race for the spelling attendance pictures; the seventh A and the fourth are tied in attendance, while the second has the field to itself in spelling.

Formwalt also has a new trapeze for the boys and one for the girls.

The seventh grade B children enjoy studying about the three departments of the United States government, and we think they have the finest imaginations have already been developed in the class, but some don't know which position they can fill best or want to.

The little people of the third grade, as well as the entire school, were shocked when they heard of the tragic death of little Blanche Berman; and we have written her sorrowful and extend to her family our sincerest love and sympathy.

The fifth grade won the attendance banner and also had a spelling match, which was won by Elizabeth Blandford, Georgie, Dorothy Coffin, Mary Griffith, Ruby Hunter, Bertha Smith and Hubert Dieristina.

The second grade children have made up their minde to win the attendance banner, as they are sure of the spelling banner.

Miss Graves paid her first visit to our school last week and we was very much pleased with the work.

We welcome our English history teacher after so much publicity. It is also a help to us in our "Idylls of the King," so we will be able to tell all about King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table.

MARY LEE WILHELM.

The American Navy.

(From The Indianapolis News.)

There is no reason for haste in adopting the ambitious naval program favored by the extremists. The wiser course would be to wait till we are sure that we have learned the many lessons from the European war we will teach. Few, as far as we have observed, believe that the battleship is out of date. But many believe it hard to say, our peculiar needs being what they are, just what should be the proportion between battleships and submarines. The latter vessels have been proved to be very formidable, and they will be more formidable as their radius of action is increased, as it is believed it will be. As far as our ports are concerned, they could be completely defended by submarines, mines and shore batteries. It is by such defense that the British fleet, the greatest in the world, has been held at bay for more than five months. It may thus be found that we can get along with considerably fewer battleships than are now demanded. At any rate, we can, without risk, wait and see.

When the war is over this country will be safer from attack than for many years. Not one of the belligerents would think of assailing the United States unless our government forced the issue. All will be sorely needed, exhausted and war-weary as to be almost forced to keep the peace. If the British and German fleets ever do meet; both may be crippled as greatly to reduce the naval strength of both powers. In short, we cannot tell how the war may effect our problem until after it is over.

We know that Europe will be staggering under billions of new debt; that taxes in all countries will be enormous, and that with several million men killed or disabled the fighting force of the great powers will be greatly lowered. Peace, therefore, will bring us practically immunity against assault. By a wise delay we can profit, from the lessons taught by the war, and without risk to ourselves. We can incidentally save a good deal of money, and perhaps ultimately get such a navy as we need at a much lower cost than now seems possible.

There were sixty guests, including a number of Atlanta friends.

Suffrage Meeting.

An interesting and enthusiastic meeting was held by the DeKalb County Equal Suffrage association on Wednesday afternoon in the courthouse at Decatur.

The result of the vote on the Mendell resolution was the subject of discussion. Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association, declared that a great victory for woman suffrage had been achieved when 174 votes were given woman suffrage the first time that the question was ever brought before the house of representatives at Washington for debate and a vote.

Mrs. Amelia Woodall, president of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, was present and announced that the great suffrage moving picture play, "Your Girl and Mine," will be shown in Atlanta on February 17, 18 and 19. The moving picture play is the work of Mrs. Medill McCormick, vice president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, and has been a tremendous success in the large cities of the north and east.

Miss Katherine Koch announced that the DeKalb suffragists were planning to hold a big suffrage rally in the courthouse at Decatur some time during February.

The DeKalb County Equal Suffrage association is doing splendid work under the leadership of its able president, Miss Eugenia Estell, of Kirkwood.

Mr. Stanley is an associate member of the guild, and has done concert work in many of the larger cities of this country. Since January 11, 1914, he has filled the position of organist and choirmaster of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church. He will render the following program, which promises to be one of great interest.

Silver Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Kaplan entertained at a reception Thursday evening at their home on South Pryor street, the occasion celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The house was attractively decorated with palms, ferns and vases filled with flowers. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Kaplan were their four sons, Messrs. A. N. Kaplan, M. N. Kaplan, L. I. Kaplan and B. W. Kaplan.

In the dining room, where supper was served, the table had as a central decoration a pyramid of fruit, and at either end of the table were vases filled with American Beauty roses and fancy lilies.

After supper dancing was enjoyed.

There were forty guests.

For Mr. and Mrs. McCrory.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. McCrory will be pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Richardson Tuesday, January 19, from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. McCrory are leaving very soon for their new home in Jacksonville, much to the regret of their many friends in College Park and Atlanta. The reception tendered them is purely informal, given by the ladies of the Methodist church, and all friends of Mr. and Mrs. McCrory are invited to call.

Club Entertained.

Mrs. L. S. Mattison was the hostess Wednesday morning at her home on Courtland avenue for the Modern Topic club. Mrs. Homer Dawson and Mrs. Richard Fickett, Jr., gave excellent papers. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Burroughs Nature Club.

All members of the Burroughs Nature club are requested to meet on Monday, January 18, at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. C. McMichael, 2700 Peachtree road. Take Buckhead car and get off at Wesley avenue. A walk is planned, weather permitting. If stormy, an indoor meeting will be held, the chief feature of which will be a talk about birds by Miss Josephine Prentiss.

The Travelers' Aid Work.

The Atlanta Woman's Missionary association, which supports the travelers' aid work, meets the second Wednesday of each month, at the Central Congregational church, at 10 o'clock in the morning. Not everyone is aware of the good work done by our faithful matrons at the railroad stations. They are always on the lookout for a chance to help, and sick babies, stranded girls, hungry children, men needing work, someone to be sent to a hospital perhaps—in fact, every phase of need of mind, body or estate. At the last meeting the reports were read from the matrons and told of rendering assistance to 689 persons, all in one month. Multiply that by 12 and the total is wonderful. Board and rooms were secured for 123, 3 were sent to the hospital, employment was found for 2, 23 garments were given to those in need, lunches and coffee were supplied to many free, and 15 were sent to the Y. W. C. A. where there is always room and a welcome and help as needed.

This work is done chiefly by contributions from the societies of the women, both young and older, in the churches, but there are yet many who do not help, and the need is great. All are welcome at the meetings.

For Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Suffel, of Minneapolis, are expected in the city today and will be at the Georgian Terrace for several days.

They were abroad the past summer with Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Hinman and Miss Louise Broyles. Miss Broyles will give a luncheon for them Monday at the Driving club and Dr. and Mrs. Hinman entertain at dinner Monday evening for them.

Dance for School Benefit.

The education committee of the Atlanta Woman's club will give a dance at the Capital City club on Thursday evening, January 28, at 9 o'clock, for the benefit of the mountain schools of the state, which the club helps support. The entertainment is being arranged by Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, chairman of the committee, and her co-workers and will be in the nature of the informal dances which are given at the club every Tuesday evening. In order to accommodate the crowd, however, the entertainment will be given in the ballroom instead of the ladies' cafe as is the case with the club's Tuesday evening affairs. It will not be an evening dress occasion and its very informality will be one of its chief attractions. An excellent orchestra has been engaged and the music will be the best.

The educational work of the Woman's club is its largest undertaking each year and through its efforts alone a number of girls and boys are clothed and thoroughly equipped to go to the schools to which the club gives its support. In several instances the entire tuition of these children is defrayed by the club unaided and in some instances, the school itself—as is the case with Tallulah Falls—is largely dependent upon this organization for the pay of its teachers and every other detail of its expenses. The club expects to realize a handsome sum from this dance to further the wonderful work it is doing.

To Miss Hugitt.

Mrs. E. P. McBurney and her guest, Miss Hugitt, of New York, were the guests of Mrs. Henry W. Grady at luncheon yesterday, the occasion an informal one of six covers.

NOTICE TO ORGANIZATIONS.

No notices pertaining to organization meetings, bazars or benefits can be taken over the phone. Press chairmen and secretaries are requested to send in the notices written and in brief form. Reports of meetings sent in Must be in epitomized form.

Spring Newness In All Departments

Not all the wars in the world can make Paris wholly unmindful of her duty to fashion. If it is a style reminiscent of 1830 she offers us, it has the smartness of today. Tho' it is too early for openings, inklings are to be had at first hand, and here are high collars and full skirts to prove it. Collared within an inch of her life, and with a skirt taking a flaring line, thus reversing the silhouette, America has somehow found the secret to the smarter new season newness.

PROBE ORDERED OF FOOD PRICES

Government Takes Steps to Cope With the Situation. Department of Justice to Make Investigation.

Washington, January 16.—The United States government today began vigorous efforts to cope with the food price situation.

The department of justice, under instructions from President Wilson, was seeking to determine whether any illegal combinations are back of the sudden rise in prices and the departments of commerce and agriculture were compiling figures showing the amounts of foodstuffs in the United States and recent increases in prices.

Legislation giving the president power to stop the exportation of foodstuffs whenever necessary and other bills designed to lower prices were discussed informally at the capitol, but there were no indications that anything along this line would be done during the present session of congress.

No information leading to the belief that illegal combinations had forced up the price of wheat and flour has yet been received, officials said, but United States district attorneys everywhere are under orders to follow up every clue.

Exports of Foodstuffs.

A marked increase in exports of foodstuffs recently is shown in commerce department reports. Exports of wheat increased from 9,403,856 bushels in July, 1913, to 26,357,254 bushels in July, 1914. The total value of all foodstuffs exports during the eight months ending with August, 1912, was $69,909,487, which figure increased to $148,809,957 in 1913 and dropped to $126,401,070 in 1914.

During September, 1913, 11,971,163 bushels of foodstuffs were exported, and in September, 1914, 25,868,100 bushels. The price increased materially.

In November, 1913, wheat valued at $2,440,319 was exported, and in November, 1914, $22,820,097. The total value of foodstuffs exported during the eleven months ending with November, 1912, was $140,731,790, which increased to $191,605,810 in 1913 and to $253,973,444 last year.

Attorney General Gregory has promised prompt prosecution on any evidence the illegal combinations have forced up the price of wheat and flour or other food products. An investigation in Chicago is being watched closely by the department of justice.

Congress Watching Situation.

In congress also latest developments in the situation are being closely followed and although several resolutions relative to the increase in food prices are pending in committees of the house, it was understood today that there is no intention now to take them up for action on grounds that no useful purpose would be served.

The attorney general had received up to today no information that illegal practices had been resorted to in connection with the federal inquiry being conducted into the wheat and flour situation in Chicago under general instructions from the department of justice.

President Wilson had before him today the letter of Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the National Housewives' league, that he order an embargo on wheat exports from this country should prices continue to rise.

Dr. Dunaway's Subject.

The Rev. C. M. Dunaway will preach on the following topics today at the Old Baptist Tabernacle: "Abiding in Christ," at 11 o'clock in the morning. "The Need of a New Heart," at 3 o'clock in the afternoon; "Sin, Its Character and Its Consequences," at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. There will be preaching every day during the week at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

NEW EARTH SPASMS IN RAVAGED ITALY

His majesty visited also Isola, Delliri and Balsorano. In each of these places he clambered to the top of mountains of debris, visited hospitals, where he spoke to the wounded, and everywhere left generous gifts.

The horror of possible flood added to famine and suffering from cold exists about the Fucino canal, which has been dammed up by a landslide at Montecorvino-Rovella. Soldiers and civilians are working desperately to clear the canal.

Not as Bad as Messina.

Though it seems to be definitely established that this earthquake will not rival that of Messina in 1908 in the number of dead, the percentage of casualties in proportion to the population affected appears to be much higher, due, it seems, to the dry construction of buildings that was almost universal throughout the stricken district.

Messina had 76,483 dead and 95,470 injured; present reports indicate 20,000 deaths and twice as many injuries in this catastrophe. The only buildings not leveled by the earthquake were the few made with reinforced concrete. No one not an Italian has yet been reported injured or missing in this disaster.

Up to the present, the Italian government has declined foreign official assistance, but that has not prevented unofficial aid of all kinds. Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, wife of the American ambassador, has contributed $500, and other American women are following suit. Mrs. Page also heads a committee of American women who are working for the sufferers.

All supplies and money received will be handled by the central relief committee in Rome. Gratitude of the Italians for American aid is profound. Automobiles used by members of the embassy in visiting the devastated area are greeted everywhere enthusiastically.

The Duke of the Abruzzi is touring the central portion of Italy, carrying supplies where possible, and doing all in his power to aid the victims.

Ambassador Page Busy.

Ambassador Page plans to go to Avezzano and other towns to render assistance. Men and women of the nobility, some of the latter Americans by birth, are working in hospitals and in the field.

Just how severely the Marsica district in which Avezzano is located suffered is best told in this telegram, which Monsignor Bagnoli, bishop of the region, sent to Pope Benedict:

"The Marsica diocese has been transformed into a great cemetery. Avezzano, Capelle and Paterno razed and almost all inhabitants dead. Ecclesiastics, some dead, some wounded.

"A few villages in the diocese are immune, but generally desolation reigns. It is an immense and distressing catastrophe."

The pope sent this reply:

"Being the father of all the faithful, but first of the unfortunate, I am pierced with grief by this immense misfortune.

"I extend my arms to my unhappy children and, praying for peace for the land and comfort for the survivors."

More wounded having been brought to the Santa Maria hospital the pope again visited the patients there to comfort them. To each he gave a medal.

Several of the staff of the American embassy visited the earthquake scene yesterday. They gave such help as they could. They inquired about the victims and found that there were no Americans among them, although some are said to have claimed American citizenship.

Col. Dunne's Story.

Colonel Edward Dunne, American military attache, motored to Avezzano and returned from that place last night.

"I never dreamed of seeing such a terrible situation," he said. "The whole town is ruined, and every house in the town's only three stables remain intact. Churches, palaces and dwellings have crumbled to the ground. Scarcely one streets are now full of debris to the height of six or seven feet.

"Within a short time the work of rescue will be useless, as all those buried under the ruins will be dead. The entire population is extinguished, the people either being dead or wounded in hospitals.

"The dead in the ruins compose the greater percentage of the inhabitants. Over 10,000 were killed in Avezzano alone, while the remainder of the population, about 1,000 persons, are practically all injured. They have escaped without wounds, because every house collapsed at once and nobody had any chance to run out."

Colonel Dunn said Avezzano was now provided with all kinds of supplies and that the attention of relief parties must be turned to the smaller and less accessible villages.

EARTH TREMORS ALMOST INCESSANT.

London, January 17.—(3:05 a. m.)—Entire towns and villages have been destroyed by the earthquake, thirteen others left with scarcely a building, and twelve have suffered lesser damage, Lloyd's News announces in a Rome dispatch. Survivors are suffering severely, the correspondent says, and in many places thirty-six hours elapsed before the first relief corps arrived.

The vast Abruzzio region is almost devoid of hospitals, the dispatch continues, and the people still are terrorized by almost incessant earth tremors. Ninety-eight of these shocks are said to have been counted in the last twenty-four hours.

The correspondent asserts that the Italian government has announced that in view of the present international upheaval no contributions for earthquake victims can be accepted from foreign countries, even if they are neutral in the war.

WILSON CABLES TO ITALIAN KING.

"I am greatly shocked at the news of the terrible calamity which has fallen on Italy and her people. I beg to assure your majesty of my sincere sympathy and that of the government and people of the United States in this moment of widespread suffering and national grief."

General George W. Davis, chairman of the central committee, American Red Cross, charged with the responsibility today the situation in Italy and plans for extending relief. Ambassador Page, at Rome, called the state department, however, that the Italian government would accept no aid from foreign governments, and it was decided to postpone for the time a proclamation by the president calling on Americans for financial aid.

General Davis suggested that aid might be extended through the Italian Red Cross since the Italian government did not wish to receive it, and Ambassador Page was asked by the state department to ascertain if this course would meet with any objection.

KING OF BELGIANS EXPRESSES SORROW.

Paris, January 16.—A message of condolence on the earthquake disaster has been sent by King Albert, of Belgium, to King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy.

"By the uncalled-for suffering of my own people," King Albert telegraphed, "I understood so much more how great must be the sorrow of your majesty and the queen in view of the terrible catastrophe your country has suffered. It is with ardent emotion I think of the numerous victims and I express to your majesties the sentiments of profound sympathy. Italy's mourning will be shadowed by the Belgian nation."

LIST OF TOWNS DESTROYED BY QUAKE.

Avezzano, January 16.—(Via Rome.)—Official reports of the extent of the earthquake disaster are going forward to the authorities. They concern these towns and villages:

Paterno, completely destroyed except one house; 1,000 dead out of 5,800 inhabitants.

Scurcola, completely destroyed, number of victims not yet ascertained.

Villalago, 25 dead and 20 wounded.

Rajano, 4 dead.

Fratturo, near Scanno, 200 dead, 60 wounded.

Popoli, 5 dead, 10 wounded.

Pontima, 4 dead, 11 wounded.

Barrea, 5 dead, 20 wounded.

Villetta-Barrea, 3 dead.

The Duke of Abruzzi arrived here last night and inspected the work of rescue. He expressed the intention of visiting all the villages that had suffered, some of which are still cut off from communication. News only reached here today that in the town of Pescasseroli many persons are buried in the wreckage of houses, and that up to the present 15 bodies had been taken out and 80 injured persons rescued.

An unusual episode of the earthquake happened Friday at Capello. While the work of rescue was proceeding the soldiers heard strange cries which led them to a woman buried under the debris with a new-born child. Both were extricated alive and uninjured.

The catastrophe at Pescina, southeast of Avezzano, is growing in gravity. The victims, according to reports received from there, now number 4,500.

The whole village of Ortoja di Marsi is reported destroyed. The number of victims there is not yet known.

At Collerosso there are twenty-four dead and at Antelpedio forty persons were killed.

Monsignor Vettori, bishop of Tivoli, has arrived at Avezzano to help Bishop Bagnoli in succoring refugees.

Since 1700 the sanctuary of Pietracquario had perched atop a precipice east of Avezzano. Fourteen hermits today are imprisoned under the building's crumbled walls.

At Antrosano it is reported seventy persons perished, and that the survivors lack bread and medicines.

CONDITIONS RECALL THOSE AT MESSINA.

Naples, January 16.—While Avezzano was reduced to a shapeless mass of ruins by the earthquake, conditions today at Sora recall those at Messina in 1908, when the outer walls of the beautiful palaces remained standing, yet hid desolation and ruin within.

Of the handsome buildings at Sora nothing remains but the outside walls. Under shattered masonry within it is estimated that from 250 to 500 victims lie buried. At the same time the fact that so many walls are standing gives rise to hope that many persons may be alive sheltered in cellars or open spaces. Their rescue will be slow.

The ruins of the Rossi mansion, one of the finest houses in Sora, are believed to contain forty persons. Hope is entertained that many of them are alive, particularly if they were able to find refuge in the cellars. The shaky condition of the standing walls makes rescue work exceedingly dangerous.

In one ruined house a father had found his 10-year-old son. The boy, still alive, was in the aperture of the masonry which both imprisoned and protected him. Only his legs remained to be freed, and the father was working frantically when a fresh earth shock crumbled more of the walls and the dust and plaster again buried the child from view.

The boy, nevertheless, continued calling, urging his father not to desert him. The man worked for hours, and the lad was rescued.

A ghastly sight near Sora is the cemetery. There it seems to have burst open in straight and regular crevices, from which come clouds of white vapor smelling strongly of sulphur. Sulphurous water also is flowing through the cemetery.

MANY CRUSHED WHILE AT FUNERAL.

London, January 16.—Special dispatches from Rome say casualties in the earthquake zone are today estimated at 30,000. Further reports doubtless will increase the number. In several directions communication has not yet been restored, and the government has not yet heard from many mountain towns.

One hundred persons were crushed to death in a church at Castelliri while attending a funeral service. The village of Boccanotola was totally destroyed and the population is homeless. Soldiers searching the ruins of a church at Sora found the bodies of twelve nuns who had been crushed to death while in front of the altar.

A Central News dispatch describes the situation in the Sora district as terrible. Although 10,000 persons there escaped, many are today dying of hunger and cold. Destruction of the roads interferes seriously with the sending in of relief, and thousands of persons are suffering from famine.

Professor Agamennone, observatory at Rome declared the shock of January 13 was twice as severe as the quake which destroyed Messina.

Thousands of homeless persons in the central part of Italy, which was the section most affected, are in a pitiful condition. Many of them are flocking to Rome. A typical group of women and children who lives in the devastated section is here shown. Messina, which was had enough, has been equaled, if not outdone, by the present catastrophe. One of the pictures shows a Messina earthquake scene.

19-YEAR-OLD BOY SAVED FROM BLIGHT OF $10,000 ANNUITY

Louisville, Ky., January 16.—That Philip Ewald, 19-year-old Freshman in the University of Wisconsin, might be saved from "the blight of a $10,000 annuity," Judge Samuel P. Kirby, in an opinion yesterday in chancery court, ordered the trustee of the estate of the late L. P. Ewald, millionaire iron master of Louisville, to retain a block of stock in the Ewald Iron company left young Ewald in his father's will. Under the will Philip Ewald, when he reaches the age of 21, is to receive an annuity of $10,000 and at 25 an annuity of $15,000.

Judge Kirby based his opinion in part upon the ability of the trustee, by engaging young Ewald in business, to save him from "the blight of a $10,000 annuity, which any student of human nature could see would result to a boy of 21." He said the value of the stock, compared with the good to be accomplished, is not to be considered.

Young Ewald objected to his share of the stock being sold and is taking a special course at the University of Wisconsin with a view to fitting himself to engage in the business of his father.

MACON GIRLS RAISE $200 FOR BELGIANS

Macon, Ga., January 16.—(Special.) Close to $200 was raised here today by young women who were in charge of the Belgian Flag day.

Miniature flags were sold on the streets, the young women accepting whatever was given them in return.

The money will go to a fund which is being raised in the Carolinas and in Georgia to purchase a shipload of supplies to be sent from Charleston to the starving Belgians.

In addition to the amount raised today, Macon people will contribute a considerable amount of food supplies.

Admiral MacKenzie Dead.

Morristown, N. J., January 16.—Rear Admiral Morris R. S. Mackenzie, retired, died here today. He was 66 years old and had been in active service until about five years ago.

SPEEDY SEARCH OF FOREIGN SHIPS

Britain's Contraband Department Working Overtime to Cause as Little Delay as Possible.

London, January 16.—There is every indication that the foreign office and admiralty are inaugurating a vigorous policy for immediate search and release of foreign ships suspected of carrying contraband. In many cases customs officials have been instructed to work overtime in getting the contraband unloaded so the detained vessels may proceed.

While the Washington protest against detention of American vessels doubtless had some effect, the betterment in the situation probably is due in large measure to recent perfection of the contraband department of the foreign office and to improvement in the machinery for handling questioned cargoes. Ships and cargoes recently detained are being measured now in days rather than in weeks.

The Associated Press is able to give from official sources the British explanation concerning the twelve ships carrying American cargoes whose detention gave rise to the representations to Great Britain from Washington.

The Arkansas, a Danish ship, was detained for a complete examination because it was held her papers were not satisfactory. She carries consignments believed to be destined to enemies of Great Britain.

The Canton, Swedish, has on board copper for the agent of a German firm. Rubber she carried was released as a courtesy to Sweden, although England was satisfied it would have been condemned by a prize court.

The copper was held for a ruling by the prize court because of what was regarded as conclusive evidence that it was intended for Germans. The Canton reached Kirkwell December 2, was taken to another port for examination and cleared that port December 22.

Placed Before Prize Court.

The Virginia, Danish, arrived at Kirkwell December 24, and proceeded to New Castle, where she discharged her consignments of rubber. These were placed before the prize court because it was believed they were destined for Germany. The Virginia's manifest also was inaccurate. She cleared port January 7.

The Augusta, Swedish, was detained on December 20, carrying rubber and aluminum. The aluminum was thrown into the prize court, the vessel was permitted to proceed with the rubber. At Kirkwell December 22, carrying aluminum, nickel and copper. She was sent to New Castle, where the customs service was directed to work overtime to hasten her departure. Portions of the cargo under suspicion were unloaded and the ship proceeded January 5.

The Kentucky, Danish, arrived at Kirkwall December 18, and was authorized to proceed, December 28, to Leith to discharge her cargo of meat, known to be intended for an enemy of Great Britain. The Kentucky stranded in Fraserburgh bay, and was floated December 28. The British officials were instructed to expedite the unloading of the suspected cargo, but because of the accident and the position of the meat in the hold a delay was unavoidable.

The Herald was permitted to proceed with a delay of only a few hours.

The Case of the Brindilla.

The Brindilla, formerly a German tank ship, and transferred to the American flag, sailed in December to the Azores, where she loaded a cargo of the intended German ship Excelsior. She was not detained, but appears subsequently to have encountered navigation difficulties and put into St. Helen's for a pilot.

The John D. Rockefeller arrived at the Downs December 26 with a full cargo of naphtha and benzoin for the Danish government. After communication with Copenhagen she was permitted to proceed, December 24.

The Wordsworth, Norway, put in at Falmouth November 23 and cleared two days later. No part of her cargo was detained.

The Edward Pierce arrived at Falmouth December 19, with 1,000 gallons of vaseline consigned to Copenhagen. The ultimate destination of the vaseline is under question. The Fort Arthur, Texas, to deliver her cargo, with the understanding that no legal right should be thereby settled. It appears probable the owners will be advised to undertake the cruise as a test case which can be dealt with diplomatically.

It is felt that after a prize court has acted it will be easier to settle finally outstanding questions arising out of the attempt to transfer to American registry ships built and previously owned in belligerent countries.

"DRY" MEASURE PASSED TO O'NEAL'S SUCCESSOR

Alabama Governor Makes Bitter Attack on Prohi Majority in the Legislature.

Montgomery, Ala., January 16.—The state senate this afternoon passed the Merritt house prohibition bill by a vote of 20 to 6, this bill superseding all others, which were allowed to die after its passage, and was sent to Governor O'Neal at 2:55 o'clock. Tonight Governor O'Neal, whose term of office expires at noon Monday, issued a sensational message to the people in which he says he will not act on the prohibition bill, but will leave it to his successor.

Governor O'Neal's message says the majority in the present legislature have attempted to assassinate the democratic party, ignored their platform pledges; nullified the expressed wishes of the people, and are proving unfaithful to the people who elected them.

sign an affidavit declaring that she had sworn falsely against Mrs. Stoe.

"Before the girl left the attorney's office," said Chief Lanford, "she became desperately ill. She went to Mrs. Stoe's home, where later she was removed to the Grady hospital. Here she has lingered in a stupor for three days. Her condition is reported serious."

Death for "Squealers."

During the recent trial of Mrs. Stoe in recorder's court, Ethel Pylant, under oath, swore that Mrs. Stoe had threatened to kill the next woman who "squealed on her." It was mainly on her testimony that Mrs. Stoe was bound over.

Ethel Pylant then left the Spring street house, returning to her mother's home on Marietta, where she states she remained until decoyed back to the Spring street house recently.

Mrs. Stoe charges that her arrest is but the expression of the detectives' disposition to "continually bother her." She charges that it is a "dirty deal" being handed to her.

Beauty at Sweet Sixteen

Comes Back When One Clears Up the Complexion by the Quick Acting Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Pimples are an offense to others and a crime against yourself. People have only tolerated you because they considered the condition of your face to be a misfortune against which you have no remedy. But now that it is universally known that Stuart's Calcium Wafers will usually banish pimples, blackheads, blotches, eruptions, and liver spots, continued negligence will be considered inexcusable.

"I Wish I Could Make Every Pimply Woman Take Stuart's Calcium Wafers for One Week."

The person with a pimply face is always unattractive and is at a disadvantage in society. Those telling figurements set at naught the effect of the most perfect features. Any face and figure had the classical outlines of a Greek statue. The mass of pimples would still destroy your beauty. A clear, fresh skin is absolutely essential to any real beauty.

A beautiful complexion is dependent on a rich, pure, abundant supply of blood to the skin. Calcium sulphide has long been recognized as one of the most effective of blood purifiers. Quickly converting all impurities into gaseous form that readily escapes from the pores, it purifies the blood in remarkably short order. Calcium sulphide is the chief constituent of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, which contain besides certain mild alteratives that invigorate the blood. A. F. COSBY FREED ON MURDER CHARGE

After having been out for several hours, the jury returned a verdict of acquittal late yesterday afternoon in behalf of A. F. Cosby, charged with the murder of R. L. Bray, of Selina, Ga., on the night of November 19 in front of the Owls' club entrance at South Pryor and East Hunter streets.

Cosby was so elated over the verdict that he impulsively shook hands with each one of the twelve jurors, tears welling into his eyes as he passed before them. Many of his relatives, including his parents, were in court.

He had instituted a plea of self-defense through his attorney, Samuel D. Hewlett, claiming that he had only shot the dead man after an attempt had been made upon his life with a knife.

Bray was slain after a slight quarrel over the card table in the Owls' club. He and Cosby had been friends of several months' standing. They left the club together and were seen by the elevator man as they left at the first floor to shake hands, and apparently smooth their troubles. A few minutes later a shot was heard, and Bray was found dead at the entrance.

Cosby, found in an alley, drinking heavily, denied knowing anything about the tragedy. He said that he and Bray had made friends, and, that as they reached the entrance, Bray struck him in the face, after which he lost all recollection.

B. F. STRICKLAND'S WILL.

Leaves Much for Churches and Charity.

Valdosta, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—The will of the late B. F. Strickland, president of the Strickland cotton mills and vice president of the Merchants' bank of this city, who died last Saturday night, has been filed in the ordinary's office. It disposes of an estate valued at between $400,000 and $500,000. S. P. S. Denmark, C. Strickland and W. R. Strickland are named as executors. The first Methodist church will be bequeathed $1,000 to the Orphans' Home of the Methodist church, at Macon. The First Methodist church of this city is given $3,000, and Strickland church, at Homerton, $1,000. It is provided that if the chapel, which is located at the mill town, near Valdosta, is ever discontinued, that the amount given it shall revert to the church here.

The residue of the estate, which is the greatest part by far, is divided among the relatives of the deceased. To his fourteen nieces and nephews he gave each fifteen shares of stock in the Strickland cotton mills. In addition to the cotton mill stock, he left to W. R. and Charles Strickland, nephews, each an undivided half interest in the Strickland building, and also to the former fifteen shares of Merchants' bank stock and fifty shares of stock in the Strickland-Smith hardware company. To the latter he gave fifteen shares of stock in the Merchants' bank. C. Strickland, a brother, was given fifty shares of stock in the Strickland Hardware company. Mrs. Martha Moore, a sister, was given the Moore place, her former home. Nephew W. F. Twitty, former bookkeeper and secretary at the cotton mill, was given ten shares of stock in the mill.

Many other special bequests were made, after which the testator provided that the balance of his estate was to be divided between his eight brothers and sisters, with some provisions and limitations.

Athens, Ga., January 16.—(Special.) In a county courthouse, eighteen miles from a railroad—Homer, in Banks—the half of a freight boxcar, trucks, wheels, springs and journals, was introduced in evidence, filling up half the bar inclosure for the lawyers. Judge Brand yesterday overruled the motion for a new trial in Howard Hurst against the Southern railway, verdict for $2,500. Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dickey have accepted the plans for their new home on Pace's Ferry road, and the foundation is being laid. The Dickeys were among the first of the Atlanta contingent to make their permanent home at their country home, their cottage on the Pace's Ferry road, one of the show places in that vicinity, and one occupying a singularly beautiful site for a residence.

It is on a natural eminence, with sloping grounds to the front and to the side of entrance. It is opposite the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, and next to that of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alsop and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson; that of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brandon beyond.

Replacing the original home, Mr. and Mrs. Dickey will build a spacious colonial home, one distinctly of that type, and in many respects almost an exact reproduction of Mount Vernon. It will be of wood, all white, with the colonial columns in front, and the scheme of ornamentation will be strictly along colonial lines.

The frontage will be most extensive, the eight columns reaching almost the height of the house, giving that majesty of structure peculiar to the colonial design. The height of the ceilings, the dimensions of the rooms and the general arrangement of the interior will afford ample opportunity for entertaining, and at the same time afford the ideal home in openness, light and ventilation which should be the first considerations in the country home of the south.

Mrs. Dickey will preserve the colonial type in the interior decoration and furnishing, and her individual taste imparted to her home will make of it, when completed, one of the most beautiful and charming homes in the south.

M. Rich & Bros. Co. Hold Week of Wonder Sales

"How did I get rich?" said one of our wealthiest men. "Well, it was by buying my straw hat in the winter."

Most everyone is familiar with this method of economy—buying when the market is down—but few people care to save on goods after their season has past.

To secure fine, new goods, however, in advance of the season and still save money is wonderfully good news—so wonderfully good that Rich's enlisten their timely opportunities as a Week of Wonder Sales.

The Lace and Embroidery Week is the first of the Wonder Sales. Each day will see a new offering of the freshest and smartest laces. Monday sales are for the less expensive kinds; Tuesday is a sale of Real Hand-made Irish and Filet Laces at about half price; Wednesday sees a sale of inexpensive Linen Laces, and other sales will follow each subsequent day.

It speaks much for fashionable Atlanta that Rich's could sell so many silks the first half of their January Sale as to force their buyer to New York for a second trip. The reinforcements for the silk sale have come; it will resume tomorrow with fresh supplies. Notable will be the sales of shades in crepe de chines and the fashionable wash silks.

One of the Wonder Sales is the Semi-Annual Furniture Sale just now starting. Every piece of furniture in stock has had its price clipped; some as much as a fourth and a third. Surely the rich man referred to at the head of the column could get richer by buying his furniture now—$100 will buy from $125 to $175 worth.

The Mushnwear Sales are supplemented by several special offerings for Monday, and there are some wonderful bargains in broken lines of corsets.

With flax fields devasted and the price of linen rising, it is refreshing to know that Atlanta housewives can fill their linen chests at much below regular prices. All table, bed and decorative linens as well as many allied lines are reduced in price for the Seventeenth Annual Linen Sale.

Tourists off to the winter resorts or prospective travelers will want to share in the January Luggage Sale which brings all trunks and much leather goods at timely savings.

With such fine stocks of new merchandise at present sale prices, Rich's Week of Wonder Sales should be the shopping event of Atlanta.

Home for Friendless Report Shows Good Record for 1914

The yearly report of the Home for the Friendless and Industrial school, made by the secretary, Mrs. F. M. Stewart, shows splendidly the work done by this institution during the past year.

During the year there has been an average of eighty-nine inmates at the home. Two hundred and forty-three were admitted, and two hundred and twenty-six were discharged.

Much good has been accomplished for the children, who have generally arrived in poor physical condition. Various hospitals and physicians of the city have been very attentive to the wide variety of cases, and all the patients are reported to be greatly improved or on the way to speedy recovery.

The report states that the public has been unusually thoughtful of the inmates at Thanksgiving and at Christmas. Bequests aggregating several hundred dollars have been made during the year, and several business men have liberally contributed with annual subscriptions. In addition to these beneficent sources, the institution has raised $3,830.32 from dues, donations and entertainments.

Although there was a bill of $1,000 for necessary repairs to the buildings, the treasury report shows a balance of $1,291.72.

The report made by Mrs. F. M. Stewart, the secretary, is as follows:

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Home for the Friendless and Industrial school was held Thursday morning, January 7, at the home.

Mrs. Harris, president, reported: In the home January 1, 96; admitted during the year 1914, 243; through Judge Tindall, 14; through Associated Charities, 63; through city warden, 25; through Georgia Children's Home society, 55; through general meeting or president, 55; through chief of police, 1.

Dismissed during the year, 226.
Dismissed by Associated Charities, 25.
Dismissed by Georgia Children's Home society, 72.
Dismissed by general meeting or president, 57.

80 Average Number Inmates.

The average number of inmates for the year has been 80, many of whom are sent to the home for temporary care and shelter until the mother can leave the hospital, or until the father's term in the stockade expires, or the mother's work is such long hours that she cannot maintain a home upon the little she makes. Indeed, our work is a needed one; ever and over the demands are true and worthy. A list of business men have come to our rescue with an annual subscription for the next three years. Several bequests have been made; from Joseph Hirsch's estate, $250; from the estate of Lucius Hill, a house and lot; from Mrs. Fannie B. Wright, a gift of $500 for electric lights in memorial.

In most cases the children come in very poor physical condition, though from the report of the medical committee we have had no serious illness in the home. There have been five cases of hookworm, several of tuberculosis, some with diseased bones, teeth and skin and many suffering from affections of eyes, ears and throat. These have all been cured or greatly relieved and are improving in homes and hospitals, where there is hope for them to get

PLANTATION MANAGER MURDERED IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., January 16.—George Torrance, owner of the Torrance plantation, one of the largest in Macon county, was shot and killed early this morning by an unknown person. Torrance was mounted on a horse and was preparing to make an early inspection of some work on his plantation when he was shot down.

BANK STARTS PLAN TO MAKE PAYMENT OF TAXES EASIER

The Third National bank has originated and will soon put into operation a plan for making the payment of taxes easy. One of the most difficult things in life for the average man is to dig up his tax money when he suddenly remembers that the last day for payment is right at hand.

The Third National's plan provides for small weekly or monthly deposits in the savings department on which the bank will pay 3 per cent interest for the average time. Provision is made for the accumulation of $25, $50, $100 or any multiples of these sums, so that whatever the amount of taxes due the deposits may be made accordingly. If the property owner will owe $20 taxes on December 15, he deposits $1.10 a week from February 1 to December 15, or the deposits may be made monthly, if desired. When taxpaying time comes round there is the money ready to be handed over, and the depositor has scarcely missed it. The plan has met with hearty approval on the part of those to whom it has been submitted.

WILSON'S AID ASKED BY THE LABOR LEADERS

Washington, January 16.—Samuel Gompers and the executive council of the American Federation of Labor asked President Wilson tonight to approve the immigration bill now before him, and to do everything in his power to obtain final passage of the seaman's bill, a bill to regulate the use of convict labor, and a workmen's compensation bill for employees in interstate commerce.

The president made no definite promises, but afterwards Mr. Gompers said he was "greatly encouraged" and that the president's attitude had been very cordial and sympathetic.

The president informed the delegation that a public hearing on the immigration bill would be held next week. He is expected to veto the bill because of the literacy test feature, but has not definitely announced his intention.

The seamen's bill has passed the senate and house in different forms and is now in conference. The bill to regulate the use of convict labor passed the house and is now pending in the senate. Several bills have been introduced providing for workmen's compensation for employees in interstate commerce.

KARLSRUHE REPORTED OFF CURACAO HARBOR

New York, January 16.—A cruiser without a flag, said by a pilot at Curacao to be probably the German Karlsruhe, was sighted thirty-five miles off Curacao harbor at daybreak January 1, the steamer Maracaibo reported tonight on her arrival from South American ports. The steamer was bound for Curacao, and was thirty miles out when the cruiser was seen. The pilot taken aboard when the harbor was reached said the German war vessel had been reported in that vicinity and that very likely she was the unidentified fighting craft.

Captain Goodman, of the Maracaibo, did not share this opinion, stating that the Karlsruhe had four funnels, but that the vessel sighted had only two. The wireless operator on the steamer said he had overheard code messages which he thought to be from a German warship.

BREWERS WANT STATE TO PAY FOR PROHIBITION

Charlestown, W. Va., January 16.—Brewing interests, forced out of business by prohibition laws, will ask the state, it became known today, to reimburse them to the extent of $300,000. They hold that since the state granted them charters to operate for twenty years the state should pay for the time taken away by the prohibitory amendment.

John E. Parsons Dead.

New York, January 16.—John E. Parsons, lawyer, who has at different times been president of the City Club of New York and the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and Art, died at his home here today, aged 86. Mr. Parsons had been long identified with the American Sugar Refining company as counsel.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS FILED IN MACON COURT

Macon, Ga., January 16.—(Special.) Two involuntary petitions in bankruptcy against middle Georgia concerns were filed here today in the United States district court, a receivership being asked in one case.

The Bonnyman-Norman Coal company and other creditors filed a petition against the Macon County Brick Manufacturing company, of Oglethorpe, while the A. M. Robinson company and other creditors filed a similar petition against Horne & Stackhouse, of Hawkinsville. In the latter case the petitioners ask for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the assets.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at Once When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Meat Forms Uric Acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then get fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending many disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

IS THERE NO WAY OUT OF MUNICIPAL STAGNATION?

W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee of council for the past two years, presents to the readers of The Constitution today, in an interview published elsewhere, a candid and clean-cut summary of the financial condition of the city, the reasons why we have reached the present tangle and the way out.

Mr. Humphrey speaks as a specialist and a man of recognized conservatism. In addition to his full term as chairman of the finance committee, he was a member for the year preceding, and a member of council for four consecutive years. No man can be more familiar with the financial needs and problems of the city than he. No man could be more cautious in advancing advice. His whole career in council backs these assertions. In his personal capacity he is a successful financier of south-wide reputation for soundness and level-headedness.

He lays down this broad premise:

No city can progress if it attempts long to make current income meet the expense of maintenance, and, in addition, the expense of those improvements that are essentially permanent and that are the results of natural growth.

That law is as immutable as the decalogue.

Yet for many years Atlanta has been violating it.

And that is why our school system is in danger of paralysis; our water system is similarly situated, our police and fire departments and other municipal facilities way below standard. The mischief increased with postponement of the remedy.

The way the present system plays havoc is this:

The departments make up their semi-annual estimates calling for increased appropriations for the needs of growth, and applying solely to maintenance.

Meanwhile, there is the need for such permanent improvements as schoolhouses, fire engine houses, police sub-stations, water mains, pumping stations, sewers, etc.

Under our antiquated system of usual current income for all purposes, what happens?

Mr. Humphrey illustrates by showing that in two items alone, the crematory and an engine house, three hundred thousand dollars was taken out of the fund that should have gone to maintenance to pay for permanent improvements. And these are only two illustrations.

Assume Atlanta, like other progressive cities, used her credit for permanent improvements. That $300,000 and much more would have gone to maintenance of departments, for school, fire, police and other efficiency.

As it is, we have taken care of permanent improvements out of current income, and are paying the penalty in—

Insecure police and fire protection, an insufficient number of teachers and in many other directions.

The trouble is cumulative. It grows worse each year. The end, as he says, is inevitable stagnation, inferior municipal facilities, and neglect of permanent improvements.

Is there no way out of this perennial and growing tangle? The city has a borrowing capacity of more than seven millions.

Under the peculiar bond election laws of Georgia an insignificant organized minority can kill a bond issue. The vast majority of voters recognize the need of an issue, yet many citizens say: "Certainly we need it, but I won't vote a dollar's worth of bonds under the present system of administration!"

Is a system of administration to be permitted to paralyze growth and penalize the future of Atlanta, the welfare of her children, the health of her people? Is there no way of divorcing a bond issue absolutely from the system of administration? Is there no way of going to the legislature and getting from it authority to create a commission that will have the confidence of every citizen of Atlanta, and that shall supervise the expenditure of every penny of the bond money?

The Atlanta spirit has met every obstacle that heretofore stood in the pathway. Is not the Atlanta spirit sufficiently resourceful in the face of the menace of municipal stagnation?

The crisis is here. To evade it is to aggravate it. How will the Atlanta spirit meet it? Every word Mr. Humphrey speaks is cold truth. The responsibility is on the consciences of the people of Atlanta, and the consequences will affect the destinies of this city, the self-interest of each one of its population.

ARKANSAS WRITES FINIS.

Governor George W. Hays, of Arkansas, made the keynote of his message to the recently assembled legislature of that state, "a square deal to capital." He urged that guarantees be given to every legitimate business in the state, as well as prospective outside investors. The governor took official cognizance of the change "in sentiment toward the transportation companies."

Had not the reliable Associated Press reported the message we would have been in doubt as to its accuracy. Every state in the country—including South Carolina—has been giving unmistakable evidence of repudiating the demagogue and all his works. But for the chief executive of a state that has sprouted some of the most vicious of the tribe, to make the doctrine a part of his message, is nothing short of amazing.

Perhaps, after all, however, we should not be taken off our feet by such astounding heresy against that political creed that taught the way to success was to "swat every head that showed, especially a corporation head." The country has been through a tedious, a painful and an expensive period of readjustment. It knows now what it has paid for its orgy of prejudice, passion and trailing after false gods. The Arkansas utterance, considering the source, is tolerably conclusive evidence that the people have at last regained perspective and decided they will be buncoed no longer—for the present at least.

The demagogue, the muckraker, the political and the economic and sociological Pharisees had their uses, after all. They made the people think and analyze. And the result is that the people, through their federal and state governments, have impressed upon financiers, railroad and otherwise, that financial piracy and railroad looting will no longer be tolerated. The people, too, have learned their lesson, and it is that a blatherskite whose chief assets are his mouth and a barrel-head is not the safest or most unselfish adviser.

In the era of prosperity that is dawning we are going to see a "square deal" for capital as well as the people, less universal suspicion, more genuine progress, less fake reform. These are the deductions from the remarkable message of Governor Hays.

A FIRM AND AN EPOCH.

The decision to dissolve the successful and prosperous clothing firm of Eiseman Brothers, as first announced in The Constitution, in order that its older members may enjoy in retirement the fortunes they have so richly earned, will be a matter of commercial and historic interest not only to Atlanta, but to the south. The house has for years had branches and connections in Baltimore, Washington and Atlanta. The advancing years of two of its members, Moses B. and Jacob B., and the death of the senior member, Gerson Eiseman, are conditions causing the firm's dissolution. The announcement that B. J. Eiseman will enter the banking field in Atlanta will be welcome news to the business community, to which the name "Eiseman" has been a synonym for integrity, aggressiveness and a high regard for business ethics. Louis E. Eiseman, formerly manager of the Washington, D. C., branch, also contributed a material share to the upbuilding of a business of phenomenal proportions.

The progress and prosperity of the house of Eiseman have been virtually parallel with the progress and prosperity of Greater Atlanta. The firm was established here in an humble way nearly fifty years ago, when Atlanta itself was more promise than performance, and when acute vision was required to see the great city of today. It is an interesting incident that the first issue of The Constitution, forty-seven years ago, carried an advertisement of the Eisemans, while The Constitution of yesterday was the first newspaper to carry news of the decision to dissolve.

These notable brothers have won the respect and esteem of their associates in Atlanta. The Constitution congratulates them upon a commercial epoch splendidly rounded out. It extends its best wishes to those who now retire to private life as well as B. J. Eiseman, whose success in the future is assured by the qualities so signally exhibited in the past.

WHITFIELD AND THE HIGHWAY.

Interest in the "Hoosierland-Dixie Highway," projected from Chicago to Jacksonville, is fast crystallizing. The enthusiasm of the Chattanooga Automobile club has been thoroughly enlisted. On January 25 they will give a banquet to Mr. W. S. Gilbreath, secretary of the Hoosier club of Indianapolis, and plans are on foot to bring to Chattanooga in April the governors of all the states on the route for a practical conference.

The link of the highway between Atlanta and Chattanooga is farther advanced than any similar stretch in any of the other states. The government road—and it is superfluous to describe the excellence of a government road—is completed from Chattanooga along Mission Ridge through Oglethorpe Park as far as Ringgold, in Catoosa county. From the Catoosa line to the Gordon county line the distance is approximately eight miles. Grading and surfacing are partially done on this stretch, and the enterprise already awakened may be relied upon to complete the work. The next county, Gordon, is least advanced of any, but it cannot long resist the contagion of energy and initiative from the surrounding counties.

The next county is Whitfield, with Dalton as a county seat, and what this county has done on the great highway, as well as in other industrial activities, sets a pace not alone for other counties on the route, but for every county in Georgia. The story of Whitfield's awakening and achievements, told elsewhere today, is as absorbing as romance, with the advantage that there are solid statistics and cold cash to back it. The "Hoosier-Dixie Highway" follows in Whitfield the identical route plotted by the engineers of Johnston and Sherman, rival commanders in the '60's, as the best topographical line through the county. Work begun actively in 1909 on the link of Whitfield, and today it is completed from county boundary to boundary, the pike almost comparing with that laid down by the government farther north. Not only in completing her share of the highway, but in her wonderful record of diversified industries, traceable to her county fairs, to her banks bulging with money, to her manufacturing and other industries, and, above all, the initiative and enterprise of her county commissioners, and her people, Whitfield blazes a trail each county in Georgia should follow. It has made the county virtually independent. It will do the same thing for other counties in the state, wherever situated.

Bartow, on the route, has yet much work to do on its portion of the link, but it is "on the job." Altoona, southward from Cartersville, and on a ridge of high hills, is the highest point between Atlanta and Chattanooga. For years the public highway has negotiated this ridge, almost prohibitive to vehicular traffic. Now the commissioners have cut through Altoona ridge and brought it almost to a grade. That display of enterprise assures enough vigilance to the public welfare to insure the early completion of Bartow's link.

From Cobb through Fulton to Atlanta the highways are, of course, in excellent condition. The gathering at Chattanooga on the 25th, and next spring, ought to assure the winding up the entire project from its Chicago to its Jacksonville terminus. And the promoters can do no better than to point to the way in which Whitfield has, without any fuss or fanfare, gone about its part of the work.

WHAT IS THE STATUS OF CHILD LABOR IN GEORGIA?

By Isma Dooty.

What is the real status of child labor in Georgia? Do we or do we not deserve the reputation that is ours outside of the state—that reputation branding us with employing not a few, but many children, under age, not only in our factories, but in the cotton and corn fields of Georgia?

In his last report, County Superintendent Merritt, of the county schools, complains that many children under age are worked too hard in the agricultural field, and that they are thereby unfitted for the training the school would give, and are in danger of growing up without the chance that an education in life will give them.

Has Superintendent Merritt exaggerated the condition? If so, who is there to come forward and prove he is mistaken? We can reckon with it probably in our own midst, but what are we going to do about this nation-wide brand being put upon us?

Charges Made Against Us.

About once a year certain organizations working to the end of better social conditions for the nation at large make reports about labor conditions among children in southern industrial institutions that reflect upon us as a civilized people. When these reports are published, individual manufacturers arise and question the accuracy of the report. Newspapers claim for the state good conditions in this direction, and there the matter ends. We continue to be placed in the attitude in the end of generally ignoring the dreadful charges made against us. We have not come forward as we should, refuted the charges and proved that we have been misrepresented. I believe the time has come for us to do this.

Long enough have we patiently furnished theme for the sensational paper away from here; the space-paid magazine writer, and the writer of cheap stories where "the golden-haired child" in the factory is made the victim of a state's barbarism.

We have a child labor law—yes. But, let us all in silence, in secret, hold up our right hands and swear, "Do you believe that this law is an honest child labor law, and that it is being honestly enforced?"

Not long ago a convention of labor people met in the state of Pennsylvania, where, as we know, conditions in the mines among laboring people have been far from ideal, and they took action in the matter of starting a crusade against the abuses of child labor. In the reports made which brought about the action, Georgia was mentioned as one of the states of many abuses in this direction. Now, if the labor people themselves are beginning to reckon with the question from both the economic and the humane standpoint, ought not the people of a state accused as Georgia is take up the matter and at least investigate conditions—and that honestly and thoroughly?

I think so. Someone, I know, will answer this communication at once by urging, "Why does not the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs take it up?" They have done so. They have gone as far as they could, but they cannot go any farther than agitate and urge. They can recommend and plead for the right sort of law, but they cannot get into the factories of Georgia and see exactly what conditions are. They are denied the privilege, except in a very few cases.

Excellent Welfare Work.

I know of several factory settlements in Georgia where an excellent welfare work is being done; where day nurseries, free kindergartens and good schools are; where visiting nurses are maintained by the factory to look after sick employees; where hospital facilities are furnished in emergency cases, and where playgrounds, amusement halls, etc., are made possible to employees.

But all of that does not answer the question, "What is the real status of the child labor conditions in Georgia?" Are we being dealt with fairly in the matter of the agencies who claim to have investigated and found that we are suffering for gain the very best asset of our state—the little future citizens?

There is no use going into the oft-discussed economic phases of the case—of the economic folly of working children in the mills—and there is no use trying to prove either that every child under age working in the mill is supporting or helping support a widowed mother, invalid father, etc. If that condition exists to such an alarming extent, it is time the state were considering the matter and pensioning these mothers, who have so universally become tied to invalid husbands.

Should Make Investigation.

A thorough investigation should be made of factory conditions in Georgia, and that by a state authorized committee, who, if necessary, would be paid for their time and expert work.

I believe that this committee should have put upon it not merely representatives of capital and labor, but that it should have a membership representing citizenship at large; that there should be a competent medical inspector upon it, and a man trained in sanitary matters; also women should be represented on it, many of these having made a study as far as they could of factory conditions.

I believe that the report of this committee should be made to the chief executive of the state and the legislature, and that action upon it should be taken. Then, and then only, can we come out for a fair, square fight in the open and defend ourselves against these repeated charges made against us annually and published far and wide. We cannot afford to ignore them longer. We must fight for the place we should rightfully hold—unchallenged in all conditions, industrially, socially and humanely—the place of the Empire State of the south.

National Emblems of Vanity.

(From The Kansas City Star.)

The emblems that nations take are the expressions of vanity, the Russian bear, "master of the forests;" the German eagles, "monarchs of the air;" the British lion, "king of beasts;" and jealousy and envy, which are parts of vanity, set them flying at each other with tooth and claw and beak.

The French Zouaves, vain of their scarlet caps and trousers, for a long time, at least, refused to discard them even when it was shown that the red upon the landscape helped the German gunners to get their range and pick them off.

Sir James Willocks, leading the East Indian troops to the firing line, halts them a moment to appeal to their vanity:

"The eyes of your countrymen are on you," he says to them. "From the Himalayan mountains, the banks of the Ganges and Indus and the plains of Hindustan, they are eagerly waiting for news of how their brethren conduct themselves when they meet the foe."

In other words: "Wade in and slaughter them so you can boast of it afterwards."

If It Weren't For Her

By FRANK L. STANTON.

I.

If it weren't for Her, still sweet and fair,
With the sunset's gold on her silver hair
And dreams o' the years in the eyes that seem
To dream that the angels read the dream;
If it weren't for Her—to my soul I say—
There's a traveler here had lost the way
This side o' the certain Gates of Day!
Lost the way where the loveless roam,
Far from Home.

II.

If it weren't for Her! . . . With her hand in mine
We've traveled together in storm and shine;
And I said to myself in Love's first dawn:
"It's the light o' my love 'll lead her on,—
The beacon bright in the years to be Sure through the shadows of Life's dim sea;"
And all the while she was leadin' me
To the light that shines o'er the stormy foam
From the shores of Home.

III.

If it weren't for Her, the day we passed
From a grave to a world grown cold at last,
With God's dark shadows gathering fast,
Life would have cried, in Life's despair,
To God to hide a man's heart there! .
But Her voice in God's Silence spoke sure and sweet
O'er the dust and violets at Life's feet,
The Light of Home.

IV.

And the day is near when we shall stand
At the sundown gateway, hand in hand
With the light of Her soul's love shining there,
Bright as in valleys of Life's despair;
And if it be given in that high day
A word to the Angel of Light to say,

Use Credit or Stagnate, Ex-Chairman Humphrey Tells People of Atlanta

W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee of council for the past two years, member of that committee for three years and of council for four years, declares there is just one solution of Atlanta's perennial problem of finding the money to meet the city's demands.

It lies in using Atlanta's current income for purposes of upkeep; her credit for permanent improvements. Our present plan of using current income for both purposes leads, he believes, to inevitable municipal stagnation.

Same Old Story.

Mr. Humphrey says:

"During the past three years, which time I served on the finance committee, this same trouble always came up, and it is no new thing for the city; and, in my judgment, this probably will continue from year to year, except that it will get much worse unless a bond issue is voted and placed on the market to provide funds to take care of permanent improvements.

"The city of Atlanta is growing as fast as nearly any city in the United States, and the expenses of running the different departments of the city are increasing in a greater proportion to the amount of the city's income; and it is not fair to a city that is progressing as fast as the city of Atlanta to build permanent improvements out of current revenue.

Permanent Improvements.

"Take, for instance, in the last two years the city of Atlanta has taken out of its current funds $260,000 for a crematory, $87,500 for a fire alarm plant, and in addition thereto has built two or three engine houses and equipped them and other improvements which I do not mention. Now these are all permanent improvements, and every city of the size of Atlanta is building permanent improvements with funds derived from the sale of bonds. There is no reason why permanent improvements should be built out of current revenue, thereby making the residents and taxpayers of the city pay for them in one year. They should be installed from funds derived from the sale of bonds which mature over a term of years, and in this way people coming into the city of Atlanta in the future will help pay for the improvements which they enjoy. These improvements, when made out of the current revenue, cannot help but take away funds that should be applied to the different departments of the city, and when not applied in that direction, weaken the departments to a large extent.

"Last year the salaries of policemen, firemen and the school teachers were raised, the raise simply taking care of four months for the school teachers, the months being August, September, October, November and December. This increase took from current revenue last year in the neighborhood of $75,000, and this year it will take at least $150,000.

"The city of Atlanta, in my judgment, should have at least 200 more policemen, two or three more engine houses should be installed, probably two sub-police stations should be built, the schools should be better taken care of and, in fact, all the departments in the city government should have more money to run their departments in first-class shape.

"The constitutional debt limit in this state, being 7 per cent, is a very low debt limit, and no city in the state can in any way impair its credit by issuing bonds, or creating an indebtedness up to the full limit of 7 per cent.

"Now, the only solution, in my judgment, of this continual shortage of funds each year would be for the city to float at least a $2,000,000 bond issue, the funds to be used for taking care of permanent improvements, and in this way the current revenue would go to take care of the different departments in the city. The increase in taxable property, both real and personal, in the city would more than take care of the interest on the bond issue, as well as provide a sinking fund to retire the bonds at maturity, without any burden whatever on the taxpayer, or the necessity of increasing the tax rate."

WHITECHAPEL IN WARTIME.

The wave of war has swept over London's Whitechapel, but has changed it very little, says Herman Sheffauer. Some of the physical signs and symbols are there—the garish posters, the bronze-brown of khaki, the darkened streets that make London's ghetto still more ghetto-like.

Whitechapel is not only in the east, but of the east. Like Asia that "watched the legions thunder by, then plunged in thought again," the East End lifts up its eyes to the troops of the king, then turns to trade again.

There is always war in Whitechapel—the struggle to survive. To one fresh from the nervous West End and the hushed suburbs, the stir-and-bustle of Whitechapel has a brave defiance. It is not only business as usual, but business as from time immemorial. The Whitechapel tenacity has withstood crises more terrible than this—and among its own people. Refugees grow tough and indifferent, and Whitechapel is a retreat for the world's oldest and most numerous refugees.

PLAIN WORDS ARE BEST.

(From The Boston Globe.)

An amusing colloquy occurred in the house just before the immigration bill went to a conference representing the two branches of congress.

The senate amendment excluding aliens suffering from "constitutional psychopathic inferiority" had been reached, and Representative O'Shaunessy, of Rhode Island, who seemed bewildered, wanted to know what the term meant.

"I'm sure I don't know," replied Speaker Clark.

And the amendment was then adopted.

Similar language in a legislative measure once tempted Mr. Victor Berger, formerly a congressman, to tell his colleagues that bills would be much more understandable if they were drawn by bricklayers instead of lawyers.

DIVIDE BED WITH SAW.

(Appleton (Wis.) dispatch to The Milwaukee Free Press.)

Two Appleton Greeks who were joint owners of a bed have solved the problem which arose when they decided to break up housekeeping. One of the youths objected to the other's cold feet planted in the middle of his back and decided to leave. He asked his partner to buy him out. This the other refused to do, thinking he would get the bed for nothing if his disgruntled mate left. That is where he got left.

While he was away his erstwhile roommate returned and sawed the bed in two equal parts, mattress and all. He was making away with his share when the owner of the other half appeared, and as a result of the ensuing argument a black eye was thrown in with the half bed. Neighbors are wondering what would have happened if the young men had had more furniture to divide.

LONGEST PANTHER TAIL YET.

(From The Kansas City Star.)

All the argument in the world could not convince two Gascoade county hunters that they did not see a panther when a few days ago they were out rabbit shooting. They say the animal had a tail as long as a gun barrel and that "when it ran through the brush, it tore up the limbs like a railroad engine after it had left the track and was ploughing its way through timber." The hunters were badly frightened and did not shoot at the animal.

Beautiful Tribute Paid by Mrs. Peel.

At a recent meeting of the Joseph Habersham chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. William Lawson Peel paid beautiful tribute to the late beloved Mrs. William M. Nixon when she said:

"Sweet as the breath of summer flowers, those lovely flowers so dear always to the heart, is the memory of our late companion, Mrs. William M. Nixon.

"Mrs. Nixon was among the earliest members of this chapter, No. 33, and was for years our first vice regent, declining repeatedly the nomination for the regency. She was the daughter of General John Crawford Vaughn, of confederate fame, and the granddaughter of Major James Vaughn, descendant of the illustrious Welsh Vaughns, from whom she inherited her strong patriotic inclinations and her intense love of music. Whatever she had to give of personal service, after her church and charitable works, which were a part of her daily life, was given to the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

"Loving law and order, loving beauty and fragrance, she is now without doubt a part of that divine harmony for which her soul hungered. Her lovely personality, her delicate and refined manner, her strong courage and determined purpose will remain with us as a precious memory, uplifting, comforting, encouraging.

"I am weary of my burden
And fain would rest;
For the sombre winds are sighing
And my fondest hopes are dying,
And like autumn leaves are lying
On earth's cold breast.

"And I hear the voices calling
Sweet and low;
And their plaintive tones are pleading,
While the day of life is speeding
And worldly scenes receding,
For me to go.

"Only music soft and melting
Soothes the soul;
And its billows mild and wooing,
With a gentle hand undoing
All the cares that were bestrewing
Each earthly goal.

"Lead me to that land of beauty
So I may abide;
Lead me where the flowers are blooming,
Where the music mild is wooing,
Where the hand of love is moving
On every side."

Tuberculosis Literature For Schools of Atlanta

The educational department of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, with Dr. J. Wade Conkling chairman, has organized an educational campaign that is to be an important feature of the work of the association during the coming year.

At a recent meeting of the educational department Dr. Shallenberger, chairman of the instructive literature committee, announced that 20,000 tuberculosis catechisms are being printed to be distributed throughout the public schools of Atlanta, with an additional 5,000 to be distributed throughout the state by the Raoul Foundation. Dr. Shallenberger told of having interviewed Mr. Slaton, who has given his approval and indorsement of the catechism to be distributed to the pupils of the city's schools. Mr. Slaton recognizes the movement as being of educational value, as the catchism will give the pupil a clear, concise understanding of tuberculosis as being a disease that is communicable and preventable. Mr. Slaton plans to write each principal of the city schools a letter indorsing the plan as being an important feature in the work of the school term.

All grades from the fourth grade up to the highest grade will receive the catéchism. After the pupils have been given ample time in which to gain a complete understanding of the questions and answers in the tuberculosis catechism, it is the purpose of the association to have the pupils write competitive compositions. Eight prizes will be offered the high school pupils. The prizes are to be unusually attractive, and it is hoped that the results of thorough preparation for the compositions will be of far-reaching value, not only in the information gained by the pupil, but in the information that will be taken into the home.

It is very difficult to present a topic that is of sufficient importance to be included in the work of the public schools of the city, but the good results to be accomplished by the tuberculosis catechism prize contest is so far-reaching Mr. Slaton unhesitatingly gives the movement his support.

Aid From Pupils.

The pupils of Atlanta's schools worked heroically in aiding the Anti-Tuberculosis association to raise a fund as the foundation for the open-air school in West End. Again the pupils are being called upon as first and most important aids in the beginning of an educational campaign against tuberculosis. The catechism contest is the first step in the educational plan that the association will pursue during the coming year; the second step includes the family and the home.

The ablest authorities in the fight against tuberculosis assert that the only way to destroy a communicable and preventable disease is to educate the people to a complete and thorough understanding of the agients and sanitary laws that combat the disease.

The Ideal Plan.

The ideal apartment for the care of tubercular families was erected in New York by the Vanderbilt family. Instead of taking the patient from his family, the entire family is admitted into the apartment and permitted to live a normal home life. The medical regime adopted is that of the best sanatoria and hospitals. More advanced cases are segregated, with ample provision made for patients to work in proportion to their increasing strength. Conspicuous features of the home hospital are open windows, outdoor life upon a bright roof garden or in the park near by. Absolute rest for those who need it, with medical oversight, nursing care and home inspection. A fresh-air school for the children is held on the roof garden, and instruction is regularly given to adults in cooking, sewing, nursing, care and feeding of infants; also instruction in personal cleanliness, hygiene and sanitation. When the family is about to be discharged from the home hospital, the securing of employment and a sanitary home complete the care provided.

Similar to New York Work.

What is being accomplished in the home hospital in New York is the basic principle upon which the Anti-Tuberculosis association is working to accomplish in the individual family home life in Atlanta. The medical regime is in charge of the trained nurses and physicians of the association. When the patient remains with his family, the patient and the family receive instruction and training in the open window and outdoor life. Patients are taught how to rest and how to exercise; the adults are instructed in the care and feeding of the sick and helpless; also how to apply the best hygienic and sanitary laws.

The results of an earnest effort to educate as well as to relieve those who are sick and suffering is encouraging to the leaders of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, who recognize tuberculosis as being a disease of ignorance and not a hereditary affliction.

With the catechism that is being taken into the homes of 20,000 pupils of the city, the foundation for an educational work is being laid for future generations.

To Mrs. Wells.

Mrs. Ernest G. Bentley entertained at a rook party Wednesday evening in honor of her sister, Mrs. R. H. Wells, of Alabama, who is her guest.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Evans, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Dobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Byron C. Kistner, Mr. and Mrs. Ben McCrary, Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Wright and Mr. John E. Chamers.

Domino Club Entertained.

It Doesn't Take Money or Antecedents, Either, for a Johnny To Jimmy His Way Into Atlanta Society in These Days

"It's Gobs of Small Talk and Bits of Small Change That Win," Says Britt Craig, Who Tackled the Four Hundred Once and Was Thrown for a Loss.

By Britt Craig.

There is a stage door Johnny and a soda fount Johnny—and, yes, such a thing as a society John! The stage door John, to qualify, must have taxi fare and Napoleonic nerve. The soda fount species nothing but a Balmacaan and wrist watch. But the society John?

He must have merely a dress suit, a repertoire of small talk and an outlay of small change enough to buy a midnight stew at Childs.

It doesn't matter if father gave him the suit and if he saved the oyster money from last week's room rent and laundry bill. Society doesn't ask any questions in that respect. The mere fact that he has them qualifies him.

Without them he is an exile.

Society used to demand a coat-of-arms and a family history. That was a day that gave way to the day when you had to be ready-money. She must be carried to the big shows and real restaurants. And you must pay a little $13 taxicab bill with the same indifference you would tip the ice-watering bellboy.

But, now, where they once went in for family prestige and the big shows, the season's debutantes have gone in for the Rialto and small talk. The Rialto is composed of "ten-twenty-thirty" all-night restaurants along Five Points. You can find them there any time from midnight to 3:30 a. m., gay, giddy, decolletted, with dress suited escorts and an apparent appetite for fried oysters.

OH, NO! IT ISN'T A SLUMMING PARTY.

With them are yesterday's bank clerks who are tonight's social lions. There is much small talk and the jingle of smaller change, but there is a stunning array of dress suits and starched shirts. Maybe, the stranger thinks it is a slumming party! But if he drops in the next night at the same time, if he is ordinarily observant, he will find it is a regular habit.

Why a debutante should eat oysters is a question that worries Siegfried, the metropolitan waiter who has just come down from New York, where he worked when the season closed at Atlantic City. Siegfried argues that a fried oyster and lowneck gown don't appeal to him as entirely consistent.

Yet, Siegfried doesn't know the requirements of the present-day eligible. You must give Siegfried time. He isn't quite accustomed to it, coming, as he does, so new from New York and Atlantic City.

It will probably take Siegfried time to learn that the society girl requires an escort much on the same order she would a lackey or butler. She must have something to carry her about and display the fact that she's being rushed this season. The chauffeur can't do it.

There is a big all-night restaurant along the Rialto that is unusually enticing. Morning newspaper men frequent it on their way home at 2:30. For nights the Sunday editor, a most observant man, had been harboring the idea that social eligibles didn't have to come up to the requirements of days of old.

IN THE DAYS OF OLD.

Homer George and Sidney Ormond, both equally observant, had the same hunch. Sidney, now the "man-higher-up" in the city hall, throve in those days when it was a question of heirlooms and antecedents. Homer, being younger, knew the days of big money and the latest shows. Each had seen a particular stage of society's evolution—or is it dissolution?

Newspaper men usually convert their ideas into readable matter for a public's delectation. The next morning the Sunday editor called me over and said:

"Have you a dress suit?"

"Not since I left Hall county," I replied with pride.

"Then go out and hire one," he ordered.

"But why?"

"You're going into society," he said with emphasis and assurance.

Not being mutinously inclined, I took his word for it and went down to Uncle Isaac's for a "soup-and-fish" affair that had a stripe down the leg and a frost-bitten vest. I reported back for duty and the Sunday editor told me to go over to the lodging house and put it on.

When I came back, I imagine I looked like a Goldberg edition of "the man who hadn't prepared his speech, but couldn't overlook this splendid occasion to—"

IN SOCIETY FOR JUST ONE NIGHT.

I was destined to society for a night. A certain society personage framed an engagement with a budding young thing who had gotten into the papers every Sunday since her first night out, and I left the office en route to burglarize into the 400 with a dress suit and instructions from the office.

I went to the cashier's office and drew for expenditures enough money to finance the German army and caught a taxicab. The chosen girl was upstairs, evidently dressing—I couldn't account for anything else she was doing—but mother greeted me on the slippery rugs and gave my dress suit a searching optical inquisition.

It must have come up to her specifications, for she dropped her lorgnette—I guess that was what it was—and said something about the weather, to which I articulated to the effect that weathers never worried me as I had a raincoat at the office.

Pretty soon there was an elfish flurry on the staircase and down came the girl, a vision in creamy loveliness and satin slippers. She had blonde hair, and I was biased no longer. She advanced, and I retreated far enough to give her room. She raised her hand several inches above sea level and said a "how-dye-do" that I recognized only by instinct, not pronunciation.

I reached for my watch and pulled out a pencil. It took me a long time to get acquainted with the pocket arrangement of my new sartorial scenery. I put the pencil back and lost nerve enough to go after the watch a second time. Whereupon, I looked up for a clock and my gaze collided with the panel mirror. In it I saw the reflection of my new friend giving my hired suit a "once over."

I suggested we go.

THERE WASN'T MUCH TALKING GOING ON.

We taxied to Homer George's theater. It was a good show and we had good seats. The Sunday editor, intent on making me a society man for a night, had overlooked nothing. She enjoyed the show, for she said so—even laughed at times. We didn't say much about it, however, one way or the other. There being little to talk about, we did still less talking.

We filed out with the crowd and caught the same taxi and rode to the Ansley for a big bite to eat. I turned over the kitchen chart to her with orders to wade in. She waded, and it tickled me, because the office was footing the bill, and I was determined to go as far as she went—which is saying a whole lot in this day and hard time.

We listened to the music and singing, ate a regular dinner and watched the crowds. It was, from my standpoint, a most enjoyable evening. True, we didn't talk much, but why should we? Why bombard each other with words when there was music to hear, crowds to watch and lobster to enjoy? Then we did a $3.50 taxi glide home. At the door she made a non-committal regarding her "very pleasant evening," but forgot to say goodnight.

WHAT COULD HAVE BEEN OVERLOOKED?

I had turned toward the taxicab when it struck me all of a sudden. A chill of failure tingled up my spine. It began to dawn upon me that, as a society bear I was a tame house cat. I had overlooked something. It was most evident from the young lady's attitude. Something had been missing from the evening's program—something that branded me a social boob. I was ashamed to look the taxi driver in the face.

What was it? I was properly dressed—it had a glossy vest, too. I had carried her to see a good show, had given her good food in a toney place, and she hadn't had to walk a step of the way.

I might not have been such entertaining company, that's all true, because I hadn't talked any more than I could help. Neither had she. I don't know how she felt about it, but, for myself, I was afraid to trust my verbal self with a full-fledged debutante.

I hadn't pulled any rough stuff. I couldn't recall a single disgraceful blunder I had committed.

Ah, perhaps it was because I had failed to buy champagne.

It struck me a flop in the face the moment I struck the taxi cushions.

And how could redemption be attained? Certainly, it wouldn't be right to send her out an assortment of extra dry. Invite her to another night of it and overload her with it? No! I'd resign before filling another such assignment.

BACK TO BOOBLAND FOR ME!

There was no way out of it. It was a social fiasco. I could never be trusted again in the four hundred. Back to Boobland for me.

The Sunday editor surprised me with the assurance that I had competently filled the assignment.

"Just wait developments," he said confidently.

Three days elapsed.

The scene now changes to midnight of that third day. Folks around the office were closing down their desks, shutting off the lights, and the dim grumble of the presses down in the basement began to come up with the morning breeze. The city editor bade me come with him and we went to the restaurant.

Sunday night is about the only night in the week that you can't find debutantes and their fellows in one of these hand-me-down-quick restaurants. They must eat wieners, for certainly they are not to be found in any of the Rialto's havens for food and coffee.

The Sunday editor and I sat at our customary table and waited developments. Presently there came the pulsations of automobiles out front, and, gazing through the big plate glass front, we saw two limousines—not taxicabs—drive up to the curb and disgorge a load of swallow-tailed and decolletted humanity.

They breezed in as though their fathers owned the place. Members of a "ten, twent', thirty" musical comedy troupe sitting at a long table in the middle of the cafe looked up and wondered what was coming off. A lean-faced comedian speculated that it might be the waist of one of the newcomers—or, what little there was of it.

The girls seated themselves and the men threw their hats upon the rack. The girls carelessly threw their wraps over the back of their chairs. But their escorts kept their overcoats on as they sat at the table. Why, no one has ever explained.

WHY DO THEY KEEP ON THEIR OVERCOATS?

It preserves their air of distinction, maybe. Or do they feel that it is condescension enough to even pay tribute to the institution by lending their presence, without going to the trouble of removing their coats? Anyhow, they're just snatching a bite. It is so much trouble to remove a coat. And there is the invariable peril of mussing the dress shirt.

Then, the question of precedent must have a lot to do with it.

If only one John had the nerve to sit at a table with his hat on, the next night would find every John in town following suit.

There was one really good looking girl among them. She was a peach-bloom blonde, and I have never seen such hair in my life. She looked as alien as a sunbeam in a basement. Her cheeks were flushed and her eyes radiated a spriteliness that gave the impression of a field daisy transplanted into a hothouse.

The others were hothouse plants. My girl of a few nights before was among them. She was now gay and lively, as much the spirit of the crowd as the peach-bloom blonde. She hadn't caught sight of me—evidently. She was too busy talking.

The girls filled the air with noisy chatter, and their Johns found it the job of their young and clean-shaved lives to outtalk them. The oysters didn't cut much figure. It was a tongue-feast.

But I noticed one thing: the more they talked and the more nonsensical they acted, the wider grew the smile of satisfaction on my Sunday editor.

CONVERSATION PLUS—IDEAS MINUS.

It was as giddy a crew as I had ever seen. They were nothing but giddy and hungry. Their talk would have found room enough to set up housekeeping in a mustard seed. Siegfried, the tolerant waiter, said, however, that it wasn't near so small as their meal checks.

"It's a tholty-cent mob in evenin' dress 'n limmerzeens," observed Siegfried. "Now, if they was troupers, I c'd appreciate 'em."

I couldn't forget my own girl. She was having the time of her life on small talk, small change and a half fry. My taxicab, mw show and our dinner in the Ansley had left her with a bad taste in her mouth. Oh, Lord, why hadn't I bought champagne?

"But you don't see any of those Johns buying lively water," remarked my chief.

Upon which I pondered extensively.

"You must be an institution to graze in social pastures," he continued. "Your society girl didn't want good amusements, taxicabs and swell eats or drinks. She wanted something to carry her about, show her off and be on hand whenever the occasion demanded.

"Well, it's not exactly in the capacity of errand boy, yet—"

"But why not hire a John the same as a lackey?" I interrupted.

"Why waste the money when they're buzzing around in droves anxious for duty," he replied. "Just so he looks well, can reel off conversation with 'eythers' and 'nythers' and 'cawnt's' without the 'thems' and 'aint's,' and can afford the 30-cent fare at the feedery, he's qualified. They have to have chauffeurs drive their cars. Well, so must they have a human vehicle to transport them along their path. Just so he'll pass, can buy oysters at midnight and can spare them all the time in the world, he's a social lion."

"That's the way I've figured it."

I looked over at my girl, her mouth busy with a hot cake and verbal frivolity. I recalled her icy adieu at the door the night of my own dip into society.

"Yes," I answered, ruefully, "at my expense."

BILL SMITH'S CREEK DEAR TO CONGRESSMEN

Despite Sharp Criticism, Money Is Appropriated for Bill's Water Course.

Washington, January 16.—Items of the river and harbor appropriation bill providing for projects in Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas were approved by the house today. It was determined to resume consideration of the bill at 11 o'clock Tuesday.

Consideration of the measure is featured by a persistent filibuster conducted by Representatives Frear, of Wisconsin, republican, and Calloway, of Texas, democrat, who charged that it is grossly extravagant.

They ridiculed many of the harbors appropriated for as difficult to locate the demarcation between the water and the land, and charged in other cases that the navigation was negligible, in one case saying mainly logging and old houses floated down the river.

Representative Goodwin, of Arkansas, unsuccessfully attacked an item of "Smith's Creek, N. C., for maintenance $2,000." He said that he apprehended that the stream was the sole property of some "Bill Smith."

"I understand," he said, "that this creek rises in the northeastern part of Smith's plantation, and lazily winds its way from time to time almost 1-1-4 miles and finds its mouth in the southeastern portion of Bill Smith's plantation. As I understand it, he holds the absolute title in fee simple, an undisputed title that cannot be alienated, with all the corporeal and incorporeal heriditaments, as well as other appurtenances thereto belonging.

"As this congress has been lavishly appropriating for great streams like the Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee, why should not Bill Smith have his creek improved when he owns the title? This is used by Bill and his family, except when the people from two or three miles around gather to disport themselves on holiday occasions, and on July 4 when the neighbors come from around there and hold races."

MARTIN RESTING EASY AFTER AN OPERATION

It was learned Saturday that Al Martin, who is well known around the city hall and county courthouse, was forced to undergo a serious operation Saturday morning at the Grady hospital following an attack of appendicitis. News from the hospital last night was to the effect that Mr. Martin was resting easy, and that his physicians hoped for a rapid recovery.

Mr. Martin is a brother of Charlie Martin, an attache of the water department, and is well known throughout the city. He recently opened a business at South Pryor and Hunter streets.

ACTOR "KIDS" OLD PAL ACROSS THE FOOTLIGHTS

Only Raymond Hitchcock and his old playmate, Charlie A. Forrest, commercial agent of Frisco lines in the southeast, stationed in this city for years, were aware at Saturday's matinee that Mr. Hitchcock called for ashes and said he was visiting down "Hackney hill," and he was all in praising peacocks on Division street," they were talking across the audience of the old "kids" they were boys together in their old home of Auburn, N. Y., and that in this way only have they met for nearly thirty years.

LOST IN SPECULATION AND KILLED HIMSELF

Utica, N. Y., January 16.—William E. Richards, formerly county treasurer, and for many years a political intimate of the late Vice President Sherman, committed suicide today. He was a member of a prosperous insurance agency and prominent in fraternal circles. It is supposed he was discouraged over recent unsuccessful stock speculations.

Annual Reports of Charity Organization

The annual reports made by many of Atlanta's charitable organizations eloquently reflect the admirable work of the organized women of Atlanta, aided the generosity of Atlanta people.

President, Mrs. W. H. Kiser; vice president, Mrs. P. S. Arkwright; treasurer, Mrs. E. R. Black; recording secretary, Mrs. William Shallenberger; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. T. Gilder.

In making the report of the year in full, Mrs. Robert Alston, secretary, stated in part:

Too much praise cannot be given to our retiring president, Mrs. W. S. Elkin, who has so faithfully and so ably led us during the past year of our greatest progress and usefulness.

We have opened another nursery and kindergarten, making five instead of four nurseries.

The Osgood Sanders Nursery, 161 Walton street.

The John Barclay Nursery, Jefferson street. At the Exposition Cotton Mills.

The Cornelia Moore Nursery, 55 Garibaldi street.

The Whittier Mills Nursery, on River line.

The Gate City Mills Nursery, East Point.

The kindergartens, five in number, one for each nursery, have trained kindergarteners and assistants, with a total enrollment of 225 children, many of whom are outside and not nursery children. Although each day may not find 225 children present, yet their places are kept for them; while illness detains them at home, they are visited and cared for by the kindergartener in charge.

The Purpose.

The first underlying principle is the conservation of the home, by insuring to the working mothers a safe and beneficial shelter for their little ones during their working hours and thus enabling them to be self-supporting and consequently self-respecting and able to give their best efforts to their work, knowing their babies are well nurtured and cared for.

At 5:30 a. m. the nursery doors are open. Competent matrons, assistants and nurses are there to receive the children, give a cheering word to mothers and hear if any child needs any special attention.

The babies are taken to the nursery, the others are bathed, given their breakfast and the older ones a lunch, and are sent off to take their places in the public schools and the younger ones go to the kindergarten.

At midday an hygienic and appetizing dinner is served for all.

Study Hour.

In the afternoon a study hour is held and has proven a wonderful success for each child in the public school from every nursery has been promoted, with one exception, and that on account of illness.

A staff of Atlanta's best specialists in all branches of medicine give gladly and freely their services. The result of this speaks for itself when we can report for the year 1914 not a single death.

Mothers' meetings are held once a month, when a hot supper is served, bring in a social way to draw nearer to the mothers of these children and to assure them that we are working not for but with them.

Thanksgiving and Christmas are all observed with bountiful spreads, Christmas trees, toys and well filled stockings, and this year many excellent gifts of clothing.

At the annual meeting 45 new members were reported, showing a broader interest and knowledge of our work.

In conclusion, Mrs. Alston recorded words of appreciation as follows:

"Let us thank, through the press, the daily papers and the good people of Atlanta who have contributed to the welfare and happiness of the children of our organization for their cheerful and generous support of Tag day, which enables us to continue our work for the working mothers and children of this great city."

The Florence Crittenton.

A summary of the annual report of the Florence Crittenton home board for 1914 is that during the year the board has been able to put the main building in a fairly good condition, but the mothers' cottage is in poor repair and the outbuildings are in a dilapidated state and should be rebuilt. The furnishings are meager and need replenishing.

There is a crying need of a contagious ward and an enlargement of the equipment generally, as they are unable now to care for all applications.

The garden and dairy have enabled the home table to be run comfortably on most economical lines.

Atlanta Child's Home.

Director Elizabeth Broach, in a summarized report of the Atlanta Children's Home, records in part that among the most interesting features of the January meeting of Atlanta Child's Home board last Tuesday, was the reception of 50 new members on the "Thousand Member Campaign," now on under direction of Mrs. M. R. Emmons, membership chairman.

There were many live discussions, splendid reports, and donations acknowledged. Mrs. R. T. Connally, treasurer, was interrupted in reading her annual report by great applause.

Total income for the year 1914 was more than $4,000, running expenses, over $2,000. The new building underheadway and the livelliest building fund campaign at higher tide, under chairman of circles and every member.

WARREN GRICE WILL ASK EARLY HEARING ON FRANK PETITION

Attorney General Warren A. Grice is planning to go to Washington during the latter part of this week to plead with the supreme court of the United States to advance the appeal of Leo Frank on the docket so that it may be heard within the next sixty or ninety days instead of twelve months.

Solicitor Dorsey will not go to Washington, it has been announced. He and the attorney general have been in several conferences preparing their battle against the habeas corpus appeal, and he will remain on the ground while his colleague is in Washington.

All formalities have been completed in the appeal, and the case is now in readiness for the motion for advancement.

PEACE CONFERENCE PROPOSED FOR WORLD

Washington, January 16.—An international peace conference may be held here after the European war, as the result of the labors of an American committee now being formed, according to Dr. John Wesley Hill, president of the International Peace forum, who arrived here today to attend a peace meeting tomorrow. A similar plan agitated in the Taft administration, Dr. Hill said, very nearly was successful. Great Britain, France and Germany having agreed in the movement, which was led by the United States government.

"What we now desire," said Dr. Hill, "is the conversion of the armies and navies of the world into a great international police force at the disposal of a supreme court of the nations for the enforcement of its decrees."

Dr. Hill added that it had been suggested that all peace organizations in the United States and perhaps in the world be formed into one united body.

The American conference committee, Dr. Hill said, would be composed of such prominent Americans as former President Taft, Andrew Carnegie, Dr. David Starr Jordan, Senator Burton, Judge Alton B. Parker, Governor Wilson, of New York, and perhaps all college presidents of the country. Peace advocates in other neutral countries were being addressed, he said, with a view to a selection of similar committees abroad.

JAILED FOR MENACING GERMAN AMBASSADOR

Tacoma, Wash., January 16—Edwin R. Scott, of Raymond, Wash., was sentenced to six months in jail yesterday by Federal Judge Cushman, for threatening the life of the German ambassador. Count von Bernstorff. Scott admitted having written two letters to the ambassador at Washington, in which he made threats. These, he said, were "all bluff."

Washington, January 16.—The state department instituted proceedings today to the end that sentence of Edwin Scott. Nearly all the ambassadors of foreign powers have received threats and these generally have been communicated to the state department, which deemed it prudent to have all investigated.

DUEL WITH POLICEMEN COSTLY TO THIS NEGRO

Clues Peek, porter for the Isle of Champagne, on Peachtree street, was bound over by Recorder George W. Johnson Saturday afternoon on the charges of pointing a pistol at another and assault with intent to murder. Peek was charged with shooting at Police Officers Maddox, Allen and Bullard on Butler street when the officers attempted to arrest him early Saturday morning. One of the bullets from his pistol knocked off a finger from the right hand of R. J. Winn, of 171 Butler street, who was standing near. Another bullet broke the handle of the revolver of one of the police officers.

Quitman Drug Store.

Jelks, who have leased a prominent store in the heart of Quitman and are now buying fixtures and stock. Mr. Chambers is an old Quitman citizen, returning to Quitman from Gainesville, Ga., where for some time past he has been residing since leaving his home.

Pretty Girls Feature This Week's Theatrical Offerings

"Within the Law."
(At The Atlanta.)

After two years at the Eltinge theater, New York, where it played to capacity business from the beginning to the end of the long engagement, "Within the Law," Bayard Veiller's absorbing melodrama of modern life in New York, will come again to the Atlanta theater, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a Saturday matinee. The play, which has for its principal theme an exposition of the police methods and economic conditions that exist in the metropolis, has excited more comment than any drama produced within the half-century mark. The minimum wage question now being agitated so widely is one of the important themes selected by the dramatist as the basic material of his play. There is a story of a poor shop girl who is sent to prison for a crime she does not commit. After her release and a vain endeavor to obtain decent employment, she becomes the "brains" of a gang of "crooks," and as their leader carries on various schemes by which she obtains enormous sums of money, managing always to keep within the pale of the law, and snapping her fingers in the face of the police department. One of these "crooks" comes into possession of a revolver silenced with a Maxim patent muffler—this ingenious and terrible weapon wreaks silent havoc throughout the play and becomes an object of pivotal interest in the theme. How Mary gets her revenge and how in the end "Joe Garson," the bad man —whom everyone loves—is brought to justice; how Inspector Burke closes the talons of the law around the main characters, and what finally happens to Mary and her confederates, will undoubtedly excite the interest and curiosity of every theater-goer. An excellent company will give the play at the Atlanta theater. Clara Joel will again be seen as Mary Turner, the shop girl heroine of the play, supported by the same company that was seen here last season.

Baldwin-Melville Company.
(At The Atlanta.)

Beginning Monday night, January 25, the Atlanta will inaugurate a new policy in filling its open time. It will play the Baldwin-Melville Stock company indefinitely, filling in all nights which are not booked by the big traveling companies. The season of stock will open with "Our Wives," a New York and Chicago comedy which has been a tremendous hit since its first production, but which has never been given in Atlanta.

Walter S. Baldwin will come to Atlanta to perpetually preside over the stock company. Mr. Baldwin has been a success as a stock producer for many years, and he will be welcomed here. He is bringing a high-class company, which, he says, is sure to make the biggest impression of any stock organization ever here. Miss Lola May is the leading woman. She is a talented and beautiful woman, with ability of the most marked type. She is sure of being a hit here.

The company will play at popular prices. At nights and Saturday matinee the seats will be 25 cents and 50 cents, while at the matinees Tuesday and Thursday the prices will be 15 cents and 25 cents. The best attractions will be given and everything will be done to make for a big success.

The engagement of the stock company will not interfere with the regular plays booked, but will serve to fill all open time.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At The Forsyth.)

A combination of all-star vaudeville features will be the Forsyth's attraction for the week, starting with matinee on Monday and continuing matinee and night daily all the rest of the week. The high-grade acts that have been recently booked into the popular theater increased interest in vaudeville to such a degree that last week the S. R. O. sign did duty at every performance, and on Saturday hundreds were turned away because of the lack of standing or seating space.

The headliner for the week will be Gus Edwards' matinee girls, with Charlie Olcott as the star of the act. There are fourteen people in this two-act sketch, and a musical program of ten numbers. Edwards' music and lyrics by Jean Havez, Will D. Cobb and Edward Madden will make the offering decidedly popular. Charlie Olcott is one of the cleverest of the young men in vaudeville. He is a coming star, and has already attracted the attention of musical comedy promoters, who want him for a big revue. Irene Martin, Gene Ford and Margaret Dana are among the prominent people in the act.

Stuart, the male Patti, direct from wonderful successes for the past six years in Europe, will make his first appearance in Atlanta since the vaudeville days at the old Orpheum. Possessing a magnificent voice and a wardrobe of wonderful gowns, this man promises to be a sensation here. Stuart is a native of Texas, and became a great star when he was at the head of "1492." For the past few years he has been constantly engaged in Europe and came home when the theaters there were forced to close.

Flanagan and Edwards, in their new act, "Off and On," will be a treat. These players always are a peg behind the scenes, or for anything that is out of the ordinary, and in this act they are going to have just what they care for. Both comedians are clever, and it is certain they will score a whole hit. Sam Hearn and Helen Eley, in a clever comedy, Adler and Arline, in a new stunt, and Jacobs' dogs make up a program that is very promising.

DR. HUGH BLACK, IN LYCEUM COURSE.

(At The Auditorium.)

Political conditions in the United States and in Great Britain will be contrasted by Dr. Hugh Black, formerly associate pastor of St. George's, in Edinburgh, Scotland, in his lecture Tuesday night at the Auditorium, on "America Through Scotch Spectacles." In giving this lecture, Dr. Black will speak under the auspices of the Alkahest lyceum course.

Dr. Black five years ago came to the United States to accept the chair of practical theology in Union Theological seminary, and has since become pastor of the First Congregational church, of Montclair, N. J. This is one of the largest and most influential churches in the United States.

Dr. Black has gained recognition as an author, as well as a lecturer. Among his books, of which 100,000 copies in all have been issued, the best known are: "Friendship," "Work," "Culture and Restraint," "The Gift of Influence," "Christ's Service of Love," "Listening to God."

His lecture, "America Through Scotch Spectacles," has attracted wide attention because of its timeliness and its positive need. By describing conditions in England and in Europe, he throws a new light on politics in the United States. To hear him lecture is to gain a new viewpoint of political conditions here.

Libby's Big Hawaiian Pineapple Plant Puts Up 250,000 Cans of Fruit Per Day

Harry L. Bruce, manager of H. H. Whitcomb company on Madison avenue, has recently received, and is very much interested in reading, a glowing account of the recent opening of the big pineapple cannery of Libby, McNeill & Libby, at Kalihi, in Hawaii territory. The article was published, along with large illustrations, on the front page of The Pacific Commercial Advertiser, of Honolulu, and describes in detail the opening and operation of this big additional plant now added to the great chain of plants operated by the Libby company.

H. H. Whitcomb company, well-known brokers in this section for twenty-odd years, handle the Libby line of goods. Representing the company here is L. M. Dean, division manager, whose offices are with the Whitcomb company.

The pineapple crop of Hawaii is among that territory's largest, and most lucious crop, and the Libby company established its plant there for canning this fruit in keeping with its policy to be "Johnny-on-the-spot" in its service to the great consuming public.

When the plant was first opened about 250 employees were used. Since then additional help has been put on to the amount of something like 1,000. The factory buildings cover four acres, and the plant and equipment cost about $250,000. The plant has a capacity of 250,000 cans per day, or 25,000 cans per hour, and before the present winter season is over it will have packed and marketed something like 200,000 cases.

The whole factory, according to the published account, is a model one, beautifully arranged, clean, well lighted and ventilated, with every comfort and convenience, such as bath rooms, dining rooms, rest rooms, etc., for employees. Because of the core used in every process of manufacture, and especially because of the latest modern scientific methods of pasteurized cookery, which have been adopted, Libby, McNeill & Libby claim that their canned pineapples have a delicacy of flavor unequaled by any fruit packed under the old methods. The Whitcomb company are anticipating a big demand for these canned goods in this territory.

Help the Horse

"If your horse or mule falls down, come in and borrow a set of these shoes and help them up."

That's the invitation to drivers which is painted in the windows of John Silvey & Co. Marietta street, just in front of this dry goods house, is on quite a grade, it is a smooth, slick pavement. On misty, damp, drizzly days, in front of their place perhaps more animals go down than at any other spot in the city.

R. K. Rambo is a friend of the dumb brute. His wife is an active member of the S. P. C. A. So is Mr. Speer, of the firm. That accounts for the several pair of big carpet-like overshoes which hang in the window, and to which any driver is welcome in order to get his animal on its feet again when it has fallen. They have been used time and again. Some drivers have even come to borrow them to pull up the whole distance of the grade. They have been very useful—and they are humane.

"It's a strange thing, though," said Mr. Rambo, "that some people won't let us put some of these shoes in their store and hang out a little temporary sign like that. One of our men went around this morning, as foggy and bad as it was, and no one seemed to care anything about bothering with them. They are no trouble at all. A driver borrows them for a few moments, comes back and thanks you, and returns them, and a poor animal has been helped—put on its feet without an injury. If you know of anybody that wants to put some of these in his place of business, tell them to come to see us, or phone us."

Doctors have decided that an electric shock kills a man by destroying the rhythm of the heart beats and acting on the lungs like an overdose of an anaesthetic.

A cableway will soon span the Niagara river over the whirlpool.

Every southbound train is crowded with visitors and prospective buyers of Florida lands. Only the other day, as I came through, I saw a solid train load of 400 people landed at Dunnellon, a small town. They were mostly northern or northwestern folks coming down with a view to buying some of the smaller tracts of land which are being cut out of many of the larger tracts and put on sale by some of the big land companies. Some of these days, as this development continues to come, Florida will verily be the garden spot of the world."

AID OF J. SILVEY & CO. ASKED FOR BELGIANS

Long Telegram From New York Chairman Tells of the Destitute People.

John Silvey & Co. were the recipients on Wednesday of a lengthy telegram from Lindon W. Bates, of New York, vice chairman of the commission for the relief of Belgium. In the lengthy message the destitute condition of the people of that country was stated, and the Atlanta company was requested to give publicity to the fact that "the commission for relief in Belgium, the officially designated sole agency through which food and supplies may be brought into Belgium, has just concluded arrangements with the postoffice department and with express companies whereby any one in America may forward foodstuff for relief in Belgium by parcel post or express without cost of transportation to the sender."

The telegram stated that non-perishable goods, also blankets and clothing were needed, and that 1,400,000 of the 6,000,000 people were absolutely destitute.

The Silvey company replied as follows to the telegram:

"We take great pleasure in giving our three dailies information your du letter of the 12th, and each assures us they will be glad to use, especially as we have Flag day soon for the benefit of destitue Belgians. Will follow up instructions to papers given this date and see that necessary publicity is given. Glad to be of further service if possible.

"JOHN SILVEY & CO."

A Little Incident.

Editor Firing Line: It was at Birmingham on a Southern train for Atlanta, a frail, delicate little woman, crowded in with five children, a baby in her arms, a band-box, two bundles and a traveling bag. I thought of the coat with many colors. "Get in there, all of you," she said, as she packed everything into the one vacant seat just behind me. The train was filled with passengers. I offered her my seat, but she refused, and I wondered after she said: "We will not get off any more till morning" how it was possible for her to journey on in that cramped condition. I thought of the many vacant sections back in the Pullman, and the luxury of traveling over night in one of them for a little family like that, not going to get off any more till morning. The words had barely been spoken when the conductor, a noble, kind-hearted gentleman, whom I have known for years, came to collect our tickets. I had not seen Captain Richardson before in a year, and his last words of best wishes were still ringing in my ears, when I heard him say to the lady with the little brood: "I am sorry, you are on the wrong train. Your ticket to Florida reads over the Central of Georgia, via Albany, and you are on a Southern train. The little woman, with all the children and bundles, got excited. "Sit still," said the captain. "I will do all for you I can." There was a junction point that both roads touched and the Central would soon follow the Southern at this place. And in a short time I saw the captain with his arms full of bundles helping the little woman off, that "was not going to change any more till morning." Respectfully,

W. M. JENKINS.

Another steam railroad is being electrified in Japan. Twelve electric locomotives will be used to haul the trains over the mountain railroads at Usui-Tage.

GEORGIA FAST GROWING AS MEAT-RAISING STATE

Report of Pure Food Inspector Methvin Contains Interesting Figures.

As an evidence of the fact that Georgia is coming to be more and more a cattle-raising state, Pure Food Inspector P. A. Methvin will bring out in his annual report, which he is now preparing, a number of interesting facts showing the increased sale of cotton seed meal in Georgia as a feedstuff.

Georgia was for years the dumping ground of adulterated and misbranded feeds, but the strict enforcement of the pure food law in this state, under Mr. Methvin, has caused the standard to be raised to such a height that the Georgia law is now accepted as a criterion for the south.

The Georgia law demands a high percentage of protein in all feedstuffs and as cotton seed meal is the largest, as well as the least expensive source of protein, there is hardly a feed on sale in Georgia which does not depend upon cotton seed meal for supplying the necessary amount of protein.

Mr. Methvin's report will be submitted to Commissioner Price at an early date, and will prove of widespread interest throughout the state now that Georgia is taking her place in the forefront of the cattle-raising states of the south.

In memory of the countless cats which have been slaughtered since the invention of the samisen, or three-stringed Japanese guitar, which has cat's skin as one of its principal materials, a number of Japanese philanthropists have caused a tomb in the form of a cat's statue to be erected in Tokio.

H. B. Roberts to Tell Them All About The Use of Improved Farm Tools

If H. R. Roberts can fill the shoes of a lecturer as well and as gracefully as he can those of a live, hustling salesman, then the farmers in and around Gainesville, Fla., will be well paid for the time spent in hearing him on Monday afternoon. He has been asked to make at that time an address on "The Use of Improved Farm Tools" before the College of Agriculture of the State university of Florida.

Each year this college gives a short course of lectures for the benefit of farmers in that section, which are usually well attended. Mr. Roberts has been with the John Deere Plow company for a number of years. He is well qualified to speak on the advantages of improved farm implements. He travels the state of Florida, making his home at Gainesville, and the directors of the Agricultural college invited him to make his talk because of their knowledge of his familiarity of that subject.

"I am afraid I am not much of a lecturer," said Mr. Roberts, who was in the city the other day, "but I do claim to know a great deal about the subject assigned to me, and I am going to give them the best I have."

The college, it is understood, is also making an effort to get Dr. W. E. Taylor, the expert soil man for the John Deere Plow company, who lectured in this city Thursday before the Ad Men's club, to visit them during the present course of lectures.

In speaking of Florida, Mr. Roberts said: "More and more the people of Florida are taking on to farming along general lines. Of course it's a great fruit and trucking state, but since the lumber and phosphate interests have gone rather bad lately, the people there have gone into raising staple crops. More corn, cotton, hay, peanuts, etc., are going to be raised in Florida this year than ever before. Financially Florida does not feel the depression just like other states. While the state has suffered particularly from the cotton loss, the conditions incidental to that have made practically no market for her fruits—particularly her orange crop, which is accounted a money-maker in many sections. There seems to be no demand for them this year. Last year where oranges sold on the tree for $1 a box, this year growers cannot get 50 cents a box. The celery, cabbage and lettuce crop is fine this year and is bringing good prices. Strawberries are just now being marketed around Plant City and are bringing 35 cents a quart in quantities.

The Master Key

By John Fleming Wilson

A Thrilling Story of Mystery and Romance

By special arrangement for this paper, a photo-drama, corresponding to the installments of "The Master Key," may be seen at the Savoy and Alpha theaters tomorrow. By an arrangement made with the Universal Film company, it is not only possible to read "The Master Key" each week, but also afterwards to see moving pictures illustrating our story.

SYNOPSIS—Doors open upon strange things. How many locked doors are there in this world? How many people are there trying to find "The Master Key?" Thomas Gallon found gold. He thought of two things: his daughter Ruth, and gold for her. Gallon died because his partner, Wilkerson, whom he thought he had killed in the desert, came back and demanded a share of his find. Wilkerson is seeking gold for the sake of a woman, John Dorr, the mining engineer in whose charge Ruth was left, is also fighting to find the secret which Thomas Gallon apparently took with him to his grave.

Jean Darnell paced back and forth in the miserable room where Harry Wilkerson had lodged her and her maid pending the outcome of his wild plotting to get possession of Ruth Gallon's precious papers. Her handsome and cruel face was clouded with slow wrath and she clenched her hands now and again till the knuckles were white.

For one thing, Mrs. Darnell loved the plush of life. Physical luxury was her highest wish, the goal of her loftiest ambition, the one price she had set on her soul. The dull surroundings she had been forced to accept nauseated her. She hated Wilkerson for making her uncomfortable.

So when he came in, walking very slowly and quietly, she turned on him like a wildcat.

"Take me out of here!" she panted. "I won't stay here another hour, Ruth or no Ruth!"

Wilkerson flinched. "I'm sorry," he rasped, "but Drake made a mess of the whole affair, the police are after Sing Wah and that girl got away."

Mrs. Darnell stopped in her almost hysterical walk about the room and stared at Wilkerson with burning eyes. He returned her look defiantly. "I'd never had to do all this if you had done your part long ago and got the papers when she was in your charge," he said. "But there is no use in crying over what can't be helped."

At this moment Drake entered, presenting himself sullenly; he had already received Wilkerson's acrid compliments on his astuteness in failure and he expected nothing less from Mrs. Darnell. He was ready to quit the conspiracy.

Jean's quick instinct did not fail her and she instantly smiled on Drake and murmured: "You poor boy! Now tell me all about it!"

When he had finished his relation of the morning's experiences, with much emphasis on the shooting and his narrow escape from Sing Wah's den, she looked at him thoughtfully.

"It was a madman's scheme," she said. She turned to Wilkerson. "Harry, you used to do things better. Use your wits! This isn't the desert. Force won't avail. And time is getting short. We must have those papers immediately and raise the money on them and get enough capital ahead to find the old plan to the mother lode of the Master Key mine. Use your wits!"

For a long moment the three of them stood in silence. Then Wilkerson smiled sardonically.

"All right, Jean; I think I understand you. I'll see what I can do today. First, I must find out a few things. Drake and I will go together."

"Thanks," said the young man dryly, "I have a notion that I'm about fed up with your plans and plots."

Before Wilkerson could respond with the bitter reproaches ready on his lips, Mrs. Darnell interposed, curbing her own unruly temper.

"George," she said, looking at him with suddenly soft eyes, "I know just how you feel. But it means everything to me—to all of us. I have trusted you so, and if you fail me now—" She threw out her arms in a gesture of pleading. Then she came closer to him and whispered, "And are you going to give up the stake you are playing for? You are in love with her!"

"That's but little reason why I should help Harry here out with all kinds of preposterous plans. That one of last night nearly did for us all. If she hadn't escaped as she did the police would be at the door now."

"John Dorr is a stupid fool," Wilkerson broke in. "It's been mere luck that's helped him so far. Nobody ever crossed Harry Wilkerson yet and got away with it. Old Tom Gallon found that out."

Jean Darnell glanced at his feverish eyes and understood him. She turned to Drake. "Please do it for me," she urged again. "I know Harry has some good, safe plan in view."

Once out on the street Drake sullenly followed his companion's lead into a still lower quarter of the town. Busy with his own thoughts and still shaken from his experiences of the morning, he did not notice that Wilkerson was evidently on the lookout for someone. Once or twice he stopped to think. Once he greeted an old acquaintance and carried on a low-voiced conversation, of which Drake heard nothing except the name "Pell" and "he usually hangs around Adam's pool room."

When Wilkerson rejoined him Drake said peevishly, "Where to now?"

"I've got my scheme and my man," was the reply. "It'll be plain sailing from now on."

They crossed the city and went up Turk street, walking more and more slowly all the while. Presently Wilkerson stopped and entered a doorway over which was a sign, "Billiards and Pool." Drake waited for him till he came out, which was almost immediately.

"We'll just walk on up the street," he said. "My man is around here somewhere."

A moment later Drake was surprised to see Wilkerson step to one side directly into the path of a pale-faced, quietly dressed young man of about thirty years of age. The individual stopped, stared at the man who had so rudely interrupted his walk and then recoiled.

"Harry!" he stammered.

Wilkerson smiled cruelly, but said nothing. The other repeated the name and went on, "Are you here? Why are you here?"

His dread was so evident that Drake looked at him curiously. It was strange what a number of queer acquaintances Wilkerson had and how deeply most of them seemed to fear him. He listened intently to his companion's drawling tones.

"Yes, I'm Harry Wilkerson. I was looking for you, Pell."

The man he addressed licked his dry lips and essayed a smile. "Long time I no see you?" he said in an attempt at a jesting tone.

"How long is it, now?" Wilkerson said as if to himself. "You got five years—R."

"For God's sake, man, be quiet," whispered Pell. "I—no one knows me here and I'm on the square now, too."

"You mean the police don't know you," grinned Wilkerson. "But then, I know you, old sport."

"We'll just go to some nice place and sit down and talk over old times," he remarked pleasantly as they walked on.

"But I've got a date! I'm working downtown!" protested Pell miserably.

"Working?" demanded Wilkerson mockingly. "Since when has old Sam Pell been working? Answer! Since he was broke." He laughed loudly.

"I came out here to live on the level," pleaded the other, his foxlike face white with fear.

"Things too hot for you in the torrid East? Well, I never went back on a pal, did I, Sam? And I'm not going back on you now. I'm going to put you in the way of some coin."

At this point they turned into a small Greek cafe and Wilkerson ordered coffee all around. When they had been served and were alone he introduced Drake and Pell and remarked to the former, "Sam Pell is known as the slickest man in his line—ain't you, Sam?"

"I ain't working that lay any more," was the sulky answer.

Wilkerson leaned across the table and his lean face held a very evil expression on it. "Not working? But you'd do a turn for an old friend, wouldn't you? Specially when there's lots of good, safe money in it?"

As if hypnotized, Pell stared into the dark eyes fixed on his and swallowed chokingly.

"I knew you would!" said Wilkerson, wilfully misinterpreting his inarticulate groan. "Now to business, Sam!"

"Henry!" gasped the other. "My name's Henry now. Don't call me Sam."

"Well, Henry," said Wilkerson soothingly. "I declare, I do forget names so easily. Now, I want to explain my little proposition. It's just in your line, Sa—Henry."

Very rapidly and curtly Wilkerson told him of the existence of a bundle of papers that he wished to "recover." He laid only enough emphasis on their character to enable Pell to identify them on sight, and concluded by saying, "It's worth money in your pocket to locate them and get them back. Find a girl named Ruth Gallon in one of the hotels here. She has the papers."

Pell rose nervously. "Not for me, Wilkerson."

Wilkerson rose too, quite undisturbed. "We'll just walk down the street apiece with you, Sa—Henry, and I can explain a little more clearly."

The outcome was that half an hour later Pell took fifty dollars advance from Wilkerson and promised to recover the papers for him. Before they parted, the latter made several little jokes which Drake could not see the point of, but which seemed to make Pell sick with terror.

"Who is that fellow?" Drake demanded as they were returning to their lodgings.

John Dorr and Ruth.

Just how it was that she found herself again in the same room in the hotel Ruth could not have told after her terrible experiences of the night and morning. But John had hurried her into a cab, ordered it driven to the Manx and quickly made arrangements for Ruth to occupy his room with a maid to look after her.

"All my clothes are with that horrid woman," she whispered to him when he left her at the door.

"I'll rig you out and then we'll go shopping," was the rejoinder.

With the help of the maid and the housekeeper Ruth was presently made presentable for the street and John, in dry clothes and none the worse for his ducking, met her in the lobby.

"I have engaged a taxi by the hour," he told her. "I think it will rest you more to get the fresh air and dig around in the shops among the pretties than it will to brood in your own room."

Ruth hesitated shyly. "But I have no money, John!"

"Oh!" he said blankly, and then a thought came to him. "Why, here I am carrying around a lot of the ranch money which I was going to turn over to you."

Once in the taxi, Ruth told him of her experiences from the time she had left the mine.

"It's all that man Wilkerson," he said when she had finished. "He caused your father to make him superintendent of the mine and then hounded him into his grave. He is your bad angel, Ruth; but I am here now and I'll get busy with Everett and finish things up and we'll soon be back at the mine and have things going again."

He answered her questions about the situation at the Master Key as tactfully as he could; he realized that her nerves were badly shaken.

He directed the chauffeur to drive them through the shopping district, and while Ruth spent several hours in replenishing her wardrobe, John sat in the taxi and studied things out. But he was continually seeing Wilkerson's dark face before him, and before they returned to the hotel he had determined to find out where he was and what he was doing.

While Ruth went to her room to dress for dinner John sat in the lobby and completed his plans. He did not observe a slender, quietly dressed young man with a very pale face, who sauntered in and out with an occasional trip to the cigar stand to light a fresh cigarette. It was Henry Pell.

The ex-thief had spent the day going from hotel to hotel, searching the registers. It was only at the last that he went to the Manx. There he found the name "Ruth Gallon" on the register and below it "John Dorr." This he reported to Wilkerson, who swore luridly, but emphasized the necessity of getting hold of the papers immediately.

"And I trust you to do it," he said meaningly.

Pell, flushed with drugs, nodded briskly. "I'll get 'em all right, Harry," he said, but did not add his inmost thought, which was that with the papers once in his own possession he could easily get much more from Wilkerson than the two hundred dollars he had promised.

"When will you have them?" Wilkerson went on impatiently.

Pell smiled faintly, but significantly. "I know your address," he remarked. "I'll deliver them there when I get them."

"But when?" growled the other.

Pell flicked his cigarette stub into the gutter and whistled, "I never make dates ahead," he said quietly. "But it won't be long."

"Have you your plan all schemed out?"

Pell winked and moved off.

At supper both Ruth and John were silent, not only from weariness, but because they had not settled things yet. Everett hadn't been seen nor any preparations made for the raising of the money needful to improve the Master Key mine. So by mutual consent they made a short meal of it. In the lobby they sat and talked a little while, but presently Ruth had to confess that she was worn out.

"Of course you are!" said John, repentantly. "I'll take you right up and turn you over to your maid. A good night's rest will set you on your feet again."

"I shall dream of that horrible Chinaman!" she murmured, shuddering.

"Don't let that worry you," he said comfortingly. "I have a room right near yours and if you want help I'll be there."

Dorr laughed and agreed.

On their return the clerk handed John a note addressed in a crabbed hand. He tore it open, glanced at the contents and turned to Ruth.

Ruth's face lit up wonderfully. "Where is he? Where is he?" she demanded. "I do want to see him."

"Right here in the hotel," John replied. "I say, Ruth, we'll just send word up to him to come to your room awhile, then we can talk and you can find out all the news."

At her door he left her with a hasty, "I'll be right in as soon as Tom comes, Ruth."

"All right," she called back, and opened her door as he opened his own.

She paused on the threshold at the sight within. A tall man in a light mask was delving into the desk and rummaging among her papers and belongings. At the sight of her he quickly thrust a bundle of papers into his pocket and slipped toward the open window. Then Ruth understood, and screamed for help.

John Dorr heard that call and in three bounds was in her room. She pointed to the open window, gasping, "That way! The thief! He stole the deeds!"

Without a word Dorr leaped to the window. It opened on a fire escape. He peered down. No one. He looked up. A slight figure was mounting quickly and silently toward the roof.

Within another instant John had swung himself out on the ladder and was climbing rapidly after the unknown housebreaker. He paid no attention to Ruth's agonized cry after him, "John! John! Don't go after him. He'll hurt you!"

Helplessly she peered out of the window and saw the two figures going swiftly up toward the crest of the building. The seconds seemed hours as she watched. Then she saw John stumble and catch himself. That decided her. She picked up her skirts and stepped out on the platform herself. Then she gingerly swung herself out on the iron ladder and commenced to climb upward. She saw the thief reach the cornice and crawl over, then John. She struggled on up, sobbingly, bruising her tender hands on the rusty rods.

Then she realized that there was another on the ladder below her. She nearly lost her grip and fell; surely it must be some accomplice of the thief! She hastened her way up the ladder, not daring to look down again.

At last she gained the cornice, where the ladder bent suddenly outward and she must perforce almost hang suspended by her hands. But she managed to surmount this difficulty and stumbled forward on the roof of the hotel.

"John! John!" she called softly; then again in terror she cried shrilly, "John! Oh, John!"

At that moment the figure of the masked man slipped from behind one of the chimneys and made for the fire escape. She realized that he was escaping. Where was John? She wavered. Could he be killed? She cried again, "John!"

She stood directly in the way of the man making for the ladder and he paused at sight of that eerie figure. The hesitation was fatal to his purpose. Dorr darted across the roof and grasped for him. With a swift turn the thief leaped over a skylight and commenced to run hither and thither, trying to evade John, who was not to be put off, now that he had full sight of his quarry.

Ruth watched the chase with hands tensely clasped over her bosom. She could not stir from her position in the full moonlight, near the edge of the roof. Nor did she move when Dorr finally caught his man and tripped him.

They fell together on the roof and rolled over and over, each trying to balk the other of a good hold. The fighting was furious, for Pell, still under the spell of drugs, was possessed of tremendous strength which even Dorr's hard muscles could not at once overcome.

Suddenly Pell started to roll over toward the edge of the roof, dragging John after him. This new danger appalled the girl—she watched with fascinated eyes.

John Dorr was well out of breath by this time and knew his man. It was a desperate struggle, for the thief was fighting for his freedom and possibly his life. So Dorr settled down to hold him until his wild strength ebbed and he could handle him.

Henry Pell, on the other hand, knew precisely his plight and saw with exactness what would happen to him unless he escaped the huge arms that tied him down. He gradually worked himself nearer and nearer to the escape ladder. If he could once get his hands on those iron rails and swing himself over, his assailant must inevitably either let go or drop over.

But the presence of a second man right in front of the ladder, as he perceived through his blurred eyes, rendered that hope out of the question. In desperate fury he kicked Dorr violently, tore one arm loose and drove his bony fist like a bullet into John's throat.

This forced Dorr for the moment to let him go. Pell rushed swiftly toward the ladder. He was halted by the sight of a perfectly level gun held in the hand of a man who evidently knew how to use it. He darted back and John caught him again, this time with a well directed blow that felled him. A second later the thief was helpless, lying almost at the very edge of the roof. He was trapped and he knew it. There was but one thing to do, get rid of the evidence that he had been thieving. With a flirt of his elbow he managed to send the bundle of papers which had fallen out of his pocket over the coping and into the air. Then he choked up to Dorr.

"Are you mad?"

"Mad?" panted Dorr, letting his hold relax.

At this moment Ruth came out of her stupor and ran up to them, followed up by an old man, who had also come up the fire escape. Ruth cried out, "John!" then "Are you hurt, John?"

"Ruth!" he gasped. Then his eyes lit on the form behind her and he shouted, "Tom Kane!"

By this time the tumult had attracted attention in the hotel and a half dozen employees and the house detective emerged from the stairway to demand an explanation.

John started to explain, loosening his hold on the prostrate thief, when the latter, with a quick twist of his lithe body, freed himself and darted away. Dorr sped after him instantly.

The chase was a short one. John caught him near the edge of the roof, tackled him low and they crashed down together. The thief put up a furious fight, managing to get on his feet again in spite of his captor's efforts to hold him till help came. Seeing that he was about to escape him, John made one last desperate grapple, caught him fairly and threw him heavily, but not upon the roof.

Unwittingly they had got to the very edge of the roof in their fight and Pell was flung clean into the air to fall swiftly to the street below.

"My God!" cried the detective, running up and peering over. "You have killed him!"

It took some time to make matters clear; still longer for the detective to assure himself of the truth of John's statements.

Meanwhile, officers from the Central station had arrived, called by the policeman on the beat. To them, also, Dorr had to tell his story.

"Well, the fellow was a crook all right," conceded the sergeant, "for he had plenty of cocaine on him and a little jimmy."

"We'd better see what he got, if anything," said the detective sergeant.

"He may have taken other things," she faltered, "but all I saw was the papers."

"Well, we'll have a look-see for papers," responded the detective amiably.

When the officers had gone away Ruth turned and greeted the cook of the Master Key with unfeigned affection and delight.

Kane scratched his head and glanced hastily at John. Then he looked at Ruth, so fair in the moonlight, and said gently, "Why, Ruthie, I just thought I couldn't stay away from old San Francisco when I knew you was here. So I came right up."

"And the mine?"

"The mine? Why, ain't John told ye? The boys are already workin' on that new lead. Everything is fine! Ye don't suppose old Tom Kane would have left if everything hadn't been all right?"

"How did you get up here?" asked John curiously.

Kane laughed and looked at his rusty hands. "They told me Ruth was in her room and when I got there I found the door open and the window open and when I looked out I saw her climbing and heard her calling. So I just sauntered up myself."

"Well," said John, "as Ruth says, she has a thousand things to tell you and meanwhile we'd better be finding out just what that thief did get."

"The papers are truly gone," she said quietly.

"Well, they shan't do anybody else any good," John said comfortingly, "and now that we have the thief I expect we can dig out of him what he did with them. Don't worry!"

When her door was closed John said briefly, "Come into my room, Tom."

Once inside he turned on the old cook and asked briefly, "What brought you here, Tom? What's the matter at the mine?"

"All hell's the matter, John," he said bluntly. "If we don't work fast Wilkerson will have ruined our little girl in there. There won't be any Master Key any more!"

He choked back a sob. John Dorr stared at the window, at the lights of the city below him and shook his fist. "Wilkerson is somewhere down there doing his dirty work. I'll get him yet."

"Meanwhile, he's got the mine in his own men's hands," the cook went on. "He left Bill Tubbs in charge and Bill"—Kane choked over the words—"that drunken hound fired me. Fired me, Tom Kane!"

The old man's wrath, humiliation, chagrin and sorrow were not ridiculous in John's eyes.

"By heavens, we'll have the Master Key back again and it'll be Tom Kane in the cook shanty!" he said vigorously.

An hour later, with the details that Tom had given him arranged in his mind John threw himself into bed to toss the night through.

BADLY HURT BY PISTOL HE KEPT FOR BURGLARS

Herbert Parr, of 46 Brotherton street, was accidentally shot through the left leg by his wife in their bedroom last night about 8:30 o'clock. He was rushed to the Grady hospital, where the bullet was extracted.

"We were preparing to retire," said Mrs. Parr, "and Herbert asked me to move the pistol over to the bed by the window, as he intended to sleep there for the night.

"I took the pistol from its place underneath the pillow of our bed, and Herbert's leg accidentally bumped against it, when it went off.

Mr. Parr says that he always sleeps with a pistol underneath his pillow on account of the numerous burglaries, porch-climbers and other robberies that take place in Atlanta.

He told the hospital physicians that he had to overpower his wife and take the pistol from her after the shooting, saying that she wanted to shoot herself for injuring him.

STRANDED IN ATLANTA, JOCKEY ASKS FOR WORK

He says that he has ridden many famous mounts, among them being Dan Daubert, named after his recent manager; Sulky Bone and Raw Bone.

The tracks he has raced on are numerous. He has raced in all the southern cities where race tracks are found, including Jacksonville, Charleston, New Orleans and Lexington.

"I am looking for work," he said last night, "as I want to earn money enough to get back to my home, Washington, D. C."

FIGHT IS SERTAIN ON FINANCE SHEET

Kelley, McDonald, Maddox, Dunlap and Ragsdale and Councilman Inman.

They represent the members of the committee who fared most fortunately in the matter of getting money for new ward projects.

Council is said to be mustered for a fight on the sheet Monday. Councilman Claude L. Ashley, of the fourth ward, says that the people of his section of the city are tired of being promised relief in the way of extending the Butler street sewer, and the fact that the finance commitee failed to provide something like $23,000 for the work has caused an uprising among the members of the fourth ward delegation, and Councilman Farlinger has joined his colleagues.

Members of the finance committee worked faithfully in an effort to make up a satisfactory sheet, but at the very outset they realized that the committee was handicapped by the lack of funds, and a desperate effort was made to provide for operating expenses for all departments and still leave a surplus of money to carry out some of the new projects for which the people have been clamoring for months.

Sheet Is Overbalanced.

With a grand total of $4,795,727.32 in sight from all sources for expenditure for all purposes, the committee made up a tentative sheet on estimates based on the actual departmental expenditures of 1913, and after hearing from all departments and after providing for natural increases in the tentative budget, the committee found that it had spent or had overbalanced the sheet by $24,668.85, and, at that, the sheet did not contain one penny for new projects for street improvement or otherwise.

The committee then bent itself to the task of cutting down the overbalance, and when it failed it decided to dig into the unearned revenue of the city and add $175,000 to the income side of the sheet. But the committee failed to reckon with Mayor Woodward, and bright and early Saturday morning the mayor demanded that the committee strike at least $75,000 from the unearned money anticipated, and make the fund not greater than $100,000. Later, the mayor relented, and in his anxiety that the committee include the $75,000 appropriation for Lakewood park in the sheet, he agreed to let the committee anticipate $125,000. Still later, he agreed that the committee could have $135,000, but insisted on not more than that amount, and at that he gave no promise to let the sheet go through without a veto.

There were lulls during the session of the committee on Saturday, which demonstrated that the task of making up the sheet had become monotonous to some members. Alderman Armistead insisted on $50,000 for a West End school. Alderman Maddox insisted on $5,000 for sewer in the fifth ward, and they were willing that $200,000 be anticipated in order to get what they wanted. The other members of the committee had, up to that point, either received what they wanted, or were satisfied to let the sheet go through without a protest more for the sake of harmony than anv other reason.

Wants Police Abolished.

Various motions were offered to increase the income, but they were all voted down. At one stage of the discussion of the needs of the police department, Alderman Maddox moved that the police department be abolished, and he urged that a constable and deputy be appointed in each ward to preserve order and peace.

The motion was carried.

But the committee afterwards rescinded its action.

At another period, while the committee was discussing police equipment, Alderman Maddox suggested:

"Mr. Chairman, I move that $1,000 put in the sheet for pistols, billies and handcuffs of the police department, be stricken from the sheet, and that the committee purchase rocks to arm the police with."

Alderman Maddox was also author of a motion to sell the patrols, motorcycles and other equipment of the police department, and furnish each of the policemen with a wheelbarrow. Unless the general council assumes the task of making the sheet, the finance committee will be required to get additional time and begin the task all over, for it is conceded by Chairman Farlinger that the prospects are not bright for the sheet passing.

Important Items in Sheet.

Street ordinary fund, $70,000; asphalt repair fund, $26,000; wood block repairs, $2,000; Belgian block repairs, $2,500, and sidewalk repairs, $2,000.

New money apportioned to sewers is as follows: Sewer known as White Provision sewer in fifth ward, $2,200; trunk sewer on Stewart avenue to Fort McPherson, tenth ward, $3,000; Highland avenue sewer, known as Briarcliff sewer, $9,207.50.

The following was apportioned for streets:

West Peachtree regrading, $5,000; (to complete) South Pryor, $15,000; South Forsyth (includes Whitehall), $15,500; West Mitchell, $12,500; Griffin street regrading, $1,500; purchase triangle on Edgewood avenue and North Pryor, $25,000 (instead of $25,000); widen Peachtree "bottle neck," $7,595; Spring street, $2,200; Grant street, $2,000; Ponce de Leon paving, $3,000; Piedmont avenue paving from Fifteenth to city limits, $5,088.28.

Department Increases.

Most of the important departments which received increases are:

Police department, $8,109.94; fire department, $16,000 for equipment (fifth ward house); sanitary department, about $15,000 money increase, and new equipment and an increase in payrolls; Georgia Tech, $3,000; water department, $1,800 for a chemist, and about $10,000 for repairs; schools, $12,754 for salaries of teachers in Girls' high; increased a number of grammar school teachers from $40 to $60 a month, $5,-950; repairs, $2,500; desks, $1,000; equipment, $2,000, and Auditorium chairs, $2,900.

The maintenance appropriations for the year were included in the new sheet on the same basis of last year.

In addition the committee gave the park department substantial increases for improving parks, as follows: $6,-104.25 for Grant Park; $6,000 for Piedmont; $200 for Springvale; $1,300 for Maddox Park, $600 for Oakland City Park, and $1,500 for Ansley Park playground.

The city warden's appropriation of $22,790 for all purposes was left intact in the sheet. The money gives the warden an auto and an additional clerk, and an increase of $5,000 over last year's charity fund. The committee also allowed $1,200 to stand for the Atlanta Child Home; $1,600 to reimburse the anti-tuberculosis society for open air school, and $300 for Holmes Institute.

Cochran Asks More Money.

General Manager J. O. Cochran, of the park department, appealed to the committee to give his department more money to work with. He said that the payroll of the park department was heavy, and that unless the committee gave him money for material to keep the men at work the payroll would overbalance the other expenses of the department.

Following the appeal of Manager Cochran, Mayor Woodward commended the new general manager of parks.

"I am glad to know that there is one man connected with the city government who is broad enough to know that it is unbusinesslike to keep up a heavy payroll when the city has not got the money to buy the material for the men at work. If the committee will take up Manager Cochran's suggestion it will be going about this thing along the right lines."

As the result, Manager Cochran's budget for the year went above the amount the department anticipated from the finance committee, and will permit the carrying out of extensive improvements.

Mayor Woodward clearly indicated late Saturday that he was not pleased with the sheet, despite the fact that the committee appropriated $75,000 for Lakewood and at the same time kept the anticipated fund within $135,000.

It is said that if the sheet ever reaches Mayor Woodward it will be vetoed by him.

LITTLE GIRL DIES OF BURNS RECEIVED ON CHRISTMAS EVE

Annie Laurie Purcell, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Purcell, 66 Echo street, died at the Grady hospital last night as the result of burns received the morning of Christmas eve, while playing before the fireplace with her friends.

The little girl lingered twenty-two days, during which her face, body and arms were severely burned by the flames.

She was apparently on the road to recovery until a few days ago, when pneumonia set in, producing death.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Harry G. Poole.

DELOACH ADDRESSES GEORGIA BREEDERS

Makes Strong Plea for Improved Cotton and Grains.

Athens, Ga., January 16.—(Special)—The Georgia Breeders' association held its annual meeting here today. The address of the president, Dr. R. J. H. DeLoach, head of the state experiment station, at Griffin, tonight, was a strong plea for Georgia to improve her breeds of cotton, corn, small grains and legumes.

Prominent on the day's program were Dr. Lolue H. Smith, of the University of Illinois, who discussed broadly selection as a method of crop improvement; and Joe E. Wing, of Woodland farm, Mechanicsburg, Ohio, who told of the actual successes traceable to discriminating and scientific seed selection.

Winter legumes as the great need of the south was discussed by H. G. Lambert, of Dothan, Ala.; Dan R. Scott, of Arlington, Ga., spoke on his three years' experience in corn seed selection. R. L. Ballard, of Ashburn; W. J. Boyett and others were on the program.

Because the only barber in Dakota, Minn., is very fond of hunting, James Dalrymple had to travel more than 80 miles to Minneapolis to be shaved. For the last seven weeks the barber shop has been closed.

In 1855 it took 574 minutes of labor to care for and raise a bushel of corn. In the year 1894 the average time required had been brought down to about 4¼ minutes.

GROCERYMEN MAY MEET IN THIS CITY MAY 12-14

Southern Wholesale Association Asked to Hold Convention in Atlanta.

That the Southern Wholesale Grocers' association, with practically 500 delegates and visitors in attendance, may meet here in May is a strong probability.

The board of directors of the organization, of which E. L. Adams is a member, will decide upon a meeting place in a few weeks. Already President J. H. McLaurin, who lives in Jacksonville, has written to Mr. Adams and others, asking what Atlanta desires in the matter. Naturally he was told that this city would be glad to be placed on the eligible list of meeting cities.

The board will decide by mail, and the place selected will be known by February 1. Fred Houser, secretary of the convention bureau, together with some of the leading grocerymen and hotel men, are soliciting the meeting for Atlanta. These meetings are always well attended, and are scheduled for May 12, 13 and 14. It met last year at the Isle of Palms.

A. M. ROBINSON CO. PUT ON TWO NEW TRAVELERS

Beginning Monday morning two additional men will start out with their cases filled with Aragon shirts and other samples from the stock of the A. M. Robinson company.

One of them—W. A. Kay—is really coming back home. He was for a number of years with the Robinson company, but for the past four years has been traveling for Ferguson & McKinney, a St. Louis dry goods house. Mr. Kay says himself that it feels like he is back "in the house of his fathers," as it were. He is a man of genial personality and a hustler, and will cover the territory he has been covering around Birmingham, in which city he makes his home.

The other traveler to take up the Robinson line is Reuben N. Mobley, a young man of experience, however, as a salesman. He has been traveling out of Jacksonville for several years, but will cover the territory around Columbus, Ga., for the Robinson company.

MR. GROCER!

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the famous American pure food expert, recently said:

"There is more energy in a pound of bread than in a pound of meat. Hard workers need bread more than meat."

Of course, Dr. Wiley refers to bread that's scientifically made with the BEST grade of flour—bread like

FIRING LINE NOTES

The following out-of-town visitors were callers at the Lamar & Rankin Drug company the past week: Paul Selman, Douglasville; Dr. J. R. Wells, Stone Mountain; Dr. J. R. DeVore, Suwanee; Dr. T. R. Bonner, Lavonia; Dr. A. W. Hunt, Austell; Dr. Marsh, Clarkston; Mr. Darnell, Canton; J. H. Powell, Buford; Dr. T. P. Bullard, Palmetto; Dr. W. L. Orr, Riverdale.

The "ins" Saturday at Fain & Stamps for the semi-monthly sales conference were W. T. Bailey, S. E. Smith and Cliff Edwards, of the road force, and W. A. Quarles, R. H. Messer, W. S. Gaston and T. N. Clyatt, of the city force. It was the first conference of the new year, and the boys had many interesting things to report and discuss concerning the conditions as they had found them. It was the unanimous opinion that conditions were getting very much better.

W. H. Forshaw, the city salesman for the Globe Soap company, of Cincinnati, says there is no excuse for anyone going dirty these days. A campaign recently put on gives to the customer an extra cake of fine export soap when one is purchased, and in addition a coupon the equal of fifty wrappers is thrown in for good measure. "Bill's" hustling qualities have made him a good man for his job.

W. O. Stamps was out again last week on the former territory of J. C. Owens. He visited Pike, Meriwether, Upson and Spalding counties, and reports conditions as improving. He will be out again next week on the same territory.

"It's funny how skeptical some folks are," said G. B. McDowell, of the E. L. Adams company. "Here we are advertising genuine Maine-grown seed potatoes—mind you, the genuine article, stamped with the government stamp, showing where they were grown—and yet we get a number of letters and inquiries wanting to know really if they are Maine potatoes. Somebody, somewhere, at some time, must have stung a lot of the growers, but you can say for us that we always advertise just what we have—and these are the genuine article."

R. V. Haslett, of the Liquid Carbonic company, has just sold to Al Gann a complete bottling plant. Mr. Gann will open within the next month one of the most up-to-date soda water bottling plants in the south. It will be located on Marietta street, in this city.

C. W. McClure, of McClure company, expects to visit New York and other northern and eastern cities soon. Will leave Atlanta around the 20th.

E. P. Lewis, of McClure Ten-Cent company, has arranged with Edmondson-Christopher company, of LaGrange, Ga., for a 5 and 10-cent department. Messrs. Edmondson and Christopher are among the best merchants of Georgia. The opening is scheduled for January 25, with a three days' sale. The McClure company expects to make this department one of the best they have opened this year.

Mrs. N. B. Stevens, manager of McClure's millinery department, left for New York Saturday to buy spring millinery.

R. V. Haslett, of the Liquid Carbonic company, has just sold Jacobs' pharmacy a very handsome soda fountain for their main store. Mr. Haslett has also sold Thomas H. Pitts company a handsome Onyx fountain for their new store in the Fourth National bank building.

C. W. McClure, president of the McClure Ten-Cent company, spent Saturday at his Macon store.

E. P. Lewis, of McClure Ten-Cent company, spent Monday and Tuesday in Alabama, and reports cotton selling in some sections and business picking up. Mr. Lewis expects to spend Monday and Tuesday of next week in south Georgia in the interest of his firm.

A. L. Deibl, middle Georgia man for the M. C. Kiser company, was in Saturday for the week-end. He was still wearing the broad smile that won't rub off, and says that many of the merchants in his territory are now catching the same disease. Business is looking better, he says, and that is bringing the smile to many faces that have been somewhat drawn lately.

O. E. Kenimer blew in Saturday from a good week's work. He handles the Georgia road territory for the M. C. Kiser company, and says that conditions are getting better in his territory.

H. D. Carter, credit man for Dougherty-Little-Redwine company, is spending a few days out among the trade on a special trip which men in similar positions fully understand. Reports from him indicate that he is having a "real good" time, and that listens good to the house.

A. M. Wilkins, W. F. Seay and John O. Castleberry were among the Saturday arrivals at Dougherty-Little-Redwine company's. They all report good sales for the past week, and following his usual custom of entertaining some of his good friends, Johnny Castleberry will be found at the Rose Garden Sunday feasting his friends, Wilkins and Seay.

Charlie Walden, one of the Alabama men for J. K. Orr Shoe company, put over some fine business the past week. He led all the Red Seal men in sales, with A. H. Snelling and W. A. Hill close upon his heels.

Sam J. Cheek, north Georgia man, and J. P. Armstrong, Georgia road firing liner for the Williams-Ridley-Wyatt company, were in the house Saturday. Neither had any remarkable sales to report, but both had put over some fine business. "I sold eleven good customers the past week," said Cheek, "and I think that's going good for this time."

Russ Bates and G. S. Oakes were registered in at the J. K. Orr Shoe company Saturday.

Jesse Bates, who handles Red Seal shoes, and makes Macon his headquarters, has been quite sick for a few days, and had to forsake the road. He is evidently getting better, and is now able to "sit up and take orders," judging from the report received from him Saturday.

John F. Finger, who looks out for north Georgia for the Lamar & Rankin Drug company, is seriously considering the use of a flying machine. "The roads are getting so bad—and have been so bad—in my territory," he said, "that I have got to find some other way of perambulating. If you see anybody with a good second-hand machine, let me have their address. I want one that will sail through any kind of air—hot or cold."

L. J. Stallings, credit man for Lamar & Rankin Drug company, says that he is happy to state that both credits and sales are better and the outlook is much brighter. The merchants are doing conservative buying, he says, but many more orders are coming in, though some of them are small.

Lewis Parker, one of the house men for Dougherty-Little-Redwine company, made a business trip to Hamilton and Manchester the past week. He landed a nice opening order while on the trip.

Chris Sullivan, of the M. C. Kiser company, reports that his house has opened many new accounts the past few weeks, and that merchants, while not buying in large quantities, are sending in more frequent orders. "The more the merrier," was his comment.

E. G. Watson, who looks after the Birmingham district for the M. C. Kiser company, is sending in some splendid orders to the house these days.

C. D. Dickinson and Al N. Greene are resting up at home Sunday, after a good week's work disposing of hats, caps and umbrellas for Brown, Perryman & Greene.

J. A. Bates had the distinction of leading all the sales for Brown, Perryman & Greene the past week. Bates' territory is South Carolina. He landed one nice opening order, which helped to swell his sales, but the bulk of his work was among his regulars. He says business is on the mend in his stamping ground.

J. G. Addy, the old "war horse" for the M. C. Kiser company, is still keeping up his good sales record. "When you look over Addy's orders," said Chris Sullivan, "you would hardly believe there was any depression anywhere."

The "ins" Saturday at the A. M. Robinson company were Chris Irby and C. A. Smith.

J. O. Chambers, north Georgia traveler for Brown, Perryman & Greene, was in Sunday. He says that while conditions are showing some improvement, still if we could have some pretty weather for awhile, so that many farmers could haul their cotton to town, things would get much better. He reports a lot of cotton yet held by the farmers in his territory.

Walter C. Carter, bookkeeper for the Southern Coffee and Spice Mills, is making a trip through south Georgia, having in mind both business for his house and giving some attention to WAREHOUSE IN ATLANTA FOR GRAND LAKE CO.

Soliciting trade exclusively from jobbers, the Grand Lake company, paper manufacturers, of Woodland, Maine, have established in this city a large warehouse under the management of T. J. Monroe. The Grand Lake company is one of the largest manufacturers of paper bags and toilet paper in the country. It has a capacity of more than 7,000,000 bags and sacks per day. Mr. Monroe, the local manager, is a man of wide experience in the paper business, and was formerly president of the Consolidated Paper company. The company has warehouses in New York, Chicago, Minneapolis and Baltimore, and on account of the increased trade in the south, decided to establish a warehouse here.

Two salesmen, R. U. Ivey and J. C. Morrison, are already on the road for the Atlanta branch, which maintains its office and warehouse in the L. & N. freight building.

LIQUID MEN WILL WELCOME BOTTLERS

A Number of Liquid Carbonic Co. Salesmen Will Be Here the Coming Week.

The Liquid Carbonic company will have several of its salesmen in Atlanta this week to give the glad hand to the Coco-Cola bottlers, who will hold their annual convention at the Piedmont hotel Wednesday and Thursday of the coming week.

The salesmen representing the Liquid company, who will attend the convention, are A. E. McLean, manager, Atlanta branch; R. V. Haslett, special representative; W. A. Gossett, special representative; L. R. Grimes, south Alabama; W. F. Berman, north Alabama; R. D. Latta, North Carolina; F. S. Davis, South Carolina.

Messrs. Smith and Fleberry, from the home office, Chicago, will also be present to demonstrate the Monarch Ideal Pressure filler. One of these machines will be installed in the lobby of the Piedmont hotel, and will be operated during the Coco-Cola bottlers' convention.

private business in that section. He is an old Albany boy, and will spend a few days there shaking hands with old friends. Mr. Carter is the fortunate owner of some good south Georgia property, and is looking into a possible sale of some of his holdings while down there.

During the funeral of the late Samuel M. Inman, on Thursday, John Silvey & Co. was one of many firms who closed their doors for two hours and had the shades drawn.

Frank H. Corry, the hustling south Georgia man for John Silvey & Co., continues to fire into the house a nice number of orders.

John F. Davis, the dress goods man for John Silvey & Co., enjoyed on Saturday his last hunt of the season. With Julian Prade, representing the Peters Cartridge company in the south, spent the day at Stockbridge. If good luck followed him, some of the Silvey force will dine on a mighty delicious dish in the next twenty-four hours.

Luke Kohler, who recently went with the Atlanta Coffee Mills company, handling the restaurant and hotel trade of the city, is meeting with splendid success. He has convinced many of our home folks, he says, that they can get just as good goods here as anywhere else, and his trade on coffees and teas is growing very fast.

J. P. Skelly, the new representative of the American Cigar company, who recently came to Atlanta from Washington, is delighted with this city. He expects to make this his permanent home, and has been joined by Mrs. Skelly. In his work for the big cigar company he has made many friends in the short time he has been here, and is putting over some nice business.

R. M. Tallichet has been teaming the past week with T. B. Lewis, of the Capital City Tobacco company. When these two firing-liners stalk into a customer's store together, there's going to be something doing before they get out. Portinas have been the line pushed by Mr. Tallichet.

B. F. AVERY & SONS IN BUSINESS 90 YEARS

In a beautifully printed and attractive brochure, wishing "A Happy New Year to All," B. F. Avery & Sons have been sending to their friends and customers the past few days their greetings for 1915.

The little booklet is issued in commemoration of the company's ninetieth birthday—perhaps the oldest farm implement company in existence—and besides containing an interesting sketch of the founder and of the business since establishment, carries several pages of pictures and interesting sketches of "some Kentuckians, native or adopted," showing such characters as Daniel Boone, Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis and others.

The brochure also carries interesting views of scenes in Kentucky, a large picture of the big parent plant and a bird's-eye view of the Panama canal. On the front cover of the book is displayed in colors the American flag.

A full list of the branch houses of this big implement company is shown. A number of the booklets have been mailed out from the Atlanta branch, which is managed by Julius Feibelman.

An interesting page in the booklet is the reproduction of a circular sent out to the trade in 1854, in which mention is made of the "struggling industries of Louisville," and calling attention to the fact that the company at that time had over 2,000 plows on hand. As showing the tremendous growth it is stated that in 1915 often one day's production of the Avery plow factory reaches that amount.

B. F. Avery, the founder, first started the business in Clarksville, Va., in 1825, and afterward removed the factory to Louisville. During the Civil war the Avery plant was used as a military hospital by both armies.

J.K. Orr Shoe Co.,
Atlanta, Ga.

Gentlemen:-

When the Macon Chamber of Commerce invited me to speak at the Georgia Products Dinner, November, 1913, I brought a pair of Georgia-made Red Seal shoes that I might have a better home standing. I have worn them to and from, around and around, here and there and everywhere, except I can't wear them out. I have just bough a new pair, in order to give the first pair a well-earned furlough. Why don't you change the brand name, and call them "immortal Soles"?

Very truly,

C. J. Haden
President.

This is only one of the several hundred letters of enthusiastic endorsement which we have received from people all over the South.

It is the bonus of satisfaction and extra service that brings a steadily increasing business to the merchant who handles RED SEAL Shoes.

Dalton and Whitfield County Set Prosperity Pace; Food Crops, Money in Bank, Highway Completed

"HOOSIERLAND-TO-DIXIE" HIGHWAY LINK COMPLETE

Hard Times Are Not Felt by This Prosperous Food-Producing Community in North Georgia.

By Frank J. Reynolds

Dalton, Ga., January 16.—Whitfield county has set the pace in "Hoosierland-to-Dixie" highway development.

Her part of the great roadway that is to stretch from Illinois to Florida stands completed and ready.

It is a model of roadbuilding, and runs from the Catoosa to the Gordon county line, through a section which has no superior in the south for picturesque beauty and diversified fruitfulness.

In the Whitfield county of today, travelers from north, east and west will find themselves face to face with a material realization of the ideals toward which the whole new south is moving.

The eastern investor and the middle western farmer, each looking for new and profitable fields, will both find in Whitfield a section where the promises of prosperity are already being fulfilled, yet where there is still abundant opportunity.

Whitfield believes that during the next twelve months thousands of people will be traveling southward who never visited the south before. The European war, practically barring foreign travel, has been the greatest stimulus to the "See America First" movement since the advent of popular automobiling and good roads.

The "Hoosierland-to-Dixie" highway, threading the food-producing states of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida, will form a closer link of commerce and friendship between the north and south.

WHITFIELD FARMERS DIVERSIFY THEIR CROPS.

Whitfield has not only completed her share of the highway over which this travel is to come, she has also prepared to show the traveler something that will open his eyes in relation to diversified farming, stockraising, dairying and manufacturing in Georgia. Even the southerner from other sections will be astonished.

Whitfield farmers have money in the bank. They have long since gotten away from the one-crop idea. Unlike the farmers of many other southern counties, they have not materially suffered from that fetich. They have grown abundant food crops that are bringing ready money. Instead of borrowing, they have money to lend.

It will be interesting for those who live in a climate where winter and snow prevent more than six months' farm work to know that in Whitfield county profitable farm work can be prosecuted the year round; here live stock need be housed only about three months, with open grazing the other nine months. That Whitfield county offers opportunity for profitable farming the following statistics taken from the most recently issued government bulletins will show:

Less than 12½ per cent of the population are negroes. The remainder are of the purest Anglo-Saxon race, and native born, which explains why the death rate is not more than ten to the thousand.

About 50 per cent of the land is under cultivation; the other half is finished in virgin timber of almost infinite variety running largely into the hard woods.

The average value of the land per acre is $10.

There are 257,920 acres in the county.

The value of all farm property is $3,000,000.

Cattle (dairy cows), $135,000.

Horses, $175,000.

Mules, $350,000.

Hogs, $75,000.

Sheep, poultry and bees, $50,000.

Ten thousand gallons of syrup.

Sweet milk and cream, 1,300,000 gallons.

Forty-two thousand bushels of sweet and Irish potatoes.

Two hundred and ninety-two thousand dozens of eggs.

Four hundred thousand pounds of butter.

Ten thousand pounds of honey.

Twenty thousand tons of hay.

Twenty-five thousand quarts of strawberries.

Ten thousand pounds of grapes, five varieties.

Three hundred and forty thousand fruit trees.

WHITFIELD COUNTY FAIR A BIG ANNUAL EVENT.

The Whitfield County Farmers' Fair association holds an annual event of a week's duration in October, and is now in its fourteenth year of unprecedented prosperity. It is the oldest continuous county fair in the state of Georgia, and this year will buy more land and move into newer and larger buildings and broaden the sphere of its activity, adding a 4-furlong race track.

The premiums offered by this fair have developed and stimulated diversified agriculture and its allied interests until it has been pointed out as the one to set a pattern by for all other sections to follow.

Wallace Bare raised 425 bushels of the Stoner variety of wheat on 10 acres, and sold all he cared to at $1.50 per bushel for seeding purposes.

It has been demonstrated by years of experiments that the native grasses of the county make finer and more palatable hay than that bought in the west, and is eaten by stock more fully and with more strength-giving properties. The growers in the county have a demand for more than they can supply and cure at $20 per ton. Mr. Lewis Kieth raised 8½ bales of cotton and 200 bushels of corn on 9 acres.

TRUCK GROWING OFFERS SOME EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITIES.

Truck growing in Whitfield county offers exceptional opportunity and profit. The Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, Knoxville, Atlanta, New Orleans and Chattanooga markets are all within from one to twelve hours' express carriage from Dalton.

As an evidence that diversified farming pays, it may be cited that Whitfield county is out of debt and has $25,000 in the county treasury. The splendid county system of macadam roads runs from county line to county line in the four points of the compass. These roads were built and are kept up by county convicts. The road scenes presented in this article are on the Johnston-Sherman highway on either side of Dalton. This highway was established by the Johnston-Sherman Highway association in 1909, of which Colonel W. C. Martin, of Dalton, is president. This highway was mapped out and adopted by the boards of county commissioners of Catoosa, Whitfield, Gordon, Bartow, Cobb and Fulton counties, and begins at Fort Oglethorpe, near Chattanooga, on the Chickamauga battlefield, and runs to Fort McPherson, a nearby suburb of Atlanta, and it is over this route through Georgia that the "Hoosierland-to-Dixie" highway will go. The developing of the Johnston-Sherman highway was materially helped by the encouragement given in the editorial and news columns of The Atlanta Constitution a few years ago.

GEORGIA-GROWN APPLES ARE EQUAL TO ANY IN WORLD.

Among the fruits luxuriantly and abundantly grown are apples, pears, nectarines, plums, prunes, persimmons, cherries, quinces and figs.

There are seven rural mail routes which go out of Dalton daily except Sunday. Good lateral roads abound all over the county and are being improved yearly by the convicts. The county is exceptionally well watered from hundreds of springs, many of which are very large. Four of the latter are fountain heads of quite ambitious streams which water most liberally the entire county not already watered by two creeks and one river. In fact, there is not a square mile in the county which does not boast one or more never-failing springs.

The population of the county is 18,000. Two of the largest railways in the south traverse the entire county from north to south like the letter "X" and they have ten stations in the county at which passenger trains stop, and which are served by express and freight facilities. The twelve precincts of the county, outside of Dalton, have good long term schools and compare favorably with any in the state. These precincts also have regular church services and church organizations.

SHADE TREE PLANTING ON "HOOSIERLAND" HIGHWAY.

Already several prominent farmers who live along the "Hoosierland-to-Dixie" highway in this county have begun to plant quick growing shade trees of native kinds, which will, in a few short years, afford delightful shade to travelers in summer. Practically half of this highway is already bounded with big trees. Every foot of this roadway being thus treated is the result of the hard work and determination of President B. A. Tyler, of the Dalton Chamber of Commerce, who was formerly a native of the state of Illinois.

At its meeting last Wednesday the chamber unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the representative of Whitfield county and the senator of the 43d senatorial district be requested to present and urge for passage at the next meeting of the Georgia legislature an appropriate law creating a highway commission for the state of Georgia with suitable powers to best advance the building and maintenance of public highways."

MANY HISTORIC POINTS OF INTEREST IN WHITFIELD.

The "Hoosierland-to-Dixie" highway in Whitfield county passes some blood bought and historic points. The first notable one is that of Rocky Face, four miles north of Dalton, where a memorable fight took place in the war between the states.

At Dalton, which is the county seat, the campaign of the winter and spring of 1864 took place. Gen. Joseph E. Johnston took command of the confederate forces of 45,000 men January 1. Gen. W. T. Sherman, with an army of 110,000 men, lay between Ringgold and Chattanooga. Hostilities were held in abeyance until the spring and it may be said, and is undoubtedly true, that the beginning of the end of the civil war took place at Dalton, and the last personal interview between Jefferson Davis and Johnston took place in Dalton at a home which now stands and is pointed out to any who care to ask. Johnston disagreed with Davis as to methods of the campaign and therefore, when the confederate army reached Atlanta, Johnston was relieved of his command and Gen. J. B. Hood substituted.

One famous "Battle of Dalton" was participated in by 45,000 men without cessation for twelve hours, but at the end not a man was killed or even hurt. It was a bloodless one and took place with snowballs. It started as all snow battles start. A few indulged the pleasure until commanders of brigades, colonels of regiments, majors of battalions and captains of companies ordered their men out in battle array. Phalanx by phalanx, battalion by battalion and company by company they got into the fight(?) until they were about evenly divided and the contest was fast and furious. They fought from Dug Gap, up Hungry Valley to Rocky Face northward, and from Dug Gap to way to the east of Dalton, until darkness overtook them and they ceased firing(?). The only casualties reported were a few blackened eyes. The hospital and ambulance corps, including the sutlers, were detailed to make and supply the contending forces with the snowballs.

CIVIL WAR ENGINEERS CHOSE THIS ROAD SOUTH.

It has been said of General Johnston that he had a most intuitive knowledge of topography and while he surrounded himself with the best corps of engineers in the confederate service he could detect the slightest inaccuracy in the drawing of a road map and it was to his skill in this art that the line of march to Atlanta was so splendidly selected and it is over this route that the "Hoosierland-to-Dixie" highway goes. These are just a few of the historic things which may be seen in and around Dalton and in the county.

There are fourteen small undeveloped water powers from which would afford admirable power for farm purposes. Five large grist mills are operated in the county with water-driven motors.

The value of the crops consumed and sold by the county in the year 1914 exceeds two million dollars, but this amount does not include the value of the eight thousand bales of cotton which, at the ruling price, will bring $320,000.

The powerful cable lines on big steel towers of the Eastern Tennessee Power company runs the length of Whitfield county from north to south, touching the eastern city limits of Dalton. This company generates near one hundred thousand hydro-electric horse power and furnishes much of the power used in Dalton by the varied manufacturing interests, which are told of in another column on this page.

DALTONIANS TO ATTEND MEETING OF GOVERNORS.

It was resolved by the members of the Dalton Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last week to arrange for a large crowd of citizens to attend the meeting of the governors of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida, which takes place in Chattanooga, Tenn., April 2.

Twenty owners of automobiles at the meeting the other day agreed to use their cars and to take as many guests as they could accommodate. It is now thought that there will be fully one hundred and fifty attending from Dalton and Whitfield county.

FARMER SMITH'S HOG WEIGHED 1,072 POUNDS.

The hog shown in the illustration was raised by Sam Smith, living a few miles from Dalton. It weighed 1,072 pounds when dressed. He rendered 321 pounds of lard from the carcass and ground two hundred pounds of its meat into sausage.

7TH MANUFACTURING CITY IN THE STATE

Markets Her Goods All Over the Country—Fine Example for All—Spirit of Optimism Prevails.

By Frank J. Reynolds

Dalton, Ga., January 16.—Dalton is the home of 8,000 homogenous, contented and prosperous people, and is the seventh city in Georgia in point of manufacturing.

Among the articles made in Dalton and sold all over the country are stoves, tents, awnings, overalls, chairs and excelsior. A large cotton mill (Crown mills, Nos. 1 and 2), a spinning mill, jail works, flour mills, the largest and oldest in north Georgia; foundry and machine shops, livery stables, automobile garages, auto supply house, publishing and printing house, the second largest marble cutting saw in the south, weekly newspaper, The North Georgia Citizen, 64 years old; ice factory, bottling plants for soft drinks, three small hotels, public schools for 1,400 children, white and colored; a live, active chamber of commerce; paid fire department, 12 lodges of secret orders, 11 churches, three splendid banks, city delivery of mail and express, several parks, beautifully paved sidewalks and shaded asphalt streets, municipally owned electric lighting, gas and waterworks systems. The city proper pays nothing for water, gas and electric lighting.

Dalton furnishes its citizens with lights, water and gas at the lowest rate of any municipality in the world, and then lays aside about $7,500 annually from profits. It never intends making money from its municipal utility plants, only deriving enough revenue to maintain the plants and to keep them up to the standard of the highest efficiency and using the most approved modern appliances.

MONTHLY PAYROLL DALTON IS $40,000.

The monthly payroll of Dalton is $40,000. The lumber concerns of Dalton handle and work into shape 20,000,000 feet of lumber annually. The Whitfield county courthouse, a model of its kind, is located in Dalton. Chattanooga is 40 miles by pike, and by the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and Southern railways. Atlanta is 100 miles by the same routes. There are many interesting side trips to be made by auto roads from Dalton.

The spot on which John Howard Paine wrote, "Home, Sweet, Sweet Home," is 12 miles above Dalton in the county, and the cottage in which General Winfield Scott made the treaty with the Cherokee Indians, in 1836, for their removal to the reservations made for them in the west, is yet standing. Trade comes to Dalton by rail and wagon from the counties of Catoosa, Walker, Gordon and Murray, which completely surround Whitfield.

Dalton has a large wholesale grocery house whose business covers a wide territory in Georgia and portions of Tennessee and Alabama. A large wholesale hardware house does the same thing.

Dalton enjoys the same freight rates on raw materials and manufactured products as Chattanooga and Atlanta, and therefore is an ideal place for doing business and particularly manufacturing.

One of the most attractive things about Dalton, and one that receives many favorable comments by visitors, is the superb system of street lighting. Her White Way is the largest and covers the greatest area of any place its size in the south.

Fourteen years ago when Dalton and Whitfield county decided to diversify crops and break away from the one-crop idea—which is the worst kind of slavery—there were but two banks in Dalton having a combined capital of less than $200,000, there being one small bank with $25,000 capital in a county below. Dalton did practically all the banking for Walker, Catoosa, Gordon and Murray counties, her boundary neighbors. Today there are four banks in Dalton and Whitfield county and ten all told in the other four counties, having combined surplus and deposits of over $4,500,000, and they amply, liberally and safely take care of customers to the entire satisfaction of every responsible man in the five counties. If the above is not a concrete and splendid example of what diversification of crops is worth and a severe blow to the one-crop fetich and industrial slavery, I am no judge of the matter.

DALTON BUSINESS MEN ARE FILLED WITH OPTIMISM.

It would do a pessimist good to go to Dalton and talk with her business men, manufacturers and merchants and learn and see how splendid is the condition of every business enterprise. They have seen the value of diversity of crops and have for years been demonstrating the value of that which the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce is now trying with all its might, to instill into the minds of the people in general throughout the great state of Georgia and which is a most laudable enterprise.

The merchants, dealers and manufacturers of Dalton have all agreed with the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce to give preference in buying, consuming and handling Georgia-raised products, and at prices ruling for foreign and out-of-the-state products of the same kind and quality. The Dalton Chamber of Commerce has taken a firm stand in this direction.

DALTON LITERARY CLUB OLDEST IN THE COUNTRY.

Dalton boasts, and with much pride, the oldest regularly organized women's literary club in the county, known to thousands as "The Leache club," now in its fortieth year. This club has met regularly and from time to time has studied and discussed subjects that add much to the splendid status of southern womanhood without robbing her of anything that should belong to her, but on the contrary makes her members sought after by the nobility of appreciative manhood.

The members of the chamber of commerce are taking quite a bit of interest in a proposed new large hotel for Dalton—one to be made a home for not only the big line of commercial travelers who regularly visit Dalton, but as a winter home for tourists and resort for those who spend the summer up in the mountains. Dalton is situated in a beautiful valley and is picturesque in all its surroundings.

FEBRUARY 1—Charming apartment, 79 East Baker street; two bedrooms, dining room, pantry, kitchen, tiled bath, open fires,

On The Constitution Firing Line With the Commercial Travelers

Will Be Held in Auditorium Some Time Early in February—Committees Are at Work.

The United Commercial Travelers of Atlanta have launched a movement to give in this city, at an early date, one of the largest and most unique balls ever put over here—not even barring the big hog and hominy affair of a few weeks ago. The proceeds will be for charity.

Much of the details looking to the event was discussed Saturday afternoon at the office of E. M. Lunceford, in the Healy building, secretary of U. C. T. council, No. 18. This organization is the originator of the movement, but every member of both U. C. T. councils in the city is expected to take an enthusiastic hand in making the event a big success.

At the meeting Saturday the following general committee was selected to take up the work of handling the ball: H. D. Shackelford, chairman; W. D. Hart, H. M. Ashe, D. L. Cox, A. O. Patterson, E. M. Lunceford, C. K. Ayer, St. Elmo Massengale, Fred Houser, Julius Boehme, W. G. Moore, J. H. Gray and W. H. Moore.

All the proceeds will be used to further the relief work among widows and orphans, the class which has in the past so generously been helped by the travelers. Not only do the relatives of deserving and needy members of the travelers receive aid, but quite frequently the organization goes direct into its relief fund to help other deserving persons. This fund has grown rather depleted because of the idleness just now of quite a few of its members, and the organization has adopted the big ball plan as a way to retrench.

No definite date has as yet been set, but that it will be held at the Auditorium some time between the 1st and 10th of February seems certain.

Since Chairman Shackelford has been at work on the plan, it has met with the hearty indorsement of the Ad Men's club, the Hotel Men's association and other similar organizations, and, in fact, these organizations are represented on the committees having the matter in charge.

A number of subcommittees have been appointed, the chairman of each being a member of the U. C. T.

"We expect to make it one of the largest attended and most successful balls ever given in the city," said Mr. Shackelford. "We have the promise of the help of many live organization, and expect to get the aid of many more. In addition to the regular dances at the ball we are going to introduce some novel features which will prove highly interesting. We expect to give in full costume of the time of the several public old-fashioned Virginia reel. We will have three teams of professional dancers now at the hotels here to give fancy dances. We are going to have a band of the best musicians obtainable.

"We are also going to invite the fishers of U. C. T. councils from North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Tennessee and Alabama to attend this big ball, and know that many of them will come."

The subcommittees are as follows, with still other names to be added:

Auditorium—W. D. Hart, H. P. Huddleston, D. L. Cox, R. H. Rowe, C. K. Ayer, A. O. Patterson, Jesse Armstrong and Fred Houser.

Auditorium—H. M. Ashe, G. K. Ayer, D. Knight.

Tickets—D. L. Cox, E. M. Lunceford, H. M. Ashe.

Music—H. M. Ashe, A. O. Patterson, E. M. Lunceford, J. H. Gray.

Program—E. M. Lunceford, J. H. Gray, W. D. Hart, L. P. Armstrong.

Invitation—C. K. Ayer, H. D. Shackelford, J. H. Gray, A. O. Patterson, E. M. Lunceford, W. D. Hart.

The reception committee will consist of the general committee and all the other subcommittees.

A FEW HOT SHOTS

R. C. Jones, the Florida traveler, and George S. Smith, traveling South Carolina for John Silvey & Co., are sending in some good business to the house these days.

"Our collections seem to be getting better," said Mr. Malone, of the Capital City Tobacco company. "Of course, they are not as good yet as we would like, but they are better—and that helps. Besides, business is showing splendid improvement."

George C. Sweeney, north Georgia traveler for B. F. Avery & Sons, spent the week-end with his family in the city after a successful week on the road.

W. T. Stapler, the dean of the traveling force of B. F. Avery & Sons, will spend Sunday at Columbia, S. C. In his reports to the house he says that he finds conditions showing a steady improvement.

After a successful week of order taking, F. F. Faust, south Georgia man for B. F. Avery & Sons, is Sundaying at Savannah.

L. L. Jackson, who has been covering central Georgia territory for B. F. Avery & Sons, has been called over to Memphis territory for a while, that territory showing a very promising outlook just now for good business.

O. M. Heuring, who has succeeded his father, Chas. H. Heuring, as traveler for B. F. Avery & Sons, is basking Sunday in the sunshine of Florida, and enjoying himself amidst the orange and grapefruit groves of Fort Myers. Young Heuring has already established an enviable reputation as a salesman, but if he can keep up his father's reputation as a fisherman he will have to "go some."

Max Samuels, of the Hirschberg company, was in for the week-end. He will start Monday on his territory Monday.

W. W. Benson ("Uncle Walt"), who travels the W. & A., and the Southern to Birmingham for the M. C. Kiser company, retired Saturday for a day in the city, after a good road trip.

Fred Thomas, secretary of the Atlanta company of Rice & Hutchins, has been making a tour of many of the southern cities looking into business conditions. He has visited parts of Alabama, Georgia and Florida. He reports that in the larger cities he finds conditions improving, and a fair promise of spring business. The farmers are not quite so active, but even at that he says he finds the merchants generally quite optimistic.

E. L. Adams, of E. L. Adams company, spent Tuesday in Pickens county. He reports much rain in that section, and the roads in bad condition.

A. J. Garner, an old knight of the grip, has taken the road for Rice & Hutchins. His territory will be north Alabama and the Birmingham district. He intends being his home. He has many friends and customers in that section, and Rice & Hutchins' shoes may be expected to be given a good boost there.

E. R. Partridge, resident manager of Hamilton Carhartt, overall manufacturer, made a trip to Dallas, Texas, last week. Upon his return he went immediately to Rock Hill, S. C., the home of the big cotton mill of his company. He will be back early next week.

Miss Foster, representing the Celana Tea and Temple Garden Coffee company, of New York, has been in the city the past two weeks demonstrating her teas and coffees. She has been quite successful in landing many orders for these goods, which are handled by the H. L. Singer company.

J. C. Porter, who recently went with the H. L. Singer company, and is traveling north Georgia for the Seaboard railroad territory, is having splendid success with sales. Mr. Porter is an old cigar salesman, and many of his former customers in the grocery line are glad to welcome him with his line of Singer goods.

H. Y. McCord is spending two weeks with the Homosassa Fishing club.

Harry McCord, who recently went to Anniston, Ala., where he will in the future be manager for the McCord-Stevens art company, has landed right on the job, and from house reports, is giving a good account of himself.

A Few Words From The City Salesmen

A well-attended meeting of the City Salesmen's association Saturday demonstrated the fact that there is life in the organization still.

President Holt's administration is nearing its close, and we are anxious for the closing days of his administration to be the best. We are working for new members, and are anxious to have the name of every qualified salesman in Atlanta on our roll. And along this line, there will be held a meeting next Thursday evening, January 21, at 8 o'clock in the banquet hall of the Chamber of Commerce, that will benefit every salesman to attend. It will be a joint meeting of the Retail Grocers' association and there will be short talks by several members of each organization, and also from some of the jobbers and produce dealers of the city.

The members of the City Salesmen's association felt very keenly the loss of Atlanta's first citizen, Mr. S. M. Inman, and a motion was made that a committee express to the family the sympathy of this body in their hour of sorrow. Atlanta has lost a noble son and all her children mourn.

We are anxious to see the finance committee find the $75,000 called for the city's part to promote the South-eastern fair at Lakewood. This movement will benefit every business interest in Atlanta, and it ought to go through.

WARMAN TO ENTERTAIN ONE HUNDRED FRIENDS

Popular City Man for Ragan-Malone Co. Will Give Annual Dinner Thursday.

One hundred retail merchants, friends and customers of J. L. Warman will gather on next Thursday evening, January 21, at the Piedmont hotel, to enjoy the annual banquet tendered them by this popular city salesman for the Ragan-Malone company.

For ten years Mr. Warman has been the hustling city man for this big dry goods house. The banquet on Thursday night will be the seventh annual affair given to the retailers and buyers in Atlanta and suburbs, and not a man who has been honored with an invitation from Mr. Warman will fail to be present, for these dinners have always proven to be most happy and enjoyable occasions to those who have been attending.

The dinner will begin at 7 o'clock promptly. From 6:30 to 7 o'clock a general reception will be held in the main parlor on the first floor.

The host, as toastmaster, has the happy faculty of introducing his guests for the after-dinner talks in a manner most unique and catchy, and the short addresses to be made will prove delightfully interesting. Mr. Warman usually has some startling little stunt to pull on his guests, and while he has given no intimation of what they may expect this year, they can rest satisfied that they will be highly entertained.

Good music will enliven the occasion.

J. K. ORR WILL ATTEND EXPORT CONFERENCE

J. K. Orr head of the big shoe house bearing his name, will leave Sunday for St. Louis, where he goes to attend a national conference of prominent bankers and manufacturers to discuss export conditions, particularly as it applies to South American trade.

Mr. Orr will stop for a day or so at Nashville looking after some business.

Fulton U. C. T. Note.
By W. G. Moore.

Past Grand Councilor T. B. Lewis, sales manager of the Capital City Tobacco company, has had excellent business for the past week. The writer saw him in Rome Wednesday, and "T. B." was in the very best of spirits. Association with him is nothing less than an inspiration.

Councilor J. L. Moore had many important business engagements for the past week.

W. H. Almond thinks that if his sales continue to increase, his employer, the F. W. King company, will necessarily increase the capacity of their factory.

Councilor M. F. Hall states that the flour business has been good, but getting better.

E. W. E. Bunshue's business for last year was more than he anticipated, but it was greater than the previous year. He expects to break all records in 1915.

DIXIE PAPER CO. STARTS UP BUSINESS

One of the newest houses to open up in the paper trade in this city is the Dixie Paper company, with offices in the Louisville and Nashville freight terminals. The company has applied for a charter, and J. C. Mason is president, with J. L. Atkinson, treasurer. The company starts out under most favorable auspices, and already claims a large number of progressive merchants as its customers.

The sales force consists of the following: J. B. Smith, C. C. McCall, F. H. Glasgow and J. L. Atkinson. All of these gentlemen are experienced paper men, having heretofore been connected with the Monroe Paper company.

POST C, AT COLUMBUS, ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Columbus, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—At the first meeting held at the annual meeting of Post C., T. P. A., held here on the evening of January 9, the election of officers took place. A large attendance took part in the meeting, and the election resulted as follows: J. M. Giddens, president; J. R. Duncan, first vice president; W. H. Schnell, second vice president; Max Banner, secretary and treasurer; Sidney G. Simons, chairman press committee; Gerson, E. Phillips, Dan Joseph, J. K. Sams.

PURE CANE SYRUP DIXIE'S NEW PRODUCT

The Dixie Pickle and Preserving company, ever on the alert for popular edibles, is just now putting on the market a most delicious brand of pure cane syrup, which is bottled in the Dixie plant, and bears the "Dixie" brand. It is pronounced by those who have tried it as being a most delightful table syrup, bearing every evidence of being just what it is advertised to be by the W. J. Dabney Implement Company as secretary. That was last summer. Some of the best fruits of this determined man have been showing themselves in the business of the company since he joined it. Aggressive, hustling, experienced in his line, he has brought added prestige to the company.

For many years Mr. Cochran was a traveler for large vehicle houses. He is two years less than 50, but he tired of the road, and after a short time resting as mayor of his native city, he drifted back into the harness into which he fit so well. He has charge of the vehicle business of the Dabney Company.

Mr. Cochran is a man of genial personality, and has made many friends both in the business and social life of Atlanta since coming here.

J. L. Williams, of Rice & Hutchins, is doing about as well with his line of shoes this year as at any previous time at this season. He reports a number of nice sales, and declares that conditions are becoming much improved.

CAMP RE-ELECTED HEAD OF RETAIL GROCERS

At the regular meeting of the Retail Butchers' and Grocers' association, held at the Chamber of Commerce building last Tuesday night, the following officers were elected:

President—O. T. Camp.
First Vice President—J. G. Rainey.
Second Vice President—R. H. Comer.
Third Vice President—T. I. McAndrew.
Secretary-Treasurer—J. P. Eve.

Much interest is being shown by the members of the association just now. At this meeting the big rally mentioned in another column was planned. O. T. Camp, who was re-elected president, was selected over his protest, but he has made such an admirable officer that the membership was loath to give him up. The association is going out for a number of new members the coming year, and has set 400 as its total mark.

In order to stimulate interest among the members F. E. Kamper offered a prize of $5 for the member bringing in the greatest number of new members during the next sixty days, and President Camp quickly augmented it with another five-spot.

UNCLE SAM BREAD FEATURES QUALITY

"The Schlesinger-Meyer Baking company has always prided itself on the excellent quality of Uncle Sam bread, and on the fact that they use the best and most nutritive flour," said an official of the company Saturday.

The nourishing properties of Uncle Sam bread is one of the features of which this baking company has frequently mentioned in its advertising.

Good bread, like Uncle Sam bread, is evidently indorsed very heartily by Dr. Wiley, the pure food expert, who is reported, in a recent news dispatch, as saying: "There is more energy in a pound of bread than in a pound of meat. Hard-workers need bread more than meat."

The Schlesinger-Meyer Baking company report continued big business for Uncle Sam bread. This bread is sold by retail grocers in Atlanta and other cities of Georgia and nearby states.

DR. TAYLOR'S LECTURE WAS WELL ATTENDED

Dr. W. E. Taylor, the soil expert for the John Deere Plow company, who was the guest of the Atlanta Ad Men's club on last Thursday, and who delivered an interesting lecture before that body, left the city Friday. He delivered a lecture Saturday at Canton, to which place he was accompanied by W. H. Stentz, manager of the local company, and J. L. Biddy, north Georgia salesman for the plow company.

Dr. Taylor's lecture was well attended here, and much interest was attracted to the meeting. Before he began building up the soil and on modern farm methods. He dwelt with interest on diversified farming and advised more stock raising.

ATLANTA BAKING CO. KEEPING VERY BUSY

There seems to be no let up in the demand for "Milk-Maid" bread, and the force at the Atlanta Baking company are kept on the jump these days to fill the orders coming their way.

"The recent campaign was put on," said an official of the company, "in which we gave away a handy little article for bread labels, seems to have started all Atlanta eating 'Milk-Maid' bread, and they cannot get out of the habit."

BUTCHERS AND GROCERS TO HOLD GRAND RALLY

Meet With City Salesmen, Retailers and Wholesalers Thursday Evening.

The Retail Grocers' and Butchers' association, of this city, has planned a big rally and "get together" evening for next Thursday night, at which the members expect to meet a half hundred or more of the retailers, wholesalers and city salesmen of Atlanta.

For some time, through the instigation of the association, a committee, composed of J. R. Morris, chairman, T. I. McAndrew and W. F. Wesley, of the association, and Bert Simmons, James Massey and Claude Register, of the City Salesmen, has been working out the details of the big rally.

It will be held at 8 o'clock on the evening of January 21 in the banquet room of the Chamber of Commerce building. The object of the meeting is to bring about closer harmony and co-operation and create a better feeling of fellowship between the grocers and butchers, the city salesmen and the retailers and wholesalers. The butchers and grocers are making many plans for the improvement and enlargement of their association during the coming year, and it is thought that this grand rally would be a good start toward that end.

The following program of speakers has been arranged:

Bert Simmons, toastmaster.

Speakers from the Retail Grocers' association:

F. E. Kamper, "Efficiency."
O. T. Camp, "Affiliation."
J. A. Rappel, "Co-operation."

Speakers from Wholesale Grocers:
W. O. Stamps, "Credit."
H. L. Hopkins, "Co-operation."

Speakers from Wholesale Commission Men:
T. L. Kimball, "Co-operation."
John McCullough, "Any Old Thing."

Speakers from Retail Grocers' non-members:
R. A. Broyles, "Get Out of the Rut."

Speakers from City Salesmen:
James Massey, "Base Solo."
Claude Harrison, "Experiences of a City Salesman."

VELVET RIBBONS ARE NOW IN DEMAND

There is an increasing distribution of velvet ribbons, says The New York Journal of Commerce. Manufacturers of dresses say that velvet ribbons are to be used largely this coming season for dress trimming and sashes.

The demand for other uses that has sprung up on the side, such as for millinery and vellings, is fully maintained and ribbon houses report that it is general. The sizes wanted are 1½s, 5s and 3s are most wanted. For millinery the demand is for satin with some 15s are most in demand.

Outside of velvets the ribbon market is only fairly active. Trade is looking for a change in the millinery modes, which is the news and very narrow widths, but it is not definitely evident yet.

Price reductions have been made in parts of the market since the first of the year, and some of the large houses competing for the retail trade having cut the price of their 6-cent satin numbers. While changes of this kind can be easily made on goods of such a price, the feeling in the market at large among houses selling the jobbing trade, and at close prices, is that lower prices will not increase the amount of business done, the demand at present not being there.

Twenty Years of Steady Growth in Business Has Made The W. J. Dabney Implement Company Leader in Its Line

How the Company Has Grown From a Small Beginning to Its Important Place in Atlanta's Commercial Life.

By PRESS HUDDLESTON.

After rounding out a full twenty years of service to the public, the W. J. Dabney Implement Company, of this city, finds itself today enjoying its full meed of prestige and prosperity among the farm implement jobbers of the south.

Building patiently, but steadily, through all these years, this prestige and this prosperity has come to it by reason of the splendid service it has rendered its customers and by its unalterable policy of giving to every man a fair, square deal.

Another reason, and an important one, for the growth of its business lies in the fact that it forms jobbing connections with the various factories based on branch house contracts. Therefore, it is in position to offer to dealers attractive agencies, competing in prices and terms with the factories doing business in the south through the various branch houses.

Officers of the Company.

For nearly ten years, now, the company has been doing an ever-increasing business at its present location, 96-98-100 South Forsyth street, having moved there from less commodious quarters in another section of the city.

At the head of the company, as its principal owner, president and general manager, stands W. J. Dabney, who has known no other line of work since a young man entering the implement and hardware business at Winder, Ga.

The other officers and co-workers in the company are J. M. Cochran, secretary; A. W. Guthrie, treasurer, and J. M. Boykin, a director, and manager of the automobile department soon to be installed.

Other prominent citizens who are interested as officers, but who are not active workers in the company, are Hon. George M. Napier, well-known lawyer and now solicitor general of the Stone Mountain circuit, vice president, and N. H. Maddox, one of the county's leading farmers and dairymen, a director.

History of the Company.

The W. J. Dabney Implement Company really found its beginning in Winder, Ga., in the fall of 1895. Starting in a small way and known as Dabney Brothers, the concern did a thriving and growing business, serving a number of counties adjacent to that little city. It was changed soon after to the Dabney Hardware Company, and a more complete line of farm implements was added to its stock. In fact, it soon became apparent, with the more advanced methods of farming, that improved farm implements were going to grow more and more in demand, and for this reason this progressive firm of young fellows took advantage of the opportunity to make agency connections with many of the leading manufacturers of modern farm implements.

W. J. DABNEY,
President and General Manager.

Comes to Atlanta.

Seeking a wider field, and believing Atlanta offered the best advantages, a branch house was opened in this city after five years of successful business in the home city. W. J. Dabney, now the head of the company, was put in charge of this branch. The company decided to devote its capital and efforts in the Atlanta house to agricultural implements, vehicles and farm machinery.

For a few years their location was at 268-270 Marietta street. But with the growth of business, Mr. Dabney soon realized that larger and more centrally located quarters were necessary. South Forsyth street, at that time, had shown no particularly noticeable development, but the manager of the then Dabney Implement Company could foresee in that location an ideal home at no distant day. Just how well his judgment has been verified is amply borne out in the many big enterprises now surrounding the Dabney Company, just a few doors south of Mitchell street.

The company occupies most commodious quarters, with a frontage of 65 feet, 90 feet deep, and 3 stories in height. In addition, two large warehouses in the rear are used as shipping and stock rooms, and for the proper display of vehicles and the varied line of farm implements handled. In all, the company occupies about 32,000 square feet of floor space.

Incorporated Five Years Ago.

In September, 1909, the company was incorporated as the W. J. Dabney Implement Company. In the past five years the business of the company has shown wonderful growth. As a striking evidence of the prosperity which it has enjoyed, it may only be mentioned that besides paying to its stockholders 80 per cent in dividends during this short term of years, it has doubled its capital stock by its earnings.

While its principal operations have been in Georgia, still the company has had, and is still maintaining, a fine volume of sales through North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Florida. Its growth in sales volume through its 200 agencies, established over these various states, have increased during the past five years to more than 100 per cent.

That the company has been most fortunate in its connections with the leading manufacturers of the country is due to the far-seeing judgment of its officers and to their determination to make only such connections as would insure the most modern, labor-saving tools and machinery. These lines are selected from various manufacturers who are specialists in their respective lines. Following this policy, the Dabney Company is assured of getting the best that thought, brains and capital can command, as naturally a manufacturer specializing on a particular line enables the company to select the most modern and improved implements, suitable to southern soils and meeting southern requirements. It does not depend upon the output of any one factory making large lines, many of which, perhaps, are not suitable to southern requirements.

Vulcan Plows a Specialty.

The company is the only exclusive jobber of implements in the state. Its largest line being the Vulcan plow, the sales on which have increased more than 1,000 per cent in the past seven years.

The company carries in stock and is prepared to furnish supplies and repairs, and makes it a point to see that every customer is made to get the full benefit of every piece of machinery or every implement purchased from it. Its retail department is a distributor in all lines, and its repair department has proven, and is proving, a great convenience to its thousands of customers in supplying parts, etc.

Last July J. M. Cochran, for five years a stockholder in the company, removed from Barnesville and entered into active work for the company as its secretary.

One of the latest acquisitions to the company is J. M. Boykin, who will have charge of the automobile department soon to be added.

One of the principal travelers for the company is J. T. Hamilton. For eight years Mr. Hamilton has been making new friends and customers for the Dabney Company, and his sales record for it has proven his worth as a clean-cut, energetic salesman.

J. J. Robertson, who has been with the company for five years, is the efficient manager of the machinery department, and also has under his supervision the service department, unexcelled by any branch house in the south.

The harness department—and all harness handled by the Dabney Company is of its own manufacture, and is a superior line of custom-made harness—is in charge of G. W. Clarke, a most finished and efficient artist in his line.

W. J. DABNEY
President and General Manager

W. J. Dabney was born in Atlanta in 1871—just forty-three years ago. He has been quite awhile in a successful, growing business here, and the Dabney Implement company has become such a well-known commercial institution that just naturally some people link that prestige with the long-ago, and then double or treble the age of the man "behind the gun."

But W. J. Dabney is a young man. He was schooled in the public institute at Conyers, where he spent his younger days. Later he spent his college days at Dahlonega. After leaving college he went to Winder, where he and his brothers engaged in the line of business he has since followed.

He has been a success—and the success that has come to the implement company bearing his name is due to his business acumen, liberal policies and a determination to give to every man a square deal.

Decatur has claimed him as a citizen for many years. He has found time from his business to devote much thought and work for the upbuilding. He has aided and planned in much good work for DeKalb county. Almost over his protest he was only recently named for the third term as the head of that live organization—the Decatur Board of Trade. He is the president of the Pythagaras Temple association, in Decatur, and a member of Yaarab Temple of Shriners, of Atlanta.

He is a happily married home man, with not an overabundance of love for club life—being a member of only one. He is a church member, an ideal citizen, a good business man and a fine friend.

J. M. COCHRAN,
Secretary of the company.

J. M. COCHRAN
Secretary of the Company

When J. M. Cochran rolled up his sleeves and waded into a hot campaign for mayor of Barnesville a couple or more years ago, he showed his political enemies what a determined man could accomplish. By the biggest majority ever given a candidate he was elected.

Before his time was quite out he resigned to come to Atlanta and join in handling the business of the W. J. Dabney Implement Company as secretary. That was last summer. Some of the best fruits of this determined man have been showing themselves in the business of the company since he joined it. Aggressive, hustling, experienced in his line, he has brought added prestige to the company.

For many years Mr. Cochran was a traveler for large vehicle houses. He is two years less than 50, but he tired of the road, and after a short time resting as mayor of his native city, he drifted back into the harness into which he fit so well. He has charge of the vehicle business of the Dabney Company.

Mr. Cochran is a man of genial personality, and has made many friends both in the business and social life of Atlanta since coming here.

J. M. BOYKIN.

One of the latest acquisitions to the Dabney Company is J. M. Boykin. He is a native of Tennessee, and has traveled southern states for vehicle houses for a number of years, though yet a young man just over the edge of 30. He is a thorough business gentleman, and by his keen knowledge of men and clean, successful business methods, will make a great success of the automobile department, of which he has charge.

J. M. BOYKIN,
Head of automobile department.

Some of the Many Lines of Implements and Farm Machinery Handled by This Company and Who Makes Them.

"Everything But the Horse," is the well-known slogan of the W. J. Dabney Implement Company. Not a thing needed on the farm but can be supplied by it. The range of farm tools runs the gamut all the way from the tiniest of earth picks to the largest and speediest of engines, vehicles or automobiles.

One of the leading things on which the company specializes is the Vulcan plow, made in the Vulcan Plow Company, of Evansville, Ind. Seven years ago the company took over the sales for Georgia for this line and an increase almost startling has been shown.

The line of vehicles include Atlanta agency for White Hickory, Milburn, and Hackney wagons—all well known and popular makes. Also Norman, Blount, Jack Hill, Smith-Barnesville and Hackney buggies, besides numerous other lines.

Two lines of gasoline engines are sold—the John Lawson Manufacturing Company, of New Holstein, Wis., and the line made by the Middletown Machine Company, of Middletown, Ohio. The assortment includes every size, from a small pumping engine up to the larger sizes for any purpose.

Kelly duplex feed grinders, made by the Duplex Mill and Manufacturing Company, of Springfield, Ohio, rank among the popular machines handled.

The Dabney Company is also state agent for the Williams corn mill, made by the Williams Manufacturing Company, of Ronda, N. C.

Among the improved implements, none are more universally used than the Planet, Jr., line of riding and walking cultivators made by S. L. Allen Company, of Philadelphia.

The company also operates a fence department, making a specialty of the Page fence, under the supervision of Mr. Robertson. It also operates a contract department, erecting fences of various kinds throughout this section.

The Ann Arbor Machine Company, of Ann Arbor, Mich., supply the Dabney Company with power hay presses.

One of the largest lines carried by the company is the ensilage cutters and shredders made by the Jos. Dick Manufacturing Company, of Canton, Ohio. This particular line of Blizzard cutters, since handled by the Dabney Company, has shown a gratifying and wonderful increase in the south, the Dabney Company being sole distributors for the states of Georgia, Alabama, North and South Carolina.

Discolored or Spotty Skin Easily Peeled Off

The discoloring or roughening to which many skins are subject at this season, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing chaps, blotches, pimples, freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process itself doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand-new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness, are best treated by a simple solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation.—(adv.)

Ends Dry, Hoarse or Painful Coughs Quickly

A Simple, Home-Made Remedy, Inexpensive but Unequaled

The prompt and positive results given by this pleasant tasting, home-made cough syrup has caused it to be used in more homes than any other remedy. It gives almost instant relief and will usually overcome the average cough in 24 hours.

Get 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth) from any drug store, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—a family supply—of the most effective cough remedy at a cost of only 54 cents or less. You couldn't buy as much ready-made cough medicine for $2.50. Easily prepared and never spoils. Full directions with Pinex.

The prompt, sure certainty and ease with which this Pinex Syrup overcomes a bad cough, chest or throat cold is truly remarkable. It quickly loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes a painful cough in a hurry. With a persistent loose cough it stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the annoying hacking.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its splendid effect in bronchitis, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

To avoid disappointment in making this, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

AUGUSTA'S SOCIAL SIDE

Augusta, Ga., January 16.—(Special Correspondence.)—Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Hargrett announced the engagement of their daughter, Pearl, to Mr. John Frederick Bunch. The wedding will take place January 27 at 4 o'clock at the First Baptist church in this city.

A delightful luncheon was given at the Y. W. C. A. on Tuesday by the directors of the association for the benefit of the building fund. Augusta housekeepers told their sons and husbands there would be no dinner at home that day and they must take dinner at the Y. W. C. A. This was generally done and the consequence was the elegant dinner was greatly enjoyed by a large number and the building fund of the association reaped the benefit.

Several friends of Mr. H. C. Everich and Miss Elizabeth McDaniel, of this city, were interested to learn of their marriage, which took place in Aiken at the Episcopal rectory.

The marriage on Saturday evening of Mrs. Timmie Barrett, of Augusta, formerly of Madison, Fla., and Mr. John T. Hitt, of Lake City, Fla., at the home of the bride was a social event witnessed by friends and relatives of the couple.

Miss Lucile Arrington entertained a number of her little friends with a moving picture party Friday afternoon. The congenial party who enjoyed the pictures and the delicious refreshments served afterwards were Misses Anna Eve, Ruth Inman, Julia Fargo, Elvira Baxter, Caroline Brown, Susan Barrett, Sarah Hall and Isabelle Garrett.

One of the most delightful affairs of the past week for those who participated was the banquet given by the members of the 1920 Minstrel club at the College Inn. As usual with everything this club attempts, it was a perfect success, always a thoroughly congenial crowd with only the success of the club at heart, the evening was a delightful one for each member and plans were made for 1915 which will produce a performance by the club that surpasses anything they have yet done.

Mrs. Comey and Miss Comey poured tea at the Cranford club Thursday afternoon. The club is particularly popular at this season, as many drop in for a cup of tea and a chat with friends in the cozy clubroom these afternoons when it is rainy and chilly and nothing much to do out of doors.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Coles Phinizy are congratulating them on the birth of a son, who will be called William Harrison for his maternal grandfather. Mrs. Phinizy is in Baltimore, but will be in Augusta in a few weeks.

Mrs. Thomas Barrett is visiting her sister, Mrs. Louis LeHerdy in Savannah.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Waldon and Master Albert Waldon have returned to Atlanta, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Jackson on "The Hill."

Mrs. Turner Howard has gone to Annapolis for a visit of several weeks.

Mrs. S. H. Williams, of Athens, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Summerville Hall.

Mrs. Earl Braswell and her young son, Master Earl Coffee Braswell, will arrive shortly from Montgomery to join Mr. Braswell for the winter.

Miss Pauline Hankinson, who has been the guest of Mrs. Luther Arrington, has returned to Orangeburg, S. C.

Miss Margaret Paschal, of Rockingham, N. C., is the guest of Miss Josephine Woodson on upper Greene street.

Mr. Paul Langdon, who has been visiting his mother here, has returned to New York.

Mrs. King Cooper and son, of Spartanburg, are visiting Mrs. John Harper Davison. Later they will be the guests of Mrs. W. H. Barrett.

Miss Arrington Ball has gone to Birmingham to visit Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barrett. She will return to Augusta in the spring.

Mrs. Ernest Merry is visiting Mrs. Edward Harrison, of Charlotte, N. C.

Miss Mary Moran, superintendent of the City hospital, who has been away on sick leave, will return to her post of duty next week.

The Men's Bible class of the First Christian church Sunday school entertained the members of the Sunday school and church Thursday night with a moot court. Solicitor General A. L. Franklin, teacher of the class, was judge, and two members of the class, Dr. McCarter and Mr. Chastain, were plaintiff's and defendant's attorney. Mr. Frank Blackstone was defendant, charged with "willfully not getting married," and Mr. Lamar Hook, dressed as a stylish young lady whose affections had been ruthlessly imposed upon, appeared as leading witness against the defendant. The jury was drawn from among the audience, and was composed of men and young women both. When questioned by the court as to their competence as jurors the young women were asked: "Are you conscientiously opposed to matrimony?" The trial was quite amusing, and was enjoyed by the audience. The verdict was guilty. The sentence was "indeterminate," to be automatically pardoned by the marriage of the defendant. Refreshments were served.

Mr. Alva Blount and Miss Fannie Bonner Harris, of Columbia county, were married at the Methodist parsonage at Harlem, Ga., by Rev. L. M. Twiggs in the presence of the bride's two sisters and a few intimate friends. The marriage was quite a surprise to the friends of the young people, but they are the recipients of many congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rigsby have returned from a visit to Atlanta and Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worthington have gone on a trip to Florida.

Miss Eleanor Teague has gone to visit Mrs. Calville F. Terrett in Washinton, D. C.

MONROE, GA.

The Henry D. McDaniel chapter, U. D. C., met on Saturday afternoon with Mrs. R. Barrett, as hostess. Mrs. Jackson Arnold and Mrs. E. A. Caldwell led the history lesson, each bringing out interesting facts about the south. Plans for Memorial day were discussed, and the speaker for the day will be Governor John M. Slaton.

Election of officers took place, the following being elected: President, Mrs. Lena Felker Lewis; first vice president, Mrs. E. S. Tichenor; second vice president, Mrs. J. C. Breedlove; recording secretary, Miss Mattie Michael; corresponding secretary, Miss Lanie Michael; treasurer, Mrs. P. T. Reynolds; historian, Mrs. F. F. Norvell; registrar, Miss Mary Lou Arnold; custodian of crosses, Mrs. T. V. Harris.

The Y. W. A. of the Baptist church met Monday afternoon, Mrs. J. T. Aycock and Mrs. J. P. Adams being joint hostesses at the home of the former. The attractive interior was in striking contrast to the rainstorm without. The interesting program opened with scripture reading by Mrs. J. Troy Preston. Home missions were discussed and plans for work in the new year were made. Later in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist church met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. O. S. Pendergrass. Quite a number were present, and the program was most interesting. Tea and sandwiches were served during the afternoon.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College and Wilkinson Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

soon be relieved. Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

Miss Bertie L. asks: "What remedy can you recommend to reduce obesity safely? I want to reduce about thirty pounds."

Answer: I rely on five-grain arbolene tablets as being the most effective and convenient treatment to reduce abnormal fat. Druggists supply this in sealed tubes with complete directions. After the first few days a pound a day is not too much reduction.

Mrs. M. D. D. asks: "Do you think it is possible for me to increase my weight from 97 pounds to about 125 pounds?"

Answer: Yes, I believe that the regular use of a special tonic tablet will do this for you as it has for thousands of others. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets in sealed package with full directions. Take them for several months to get the full benefit.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?"

Answer: To relieve chronic cold, sore throat, bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence mentho-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. package and mix according to directions given on the bottle and you will very shortly be relieved of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will correct, and is very pleasant to take.

M. G. W. asks: "What can one do for a bad catarrhal condition? I have suffered a long time and am unable to find relief. In addition to catarrh in throat and nostrils, I am also affected with Pelvic catarrh (or leucorrhea)."

Answer: A good tonic and builder such as three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets should build up your vitality, while using antiseptic Vilana Powder for local treatment. Get either a two or eight-ounce package of the powder and complete directions with package will tell you how to use.

John C. L. writes: "I find my natural strength and nervous system failing me. I do not recuperate as of yore. My food and rest seem not to benefit as they should. Am weak, despondent and unable to perform the duties which were assumed earlier in life, while my ambitions for work and pleasure is slowly going."

Answer: I think a powerful, harmless tonic and nervine medicine will rejuvenate and restore the functions of digestion, assimilation and elimination by invigorating the nervous system. Obtain three-grain cactomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and take as per directions accompanying.

NEXT day, April 8, we made five kilometers only, as there was a succession of rapids.

On the 10th we repeated the proceedings; a short, quick run; a few hundred meters' portage, occupying, however, at least a couple of hours; again a few minutes' run; again other rapids. We again made less than five kilometers; in the two days we had been descending nearly a meter for every kilometer we made in advance; and it hardly seemed as if this state of things could last, for the aneroid showed that we were getting very low down. How I longed for a big Maine birch-bark, such as that in which once we went down the Mattawamkeag at high water! It would have slipped down these rapids as a girl trips through a country dance. But our loaded dugouts would have shoved their noses under every wave. The country was lovely. The wide river, now in one channel, now in several channels, wound among hills; the shower-freshed forest glistened in the sunlight; the many kinds of beautiful palm-fronds and the huge pacova-leaves stamped the peculiar look of the tropics on the whole landscape—it was like passing by water through a gigantic botanical garden. In the afternoon we got an elderly toucan, a piranha, and a reasonably edible side-necked river turtle; so we had fresh meat again. We slept as usual in—ashort of rapids. We had been out six weeks, and almost all the time we had engaged in wearily working our way over and past rapid after rapid. Rapids are by far the most dangerous enemies of explorers and travelers who journey along these rivers.

We came to another set of rapids, carried the baggage down past them, and made camp long after dark in the rain—a good exercise in patience for those of us who were still suffering somewhat from fever. No one was in really buoyant health. For some weeks we had been sharing part of the contents of our boxes with the camaradas, but our food was not very satisfying to them. They relished quarter-rations of the mainstay of each of their meals was a mass of palmitas, but on this day there was no time to get these palms. We finally decided to run these rapids at the empty canoes, and they came down in safety. On such a trip it is highly undesirable to take any save necessary risks, for the consequences of disaster are too serious, and yet if one risks anything at all it is useless to slow that disaster comes anyhow, and it is necessary perpetually to vary the rules of conduct by regulating compromise between rashness and overcaution. Soon we had a fine and good fish to eat, a big silvery fellow called a pescada, of a kind we had not caught before.

One day Tregueiro failed to embark with the rest of the party, and we never knew where he went next day to find him. Easter Sunday we spent in fashion with which we were altogether too familiar. We only ran in a clear course for a few miles, and then we spent eight hours in portaging the loads past rapids and falls. Canoes were run; the balsa was almost swamped. This day we caught twenty-seven big fish, and we feasted and everybody had all he could eat for dinner and for breakfast the following morning.

The forenoon of the following day was a repetition of this same weary work; but late in the afternoon the river began to run between sandy beaches. We made fifteen kilometers, and for the first time in several weeks camped where we did not have to cut rapids. The silence was soothing and restful. The next day, April 13, we made a good run of some thirty-two kilometers. We passed a little river which entered on our left. We ran two or three light rapids, and portaged the loads by a path over a hill. We ran in long and usually tranquil stretches. In the morning when we started the view was lovely. There was a mist, and for a couple of miles the great river looked like a lake, with between the high walls of tropical forest, the tops of the giant trees showing dim through the haze. Different members of the party caught many fish, and shot a monkey and a number of jacu tinga—birds kin to a turkey, but the size of a fowl—so we again had a camp of plenty. The dry season was approaching, but there were still heavy, drenching rains. On this day the men found some new nuts of which they liked the taste. One of the improved unwholesome, and half of the men were sick and unable to do any work the following day. In the balsa only two were left fit to do anything, and Kermit C. piled a paddle all day long.

A Red-Letter Day.

Accordingly, it was a rather sorry crew that embarked the following morning, April 15. But it turned out a red-letter day. The day before, we had counted cuttings, a number of which were probably but not certainly made by pioneer rubbermen. On this day—during which we made 25 kilometers—after running two hours and a half we found on the left bank a board on a post, with the initials "A. A." to show the furthest point to which a rubber-man had reached and claimed as his own. An hour farther down we came on a newly built house in a little planted clearing, and we cheered heartily. No one was at home, but the house, of palm thatch, was clean and cool. A couple of dogs were on watch, and the belongings showed that a man, a woman and a child lived there, and had only just left. In half an hour brought us to a similar house, where dwelt an old black, who showed the innate courtesy of the Brazilian peasant. We came on these rubber-men and their houses at intervals ran in long and usually tranquil stretches. In the morning when we started the view was lovely. There was a mist, and for a couple of miles the great river looked like a lake, with between the high walls of tropical forest, the tops of the giant trees showing dim through the haze. Different members of the party caught many fish, and shot a monkey and a number of jacu tinga—birds kin to a turkey, but the size of a fowl—so we again had a camp of plenty. SIX WHITECAPPERS ARE FOUND GUILTY

Enticed Lad Lindsey From Home in Berrien County Last Christmas and Gave Him Severe Flogging.

Nashville, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—Six men, comprising Berrien county's gang of "whitecappers," were found guilty in superior court here yesterday and were given sentences by Judge Christian ranging from eight to ten months, or with the alternatives of fines ranging from $150 to $250.

Bub Fender was found guilty and sentenced to ten months on the chaingang or a fine of $200. M. C. Connell was likewise found guilty and was given eight months or a fine of $150. James Fender, W. M. Lewis, Harmon Lewis and Walter Lewis pleaded guilty. Harmon and Walter Lewis were each fined $150 or eight months. Jesse Fender was fined only $100. It was through him that the gang was turned up. W. M. Lewis was given the heavier sentence of ten months or a fine of $250 because he was considered the leader in the outrage.

The evidence showed that the six whitecappers went to the home of Jack Lindsey, about 16 miles northwest of here, in the dead of night about Christmas time, enticed him from the house and beat him severely. Lindsey's wife attempted to rescue him and fired at his assailants, but the bullet went wild.

It is understood the majority of the six men will pay their fines.

OFFER OF $10,000 FOR DOG REFUSED BY MRS. ROSSMAN

Friends in the city of Mrs. James Gardner Rossman, of Washington, but formerly of Atlanta, have received the news that her Maltese terrier, Champion Sweetsir of Joker, won first prize at the recent toy dog show in New York, held by the Toy Spaniel club, at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

The Brooklyn Eagle had the following to say: "A gorgeous coat, correct texture, and perfect ring manneth combined with a feathering all that is gloriously perfect, make Mrs. Rossman's Sweetsir the most talked-of dog in the country today.

"Mrs. Rossman recently refused an offer of $10,000 for him by a rich dog fancier who saw him at the Waldorf-Astoria show and took a strong fancy to him."

THOUSANDS OF HORSES SHIPPED TO EUROPE

Newport News, Va., January 16.—Since November 3, when the first vessel left Newport News with a cargo of horses for use by the armies of the allies in the European war zone, a total number of 21,171 horses, valued at $5,086,730, have been shipped through this port on twenty-two steamers, according to figures obtained at the local customs house today. Three more vessels are here now for horses and many more are expected.

In November three ships carried 2,607 animals, valued at $651,750; thirteen ships carried 12,280 head, valued at $2,881,330, during the month of November, and up to date in January six steamers have carried 6,284 horses, valued at $1,553,650. From these figures it will be noted that the average value of the horses has been about $246.

STRIKERS ACQUITTED OF MURDER OF GUARDS

Greenwood, Ark., January 16.—James Slankard and Bee Trout, charged with the murder of two guards during rioting at the Bache-Denman Coal Mine No. 4, in the Prairie Creek district last July, were acquitted today.

After introducing evidence to prove an alibi defense attorneys placed three physicians on the stand, who testified bones found in the burned miners cabin supposed to have been those of the two guards, were not human bones.

South's Greatest Revival Predicted as Result Coming Of Chapman-Alexander Forces

Atlanta is now on the eve of one of the greatest evangelistic campaigns it has ever witnessed. Beginning February 14, the Rev. Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman and Charles M. Alexander, both noted in revival work in virtually every section of the Christian world, will be here to conduct meetings in a new tabernacle building that will be erected on Peachtree street, between the governor's mansion and the University club.

The Chapman-Alexander forces are now in Lima, Ohio, where they are conducting a series of successful revival services that has set the town all afire with religious fervor. Mr. Alexander, known everywhere as the "singing evangelist," came recently to this country from England, where he preached and sang religion into the hearts of the British soldiers on the way to the front. He has a record of approximately 3,500 conversions during his soldier campaign.

The relationship between the ministers and Dr. Chapman is shown clearly in the fact that virtually every evangelical minister in Atlanta is behind the coming revival meetings. It was the Atlanta Evangelical Ministers' association that first suggested the coming of the Chapman-Alexander forces, and this organization has given every help in the preliminary work in preparation for the meetings.

Headquarters of the evangelistic committee has been established in 528 Grant building, in charge of A. B. Caldwell, an Atlanta business man, who has temporarily given up his business relations that he might take up the campaign work. The executive committee in direct charge of the work is made up of ministers and laymen—men and women—representing virtually every Protestant denomination in Atlanta. The chairman of the general committee is Dr. Marion McH. Hull, who is constantly in touch with the headquarters, inasmuch as he has an office directly across the hall.

Start on Tabernacle at Once.

The preliminary work has nearly been finished and committees are busy getting all of the necessary arrangements in shape for the meetings. Work on the tabernacle, which will be a temporary structure of wood to be torn down after the meetings, will begin when the necessary permit shall be obtained from the city authorities. The building will house between 5,000 and 6,000 persons.

Arrangements are being made to build it along ideas suggested by Dr. Chapman. It will be well lighted and well heated, and every arrangement will be made for the comfort and protection of the big crowds that are expected to attend the meetings. It was originally planned to use the Auditorium-Armory for the gatherings, but it was found that armory inspections would be held about the time of the revival services and this plan had to be abandoned.

The Baptist Tabernacle congregation offered use of its building to the evangelistic committee, but it was figured that the structure would not be large enough to hold the throngs that are expected to attend. The temporary tabernacle was then decided upon and Asa G. Candler donated free use of the lot on which the building will be put up.

One of the great needs in the preparation of any revival, the ministers pointed out, was the necessity for constant prayer. In the opinion of Dr. Chapman himself no campaign can possibly be successful without prayer—unceasing prayer. Accordingly, cottage prayer meetings are being held daily in nearly every section of the city. Neighbors gather in the home of a friend to talk the Bible and sing and pray for the success of the coming meetings.

Men in offices have organized little prayer groups and many times during the day they gather together for a few minutes' communion with God. This advance prayer movement has spread into the parishes of every Protestant church in Atlanta.

Big Army of Workers.

Arrangements are being made to enlist 5,000 workers in the Organized Bible classes of Atlanta. Placards have been distributed to the shops and stores asking Atlanta men to "enlist" in the army of religion for the battle against sin, and 100 men are being urged to affiliate themselves with each of these Bible classes. The plan is to have these men, who will in the meantime have been instructed in Bible talks, attend the meetings and station themselves throughout the big tabernacle. Their duties will be to do personal work among those who profess conversion at the gatherings and arrange for the converts to join a particular Bible class after the revivals so that there might be no backsliding on their part.

Volunteers are being asked for among the men and women of Atlanta to take up various lines of work in connection with the meetings. Five hundred ushers are needed to handle the big crowds. Those willing to act in this capacity are urged to get in touch with Major R. J. Guinn, who is chairman of the ushers' committee.

2,000 Voices in Choir.

There is to be organized a big choir of 2,000 voices, to be directed by Mr. Alexander himself. These voices will be selected from among those best fitted in the different Protestant churches in Atlanta. Mr. Alexander believes in singing hymns and so does Dr. Chapman. For that reason the two evangelists lay special stress on the importance of not only a big choir, but one that can really sing. Accordingly, there is now in Atlanta arranging the organization of the choir, W. W. Reck, of Australia, who is secretary to Mr. Alexander. He will meet with the music committee, of which J. Gordon Moore is chairman, in the Y. M. C. A. Monday night to map out a plan of campaign.

Another big feature of the evangelistic campaign will be a religious census of the city of Atlanta, to be taken in two hours some time early in February. The city will be divided into districts and the arrangements will be to work two persons to each block. They will be instructed to get the names of every member of the family and their church affiliations, with the idea of inducing them not only to come to the meetings, but to continue in the church work after the evangelists have gone.

The date for the revival gatherings is February 14. They will continue for four weeks.

CHARLES ALEXANDER, "Singing evangelist."

GREATER ARMY URGED BY HENRY L. STIMSON

New York, January 16.—Preparation for defense in the event of war was advocated by Secretary Lindley M. Garrison, Henry L. Stimson, former secretary, and William C. Sanger, former assistant secretary, speakers at a discussion on the country's military requirements at the Republican club here today.

Secretary Garrison said that when the Panama canal was opened and the Panama canal were manned, the mobile army in the United States would number 25,000 men. He said that in his opinion regiments should be increased to their full strength, thereby making a mobile army of 50,000 men, and that congress should make provisions for 1,000 additional officers.

"The national guard," the secretary said, "is still far from what it should be. We must get a reserve of trained men in the states and a reserve of army officers to command the men."

Mr. Garrison asserted that it would be of infinite value to have the thousands of enlisted men annually discharged from the army and the resigned or retired officers where they could be found and recalled to service in the event of their being needed.

Mr. Stimson said Americans should be assured that the fate of Belgium should never become theirs. He advocated that the standing army be increased.

The Truxtun, of the Pacific flotilla led the destroyers with a score of 77,289. The Cassin, of the Atlantic flotilla, with a score of 10,166, finished last.

LOAN OF $25,000,000 ARRANGED FOR RUSSIA

New York, January 16.—The loan of the group of New York bankers to the Russian government has been perfected. Russian bills accepted by J. P. Morgan & Co. and their associates reaches $25,000,000 for 90 days, subject to renewal for an additional 90 days at 5 per cent per annum plus a banker's commission of one-half of one per cent for acceptance of the bills for each period.

Washington, January 16.—In its consideration of regulations to govern acceptance the federal reserve board has discovered a problem in neutrality, which may lead to difficulties with European belligerents.

At the board's last meeting it developed that some members looked askance at the reported plan of New York bankers to make a $12,000,000 loan to Russia, with the idea of later rediscounting the acceptances arising out of Russian purchases here, at the New York Federal Reserve bank. The fear was expressed, it is said, that such action might be interpreted as direct government aid to Russia, since munitions of war might be purchased with the loan. Other members of the board, however, took the view that as the regulations have not yet been issued, no bank can yet rediscount acceptances with a federal bank.

The discussion is said to have indicated that the board does not propose to place restrictions on acceptance where they arise out of actual commercial transactions. Purchases of munitions of war, when not made by a belligerent government, probably will be regarded as legitimate commercial transactions and acceptances based upon them be capable of rediscount at federal reserve banks. If such a rule is adopted it will apply to all belligerent nations. Acceptance regulations, however, have not been approved finally, and it is possible the question will be decided in different fashion after further consideration.

Butter fats: The law requires that the milk contain as much as 3.6 per cent butter fats. Rich clean milk will contain as high as 5 and 6 per cent.

Bacteria: Fresh, clean milk will contain less than 10,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter. The law allows as many as 100,000 per cubic centimeter. If it contains more than 100,000 there has been carelessness somewhere in handling the milk.

Temperature: Milk should be kept below a temperature of 50 degrees, or it may become dangerous. The consumer should test his milk with a thermometer. The law requires that all milk be delivered at a temperature below 50 degrees.

The accompanying list gives the section of the city in which each dairyman delivers, and the consumer can ascertain which man is producing the best milk in their section of the city. Milk with a high bacterial count should be especially avoided.

Please don't think of "California Syrup of Figs" as a physic. Don't think you are drugging yourself or your children, because this delicious fruit laxative can not cause injury. Even a delicate child can take it as safely as a robust man. It is the most harmless, effective stomach, liver and bowel regulator and tonic ever devised.

Your only difficulty may be in getting the genuine—so ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Say to your druggist "I want only that made by the 'California Fig Syrup Company.' This city has many counterfeit "fig syrups," so watch out.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Plans were announced for the laying of the corner stone of the first building of Oglethorpe university, and plans for a $100,000 church, the auditorium of which, it is stated, will be built at a cost of $50,000, in the near future, at Ponce de Leon and Piedmont avenues, were also made public.

Work has already started on the new building of the First Presbyterian church, at Peachtree and Sixteenth streets.

Work upon the buildings for the Southeastern fair, at Lakewood, will also begin in the near future, and the Chamber of Commerce, in its "Build Now" campaign, is expected to be productive of further building activities.

New Church Building.

Rev. Clayton J. Yeisley, pastor of the Engleston Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, on Saturday told a reporter from The Constitution that the church has plans for the erection of a $100,000 church building at the southwest corner of Pone de Leon and Piedmont avenues, a site which the church has acquired for a consideration of $50,000. The old Orme residence on this corner, he said, will be used temporarily as a residence for the pastor and as a place to hold services until the auditorium of the church can be built. This part of the church will cost $50,000. The remainder, which will not be erected at once, will cost another $50,000. The pastor expects the auditorium to be ready for occupancy by next May. The name of the church will be changed to the Ponce de Leon Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

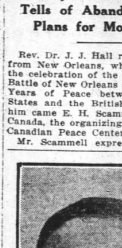
CANADIAN CENTENARY OFFICIAL IN ATLANTA

Secretary of Peace Association Tells of Abandonment of Plans for Monuments.



E. H. SCAMMELL.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall recently returned from New Orleans, where he attended the celebration of the centenary of the Battle of New Orleans and the Hundred Years of Peace between the United States and the British empire. With him came E. H. Scammell, of Ottawa, Canada, the visiting secretary of the Canadian Peace Centenary association. Mr. Scammell expressed himself as greatly pleased with the festivities in New Orleans. The ceremonies were, also, a credit to Louisiana and to the whole of the country. The Canadian delegation was a representative one. It included the lieutenant governor of Saskatchewan, the minister of education for Alberta, Mr. Justice Riddell, of the supreme court of Ontario, and a number of other prominent men as well as several ladies.

When asked as to the situation in Canada and the intention of the people of the Dominion to celebrate, Mr. Scammell explained that the federal government had made an appropriation for the purpose of a celebration of the centenary of the ratification of the Treaty of Ghent which, it had been the intention to carry out an elaborate program. There was to include the erection of monuments, the holding of services or "peace sermons" in churches, educational work in the schools and the holding of public festivities in about a hundred centers. The minister of education made a difference, though his committee hoped to proceed with the plans practically formulated as far as possible.

Plans for Future.

He said that as soon as the war broke out he communicated with a number of leading men throughout the different provinces, including the lieutenant governors and prime ministers, bishops and clergy, judges, heads of universities, mayors, etc., and that there was an overwhelming consensus of opinion that the celebration arranged for should be continued.

The committee was taken that the association should continue its activities, declared Mr. Scammell, "it has been decided to proceed along the lines previously set forth, with such modifications as may be rendered necessary by the present special conditions. It is probable that the erection of monuments in the parks along the international boundary, and in some of the cities of the dominion, may have to be abandoned temporarily. The special Thanksgiving services in the churches to be held on February 14 next, as planned, and the association will issue a special order of service for use by the different denominations. This will be sent to the clergymen about the middle of January.

"The educational program is well in hand. A series of articles on 'How We Kept the Peace,' have been written by Prof. W. L. Grant, of Queen's university, Kingston. Communications are shortly be sent to schools in places which bear the same names as those in the United States, with a view to the interchange of shields and greetings. A map, or, preferably, a globe has been prepared for production in the schools, portraying the circumstances of the Treaty of Ghent, and the blessings of the succeeding century of peace. This, I shall be pleased to send to any school principal who may ask me."

Georgian Heard.

"Live committees should be appointed immediately in Georgia in the various towns and localities to arrange for programs for setting forth the historical significance of the state in 1814, and for celebrating the one hundred years of uninterrupted peace which has followed between the United States and the British empire. Since this centenary falls on Good Friday, the committees should actively co-operate with the various churches of their centers, if no single general meeting can be arranged."

The schools should take this matter up. Prominence should be given this date by the history teachers in their classes and by the children in the exercises conducted before the assembled student body. There can be no more excellent occasion for the study of the truth that 'peace hath her victories no less renowned than war.'"

Action by State.

The state of Georgia has already taken up the matter of properly observing this significant centenary. The last legislature authorized the governor to appoint a committee to guide the state in this particular. Dr. J. J. Hill and Dr. George W. Brown, of Atlanta, are prominent members of this body which is already shaping plans for fitting ceremonies.

The legislature of New York, some time ago, appointed a commission to co-operate with the Canadian Peace Centenary association. Also a fund of $10,000 was placed at its disposal. This commission, having a personnel of many notable men, is now about to make a report.

The federation of churches, which was to have held a peace conference in Constance, Germany, last August, is actively engaged in completing this expression of international good will. In this same connection a peace conference will be held, February 19 to 21, in Raleigh, N. C.

In all places where the centenary is celebrated the Canadian Peace Centenary association will freely lend such assistance as it may and will arrange an interchange of Canadian and American speakers wherever desired.

The collection of books and pamphlets in the Georgia Carnegie library is the largest in the western hemisphere and the third finest in the world, numbering in printed words, charts, manuscripts, etc., 1,900,000 volumes.

Liverpool has contributed one in every fifteen of its population to the service of the state. The total includes 27,000 men for the new British army, 13,000 territorials, and 4,000 men for the navy. Doctor, nurses, and a chaplain have gone with the new British army.

Williams was a civil war veteran.

"WOMAN'S PLACE IS IN THE HOME."
By Inez Milholland.

If woman's place is in the home, how does it happen that there are about 8,000,000 women in the United States who are out of the home—working for gainful occupations? How does it come that that number is increasing every day? How does it happen that out of all women in the world are out of the home—denied to maintain themselves in one or another of the gainful occupations? According to the census of 1900, out of the 131 occupations classified as gainful, we find women in all but two.

Now, those of us who say woman's place is in the home, what are you going to do about these women? There is no use telling them to stay in the home, because they have stayed in the home they would starve in the home—and I don't suppose you want them to starve. You might decide for their maintenance in the home by giving them a government pension. That would happen to our educational institutions, our philanthropic institutions, our civic institutions, etc., much of the work of which is done by women on a paid basis.

If you want to be consistent you have got to remove all these women from their positions, put them back into the home and provide for their support.

Women are not in the workaday world by choice. Conditions underlie which they must labor are so inviting, but because in order to live they have got to follow their work where it has gone; that is, out of the home and into the factory.—

There instead of doing the work by their hands they do it—much more efficiently and cheaply—by means of machines. The only thing lacking in this factory which industrial system is the human element. The machine has had in the home is protection and control—and these she can regain by means of the ballot.

"Activity" seems to be the watchword of the Pullen and Georgia Terrace suffragettes. And that is as it should be, for have not long ago testified that a capacity for novelty and variety is the eternal characteristic of the feminine mind?

The latest development is a charming series of forenoon teas which will be held at the suffrage headquarters at 217 Peachtree every Wednesday afternoon. In a pretty colonial home, whose furnishings of antique mahogany and chintz have been contributed by some of Atlanta's most prominent women, tea will be served by the maids and matrons who support this cause. From time to time there will be interesting talks on suffrage by well-known speakers, and leaflets and pamphlets will be presented to all comers. All are invited, all are welcome. The suffragists are keeping open house.

Mrs. Whiteside Elected.

Mrs. Frances Smith Whiteside was elected president of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage league at its annual meeting, and Mrs. Eugene Mitchell was elected president of the Atlanta league.

Elected to other offices were:

President, Mrs. Frances Smith Whiteside.

Auditor, Mrs. A. G. Helmer.

Mrs. Jack Hawkins, chairman of the nominating committee, proposed the following names for officers of the Atlanta Woman Suffrage league, auxiliary to the Georgia Woman Suffrage league, which were unanimously elected:

President, Mrs. Eugene Mitchell.

First vice president, Mrs. James R. Little.

Second vice president, Mrs. Lollie Belle Wylie.

Auditor, Miss Marion Cowan.

Advance steps in the movement to secure the ballot for women were undertaken when the Georgia Woman Suffrage league was granted their state charter. This occurred in 1914, when the state officers were elected at the regular meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the Carnegie library. A large attendance was present to cast their ballot for the state and city officers.

$148,000,000 CARRIED BY THE NAVAL MEASURE

Washington, January 16.—In formally reporting the naval bill, which fell to the house today the naval committee said that while, in the European war, "the submarine has proved effective in harbor and coast defense, it has not been able to contend on the sea as does superior battleship fleet has done, issuing an enemy with an inferior battleship fleet to suffer great loss of merchant ships, blockade its ports and to destroy its commerce on the seas."

The committee reported that, therefore, the two battleship programs had not been changed.

The bill probably will be reached for debate February 1. It carries an increase of $8,492,006 in the building program over what was in the last appropriation measure, which would provide a battleship fleet to suffer great loss of merchant ships, blockade its ports and to destroy its commerce on the seas."

The committee reported that, therefore, the two battleship programs had not been changed.

The bill probably will be reached for debate February 1. It carries an increase of $8,492,006 in the building program over what was in the last appropriation measure, which would provide 25,000 enlisted men within a few years.

"The organization of a naval reserve is necessary to the adequate defense of the country," said the committee.

The committee has contained a list furnished by the navy department of the men of war of the European belligerents from July 1, 1914, to January 1, 1915, totaling 39 vessels in all, not including interned ships. The list summarizes these losses: Germany, 47; England, 31; France, Japan and Austria, 5 each; Russia, 4, and Turkey, 2.

The total number of ships in the United States navy on July 1, the report summarizes, was 396, with a total displacement of 1,618,647 tons, of which 286, with displacement of 1,554,884, are fit for service. Ships "building under repair," the remainder being under construction or authorized. Those listed as fit for service are the 10 first-line battleships, 25 second-line battleships, 10 armored cruisers, 3 Columbia class monitors, 50 destroyers, 19 torpedo boats, 30 submarines and numerous other craft.

GARRISON TELLS HOUSE ABOUT COAST DEFENSES

Washington, January 16.—In response to Representative Gardner's resolution of inquiry on the condition of coast defenses, Secretary Garrison has informed the house today that there are only 8 guns of more than 12-inch diameter on the defenses in the United States proper; that these guns have a range of 13,000 yards when mounted on disappearing carriages, but that twenty-nine guns mounted on barbette carriages have a range of about 18,000 yards.

Secretary Garrison says that the Queen Elizabeth type, the secretary reported, mounts 15-inch guns, with a range of about 21,000 yards, which he said was about 4 miles greater than the guns on the coast defenses. The guns, however, he said, could be brought up to practically the same range by slight alterations in the present mountings.

PAPERS FREE TO USE RECORDS OF COURTS

Columbus, Ohio, January 16.—Publication by the press of the fair and impartial report of matters of court record is permissible, and an action for libel cannot be maintained against a newspaper using the same in good faith, according to a decision today by Common Pleas Judge Kinkead. The ruling, based on an act of the last legislature, gave a new definition of liberty of the press in Ohio and upset former rags of the State supreme court.

Judge Kinkead held the new statute valid and dismissed the suit of Samuel Heimlich, an attorney, who sought damages from seven newspapers for publishing the substance of affidavits filed in a case in which his name had figured.

ACTOR GUS WILLIAMS TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Yonkers, N. Y., January 16.—Gus Williams, widely known a generation ago as an actor, shot and killed himself here today. He was 70 years old.

Members of Williams' family were unable to account for his act, but his wife, known to the theatrical world before their marriage as Emma Middlebrook, said he had gone to New York early in the day to consult his manager. He had been in good spirits despite a long illness, she said. He had just left a telegram from New York when he ended his life.

Gus Williams' real name was Leweck. He began his stage career in 1866. His specialty was the singing of currently popular songs. For a time he headed companies of his own, but for a number of years had been in vaudeville. Recently he returned from a southern tour.

COMMODITY PRICES SHOW RECESSIONS

A further slight recession in the general level of wholesale prices was witnessed during the month of December, of the new year Dun's Index Number shows on the 1st of January 169.16, as on December 1 and $124,528 on January 1, 1914. On the corresponding date of 1913 the Dun figure was $124,832 and $120,822.

Although the net change during December was really negligible, the decline would have been much more pronounced had it not been for the unsual conditions prevailing in domestic grain markets, as a result of the insistent foreign demand, wheat continued its upward course in a striking manner and all of the other cereals advanced in sympathy, so that the breadstuffs group rose from 4.426 to $25,891. This division has not been at all times so conspicuous during the waning of last September, when the immediate effects of the European war were strongly in evidence. Apart from breadstuffs, the only other sections in which there was an upward trend published were "other food" and metals. The first is the latter reflected the improving situation in iron and steel, operations being mainly withdrawn and slight advances named on many products, while the small upturn in metals was due to the effect of the further depression in sugar and certain other articles.

Among the four classes in which declines were noted, meats and provisions showed the largest difference, the prices of the lower cost of beef, hogs, ham, lard, bacon, flour, potatoes, sugar and butter serving the rise in pork, sheep and lard. Of this group the contraction in the clothing group, cotton, silk and rubber advanced more or less and hides did not follow the upward trend in the foodstuffs, the only other sections in which slight recessions were published were "other food" and metals. Coffee.

New York, January 16.—Scattered liquidation with a little trade selling brought about a 5 to 10 point decline, followed by a rather sharp break in the coffee market today. There was a moderate spot demand and the easier trend of cost and freight offers caused some selling. After opening 1 to 4 points lower, prices dominated by early months declined 5 to 8 points net lower. Sales, 11,500.

LAW WANTED TO BAR PRODUCTS OF CHILDREN

New York, January 16.—Child Labor day, observed annually for the past eight years by many churches, and which falls on January 24, will be devoted this year to discussion of the need of a federal law prohibiting shipment in interstate commerce of products made by children under 14 years old, or by children under 16, working more or more than eight hours daily.

The national child labor committee, announcing tonight its plans for the annual observance, declared passage of the Palmer-Owen bill now pending in congress would benefit at least 125,000 children, and that strengthening of state child labor laws would increase the number to half a million.

14-INCH GUNS CARRIED BY A CUNARD LINER

New York, January 16.—The Cunard liner Orduna, which steamed for Liverpool, had two 14-inch guns loaded to her forward deck, consigned, it was said, to Harian & Wolff, in Belfast. Belief prevailed that the guns were destined for the turret of some new British dreadnaught.

CLEO MADISON THURSDAY AT THE ALPHA THEATER

In addition to showing on Monday the seventh installment of the intensely interesting Universal serial "The Master Key," Manager Al Fowler promises his patrons a fine program every day this week. For Thursday he has secured a two-reel drama featuring the popular Universal star, Cleo Madison, in "A Woman's Debt."

The tragic climax in the seventh episode of "The Master Key," shown tomorrow, will certainly astound the spectator, for it comes close upon the heel of Dore's good night to Ruth in the upper corridors of the hotel, upon which both their doors opened. Just when the audience expect a charming ending to a busy day the action commences with all the suddenness of a 42-centimeter shell plunging through one's breakfast table. In fact, the whole installment is full of surprises.

"A Woman's Debt" is a two-reel number, written by Bess Meredyth with Cleo Madison and Joe King in the leading roles. The girl is loved by her wealthy young employer and also a baseball star. She marries the former to help her poverty-stricken parents. In later years the baseball player turns up as a designing villian. The chief situation is where she locks him up in a vault to save her honor. Later her husband comes and she knows that her love for him is real. It is a strong picture and well photographed throughout.

Mrs. Leslie Carter in "Du Barry"

To gather together from San Francisco to London, England, the long dismembered cast that made "Du Barry" famous as a stage play, and to send these units to a remote point in the foothills of the Alps to re-enact for motion pictures the beautiful tragedy which delighted millions and made them severally famous, is something of a feat even in these days of expensive picture making.

Yet that is what George Kleine did to immortalize the story of "Du Barry." In the manufacture of this film upwards of $125,000 was consumed. Mrs. Leslie Carter, who made the play famous, and her original supports, Hamilton Revelle, Richard Thornton and Campbell Gollan, spent six months at the big Kleine studio in Gruzllasco, Italy, in the foothills near Turin.

Jeannette Vaubernier, a milliner's assistant, employed in a Paris hat shop, falls into the clutches of an impecunious nobleman, Jean Du Barry, who operates a fashionable gambling house. She goes with him she day to see the king pass, and that night accompanies him to the gambling house after she had promised her lover, De Cosse Brissac, to picnic with him in the woods. Later she goes to the opera with Du Barry, where the king sees and becomes infatuated with her. By an arrangement with Jean Du Barry, Jeannette becomes his brother's wife, and so has her position at court firmly established. She becomes at once the most despised and admired woman in all France. Cosse, after several ineffectual attempts to see her, quarrels with Jean Du Barry, and in order of the king is thrown into prison without her knowledge. He escapes, leads a revolt against the king, and one day makes his way wounded to Jeannette's apartments. She hides him in her bed, and so deceives all but Du Barry. She bribes the reprobate with two hundred thousand francs to keep silence, which he does until a favorable opportunity arrives, when he tells the king. Louis XV. offers to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment in the bastile if she will declare publicly that she only hid Cosse to give him up to the king. To this she agrees. Eighteen years later, during the French revolution, Cosse is freed from the bastile. The tribunal of Paris decrees her death, despite his earnest intercession, and he is the unwilling witness of the guillotine execution the following morning.

The film is in six parts, and moves rapidly. There are numerous duels, luxurious settings and the photography is clear, steel blue, possible only to sunny Italy.

BEATRIZ MICHELENA AT THE MONTGOMERY

The management of the Montgomery theater announces for tomorrow Beatris Michelena in a film version of "Mignon." Much favorable comment has been given this picture by reviewers, that of Peter Milne of The Motion Picture World being as follows: "Mignon" was originally an opera, under the name of 'William Meister,' founded on Goethe's novel of the same name. The story it presents is one of great power and of an equal amount of interest.

"The photography and scenes deserve more than usual mention. Almost every scene is clearly and well photographed. Again some of the prettiest views in the entire picture were filmed with the water forming a magnificent and extensive background. Combined with these excellent effects are the gorgeous costumes worn by the cast, belonging to the eighteenth century period. The artistic value of the film is almost equal to its dramatic value and the two united make the picture quite perfect.

"A simple yet clever expedient is used by the director in the last reel for creating the most intense interest. There is a fire and a duel occurring at the same time. By merely showing the burning palace with Mignon entrapped in one of the rooms and then flashing to the two men dueling with all the skill of experienced duelists, the eyes of the spectators are never allowed to leave the screen for a moment.

"The story is one of great interest all the way, it has been well constructed and the result is that there are many fine scenes which grip one with their power and intensity. On the other hand, there are a number of comedy scenes, which will bring from the audience the most hearty and appreciative laughs.

"Beatriz Michelena is cast as Mignon, the girl that is stolen from her father by the revengeful gypsies and brought up by them until a good-hearted actor buys her from her tormenters and cares for her until she finds her father. His mind becomes unbalanced for many years until his daughter and the sight of his old home restores his memory. House Peters is the actor who finally marries Mignon. Others in the cast are Clara Beyers, Will Pike, Belle Bennet, Ernest Joy and Emil Krusha."

make one more effort to enrich himself. Knowing that Helen has placed all her valuable engagement gifts in her room, the man climbs up one of the balcony columns and enters the girl's room by way of the window.

Grace, endeavoring to console Helen, accompanies the girl to her room. They enter in time to catch Linden at work. Grace grapples with him. The sound of the struggle brings George and his mother to the scene. Linden breaks from his wife's grasp and makes a flying leap through the window. George sees the scoundrel land heavily on the ground. When the boy approaches the spot where Linden lies, he finds the man dead.

ALAMO NO. 2 OFFERS ALICE JOYCE MONDAY

Alice Joyce in "The Leech" will be presented at Alamo No. 2 tomorrow. The story is as follows:

Attracted by Mrs. Tully's efforts to break into society, Carl Linden, a parasitic, contrives to meet the woman and her family. He cleverly manages to make the socially-ambitious mother believe him a nobleman. Mrs. Tully's son, George, falls in love with Grace, a Salvation Army worker. The girl, however, refuses to marry him, and begs the boy not to press her for her reason.

Linden becomes engaged to Helen, George's sister. George induces Grace to call upon his mother. Mrs. Tully is horrified to learn of her son's love for the Salvation Army girl. Linden enters the house just at this time. Sight of him causes Grace to start forward, a moment later the girl denounces Linden, declaring that he had deserted her three months after their marriage. While Helen, heart-broken, falls into Grace's arms, Linden flees from the house.

But thought of the stakes he had played for, causes the scoundrel to

Monday and Tuesday, "Paramount days," the attraction will be pretty Miss Doro, conceited to be one of this country's greatest stars; she will be featured in "The Morals of Marcus," the best play from the pen of that great American playwright, William J. Locke.

Tuesday and Wednesday Miss Poynter will be starred in "Born Again," a spectacular and realistic drama that is bound to create a great impression.

Thursday and Friday—two more "Paramount days"—Miss Taliaferro will be shown in "Young Romance," the play that attracted universal attention to the abilities of Willam C. De Mille as a playwright "truly American." The Grand theater is the only place in Atlanta booking the famous Paramount releases.

In "Young Romance" Miss Taliaferro reaches the zenith of her theatrical career. She plays the part of a shop girl in the notions department of a big store. When she saves $100 she takes a notion that she'd like to disport herself for a week at a fashionable seashore resort as a real "lady." And she adopts the plan.

Tom Other, who works in the hardware shop in the same store as Nellie, gets a similar "hunch." So he goes to the same resort. The two had never met previously and after introductions, each believing the other to be just the person they pretend to be, there is a love match. Later Tom is assigned to a counter opposite Nellie and, of course, the secret is out. What happens then affords a climax of unusual interest.

Marie Doro, in "The Morals of Marcus," plays the part of a pretty refugee from a Turkish harem. And she plays it well. She has an all-star company to assist her and the drama is absorbingly interesting from start to finish.

Nearly every theater-goer knows Beulah Poynter—especially those who live in the south, since she has played in this section many times. Her part in "Born Again" is the best she has ever played. The play itself is one of spectacular realism and it is due to create a big sensation here.

"DRY" RIDER CHECKS BUSINESS IN SENATE

Washington, January 16.—Declaring the liquor interests had defeated prohibition under the Siddons-Sheehy administration of the District of Columbia "model license" law, Senator Jones urged the senate today to vote absolute prohibition as a rider to the district appropriation bill. The excise board, he said, had located 11 saloons illegally, and Joseph C. Sheehy, a member of the board, had resigned to become attorney for liquor dealers seeking licenses. In one instance, he said, Sheehy and associate counsel entered into a contract to procure a transfer of a license for $5,000.

Senator Simmons protested that incorporation of the prohibition rider in the appropriation bill would deprive the president of his right to consider each subject of legislative action on its own merits. He declared the responsibility of the president for legislation was greater than that of a senator because responsibility in congress was divided among many.

The rider was under discussion throughout the senate session today, but no vote was reached. Senators on both sides took part in the debate, which ranged from legislative technicalities to the merits of alcoholic drinks and the value of prohibition.

Senator James put into the record a copy of President Woodrow Wilson's letter to Rev. T. D. Shannon, of New Jersey, favoring local option, but opposing the making of a political issue out of the question.

Senator Kenyon submitted an editorial by Secretary Bryan which, he said, put the democratic party in favor of prohibition.

Senator Simmons arraigned senators for "wasting time" in discussing prohibition when the question was merely to suspend the senate rules. He urged that a vote be taken so legislative action could proceed. He declared himself in favor of prohibition for the District of Columbia, but said he would not vote to suspend the rules.

Senator Vardaman responded that "you have taken as much time this morning as any senator on this subject."

"I am getting a little bit tired of being criticized for doing something for which I have not received the sanction of orders of the so-called leaders on this side of the senate. I am acting on this matter as a senator from Mississippi and insisting on a vote on a question which, in my judgment, is just as important to the people of this country as the ship purchase bill."

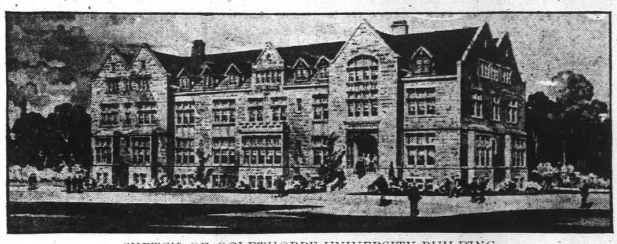
"The senator from Mississippi," Senator Simmons retorted, "has been tired ever since he came here at what others do who do not agree with him, even at the white house."

BRITISH CONDITIONS ABOUT MERINO WOOL

Washington, January 16.—The British embassy today made public conditions under which Merino wool may be exported from the United Kingdom and its possessions to the United States. The embassy's statement reads:

"Licenses to export Merino wool from United Kingdom to United States in future will be issued fairly frequently, provided sufficient steps are taken by shippers to assure themselves that consignees will not export it to any destination outside United States. Intending shippers will be required to make statutory declaration that consignee is known to them and that they have obtained adequate assurance that none of Merino for which license is sought will be exported from the United States to any destination. Subject to such declaration and if no reason to doubt bona fides of declarant we do not for the present propose to restrict amount to be shipped. Governments of Australia and South Africa informed accordingly."

First Building for Oglethorpe To Be Structure of Unusual Beauty



SKETCH OF OGLETHORPE UNIVERSITY BUILDING.

All plans are now complete for the cornerstone exercises of the first building of Oglethorpe university, and these exercises will be held next Thursday morning at the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

Immediately after these exercises the actual laying of the cornerstone will take place on the campus of Oglethorpe university, on Peachtree road. Little Frank Inman, Jr., will place the copper box in the cornerstone The exercises on the campus will take place about noon.

The cornerstone of but one building will be laid Thursday. The complete plans for the university call for some thirty or forty buildings.

Interesting Exercises.

The exercises at the North Avenue Presbyterian church will be of an interesting nature. Distinguished men from all over the south will be present, among them being Dr. James I. Vance, pastor of the largest Presbyterian church in the southern states, and Dr. W. J. Martin, president of Davidson college and moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly.

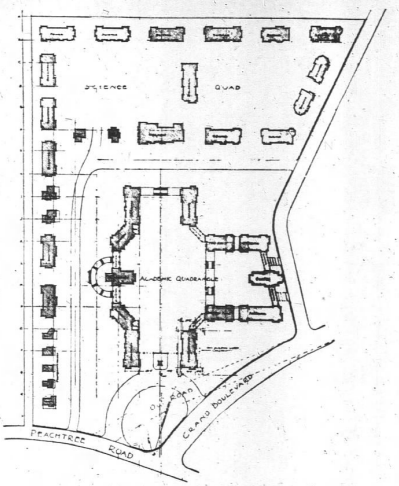
One of the most striking features ever presented in connection with such an occasion will be the reading of a number of cornerstone odes written by the most distinguished poets in the southern states. Among these is an ode by Madison Cawein, "The Lowell of the South," who died with this song upon his lips, it being the last poem that he wrote. It is as fitting as it is interesting to have so splendid a burst of song on the occasion of the resurrection of the alma mater of Sidney Lanier.

The general public is cordially invited to attend the exercises.

$100,000 In New Pledges.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the institution held recently, Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, executive representative, presented his third annual report showing that during the past year approximately $100,000 had been secured in new pledges for the future development of the institution.

The first building measures 50x175 feet and is approximately 35 feet high from the ridgepole of the roof to the cellar floor. It is being constructed entirely of blue granite, random ashlar, practically donated by the Atlantic Stone company. Something like twenty-five hundred tons of stone will be used in its construction. It will be covered with slate and the interior arrangement and finishing is all that is to be desired. In fact, this first building of Oglethorpe university is as effectively as it will be beautifully constructed. While the southern Presbyterian church has something like twenty-five colleges for men and women under its care the first building of Oglethorpe university will be the most adequate and complete, as well as the handsomest, of them all. It is the first of forty such buildings, which this and other generations will construct on the campus of the new Oglethorpe.



PLAT PLAN OF NEW OGLETHORPE UNIVERSITY.

Will Hold Banquet.

The board of directors of Oglethorpe university will hold a banquet at 7 o'clock on the night of Thursday, January 21, at the Winecoff hotel. One hundred covers will be laid.

At the same time the alumni of the old Oglethorpe university will hold a banquet at the Winecoff, thirty covers being laid. This is the day of the corner-stone exercises of the new university.

'POSSUM AND 'TATERS SENT TO CALIFORNIA FOR GEORGIA DINNER

Mark L. Landrum and family, former Atlantans now living in Stockton, Cal., got hungry a few days ago for a characteristic Georgia dinner, and the best thing they could think of was 'possum and sweet 'taters.

Accordingly, Mr. Landrum wrote the C. J. Kamper Grocery company explaining the wants of himself and family. Mr. Kamper boxed up a couple of live 'possums and sent along with them all the accessories including sweet potatoes, Georgia corn meal and sorghum syrup.

The Stockton Daily Evening Record devoted three-quarters of a column to the story of the Georgia 'possums and the dinner de luxe which followed in the Landrum home. In the course of an interview Mr. Landrum stated he was born in Georgia near Atlanta, and had for years been telling his children about Georgia 'possums and sweet potatoes. Finally he decided to send for them. So impressive was the incident that it was decided to perpetuate it by having the skins of the Georgia 'possums stuffed and set up as ornaments in the Landrum home. The Record says of it:

"A few days ago there arrived in Stockton in a small wire-covered box such as is used for shipping Belgian hares, two very strange looking animals—strange to a native son of California, but very familiar indeed to one born or a resident for many years below the Mason-Dixon line.

"Ex-President William Howard Taft would have smacked his great chops at the sight of them. Undoubtedly it would have brought back to him memories of that famous 'down south' dinner served when the postman was accustomed to deliver Taft's mail at the white house.

"What do you think those animals were? They were real, live 'possums. Today those 'possums were scheduled to be killed by M. J. Single, the well-known taxidermist. Friday, roasted to the discerning taste of the southerner, they will be served at the Landrum family table. There will be the proper fixin's. Hoecake baked from real Georgia corn meal and served with sorghum molasses. Sweet 'taters grown in Georgia, and basted with 'possum gravy! And last but not least, persimmons—real Georgia persimmons.

"In the course of time, or as soon as Taxidermist Single can complete his work, those 'possums, mounted in lifelike manner, will reappear in the Landrum home."

RADIO STATION SOUGHT NEAR CITY OF PANAMA

Panama, January 16.—Panama and canal zone police are searching for a powerful wireless station believed to be operating in the vicinity of Panama City.

The plant discovered on a tall building in the center of Panama Thursday and destroyed, proved only a receiving station, with a radius of 1,000 miles, but it was of costly construction.

Sir Claude Mallet, British minister to Panama, said today he possessed information which led him to believe a powerful sending apparatus was located within a few miles of the city.

NORRIS IS FOUND DEAD WITH PISTOL AT HAND

Raleigh, N. C., January 16.—M. T. Norris, aged 65, retired business man, was found dead with a bullet hole over his right ear at 7 o'clock this morning in a yard in the rear of his home here. A pistol was lying nearby.

Relatives said Mr. Norris heard unusual noises in the rear of his home about 4 o'clock this morning. He investigated, but could find nothing. He then retired. This was the last seen of him alive. Investigators said a window had been forced in the kitchen and blood spots were found on the floor.

DEMOCRATS DIVIDED OVER SHIP MEASURE

Senator Hardwick Is Among Those Opposed to Government Purchase of Vessels.

Washington, January 16.—Division in democratic ranks over the form of the government ship-purchase bill developed at a party caucus late today held to clarify the legislative tangle which threatens the administration program for the short session.

Although a resolution was adopted to make a shipping bill the unfinished business of the senate after passage of the District of Columbia appropriation bill, it was accomplished only on decision to hold a caucus Monday night to pass on amendments to the ship-purchase bill.

Vigorous opposition to the government ownership feature was expressed by several senators and it was declared amendments, it was declared, would be submitted in the caucus.

With only six weeks of the regular session remaining, senate leaders have become uneasy.

When the caucus met, Senator Fletcher, in charge of the ship bill, offered a resolution to make the bill the paramount business of the senate next week. Several senators suggested that it be considered to the exclusion of appropriation bills for a period of two weeks. If in that time it should develop that it could not be passed, some senators were said to be ready to abandon all hope of getting a vote on the measure at this session.

Senator Hardwick, of Georgia, told the caucus he had informed the president of his opposition to the bill, because of his antipathy for government ownership. Senator Stone pleaded for an indorsement of the measure. Other senators insisted that the ship bill should be given careful consideration before any caucus agreement was made. Senator Bankhead said he would urge elimination of the proposal to purchase corporation feature to be financed by the government and in favor of government ships acquired for the navy and leased when not required for naval purposes to private corporations.

Some progressive republicans, it is said, will join with the democrats in support of the measure if it is amended to their satisfaction.

CONTEST OVER WILL HINGES ON TWO WORDS

Athens, Ga., January 16.—(Special.) Following an appeal to the supreme court from Judge Brand's overruling of a motion for a new trial in the case of Mrs. Belle Smith, as the Executors of the Estate of J. T. Rogers, of Commerce, Ga., the highest court in the state will have to determine what the testator really meant "between" or had "among" in mind when he left $24,000 to be divided. The will left this little fortune to be "divided between the heirs of two brothers, share and share alike." One of the brothers left one son; the other brother has five sons. The question raised is whether the heir of one brother and the heirs of the other are to share and share alike as two sets of heirs, or the six nephews are to individually share alike. Judge Brand ruled that Rogers meant "among" all the boys rather than "between" two sets of beneficiaries.

ATLANTA BOY SLAIN FIGHTING BRAVELY IN MEXICAN ARMY

Carl Hilliard Hughes, 21 years old, venturesome and homesick, was working his way back to his aged mother in Atlanta from Wyoming when he got stranded on the Mexican border. He was tempted across the Rio Grande to the life of a soldier-of-fortune with the federal troops, which he joined in an effort to gain a fortune.

His bravery in the ranks won rapid promotion. Just before the siege of Nogales, he was promoted to the command of the machine gun battery of Maytorena's cavalry. He had been engaged in hot skirmishes along the border at Naco, when he was sent with his battalion to Nogales to meet the constitutionalist band that swept down upon the town from the hills above.

He directed a devastating fire upon the constitutionalists, but his forces were outnumbered 3 to 1, and, with four machine gun bullets in his body, he was finally forced to quit. He died in the field hospital at Nogales. His mother was by bedside of his death until several days afterward, when she received a short notification from the United States consul at Naco.

The mother, Mrs. James Hughes, lives at 51 Garden street. She was so overwrought with grief that physicians were in attendance upon her.

Broyles to Speak in Dalton.

R. A. Broyles, well-known merchant of Atlanta, will speak on prohibition at the courthouse in Dalton, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and at Adairsville Sunday night. Mr. Broyles does not believe that prohibition can be legislated into the people. He holds that the traffic in alcohol lies in educating the masses concerning its evils.

METHODIST ORPHANAGE ANNOUNCES BEQUESTS

Macon, Ga., January 16.—(Special.) Officers of the South Georgia Methodist Confeence home, located in Macon, were notified today of a $35,000 bequest made to that institution by the late James Laidler, who died here a few days ago.

Mr. Laidler was a single man and left an estate, the estimated value of which is $200,000. He provided that it be divided into six equal parts, one of which was to go to the Methodist Orphanage and the remainder to his five brothers. The will was filed for probate at Hawkinsville yesterday. Hawkinsville was Mr. Laidler's former home.

The present plant of the Southern Georgia Methodist Conference home is valued at about $200,000. It includes ninety acres of land and several buildings. Until recent years it was considered out in the country, but Macon has grown so rapidly that it is almost in the city now. There is said to be a movement on foot to secure a location further out and not spend any more money erecting buildings on the present site.

Peruna the Remedy for Nasal Catarrh.

Mr. Louis Pfau Manager Central Trust Co. Chicago Had an Experience With Nasal Catarrh. How He Got Rid of It.

I Had a Severe Case Of Nasal Catarrh I Wrote Peruna Co. For Advice. By Using Peruna My Symptoms Entirely Disappeared.

Mr. J. Louis Pfau, Jr., 1207 The Temple, 184 La Salle St., Chicago, Ills., writes: "For the past twenty-eight years I have suffered from hay fever, caused by catarrh. The hay fever comes on every year about the middle of August and lasts six weeks or more. It is a chronic catarrh of the nasal organs, and in people like myself, who have a very sensitive membrane, it is affected by the pollen in the air and is difficult to eradicate.

"I have used almost every medicine that is prescribed for the ailment, but I have had more benefit from the use of Peruna than from all others, as Peruna is a stimulant and helps nature to throw off the attacks. I now have no bother from catarrh, and I have been able to shorten the annual attack of hay fever to a few days of discomfort."

Catarrh does not always produce hay fever. The most common form of catarrh is nasal catarrh. Read carefully the four cases presented by this article.

Nasal Catarrh, No. 1.

"I have been using Peruna for catarrh, and had that it clogged the nasal organs." So says Mrs. Victoria M. Pickel, No. 130 E. Mound St., Columbus, Ohio. "I have been using Peruna for catarrh, having had a very aggravated case, so bad that it clogged the nasal organs. When I did get the nasal organs opened, the mucus would drop into my throat and make me very sick. A friend advised me to take Peruna, and after using four bottles I was cured. I have no trouble now, and am happy to say that I am enjoying the best of health and attending to my lodge duties, being a member of the Rebecca Lodge of Odd Fellows. I would recommend Peruna to those suffering with the same obnoxious trouble."

Nasal Catarrh, No. 2.

"I have been taking Peruna for nasal catarrh. Often I could not breathe through my nose, and had pains on both sides of it." So says Mrs. Jaschob, 1631 Palmwood Ave., Toledo, Ohio. "When I wrote you for advice I had been sick for three years, and had been treated by three doctors, but did not get well. I was very nervous, and had trouble with my throat. Often I could not breathe through my nose, and had pains on both sides of it. I also had pains in the chest, and a short cough. I had palpitation of the heart and internal catarrh. My appetite was poor. I was always cold and had gurgling in the bowels. I took Peruna according to directions, and now feel that I am cured. Peruna has cured me. I have never been as fleshy as I am now, and I do all my work. The pain in the shoulder and chest is all gone. The medicine has done me much good. I shall always keep it in the house."

Nasal Catarrh, No. 3.

"When I began Peruna my nose was stopped up half of the time. It was sore and scabby." So writes Mr. Arthur Thompson, R. R. 2, Leesburg, Ind. "When I began your treatment my eyes were inflamed, nose was stopped up half of the time, and was sore and scabby. I could not rest at night on account of continual hawking and spitting. I had tried several remedies and was about to give up, but thought I would try Peruna. After I had taken about one-third of a bottle I noticed a difference. I am now completely cured, after suffering with catarrh for eighteen years. I think if those who are afflicted with catarrh would try Peruna they would never regret it."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets. The "His of Life" sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Nasal Catarrh, No. 4.

"Peruna cured me of nasal catarrh. I had lost the sense of smell. My nose and head were continually filled, so that I had to breathe through my mouth." So says Mrs. William Mann, No. 1211 N. Fifth St., Niles, Mich. "After having been troubled with catarrh all my life, Peruna cured me. I was so bad that I had lost the sense of smell when I was about fifteen years old. My nose and head were continually filled, so that I had to breathe through my mouth. There was a constant dropping in my throat. My general health was miserable. I felt tired all the time. About two years ago I began to take Peruna, and I feel like a different person. Now I can breathe through my nose without any trouble, and the soreness in my throat is all gone. Peruna has done many wonders for me. It also cured my daughter of bronchitis."

MORE EVIDENCE THAT PROSPERITY WILL SHORTLY REIGN OVER AMERICA

BETTER SENTIMENT AMONG FINANCIERS

Prices of Bonds Make Many New High Records, and Short-Termers' Demand Exceeds the Supply.

New York, January 16.—(Special.)—The tone of the stock market and the movements of stock prices were strong, as a whole, during the last week. Investment demand was active, with a small amount of speculative bullish action in a few issues. The average daily transactions in the numbers of shares of stocks and the amount of bonds traded in each day has been higher during the last week than at any similar time since the exchange reopened, though still far below the normal of peace times. Foreign selling has dropped to a smaller place in the market, and while a large part of the offerings still are a settlement of foreign orgin, conditions in European financial affairs are improving, especially in London, and it is believed that there is less danger of heavy unloading of our securities from the other side than there has been at any time heretofore. London prices no longer show a big difference from those of New York on shares traded in on both sides of the Atlantic, while cable observers claim that there are signs of buying here for foreign account in some of the best class of dividend-paying stocks. With foreign selling diminished, at first the market threatened to take a big jump to higher levels, but on top of good-sized advances there was some disposition on the part of recent buyers to take profits, which halted the advance, but did not bring on any liquidation, merely resulting in dullness later in the week. Many developments of the last week of two have had favorable effect upon sentiment in the security markets. The unexpectedly large increase in steel orders and the recent gains in other industrial re-awakening which have been heard from many quarters sooner than had been looked for could not help but exert some reaction on the already bullish tendencies of security market sentiment.

Fear of Selling Attack.

There is still considerable disapproval among large financial interests of any plan for a rapid advance in stock and bond prices. The view is held and said that important interests were selers at the top of the market this week to stop its upward flight, and one thing most feared by them, apparently, is the creation of any condition which could invite selling attack or by which the accumulation of stocks by the many old needs have to be taken care of.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway has made preliminary moves for increasing its capital from $255,130,000 to $260,000,000, and all of the new stock will probably be taken next few weeks with which to take care of maturing notes. So far, however, there has been little said by corporations as to active plans for the issuance of securities for new work, or for other than purposes of paying off maturing obligations. A large amount of such offerings cannot fail to appear in the near future, and when they do they will be given to bears. With money so easy to get and rates so low, also with such many possibilities for new issues of many securities, it is difficult to understand why there has not been a concerted bull movement among speculators already, except on the basis that there seems to exist whereby powerful interests frown on all attempts to start big bull movements in the absence of favorable comment has been made recently regarding the rapid absorption of standard bonds, if the present investment purposes, through which the bonds are taken out of the market for strong boxes, has been large enough recently to result in a noticeable diminution of the daily volume of offerings. In some bonds, buyers have to look harder for sellers than in other way round. As a result of these conditions, bond prices have not been subjected to the cold hand of caution which big interests have put on stocks, and bond prices have made many new high records in the last few days. Short term bonds have been in active demand, but demand that the supply of them being offered is far below the normal total of normal times.

Money Market Easy.

The money market has eased even a little further during the week, with some time loans made at the lowest rates seen in months, while there were periods when 2 per cent was the asking price for call money. Leaders of banking somewhat anxious because of the plethory of funds. It is feared that there may be large amounts of idle money for long periods if present conditions continue. This is not because of lack of permanent investment opportunities, for such there are enough, but because there are so many people who are only willing to have their funds loaned for short periods, while the demand for such is not active enough to absorb even part of the available sums.

The foreign exchange market remained weak, with sterling exchange at far below the normal gold importation point. The main cause for weakness for exchange lies in the steadily piling up trade balance of the United States in Europe. There are indications that this balance in favor of this country will amount to colossal totals during the year, for, in the first nine days of 1915, the exports of this country during that period coming to $61,820,247, which was $35,092,458 in excess of the imports during the same period. The present outlook is for continued huge shipments for a long time to come just the things already ordered from this country.

Gold Will Flow to America.

The establishment of gold credits here, the handing of large sums to foreign nations with which to make purchases here and the continued piling up of trade balances abroad all suggest that before long there will be a great movement of gold from all parts of the world to this country. There has already been $200,000 shipped from London here, in French gold, but this will not arrive for several days. The first arrival from any other source than Canada was a shipment of $1,700,000 gold from China, for the account of Japan, which will be followed by $1,250,000 in gold from the same source. The establishments of credits for the French and Russian governments here, both going into millions of dollars for the purchase of war supplies, for the time obviates the necessity for gold importations from those countries, but it is said in banking circles that after a time the debts of several nations would advance to such large proportions at the present rate of their buying here that the only way to get further credit would be by means of shipping large amounts of gold to the United States.

Railroad Traffic Improving.

Railroad returns for the last few weeks have shown that more traffic is moving than has been the case for months, and in some sections the total freight movements are up to or ahead of those of the same time in 1914. As a result of this heavier railroad business, the roads are starting a less conservative policy than has been the rule for a long time. They are buying large amounts of equipment, and are taking back large numbers of men who were either on part time or have been laid off. The attack of Senator La Follette on the freight rate advance, his resolution seeking to stop eastern roads from getting the 5 per cent advance allowed in many schedules by the interstate commerce commission, is not worrying the roads, as they believe that the interstate commerce commission will not be interfered with by congress. According to compilations recently made, over $200,000,000 in stocks and bonds of railroads owned by the banks of this country during 1914, the total securities in receivership at the end of the year being about $750,000,000 for railroads. A favorable view of the rate advance granted railroads was recently aired whereby it was said general prosperity will not be aided by increasing charges to shippers, while it was contended that railroad employees will soon demand further increases to pay which will absorb all of the added revenue from higher freight rates. The favorable view of the railroad situation is not generally shared in banking and security market circles.

In the annual report, the directors of the Amalgamated Copper company, the United States Steel corporation and the Pennsylvania railroad will most concern, for the dividends for the first quarter of 1915. It has been rumored that the first two will be a payment that the first quarter and that the Pennsylvania rate will be reduced, and certain bear attacks on all three stocks have been based on this supposition, but recent recovery of strength in Amalgamated and Steel is believed to foreshadow a continuance of dividends, while bankers do not believe that the Pennsylvania directors would reduce the dividend rate during the earnings outlook is improving so rapidly.

Corporations are not finding it difficult to make banking arrangements at call to make banking arrangements at maturing obligations of the next few months when the financial condition of such corporations is good, but at least one large company which has been in financial straits for some time is expected to go into receivership unless it is able to readily to fund maturing securities. In view of the many tempting opportunities for investment in high grade securities which appeared or which are projected, investors are expected to be very loath to advance funds to any corporations which are not in the best financial standing.

Some New Financing.

The International Harvester company, of New Jersey, has already made banking arrangements to finance the $20,000,000 5 per cent notes which mature on February 15. A new note issue will be sold and the proceeds used for paying off holders of the maturing notes. Great Britain is making arrangements now for the issuance of about $20,000,000 new bonds within the next few weeks with which to take care of maturing notes. So far, however, there has been little said by corporations as to active plans for the issuance of securities for new work, or for other than purposes of paying off maturing obligations. A large amount of such offerings cannot fail to appear in the near future, and when they do they will be given to bears. With money so easy to get and rates so low, also with such many possibilities for new issues of many securities, it is difficult to understand why there has not been a concerted bull movement among speculators already, except on the basis that there seems to exist whereby powerful interests frown on all attempts to start big bull movements in the absence of favorable comment has been made recently regarding the rapid absorption of standard bonds, if the present investment purposes, through which the bonds are taken out of the market for strong boxes, has been large enough recently to result in a noticeable diminution of the daily volume of offerings. In some bonds, buyers have to look harder for sellers than in other way round. As a result of these conditions, bond prices have not been subjected to the cold hand of caution which big interests have put on stocks, and bond prices have made many new high records in the last few days. Short term bonds have been in active demand, but demand that the supply of them being offered is far below the normal total of normal times.

Money Market Easy.

The money market has eased even a little further during the week, with some time loans made at the lowest rates seen in months, while there were periods when 2 per cent was the asking price for call money. Leaders of banking somewhat anxious because of the plethory of funds. It is feared that there may be large amounts of idle money for long periods if present conditions continue. This is not because of lack of permanent investment opportunities, for such there are enough, but because there are so many people who are only willing to have their funds loaned for short periods, while the demand for such is not active enough to absorb even part of the available sums.

The foreign exchange market remained weak, with sterling exchange at far below the normal gold importation point. The main cause for weakness for exchange lies in the steadily piling up trade balance of the United States in Europe. There are indications that this balance in favor of this country will amount to colossal totals during the year, for, in the first nine days of 1915, the exports of this country during that period coming to $61,820,247, which was $35,092,458 in excess of the imports during the same period. The present outlook is for continued huge shipments for a long time to come just the things already ordered from this country.

Gold Will Flow to America.

The establishment of gold credits here, the handing of large sums to foreign nations with which to make purchases here and the continued piling up of trade balances abroad all suggest that before long there will be a great movement of gold from all parts of the world to this country. There has already been $200,000 shipped from London here, in French gold, but this will not arrive for several days. HANDSOME PROFITS WILL BE REALIZED

Time Ripe for Investment in Dividend-Paying Stocks When Money Is Cheap and Prospects Brighten.

New York, January 16.—(Special.)—What seems to be fully warranted by the diagnosis of the trade situation in the United States made this week by John A. Topping, chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel company. Topping is widely known in the financial district as a man of sound and independent judgment. He said that in his opinion the corner of depression had unquestionably been turned. Pointing out that such conclusions were warranted by the increase of $12,000 tons in the orders booked by the United States Steel Corporation during the month of December, he added that his own company and other independent steel plants were showing similar gains in new business.

That the chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel company is not the only one to believe that the readjustment of trade and finance resulting from the European war is nearing completion was evident from this week's further advance in the stock market. Beyond question the west has begun to use some of its wheat profits in the stock market. Every active brokerage house with a wire to the west tells of a steadily increasing volume of buying. Equally careful reading of the business outlook, the west is taking advantage of cheap money to buy seasoned industrial paying stocks, which offer handsome increase of returns.

Time for Investment.

There never has been a time when it was not safe to buy outright seasoned dividend paying stocks and when income return higher than the prevailing rate for money. That is especially true after a prolonged period of trade depression when idle money has piled up and the prospects for the future are brighter. Seasoned dividend paying stocks purchased under such conditions may show temporary losses, but it is only a question of time until there will be handsome profits. The recent sharp cut in this column before the stock market was reopened, a huge supply of cheap money, cheap dividend paying stocks, increasing home and foreign trade, and many other unfailing signs point to a bull market. To find trade conditions as favorable for the selling price into the annual dividend being paid.

This week's rapid advance in the shares of Canadian Pacific is explained by the dispatch just sent out from Montreal announcing the appointment of the Canadian Pacific railroad receivers to notify the holders of its first mortgage 4 per cent bonds that the issue would be paid off at any time before the date of maturity, July 1. There are only $12,842,000 of these bonds now outstanding. After July 1, the Canadian Pacific will have no bonded debt against Ms 3,000 miles of main line.

Can Retire Bonded Debt.

To understand Canadian Pacific's unique financial position it is necessary to point out, first, that the idea of a railroad actually paying off a bond issue at maturity is something almost unheard of. What always happens is that before one mortgage falls due a larger one is issued, the proceeds of which is used to refund the maturing issue. Outside of the Canadian Pacific there is not a single important road in the world today that has ever actually paid off in cash a maturing mortgage of any size. As a result the bonded debt of our railroads goes on increasing steadily.

During the past ten years, for example, New York Central's bonded debt has increased from $200,122,000 to $283,484,000. Great Northern, Canadian Pacific's most competitive road, has its bonded debt of over $300,000,000. Northern Pacific has $302,251,000 bonds outstanding; Union Pacific, $324,000,000; Atchison, $313,000,000.

Canadian Pacific was not incorporated until February of 1881, and its main line was not opened until 1886. In addition to $25,000,000 cash, the company received as a subsidy from the dominion government 25,000,000 acres of land. That was not any more assistance than was received by the Central Pacific from our government. It must be admitted, however, that land anywhere in the west in 1881 was more valuable than it is today. Unlike the Central Pacific, however, the Canadian Pacific has gone on selling land received from the government, and has continued to use the proceeds to retire its bonded debt, until that debt has been practically wiped out. That is the secret of Canadian Pacific's unprecedented success.

Resources of Canadian Pacific.

Today Canadian Pacific is operating over 13,000 miles of railroad, with four ocean steamships, thirty-three lake and river boats, sixteen hotels, its own grain elevators, its own express and news service, its own parlor and sleeping car and express service. No railroad in this country is equal to such resources.

As there are no Canadian Pacific bonds outstanding, there is no fear that receivers will ever be appointed for any part of the company's property. Moreover, the company still has over seven and a half million acres of land unsold, which is valued at $128,225,000. Last years land sales alone brought in $4,618,000 net.

Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy, the executive head of Canadian Pacific, was born in Milwaukee, and he learned part of what he knows about railroad building in the United States, working for St. Paul. The part he learned, however, was not financing. There is not an important railroad in the world that has been financed with the same consummate skill as Canadian Pacific. Fortunately for that company's American neighbors, the day of rate wars has passed.

Canadian Pacific's announcement regarding its maturing bonds is not the only one of interest which came this week from Canada. According to reliable information received in Wall street, Canadian mills have caused consternation in steel circles in this country by taking large orders for steel rails to be delivered to our railroads at $25.50. Since the steel trust was formed in 1901, our railroads have never paid less than $28 a ton for rails, that price being fixed by the steel corporation, and maintained by independent companies.

Prior to 1901 the steel mills guaranteed all rails. With the formation of the trust, however, that practice was abandoned. It is understood that the Canadian-made rails to be delivered in this country will be guaranteed.

New York, January 16.—Highest prices since the exchange reopened last November were recorded in the cotton market today, which was an active trade from start to finish and the quotations seemed to be very firm, only one reaction being noted. Renewed buying, in which New Orleans and spot houses participated, furnished an impetus for later strength and the market closed steady at a net advance of 11 to 13 points.

Liverpool's unexpected strength was the influence which started the upward movement here. According to private cables, this was due to British Manchester reports, particularly for cloth, and advices from Egypt, to make sure, some trading calling and continental buying in a small market. The sharp response here, and persistent strength after the opening, seemed to indicate underlying bullish sentiment, and commission houses supporting orders, as well as a conspicuous absence of the Reading pressure, which was something of a feature on the previous upturn to around 8.90 for October.

Inasmuch as speculative buying on the advance has been largely of an investment nature the market is almost entirely dependent upon hedge selling for its supply, save for a few scattered offerings from room traders looking for quick profits.

Reports from trade centers indicated a fair demand for goods with stocks in retailers hands low and a good willingness to buy at present prices for future wants.

Cotton Futures, New Orleans.

New Orleans, January 16.—The cotton market was featured by a strong advance in May in sympathy with better prices in the Liverpool markets, and on reports of a firmer feeling in spot markets of the interior. Private cables from English brokers said that the rise was due, to a large extent, to American buying and that bullish sentiment was stimulated by the large gain in exports this week. At the close of the day, the trading months were up to 14 points over yesterday's final figures. The close was at a net gain of 9 points.

Receipts, rather a large scale, met the advance around the opening, and the market fell off nearly 20 points. Fresh buying entered the market on the break and there was a quick recovery to the highest levels again.

Bulls called attention to the fact that there was no shipboard at all in the United States ports 427,000 bales, against only 226,000 a year ago, and predicted heavy exports for the near future. These figures and others in the week-end report had not a little to do with the strength of the market today.

STOCKS STEADIED TOWARD THE CLOSE

Some Gains Made in Specialties, But Bears Were Active Against Standard Shares—Bonds Strong.

New York, January 16.—Dealings in stocks during today's two-hour session were more than ordinarily active, but the professional character of the day's business was in shares of the minor or specialty issues. Standard issues suffered more or less from realizing sales, with some renewal of bear activity. United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Reading and the trans-continentals, which constitute the principal items of the trading, were relegated to the background and were disposed to weaken. They showed little power to rally.

Gains in the specialties ranged from 1 to over 3 points, some of these stocks advancing on very small transactions. Standard Milling preferred was helped by the announcement of another sharp advance in the price of flour and Mexican Petroleum was strong on the latest negotiations between this company and Great Britain, respecting the latter's Mexican oil interests.

Missouri Pacific, which excited some attention early Saturday by its large and less active today on denials of various consolidation rumors. Western Maryland issues, especially the preferred stock, made further gains in response to persistent buying. Erie second preferred and Delaware and Hudson also moved upwards.

Mercantile agencies reported steady trade inquiries and increased orders, while primarily leading steel centers, some of the mills in the Pittsburg district having specified specifications for next week ago.

Buying of the bank statement was the large increase in demand deposits, which approximated $15,000,000, while reserves increased about $15,400,000 with a comparatively moderate expansion in loans.

Bonds added to recent gains, numerous issues of the railroad, public utility and industrial group outside of those of the greatest strength. Total sales, par value, were $1,607,000. United States government bonds also shared in the advance.

COTTON GOODS DEMAND STEADILY INCREASING

New York, January 16.—The demand for staple cotton goods has increased steadily during the week and the trend of the week there was a noticeable gain in the demand for the semi-staples and the fancies. The manufacturing of the latter has very busy basis has helped, but the firmer tone in raw materials and the general business improvement has been felt. New prices named on cotton flannels have been made on a basis from 1¼ to 2¼ cents a yard below the prices of a year ago, while solid color flannels have been reduced from 1 cent to 1¾ cents a yard. On staple tickings prices have been dropped 1 cent a yard to a basis of 11¼ cents for 8-ounce goods.

Business on prints and southern staple ginghams has been broader, and there has also been additional business placed on dress ginghams. The trade on cotton blankets from manufacturers is in very good shape, having covered their fall requirements on the basis of 10 cents for 4-4 grays. Prices are firmer and there has been some improvement in the demand for drills and sheetings.

The tone of the primary markets is distinctly better so far as demand is concerned, but this could not be anticipated of the lack of profit in current quotations.

Prices are as follows: Print cloths, 28-inch, 64x64s, 2¾c; 64x60s, 2¾c; 38½-inch, 64x64s, 3⅝@4; brown sheetings, southern standards, 6½c; denims, 9-ounce, 12½c; tickings, 8-ounce, 11½c; standard prints, 4½c; staple ginghams, 6½c; dress ginghams, 9½c.

Cotton goods were more active today for spot and futures delivery. Burlaps were steadily. Linens were firm. Knit goods were in better demand for spring.

Metals.

New York, January 16.—Metal markets were without feature on change.

WHEAT MADE SLUMP IN SUDDEN MANNER

At One Time During Session the Loss Amounted to 5 Cents—Corn and Oats Also Lost.

Chicago, January 16.—Five cents a bushel was knocked off the price of wheat today in less than fifteen minutes, putting the market under severe strain and causing a flood of stop loss selling. The flurry which was, to some extent, overcome, started by reports that a bill would be introduced in congress to place an embargo on wheat exports. President Wilson's order for investigation of wheat and flour prices was not known of here until after trading hours. Wheat closed unsettled at 1-8 to 2-8 net decline, with corn off 3-4 to 3-4@7-8, oats down 3-4@7-8, and provisions varying from a setback of a shade to a rise of 1-2.

Suddenness of the break in wheat was explained in a measure by the fact that recent buyers had sought to protect their trades by orders to sell out at any stop losses if there should happen to be a decline of 1-2 to 2-1-2. These orders that were executed the moment they were kept prices plunging down here also was of considerable influence.

Corn gave way with wheat, but showed unexpected relative strength, especially as big purchases by cash houses were being hedged in the pit.

Spectators on San Francisco Roofs Watch Dore Throw Man to Earth From Hotel Top.

The seventh episode of "The Master Key" surpasses the last one in furious action of the preceding episode. Withal the development of the love interest between Dore and Ruth continues, while both are at the Manx hotel in San Francisco. A diversion is afforded by a trip to Cliff House and a shopping excursion, which bring Dore and Ruth closer together.

Ruth's protector, Dore, is soon made to realize that Wilkerson is not idle. In an attempt to circumvent the latest darling plot of the nefarious villain, Dore is compelled to throw Wilkerson's tool, a former second-story man, from the roof of the Manx hotel into the street, both stories below, where the body narrowly misses striking passing pedestrians.

In filming the death of Pell in the seventh episode of the "Master Key," the roof of a San Francisco hotel was used. Neighboring skyscrapers were crowded with spectators, when Dore (Robert Leonard) threw a high-diver, especially engaged for the occasion, from the hotel roof. Nets were spread several stories below so that the high-diver experienced no difficulty in being cast toward the street. The chase over the lofty buildings and roofs and fires which Ruth Gallon (Ella Hall) took in the struggle, all were enthusiastically cheered by the office boys who had viewed the struggle from skyscrapers overlooking the hotel roof.

The seventh episode of this great Universal serial appears in today's Constitution in magazine section. The corresponding pictures can be seen tomorrow at either the Savoy or Alpha theaters.

"RUNAWAY JUNE" PROVES A FINE ATTRACTION

"Runaway June," the Reliance serial running at The Strand, has made good as an attraction above the ordinary. In fact, those who witnessed the first episode placed it as the top class as a screen drama.

George Randolph Chester and his wife, Lillian Chester, have certainly made good as writers with original ideas, and the producers have added everything that money and brains could conceive to make the picture as great or greater than the story.

In the first episode, the wedding gown and those gowns of the bridesmaids were the last thought in feminine fancies, and the acting was as nearly perfection as could reasonably be expected.

The story, while a delightful little love story runs throughout, is opt of the usual, but has a certain foundation that stands out as reasonable and altogether likely.

"Runaway June" is without doubt one of the greatest serial screen dramas ever produced to the present time, and will prove an attraction that shall draw thousands to The Strand, one of the most beautiful and comfortable movie houses in the south.

PERCY L. SMITH GOES WITH SO. PARAMOUNT CO.

Percy L. Smith, one of the best known and most popular of the southern traveling contingent representing the film interests, has severed his connection with the Southern Paramont Picture company, of this city, and will hereafter represent that company, traveling the southern states. He will make Atlanta headquarters.

For some time Mr. Smith has been with the World Film corporation, and during his tenure of office with them made a host of friends and kept his customers throughout the south. This fact, he is counting on the southern exhibitors to be at the top among the popular as well as successful salesmen, and his friends are predicting that he will meet with all the success he deserves with his new company—and that will "be some."

JAS. CRUZE IN "ZUDORA" CREATES NEW PART

"Zudora," in the ninth episode, which has been the mystery serial which has created so much comment at The Strand, will take a decided step in a different direction next Monday.

Insamuch as the mysterious passes away, his house is destroyed by fire, and James Cruze, who has been in sensational film, takes his natural place as a devoted admirer of the beautiful Zudora, while a strange woman comes into the play and matches wits with Zudora for the possession of the fabulous riches of the mine.

There is intense interest and action in this episode, and there is also a thrill in every foot of the film. Those who have followed the great Edison mystery serial will enjoy the change, while those who have not seen the previous episodes, will find it interesting and instructive.

Girls! Try This! Doubles Beauty of Your Hair in Few Moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth and Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Baseball Park and Golf Links Among Amusement Grounds Planned for Lakewood Park

Now that the finance committee of city council has officially indorsed an appropriation of $75,000 for the southeastern fair project at Lakewood and indications are bright that council will indorse this action, the construction department of the city has outlined plans for the development of Lakewood Park that will make it one of the most beautiful and attractive public parks and playgrounds in the south. These plans were made known Saturday by C. E. Kauffman, city engineer of bridges and estimates.

Adoption of the plans is dependent on council acting favorably on the appropriation recommendation. It is expected there will be no hitch about this, since the scheme has the unanimous indorsement of city officials and Atlanta's business interests. The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is fostering the project and has agreed to subscribe $75,000 to the fair fund. The county commissioners have pledged an equal amount, both the pledges, however, being conditional on favorable action by council.

It is planned to hold the fair in the fall of each year and to build at Lakewood permanent structures which may be used during the remainder of the year as public recreation buildings. The city engineers plan also for the erection of tennis courts, golf links and a baseball field in addition to a big aquarium, the only one of its kind in the south.

The county commissioners have pledged their co-operation with the city officials in developing the roadways and approaches to the park so as to not only add to the natural beauty of the park, but to make it easy of access from any part of the city.

Map Prepared.

In connection with the Lakewood improvement project, the city engineers under the direction of Mr. Kauffman, have made a preliminary survey of the park and have prepared a topographical map to submit to city council. It is generally admitted that the natural lay of the ground in the park is most appropriate for picturesque scenes and arrangements.

Entering from Pryor street the grounds rise in broken lines toward Capitol avenue. Here it is intended to create an amphitheater effect in the layout of the roads and terraces, with the grouping of the buildings done in such way that each structure will be a feature in itself, unobstructed and permitting ample space between, to preserve the lines of natural rise.

Capitol avenue is proposed to be extended to Lakewood avenue with an arch bridge over the lake. Entering from Capitol avenue at one of the highest points on the grounds the view toward Pryor street presents a chain of natural scenes in landscapes. The now beautiful lake front will be preserved with the addition of a drive along the water front. This drive will be arranged to be at some place further off from the shore line, at other places close to the water line, especially at the eastern terminus of the lake, where the drive will pass under one of the arches of the Capitol avenue bridge.

Provisions are made in the plans for spaces for a baseball park, golf links, tennis courts, picnic grounds and playgrounds for children. In regard to the buildings, it is intended at present to erect only a few of appropriate design and construction, in addition to the administration building and two or three exposition buildings. The city engineers also recommend that an aquarium be built of the most up-to-date design. This, it is figured, will be an educational feature that will attract general attention inasmuch as there is no such modern aquarium anywhere in the south.

The engineers are now at work on designs and estimates covering this proposed construction work. These will be submitted to city councils as an argument in favor of the recommended appropriation.

Boost for Atlanta.

In the opinion of Mell R. Wilkinson, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the southeastern fair project will undoubtedly be one of the greatest "boosts" Atlanta has ever had. He pointed out the realty development that will follow the fair opening and which will extend throughout the entire south side of Atlanta.

"The fair will not only help Atlanta," said Mr. Wilkinson on Saturday, "but will be of material benefit to the entire state. It will have a tendency to encourage the growth and development of crops other than cotton and will stimulate agricultural development along all lines. It is not a fair for the business man. The project will attract attention in all parts of the country and the people of Atlanta will benefit thereby.

"It is the plan of the chamber of commerce to make this fair the greatest on the American continent. There are many big fairs in progress now. But all of them had small beginnings. So it must be with the Lakewood project. We want to build permanent buildings that will do service for the general public all the year round—not only during the thirty days of the fair itself. The city has everything to gain and nothing to lose in making the requested appropriation. It is asked to put up only one-third of the working capital necessary to get the machinery in motion and in return for this investment it is to become sole owner of the structures and all that pertains to the fair property."

PRATT WILL SPEAK AT NEXT LUNCHEON OF AD MEN'S CLUB

Llewellyn E. Pratt, of New York, who is chairman of the educational committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will be the principal speaker at the Atlanta Ad Men's club luncheon in the Winecoff hotel next Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. There are now 140 local advertising clubs affiliated with the Associated clubs, having a membership of more than 11,000.

The committee of which Mr. Pratt is chairman is one of the most important in the organization. It is made up of ninety-five newspaper and advertising men in this country, Canada, Australia and Hawaii. It publishes books on advertising and recently sponsored a moving picture drama, telling just what would happen to this old world if advertising was left out of it. This film has been shown in most American cities, and is now on its way around the world. The committee is offering a prize of $100 for another scenario of this sort, the play to be produced before the annual convention of Associated clubs in Chicago next June.

Mr. Pratt's committee work, which he will explain at the Winecoff luncheon, covered a research into general business conditions throughout the country, recently and resulted in the publication of a volume for publishers and advertisers which was a great help in the planning of advertising and sales campaigns.

Mr. Pratt will speak of the service which the Associated clubs is working to render to the various affiliated organizations and especially of the Atlanta Ad Men's club part in this co-operative plan.

GRAND JURY TO RESUME PROBE OF WYNN CASE

Brunswick, Ga., January 16.—(Special.)—When the Glynn county grand jury reconvenes Monday morning they will take up the very sensational case against Peter Padgett and Bruce Edwards, two prominent young men of Baxley, who are charged with the murder last July of young Frank Wynn, son of a prominent merchant of Jesup. The following morning his body was found lying near the Southern railway tracks, some seven miles from the city. AMERICAN CITIZENS HANGED BY MEXICANS Carranza Officials Accused of Executing Two Men Who Had Been Naturalized.

San Antonio, Texas, January 16.—Gustave Hernandez and Francisco Yturria, said to be naturalized Americans of Donna, Hidalgo county, Texas, were executed by order of Carranza officials at Rio Bravo, according to notifications received today by the families of the two men.

According to information received by relatives of the men, they were charged with supplying factions opposed to Carranza with arms, and, it is alleged, three wagon loads of rifles were confiscated when they were arrested. It is stated that they were hanged.

A dispatch from Donna late tonight stated that reports of the alleged executions were sent by friends of Hernandez and Yturria who were in Mexico at the time they were arrested, and stated that the information was secured from Mexican officials.

Denial is made by Carranza officials at Matamoros that the men were put to death. The report that the men were American citizens also has been questioned and cannot be confirmed tonight.

ONE AMERICAN FREED; THREE STILL IN JAIL.

Laredo, Texas, January 16.—Terrell Bobo, one of the four Americans arrested in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, charged with attempting to smuggle Mexican cattle into Texas, was acquitted and released late today. Heady and William M. White and William Burris, the other three, still were in jail tonight. American Consul Garrett stated he believed they would be released Monday. They are said to be charged with bribery as well as attempted smuggling.

"Cure Your Rupture Like I Cured Mine"

His Remedy and Book Sent Free.

Captain Collings sailed the seas for many years; then he sustained a bad double rupture. He could not find him to not only remain ashore, but kept him bedridden for years. He tried doctor after doctor and truss after truss. No result. Finally, he was warned that he must either submit to a dangerous and excruciating operation—or die. He did neither! He cured himself instead.

"Fellow Men and Women, You Don't Have To Lie Cut Up, and You Don't Have To Be Tortured By Trusses."

Captain Collings made a study of himself, of his condition—and at last he was rewarded by the finding of the method that so quickly made him a well, strong, vigorous and happy man.

Anyone can use the same method; it's simple, easy, safe and inexpensive. Every ruptured person in the world should have the Captain Collings book, telling all about how he cured himself, and how anyone may follow the same treatment in their own home without any trouble. BYRNE SWEARS BRYAN KNEW OF CONSPIRACY

Witness Gives Sensational Evidence in Regard to Alleged Grafting in San Domingo.

New York, January 16.—Testimony that Secretary Bryan was informed that James M. Sullivan, minister to the Dominican Republic, figured in an illegel conspiracy to exploit public contracts in that republic was heard today at the inquiry into the minister's fitness.

James L. Bryne, a construction engineer, testified that he had told Mr. Bryan that the minister and Timothy J. Sullivan, had told him that the minister had arranged that the Bancio Nacional of Santo Domingo should get government contracts and that he, Timothy J., was down in Santo Domingo to manage the construction work and see that Minister Sullivan "got his bit."

Mr. Bryan, the witness said, asked him to write it out and then said "Perhaps you don't care to do this."

Bryne said he would be glad to and the secretary replied that it would not be necessary. "I got the information," said the witness, "that the secretary didn't want the matter on the records of the state department."

"Solid With Bryan."

The affidavit further stated that Timothy J. Sullivan had said there would be no trouble for the contract business through, as the Bancio Nacional, "the concern which worked up the scheme and was to finance it, was solid with Secretary Bryan."

Sullivan also told the witness, according to the affidavit, that Minister Sullivan had used his influence to obtain a $1,000 loan for him "from the National Bank (sic) of Santo Domingo, and that it would never have to be paid off, as that was eventually a part of the minister's rake-off."

"I told all these things in substance as set forth in this affidavit to Secretary Bryan," the affidavit continued. "I know all the officials of the state department have been advised of the true conditions in Santo Domingo by many other Americans whose standing and integrity cannot be questioned.

"The American people, the president of the United States and the democratic party have been discredited and disgraced in Santo Domingo by the conduct of Minister Sullivan. The net result in Santo Domingo is that sincere and honest American business men who have invested their money in legitimate enterprises for the development of the Dominican Republic have suffered great loss."

Asked Bryan to Act.

Supplementing his affidavit, Bryne testified that he had asked Secretary Bryan "most urgently to clean up the situation before it got public and created a scandal."

Secretary Bryan said to me," testified the witness, "'I wish you'd write this out and sign your name to it and leave it here.' Then keeping his eyes on me, he said, 'Perhaps you wouldn't care to do this.' I said, 'Mr. Bryan, I wouldn't have come here if I wasn't willing to stand by what I've told you.' I said I would be glad to write out a statement and then he said it would not be necessary. I did everything I could to get Mr. Bryan to take the matter up."

Bryne testified that as far as he knew the alleged conspiracy had not matured, chiefly because of Timothy J. Sullivan's frankness in discussing the subject.

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR CITIZENS' BANK OF EAST POINT, GA.

State Treasurer W. J. Speer on Saturday filed a petition in the executive offices asking the appointment as receiver for the Citizens' bank, of East Point, alleging that upon examination of the bank's affairs, conditions warranted this action.

R. S. Huie, cashier of the bank, stated to a Constitution reporter that there would be no objection to the appointment of this officer, and that the bank is in position amply to protect its depositors and shareholders.

GERMAN PRIZE VESSEL MUST QUIT SAN JUAN

Washington, January 16.—The collier K. D.-3, formerly the British ship Farn, brought into San Juan, Porto Rico, last Tuesday by a German prize crew, must leave that port immediately or her crew will be interned and the ship released." Instructions to this effect will be dispatched to the collector of customs at San Juan, where a British cruiser is lying in wait, it is believed the German commander will intern.

The British embassy at first made a strong protest against allowing the K. D.-3 to take on supplies and depart, but this morning it was stated that it is presumed the protest will not be pressed.

The K. D.-3 was captured by the German cruiser Karlsruhe early in October and her British crew landed in the Canary islands. She became a tender to the Karlsruhe, and had 1,000 tons of coal aboard when the ship came into San Juan. It is assumed the Karlsruhe, pursued by British cruisers, was forced to leave the collier and never had an opportunity to transfer the coal.

If the K. D.-3 had been formally designated as a tender or naval auxiliary it might be held, could be interned at San Juan until the end of the war. No prize court has passed upon her, however, and her original nationality could not be recognized by the United States.

The Hague treaty, which prescribes that such a prize must be released, evidently was framed with the idea that the original crew of the ship would be aboard, held as prisoners, and to them the ship could be turned over. The Farn probably will be held until the British owners are prepared to take her over and place a new crew aboard.

In the Social Whirl

By Isma Dooly.

The cotillion was the brilliant evening event of the week, the club members and the ladies of the party occupying the first ten rows of the parquet at the Atlanta theater for the Raymond Hitchcock performance. On the same occasion there were seven box parties in which the ladies of the different parties wore crowns of pearls, in one of these Miss Isabel Robinson and Miss Louise Broyles the honor guests. Mr. and Mrs. Ranson Wright, Miss Jennie Mobley, Miss Mary Robinson, Mr. Thomas Connally were together. Mrs. Kelly Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adger Smythe, Cap. James W. English, Mr. James F. Alexander occupied a box together.

Both the galleries were crowded, and in the parquet the majority of the guests wore evening attire, this giving the occasion a metropolitan atmosphere, and, no doubt, inspiring the very good performance. As Raymond Hitchcock himself said, "it certainly was a poor play from the standpoint of plays," but it is better in the eyes of the theater-goer to see the mediocre play or performance interpreted by clever people, than to see the more pretentious play acted by people who do not know the A, B, C of the art, a striking incident of the latter condition in a play produced here about a week ago. The chorus were well trained and attended to their business on the stage; the dancers danced well, the costumes were clean and so were the funny songs and the jokes, while the star of the occasion, though always the star, assembled well the forces around him with distinct opportunity for them, and no loss to himself.

THE COTILLION.

The cotillion is always the most anticipated of social entertainments, by the group of men composing the membership. The membership was originally drawn from the dancing contingent of the Capital City club. Among the presidents of the organization have been Lucian McClesky, the late James W. English, Jr., John D. Little and Thomas B. Paine. The entertainments have frequently been given in the nature of dinner-dances with the cotillion following, and with the exception of one year the dinner or supper has always been given at the Capital City club. For the last few years the annual entertainment has been in the nature of a theater party, the selections, having been, among others, "The Red Feather," with Grace van Studdiford leadings; John Drew, Ethel Barrymore, Donald Brian and Raymond Hitchcock. Miss Barrymore, on the occasion of the cotillion given during her engagement here, attended the cotillion afterward, and the souvenirs of the occasion were silver frames containing her photograph.

The supper served after the cotillion Friday evening at the Capital City club was a handsome one, the floral scheme of pink and white flowers on the tables having added to them, the flowers carried by the belles of the occasion; those of the ladies were small bouquets or corsage bouquets. The debutantes were a charming group, wearing smart new gowns and enjoying the first cotillion that being one of the events in the life of every Atlanta debutante.

Miss Isoline Campbell wore a pretty costume combining pink and blue taffeta, her flowers valley lilies and Parma violets. Miss Rosalie Davis wore a French gown of white satin with tunic drapery, embroidered in gold beads and edged with ostrich plumage, her flowers orchids. Miss Ridley wore becomingly a yellow tulle gown, her flowers pink roses and lilies. Miss Otley wore a dancing gown of Egyptian blue broaded in gold flowers, the corsage of lace; her flowers roses and lilies. Miss Calhoun wore a petunia colored chiffon, with lace trimmings. Miss Bowman wore an all-white toilet; her flowers lilies and violets. Miss Gentry wore a flesh-colored satin gown embroidered in crystals.

PRETTY TOILETS.

Miss May Atkinson wore a white tulle and silver gown; her flowers violets and lillies. Mrs. William Tilt was becomingly gowned in pale blue and silver. Mrs. William S. Elkin wore a dancing gown of yellow satin, trimmed in gold-threaded lace, a purple velvet rose giving effective finish to the corsage. Mrs. Harry English wore a coral colored chiffon gown with an embroidery in beads in the same tones.

Mrs. Jesse Draper wore an all-white toilet. Mrs. William Kiser wore white. Mrs. Willis Westmoreland wore rose-colored chiffon with trimmings in crystals. Mrs. Carroll Payne wore a white brocade satin, the corsage trimmed in lace and silver. Mrs. James L. Dickey wore a white satin gown. Mrs. Albert Thornton wore a chiffon gown in an American Beauty shade. Mrs. Charles Remsen wore white. Mrs. John Marshall Slaton wore an elegant toilet in white, the corsage embroidered in silver and crystals. Mrs. Horton wore a white satin gown.

Mrs. Samuel Slicer was one of the most attractive and popular young women present, her toilet a becoming one in silver blue satin; her flowers orchids and lilies. Mrs. Milton Dargan wore a French toilet in black and white. Mrs. H. M. Atkinson wore a white satin gown with over-draperies of lace. Mrs. Edward C. Peters wore a gold-colored satin gown brocaded in Dresden flowers. Mrs. James H. Nunnally's handsome toilet was in black satin.

OTHER ENTERTAINMENTS.

Other entertainments included the ten-dance at the Driving club Wednesday afternoon, a number of small dinner parties, among those entertaining at these being Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Chipley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adger Smythe. The informal dance at the Georgian Terrace included a party of seventy-five Friday evening. The Drama league drew a large gathering to hear Mr. Memminger read "The Gadsbys," and the Alliance Francheis held an unusually large meeting at the University club Friday afternoon to hear Madame Slifer read Brieux's play, "La Femme Seule."

Short plays by both Houghton and Shaw will be read at the meeting of the Drama league Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. William J. Morrison will be the soloist for the Sunday night club meeting tonight at the Georgian Terrace.

DRUID HILLS TEA-DANCE.

At the Druid Hills Golf club yesterday afternoon the same enthusiasm which has made the weekly tea-dances a delightful part of the season's social program, assembled two hundred and fifty guests.

Miss Edwin Lewis, of New York, was the guest of honor in Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Blackman's party.

Miss Rose Bishop, of Talbotton, who is visiting Mrs. W. E. Talley, was guest of honor in Mr. Walter Hill's party, which included Miss Eugenia Caldwell, Miss Emma Jordan, Mr. Cator Woolford, Dr. J. A. Gentry, Dr. C. P. Hodge.

Others entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Paine, Dr. and Mrs. T. P. Hinman, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. King, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pearse, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Rainwater, Mrs. Henry Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Steed, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Worthan, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hardesa, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Adair, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dunn.

*****

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cohen will entertain at the dinner-dance at the Driving club next Saturday in compliment to Miss Isoline Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Smythe gave a pretty dinner last night at their home, the party numbering ten.

The table, elegant in its appointments, had as its centerpiece a bowl of carnations, and the pink was repeated in detail of decoration and service.

*****

AT DINNER-DANCE.

At the dinner-dance at the Driving club last night Mr. and Mrs. John Kiser entertained in compliment to Miss Isoline Campbell, and the occasion was one of the prettiest of the series of parties in compliment to this popular debutante.

In the party were Miss Campbell, Misses Caroline Broyles, Isabel Robinson, Josephine Mobley; Messrs. Wimberly Peters, Henry Kennedy, Henry Johns, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Lyon and Mr. and Mrs. Kiser.

*****

The names of Mrs. Robert Adamson, who was Miss Ethel May, of Atlanta, and Miss Marion May, her sister, appear on the list of prominent women sponsoring the cause of the unemployed in New York. To secure funds for those who have lost their positions since the panic, a ball will be given at Sherry's the evening of January 19. Mrs. Artemus L. Plunford, Jr., is president of New York city's Unemployed Benefit society, and Miss Jean Eno is secretary.

Unique Banquet Enjoyed By the Bell Employees

One of the most unique banquets ever held in this city was given last night at the Piedmont hotel by the Telephone and Telegraph society. Over 300 employees of the Bell system were present and the occasion was made merry from early to late by songs, humorous speeches and practical jokes.

Telephone wires were strung across the dining room on small telephone poles and toastmaster Edward Lyle announced that these were connected with the Bell system and that the society had been given the distinct honor of opening up the newly completed transcontinental line from New York to San Francisco.

One of the society members was called to the telephone, and, following the toastmaster's instructions, he spoke into the phone the words that Morse first used over his wires: "What God hath wrought."

No sooner had he gotten the words out of his mouth than the electric current was turned on and the speaker found himself suddenly dancing with the shock.

The entertainment committee, headed by G. T. Bush, were dressed as monks in black robes, hoods and masks. Small telephones were set off in a black barrel on wheels, representing a siege gun, and before this young men were marching simultaneously, as well as spies.

Chinese prison stocks were used in the pranks played, and this was followed by charcoal caricatures drawing of those who proved the "goats" of the celebration.

The toastmaster delivered the iron crosses to honor members of the society. The dinner was excellent, and everyone present testified to having one of the best times of their lives.

AMERICAN WAR VESSEL WANTED AT CAPE HAITIEN

Cape Haitien, January 16.—The Haitien revolutionists took possession of Cape Haitien today after an understanding had been reached between the rebels and the local garrison.

The gunboat Wheeling is at Port au Prince, on the west coast, and if necessary could be dispatched to the north shore. In San Domingan waters nearby is the tender Castine, a small vessel, whose launches would be used in Haiti as consulate guards if needed, while the cruiser Montana lies at Guantanamo, Cuba, and could reach Haiti in less than a day.

ONLY 3 PERSONS KILLED WHEN YACHT WAS LOST

Norfolk, Va., January 16.—The yacht Julia, destroyed by following an explosion of gasoline in Pamlico Sound Friday morning, did not carry a crew of two men as first reported. This was learned today by R. S. Dodson, part owner of the craft. Only three people are reported killed or drowned. They are J. W. Murray, of Burlington, N. C.; Mrs. W. E. Porch, of Hertford, N. C., and G. P. Dodson, of this city.

The yacht left Norfolk last Wednesday for Washington. Murray, the engineer, attended the engine and piloted the boat. He had performed these duties before, and was considered an expert in handling craft of the Julia's type.

E. Griffith Dodson, brother of the missing man, telegraphed from Beaufort today that he had given up hope of finding his brother alive.

An unconfirmed report reached this city tonight from Elizabeth City to the effect that two men and a woman had been picked up by a fisherman in Pamlico Sound.

Alandale, Kan., January 16.—Discovering four robbers preparing to break into the local bank here today, Clara Dressell, aged 19, a telephone operator, drove them away with a revolver when they attempted to storm the telephone office, then she called citizens, and precipitated a two-hour battle which resulted in the band's flight.

The men had cut the wires at the railroad station, and when Miss Dressell drove them from the telephone office by Miss Dressell, who fired two shots at them, they broke into a hardware store, obtained arms and tools and forced the bank doors.

Meanwhile the plucky girl called townspeople she could reach, and soon citizens opened fire on the bank building. The robbers held them back, however, while they successfully fired five charges of explosives in a vain attempt to break into the vaults. The robbers finally abandoned their attempt, broke through the lines of the town's defenders, dashed to a hidden motor car and disappeared in a blinding snowstorm.

DOWLING WILL RETURN TO FACE AUGUSTA JURY

Augusta, Ga., January 16.—(Special.) Moye C. Dowling, who was cashier and vice president of the Citizens' Trust company, which failed here in 1912 for between $150,000 and $200,000, is going to come back from South Carolina and surrender to the county authorities, give bond for $5,000 and later stand trial on an indictment of thirteen counts, charging embezzlement and swindling.

The Augusta institution was involved with and a part of the Sherwood Dunn institution in Aiken. The failure here caught several hundred depositors, mostly in small saving accounts.

Dowling disappeared a short time after the affairs of the bank were found to be in bad shape, and later was learned to be in Fairfax, S. C., in business. Indictment was presented to the grand jury here and found, but not returned.

The state made effort to have Dowling extradited from South Carolina, but Governor Blease continuously postponed hearing on the requisition from Georgia and finally had it pigeonholed.

Dowling, it is now understood, is ill, but has arranged, through local friends to return to Augusta as soon as he sufficiently recovered and arrange to stand trial.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Mary Scales wishes to thank her many friends for their kindness shown her in her recent bereavement, also for their beautiful floral offerings.

SUITABLE SAYINGS by "JACK" and "BOB"

Since this is known as "the day of specialists" we have made it a point to specialize in tailoring, and if there's one t ing we do know it is tailoring.

Not only do we know what you ought to wear to become your figure, complexion and purse, but we know the reasons why.

In other words we adapt the experience that our organization has been gaining for many years to the case in hand and there is nothing inelastic about our work except the price, which is always $35.00

By centralizing on this price we are able to carry wide varieties in weaves, patterns, colorings and thus suit everyone, giving us, therefore, quick turnover at a narrow profit. There you have the explanation for our pre-eminence in the tailoring business.

50c & 59c Lace Flouncings 29c
